Washington, March 8.—Government revenues have begun to show slight increase, due largely to the usual spring import business with consequent enlarged receipts from customs.

The treasury deficit, which a few weeks ago was in the neighborhood of $85,000,000, has fallen to about $80,000,000, and in the next few months there may be a further reduction.

Pure Bred Arab Horses.

In Cairo there is a society for preserving the pure bred Arab horse. It is said that recent changes in the lives and habits of the Bedouins have resulted in the deterioration of these horses. A practical horseman of wide experience says that as a rule the Arab horse is now no better treated than our own horses, whatever may have been true of the old days when such poems as "The Arab to His Steed" were written.

TRENDـ

The real trend in automobile manufacture is toward lighter weight and lower price, which typifies the most modern design and the highest factor of safety at moderate cost.

Houses are no longer bulky in construction, watches are thinner, bicycles weigh less. Each is more adaptable to the use intended, giving maximum value at minimum weight.

The trend is toward lighter construction, and in the science of manufacture things are produced better at a lower cost.

That is why the sales of Mitchell cars have, during the last three months, exceeded by more than 80% the sales of any previous three months in Mitchell history.

George Taylor has been in Adrian most of the week.

Have you had it? Why, this hard cold, grip or whatever it is. It is a popular question. If you have not, get prepared, for no one escapes Nearly every one is down with it.

HOW MANY RECRUITING STATIONS

Supposing Lenawee County should vote "wet," how many saloons would be immediately opened? How many recruiting stations places where the young men and boys would be enlisted in the liquor traffic; gilded places where young men could "hang out," learn the "booze habit," and at least 50 per cent. of them become useless citizens, unable to secure employment? The appetite for liquor destroys the physical and mental capacity of the best youth of the land and drags down the highest and the lowest to a common level of uselessness and pauperism. Beware of these recruiting stations and vote "dry" on April 5th. With all the intelligence and moral sentiment in Lenawee County, at least 3000 dry majority should be the result on April 5th

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

Whereas, O. M. Webster and Margaret L. Webster, husband and wife, of the Township of London, Monroe County, Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage bearing date the 5th day of September, A. D. 1913, to E. B. Kingsbury, of the Village of Seneca, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, on the 12th day of September, A. D. 1913, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in Liber 192 of Mortgages, on page 350; and

Whereas, a portion of said mortgage was assigned by said E. B. Kingsbury to Benjamin Blain, said assignment bearing date September 6th, 1913, and which assignment was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, on the 28th day of December, A. D. 1914, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 249; which said portion of said mortgage was afterwards, on, to-wit: December 28th, A. D. 1914, assigned by said Benjamin Blain to Hannah Keifer, which said assignment was recorded on December 28th, A. D. 1914, in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 250.

The balance of said mortgage (outside of that portion assigned to said Benjamin Blain and assigned by him to said Hannah Keifer) was assigned by E. B. Kingsbury to said Hannah Keifer on October 24, A. D. 1913, which last assignment was recorded on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1913, in the Register of Deeds office of the County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 567.

Whereas, the amount claimed to be due upon the debt secured by said mortgage at this date is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) therein stipulated for, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law or equity to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and said Hannah Keifer being now the owner of the whole of said mortgage, and the mortgage debt secured thereby, and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the interest secured by said mortgage whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and in pursuance thereof and of the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House at the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within said County, on the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon. The description of said premises contained in said mortgage and which will be sold as aforesaid is, as follows, to-wit: The following parcel of land in Adrian City, Lenawee County, Michigan, to-wit:

Commencing at the crossing of the south line of Toledo street with the west line of McVicker street in said city. Thence westerly on south line of said Toledo street seventy (70) feet more or less. Thence southerly paralled with west line of lot one (1) on the plat of Eastern Addition to the Village (now city) of Adrian, Michigan, to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of the tier of lots fronting on Toledo street aforesaid Thence easterly on a line parallel with said Toledo street and to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of said tier of lots to the west line of McVicker street. Thence northerly along the west line of said McVicker street to the place of beginning.

Said mortgaged premises will be sold as aforesaid to satisfy both the principal and interest due on said mortgage, to-wit: One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), together with interest that may be due at the time of the sale, also to satisfy an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) as provided in said mortgage, also to satisfy any taxes that assignee of said mortgagee has paid or may be required to pay to protect her interest in said mortgaged premises, and all other legal costs of this foreclosure.

"THE SPOILERS" BY REX BEACH

Through a fortunate open date between Coldwater and Monroe, Tecumseh people will have an opportunity of seeing the world famous Rex Beach story "The Spoilers" in motion pictures This big production rents at a price of $100 per day, a price that is way out of consideration in a town the size of Tecumseh but owing to the Adrian date being changed to early in April we were able to secure this attraction at fairly equitable terms.

"The Spoilers" was made by the Selig company of Chicago, with Wm. Farnum in the role of "Glenister" and Kathlyn Williams as "Cherry." The film is a wonderful production and fully equal to Neptune's Daughter which proved such a big success at the Bradley some time ago.

So far this great Selig feature has only been shown in the largeer cities. In Chicago, where it was shown for eleven weeks at the Studebaker theatre, it was seen by 200,000 paid admissions. Mrs Carter Harrison, wife of Major says, "The Spoilers" is the best entertainment of this sort I ever saw. The acting is superb and so true that one can almost read the words from the mute lips"

The scenes in "The Spoilers" that fascinating story of the Alaskan North as it was in the early days soon after gold was discovered, are so vivid, the action so strong, the picturing of the passions of men so true, that you forget you're watching a picture play—you're right in the streets of Nome yourself. A whole town was built and blown up by dynamite in order to create a single event in the picture. Great audiences sit spellbound through the two hours it takes to show the play, as they see it protrayed

"The Spoilers" will be at the Bradley Opera house next Tuesday March 16. To miss it will be to miss one of the greatest photoplay productions that will ever be brought to Tecumseh. You will find that the admission is within the reach of everyone. See regular ad on local page of this issue.

LOCAL OPTION MEETING

Lieut. Gov. Dickinson delivered the opening shot for Local Option Tuesday evening at Witherell hall to a good audience. Rev. Wm A. Rex introduced the speaker who gave a most interesting talk along the local option lines. He gave many reasons why we should vote "dry." He spoke especially of Liability Insurance which places the liability of an accident on the employer, and as those who drink are more liable to accident, the factories are more generally employing men who are not addicted to the drinking habit. His talk was full of good things and was listened to with marked attention

MRS. J. Q. LOOK

Prominent Tecumseh Lady Died Thursday Morning

FUNERAL SUNDAY AT 2 P. M. AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The community was shocked Thursday morning when the news was received that Mrs. Jennie Root Look [illegible]. So few knew of her illness as she was at the church Sunday and was in her usual health Monday. In the evening she was taken suddenly ill with a severe pain in her head. A physician was called and towards morning she became easier but did not rally and passed away at 7:15 yesterday morning, death being due to uremic poisoning.

She leaves the husband John Q. Look, her brother Matthew L. Root of Detroit, a nephew Lyman Root of New York, and her aunt Miss Joana Tear in her immediate family, and a host of friends to mourn her sudden taking away.

For nearly 25 years she has played the pipe organ at the Presbyterian church and has taught music since her early girlhood, music being with her a special gift. She was a graduate from the local high school in the Class of 1875 and later was a student at the State Normal. Afterward she studied music under Prof. Batchelder in Detroit.

Mrs Look was ever ready to give of her best and was prominent in musical circles. As a teacher she was loved and many a teardrop fell when her pupils heard that she was gone.

The funeral will be held at the Presbyterian church at 2 p. m. Sunday, her pastor Rev. W. A. Rex officiating. The body will lie in state at the church from 1 to 2 p. m.

NOTICE

The members of the Order Eastern Star are requested to meet at the Masonic Club rooms at 1:15 Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral of their sister, Mrs. J. Q. Look.

FROM THE LAND OF SUNSHINE AND FLOWERS

The following letter received by Fred Aten from his daughter Mrs. Stanley Ford is quite interesting. The more so from the fact that the writer was a graduate of T. H. S. '11, her name Harriett Aten heading the list.

San Francisco, Cal.,
Feb. 27, 1915.

Dear Papa:

Well, here we are in the land of perpetual sunshine (and rain), we got in Frisco yesterday morning at 7:30 and went to the Fair all day. Couldn't begin to tell half I saw but certainly it is fine although lots of the buildings are not yet completed and in those there are many of the exhibits are not finished. The grounds are wonderful with the different Courts and gardens filled with palms and flowers.

The buildings that appealed to me most were the Canada which was certainly a wonder and the Transportation and Manufactures Palaces. Another beautiful building was the "Tower of Jewels", of course we only saw a small part of what there is left to see.

Today we took a sight seeing bus to Golden Gate Park around the ocean boulevard to the Cliff house through the U. S Forts and back through the part of the city where the earthquake and fire was

There was a scenic conductor who told us all about the places, so it was very interesting. Our bus held about 25 Today was the great auto races and our car stopped in the U. S. grounds and that being rather high up we were able to see some of the race. It has rained every since noon so the track was very slippery causing many of the races to withdraw.

Our man said it was the most dangerous race ever pulled off. They make the circuit of 3.9 miles 104 times began 12:30 People were everywhere you could imagine, to see it, even the trees on all the hills around were full of men.

Well, we were just saying as we sat here that tomorrow was your birthday Time has gone so fast I couldn't hardly believe that February is gone, I sincerely hope you had a nice day and will enjoy more to come. Wish you could be with us and see the Fair although there is a great deal of graft to it, there certainly is a great many things to see.

You should see the mammoth locomotive in the Transportation Palace. I was certainly amazed. The engines here are a great many of them oil burners. On our way down we had two of these big engines to pull us up the incline in the mountains.

Our trip down was the best yet. The route is called "The Route of a Thousand Wonders" and is about as good a name as one could find On the train we had a special Conductor who pointed out the scenery to us and told us about it

At Shasta Springs the train stopped and let the passengers get a drink of the mineral water. That is a great health resort (Shasta Springs). Most of the people didn't like the water but to me it tasted like more and more Well expect we will soon be in Michigan and then you will probably hear trips and sights until your legs and arms will be loose as I will, close for now with love to all.

BRING YOUR FRIENDS

THOSE CHIMES.

Soft and sweet on the listening ear fall the notes of the chimes from the beautiful clock just installed by the Lilley State Bank It is located just above their east window where all can see by day or night for it is electric lighted and each hour it chimes

"Lord through this hour
Be thou our guide
So, by Thy power
No foot shall slide"

As it is chimed by the bell of Westminster. At the quarter hour, four strokes, "Westminster;" at the half hour, eight strokes, "Reveille;" the three quarters twelve strokes, "Cathedral Peal." The hour chime is followed by the strokes of the hour.

This clock was manufactured by the McClentock-Loomis Co. of Minneapolis, Minn. It is of a beautiful verdigris green with two dial plates and the figures are clear and distinct. It is operated by the "master clock" inside the bank where it can be seen at any time during business hours The master clock is in a beautiful mahogany case and is quite an ornament as well as a useful article.

This clock will be a convenience to the business man, a message to the school boy and girl and a source of pleasure to young and old. And as the chimes peal forth their notes from day to day may they speak to all and [illegible] prayer of the [illegible] echoed in every heart.

MILLINERY OPENING

We will be ready to show a fine assortment of spring and summer millinery March 17 and 18. You are cordially invited. MISS PIERCE.

SPANISH COMPANY

Sioux City, Iowa Journal

The second number of the C. W. Best series, presented under the auspices of the Heiser Music school, occurred last night at the Martin hotel. The artists comprising the company, known as "Spanish Company," were Helen Desmond, pianist; Emile Follmer, tenor; Helen Watson Powers, soprano, and Antonio Sala, 'cellist. Miss Desmond is an exceptionally well equipped performer on the piano. She gave her solos with an exquisite touch and clean cut interpretation, and her accompanying was satisfactory to the fullest extent.

Monsieur Follmer is the possessor of a dramatic tenor voice, which he used with excellent effect. Mrs. Powers showed to best advantage in her lighter numbers. Her medium register was most pleasing.

It is seldom that one hears such a luscious tone and such delightful pianissimos as Signor Sala produced from his instrument. His playing of a movement from Saint-Saens' Concerto was one of the finest things ever heard in Sioux City in the line of violoncello solos.

This same company which so pleased the people of Sioux City, Ia., will be heard Saturday evening at 8:30 in the Presbyterian church as the last number of the concert course Those who have not season tickets would do well to attend anyway as this is the crowning number of the series. Admission 50c

DRINKERS NOT WANTED

Today every commercial, every manufacturing and every business man as well as every moral and religious agency is against the drinking habit and saloon. It is daily becoming more difficult for drinking men to find employment of a profitable and permanent sort. All railroads, trolly lines, large industrial plants demand abstemious men. It is needless for a man addicted to drink to apply for a responsible position. So on April 5th vote "dry" for your son's sake, as well as your neighbors and friends.

TREND—

The real trend in automobile manufacture is toward lighter weight and lower price, which typifies the most modern design and the highest factor of safety at moderate cost.

Houses are no longer bulky in construction, watches are thinner, bicycles weigh less. Each is more adaptable to the use intended, giving maximum value at minimum weight.

The trend is toward lighter construction, and in the science of manufacture things are produced better at a lower cost.

That is why the sales of Mitchell cars have, during the last three months, exceeded by more than 80% the sales of any previous three months in Mitchell history.

Little Margaret Gripton on Saturday pulled a pan of hot water over on her shoulder and arm, burning herself quite badly.

Mrs. Frank Taylor is confined to home with bronchial trouble.

NOTICE.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE TOWNSHIP BOARD

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the township board of the township below named will be held at W. F. Fisher's office on Tuesday, March 23, 1915, for the purpose of making the annual settlement. All persons having claims against said township are hereby notified to present the same to the undersigned on or before above named date,

H. H. HANNA, Jr., township clerk
Township of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee, Michigan.

WHAT THEY KICK ABOUT

Some are kicking about the crop of drunkards we now have in Lenawee County. Where did this crop spring from? Did the Anti-Saloon people produce it? Did the public school produce it? No, the saloons of former years produced it. If the county can remain free from saloons for a generation we will see a decided decrease of drunkarks. It is too soon to expect large results. Have patience and stop your kicking. Vote "yes"

"PEG 'O MY HEART"

"Peg 'O My Heart" is coming to Tecumseh. The best show on the road this season, bar none, and one the few attractions playing to capacity audiences everywhere and why shouldn't it? Laurette Taylor played "Peg" for 76 weeks at the Cort Theatre, New York City, from December 1912 to June 1914, a total of over 604 consecutive performances which is the longest run ever made by a feminine star on the American stage. As near as figures that are now obtainable "Peg's" run in New York is a worlds record. Over half a million people saw this great comedy in New York and over one million people saw it on the road last season.

The local management tried hard to secure this attraction last year but owing to the great demand for "Peg" the attraction was only booked into the larger cities. This season we are more fortunate as Mr. Mark received contracts a short time ago giving us the attraction on Wednesday March 24.

This is the first of Oliver Morosco's attractions ever in Tecumseh and as Mr. Morosco owns a number of the very best attractions on the road, the local management is very anxious to make a good showing with this first one as it means the booking of many more of this caliber. Tecumseh people want the very best possible to obtain, show your appeciation by patronizing them after they are secured. When Mr. Mark says: See, "Peg 'O My Heart" as it is the best all round, wholesome comedy on the road this season, see it. If you don't find it exactly as represented you'll get your money back.

Dainty little Dorothy Mackaye will be seen in the title role "Peg" with the same big city production and cast that play Adrian, Ann Arbor, Lansing, Saginaw, Bay City, Grand Rapids and all of the other big cities.

ON THE D., T. & I. LINE.

Several traveling men were gathered in the hotel lobby recounting experiences in making trains

"I was down in the little town of Greenfield, Ohio, not long ago, and I wanted to go from there to Washington Courthouse. In order to get there I had to take a 'milk train' road called the D., T. & I., which the natives have labeled the 'Darn Tiresome and Irritating' because of its combination trains, rough roadbed and its general inability to run on time. A number of salesmen were loafing around the hotel and waiting for some report of the train and for the hack to come for them.

"I had to make that train in order to get out of Washington the next morning and when the hack didn't show up at the appointed time, I began to get a little nervous. I made repeated inquiries of the salesmen, the clerk and the manager and nobody seemed to have the least conception concerning the time of the train's arrival. Finally I decided to call up the station agent. After considerable waiting I succeeded in getting that individual over the 'phone.

"'What time is that northbound train due in Greenfield?' I asked him.

"'She's supposed to git heer around 2:20,' was the answer.

"'Well, have you had any report on it?'

"'No, sir.'

"'Well, what time of day do you expect it in?'

"'Well, pardner, that's hard to answer. She all depends on which way the wind's a-blowin'.'"—Indianapolis News.

OLD AND NEW WAY
The Hyomei Remedy for Catarrh, Colds and Croup a Most Valuable Discovery

The discovery of Hyomei has made a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh, head colds and similar ailments—you simply breathe a medicated air using a small inhaler that comes with every complete outfit.

Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils that mixes with the air so that its health-giving medication must go directly to the sore, raw, inflamed lining of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes. It almost immediately stops the disagreeable nasal discharges, quickly relieves that choked-up feeling, heals and strengthens the delicate tissues.

The strongest evidence of Hyomei's curative value for catarrh, head colds, asthma, etc., is that your well-known druggist, C. A. Wright & Son, sells it under a guarantee to return your money if you are not satisfied. Do not delay treatment for Hyomei is not only harmless but pleasant to use, and nothing to pay if not cured. adv

Whole Family Dependant

Mr. E. Williams, Hamilton, Ohio, writes: Our whole family depend on Pine-Tar-Honey." Maybe someone in your family has a severe Cold—perhaps it is the baby. The original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is an ever ready household remedy—it gives immediate relief, Pine-Tar-Honey penetrates the linings of the Throat and Lungs, destroys the Germs and allows Nature to act. At your Druggist, 25c. adv

They Know It's Safe

Parents who know from experience insist upon Foley's Honey and Tar Compound when buying a medicine for coughs, colds, croup and la grippe. C. T. Lunceford, Washington, Ga., writes. "I have used it for six years and it never has failed. I think it is the best remedy made for coughs and colds." For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

For the Stomach and Liver

I. N. Stuart, West Webster, N. Y., writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Tablets for disorders of the stomach and liver off and on for the past five years, and it affords me pleasure to state that I have found them to be just as represented. They are mild in their action and the results have been satisfactory. I value them highly." For sale by all dealers. adv

Quick Action Wanted

When one is coughing and spitting—with tickling throat, tightness in chest, soreness in throat and lungs—when head is aching and the whole body racked with a cough that won't permit sleep—he wants immediate relief. Thousands say Foley's Honey Tar Compound is the surest and quickest acting medicine for coughs, colds, croup and la grippe. For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

Man Takes His Own Medicine is an Optimist

He has absolute faith in his medicine—he knows when he takes it for certain ailments he gets relief. People who take Dr. King's New Discovery for an irritating Cold are optimists—they know this cough remedy will penetrate the linings of the throat, kill the germs, and open the way for Nature to act. You can't destroy a Cold by superficial treatment—you must go to the cause of the trouble. Be an optimist. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to day. adv

To the Housewife

Madam, if your husband is like most men he expects you to look after the health of yourself and children. Coughs and colds are the most common of the minor ailments and are most likely to lead to serious diseases. A child is much more likely to contract diptheria or scarlet fever when it has a cold. If you will inquire into the merits of the various remedies that are recommended for coughs and colds you will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy stands high in the estimation of people who use it. It is prompt and effectual, pleasant and safe to take, which are qualities especially to be desired when a medicine is intended for children. For sale by all dealers. adv

White Man with Black Liver

The Liver is a blood purifier. It was thought at one time it was the seat of the passions. The trouble with most people is that their Liver becomes black because of impurities in the blood due to bad physical states causing Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness and Constipation. Dr. King's New Life Pills will clean up the Liver, and give you new life. 25c at your Druggist. adv

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

Whereas, C. M. Webster and Margaret L. Webster, husband and wife, of the Township of London, Monroe County, Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage bearing date the 5th day of September, A. D. 1913, to E. B Kingsbury, of the Village of Seneca, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, on the 12th day of September, A. D. 1913, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in Liber 192 of Mortgages, on page 350; and

Whereas, a portion of said mortgage was assigned by said E. B. Kingsbury to Benjamin Blain, said assignment bearing date September 6th, 1913, and which assignment was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, on the 28th day of December, A. D. 1914, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 249; which said portion of said mortgage was afterwards, on, to-wit: December 28th, A. D. 1914, assigned by said Benjamin Blain to Hannah Keifer, which said assignment was recorded on December 28th, A. D. 1914, in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 250;

The balance of said mortgage (outside of that portion assigned to said Benjamin Blain and assigned by him to said Hannah Keifer) was assigned by E. B. Kingsbury to said Hannah Keifer on October 24, A. D. 1913 which last assignment was recorded on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1913, in the Register of Deeds office of the County of Lenawee, in Liber 191, of Mortgages at page 567.

Whereas, the amount claimed to be due upon the debt secured by said mortgage at this date is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402 70), and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) therein stipulated for, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law or equity to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and said Hannah Keifer being now the owner of the whole of said mortgage, and the mortgage debt secured thereby, and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the interest secured by said mortgage whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and in pursuance thereof and of the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House at the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within said County, on the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon. The description of said premises contained in said mortgage and which will be sold as aforesaid is, as follows, to-wit: The following parcel of land in Adrian City, Lenawee County, Michigan, to-wit:

Commencing at the crossing of the south line of Toledo street with the west line of McVicker street in said city. Thence westerly on south line of said Toledo street seventy (70) feet more or less. JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which Is Better—Try an Experiment of Profit by a Tecumseh Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment.

Must be proved to be as represented.

The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.

But the endorsement of friends is.

Now supposing you had a bad back,

A lame, weak, or aching one,

Would you experiment on it?

You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

Its different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony

AT REST

Sunday afternoon all that was mortal of Mrs. J. Q. Look was laid away in Brookside cemetery and the friends returned to the home made desolate by her sudden passing away.

The funeral was held at the Presbyterian church where for so many years she had presided at the organ and was a faithful worker in the church.

The church was crowded to its capacity with her many friends who came to pay their last tribute of love and respect. The Order of Eastern Star attended in a body

Rev. W. A. Rex assisted by Rev. F. Hewitt presided and the Masonic Quartet sang several hymns. Rev. Rex chose as his text. "I have fought the good fight, I have kept the faith, I have finished the course, and hence the crown." He gave a beautiful eulogy to her whose life was spread before us like an open book. The closing words of the burial service were given by Rev. F. Hewitt.

The bearers Dr. North, Jas. Lowry, Joseph Russell, J. H. Smith, J. J. Freeman and C. A. Wright, conveyed the casket to the hearse and the funeral cortage moved on to the "Silent City of the Dead," where under the wealth of beautiful flowers that loving hands had bestowed the body of our friend and loved one lies at rest.

Those who were present from out-of-town for the funeral of Mrs. Look were: Dexter G. Look of Lowell Mich, Edward S. Kume of Grand Rapids, Capt. E. D Chilson and Capt. F. S. Tear of Painesville, O., Mrs Jerry Bartholomew of Perry, O., and M. L Root of Detroit.

WIT AND WISDOM

The regular meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs Chas. Kemp Monday evening, Miss Nannie Kyle assisting in the entertainment. The subject of the evening was Mexico and the following program was given, Miss Nannie Kyle leader.

Mrs. Albert Waring gave a fine paper on Mexico which proved very interesting. This was followed by a piano solo by Mrs. F. S, Turner. Rev. W. A. Rex then gave a paper on Mexico; past, present and future, and handled his subject in a very interesting manner. Mrs Stukey and Miss Edyth Rector then favored the company with a piano duet. Roll call brought out many interesting incidents of Mexican history. Refreshments were followed by a guessing contest.

CHARLES K. SPAFFORD

Charles K. Spafford passed away at Addison Monday where he and his son Augustine had made their home for several years. The body will be brought here for burial on the 11:20 train Wednesday going direct to the cemetery from the train

Mr Spafford was for many years a resident of Tecumseh and with his brother George was connected with the Herald in the early seventies.

"Uncle Charlie" as he is familiarly known to every one in Tecumseh, was of a social friendly nature and his many friends will miss his visits to his old home town.

WILL WE BE REASONABLE?

Why people who have families will go to the poles and vote to protect the saloon-keepers instead of their boys and girls is more than we can understand. Even if the saloon business helped the tax-payer, is it human to consider taxes more important than children?

The other day a man said, "I do not think the saloons would bother me if they did come back to Lenawee County, but I have two boys and it is my duty to protect them, so I vote dry."

How speaking of taxes? If the patrons of well regulated saloons which have paid high license are sought for where will you find them? At the County Jail where they have free board and free beds. Who pays the bills? The tax-payer.

During 1908-1909 Adrian with saloons jailed 338 drunks and disorderlies. In the following four years the number of drunks and disorderlies jailed was 291. Vote Yes April 5.

German Coffee Cake

Made Without Yeast

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

There is no warm bread quite as appropriate for Sunday morning breakfast as German Coffee Cake, yet it is seldom made by housewives who do not bake their own bread. If K C double raise Baking Powder is used it will be just as good as if raised with yeast and it will have the further advantage of being fresh and warm. Save this recipe and try it next Sunday.

K C German Coffee Cake

Two and one-fourth cups sifted flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 level teaspoonful salt; 2 tablespoonfuls melted butter; 2 tablespoonfuls sugar; 1 egg; milk.

Sift dry ingredients together, beat the egg, add milk and butter to the egg to make one and one-quarter cups; stir all together with inverted spoon to a stiff batter. Turn into biscuit pan and spread even. Brush top lightly with melted butter. Sprinkle sugar and ground cinnamon over the top. Bake in moderate oven.

Dutch Apple Cake or Prune Kuchen can be made with this same batter by covering the top with pared and sliced apples, or cooked prunes with the pits removed, skin sides down. Dredge with sugar and cinnamon the same as for Coffee Cake.

"The Cook's Book" contains 90 just such delicious recipes. You can secure a copy free by sending the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K C Baking Powder to the Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago, being sure to write your name and address plainly.

HOW A DEEP SEATED COUGH

And Sore Lungs Were Overcome by Vinol—Mr. Hillman's Statement of Facts Follows:

Camden, N. J.—"I had a deep seated cough, a run-down system and my lungs were awfully weak and sore. I am an electrician by occupation and my cough kept me awake nights so I thought at times I would have to give up. I tried everything everybody suggested and had taken so much medicine I was disgusted.

"One evening I read about Vinol and decided to give it a trial. Soon I noticed an improvement. I kept on taking it and today I am a well man. The soreness is all gone from my lungs, I do not have any cough and have gained fifteen pounds in weight and I am telling my friends that Vinol did it."—FRANK HILLMAN, Camden, N. J.

It is the curative, tissue-building influence of cods' livers aided by the blood-making, strength creating properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, that made it so successful in Mr. Hillman's case.

We ask every person in this vicinity suffering from weak lungs, chronic coughs, or a run-down condition of the system to try a bottle of Vinol on our guarantee to return your money if it fails to help you.

THE ROSE MAIDEN

"The Rose Maiden" by Frederick Cowen is one of the most popular cantatas. The solos and choruses are extremely melodious and invarably pleasing to all who hear them. The Rose Maiden is to be given by a chorus of thirty-five singers at the Presbyterian church Tuesday March 23, in the interests of the Public Schools. Admission 10 and 25c.

THE SPANISH COMPANY

The third and last of the Best Artists Series was given at the Presbyterian church Saturday evening and was a very delightful musical entertainment and was greeted with a full house.

The Company, composed of Helen Watson Powers soprano, Helen Desmond pianiste, M Emile Folmer tenor and Senor Antonio Sala, violoncellist was certainly a success in every particular and the audience encored every number. Miss Powers as soprano was charming in every selection, and as Micaela in Carmen was certainly wonderful

Miss Helen Desmond as pianiste was exceptionally fine. As was also the violoncellist Senor Antonio Sala who gave much pleasure by his skillful handling of his violoncello M. Emile Follmer as a tenor was certainly good and in the scene from Carmen both he and Miss Powers entered into the spirit of the theme with deep feeling holding their hearers closely until the last notes were given.

This series of entertainments has certainly been a great treat to the public and each one has been thoroughly enjoyed. Should the society see fit to put on another like entertainment in the future, we feel sure it will be highly appreciated by all.

The Power behind the dough

You may use an old favorite recipe and the best of materials and make it carefully, the oven may be just right, yet you will have a failure if "The Power behind the Dough" is not the right one to leaven it properly and make it light, digestible, wholesome.

Good baking without good baking powder is out of the question. K C Baking Powder has wonderful leavening power, and the double action —in the bowl and in the oven—makes good results doubly certain.

Take no chances of failure—use K C and have "good luck" every time. At all Grocers.

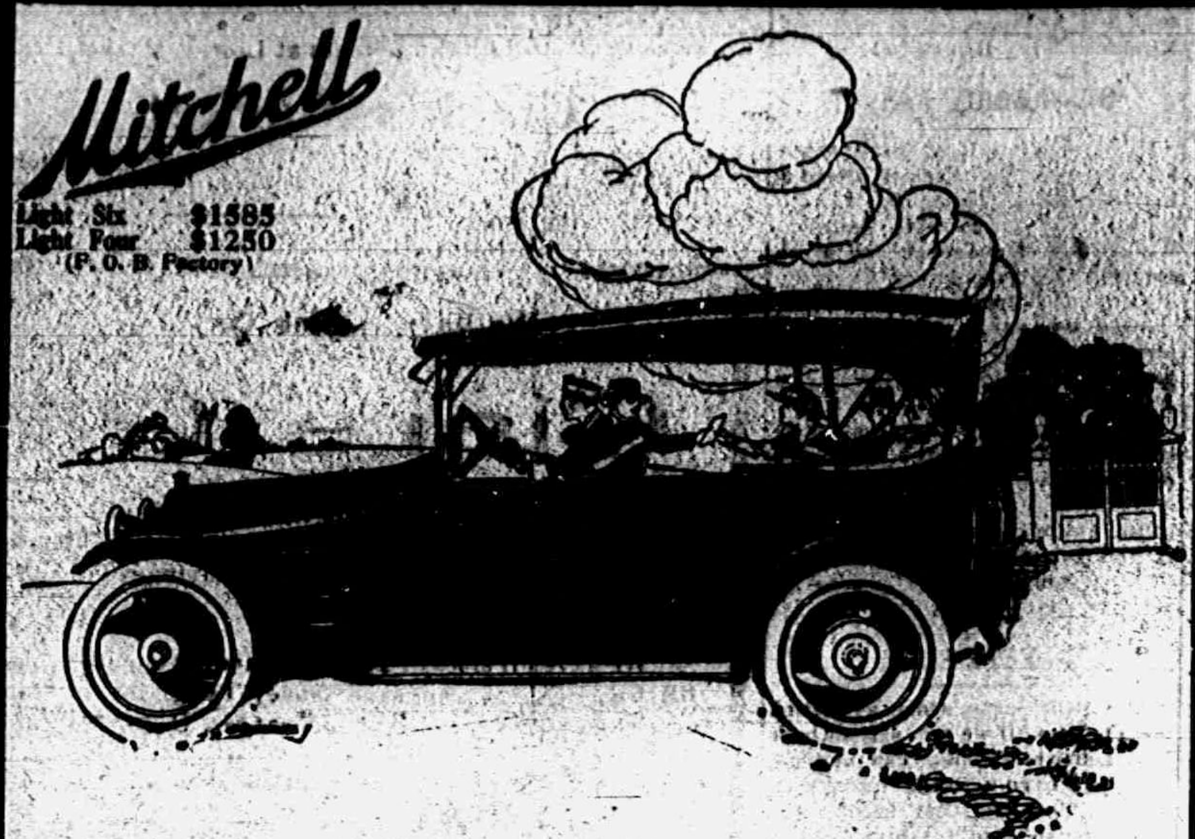
SIXTY-FIFTH YEAR NO 22 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY MARCH 19, 1915 WHOLE NUMBER 4403



TREND—

The real trend in automobile manufacture is toward lighter weight and lower price, which typifies the most modern design and the highest factor of safety at moderate cost.

Houses are no longer bulky in construction, watches are thinner, bicycles weigh less. Each is more adaptable to the use intended, giving maximum value at minimum weight.

The trend is toward lighter construction, and in the science of manufacture things are produced better at a lower cost.

That is why the sales of Mitchell cars have, during the last three months, exceeded by more than 80% the sales of any previous three months in Mitchell history.

CAR AND DRIVER GO INTO CLINTON RIVER

Auto Stolen in Detroit Found Under Mt. Clemens Bridge.

DETROIT, MICH. — Somewhere at the bottom of the Clinton river, in or near Mt. Clemens, lies the body of the driver of a stolen automobile which plunged over the Bath City bridge at midnight Saturday, is the belief of Mt. Clemens and Detroit police.

All day Sunday the police dragged the river for the driver's body without success. Early in the day the Detroit police located the owner of the car, Harry C. Houghton of 330 Montclair avenue, a Detroit real estate man.

Mr. Houghton told Detectives Parker and Dwyer that the car was stolen from in front of the Hotel Statler, Bagley avenue side, about 10:30 Saturday night, while he and a party of friends were dining in the Hotel Griswold cafe.

Although the water is shallow just below the bridge the police of both cities believe the driver probably was drowned and the body was carried into deeper water farther down. Nearly a dozen men dragged the river for half a mile below the bridge.

HELD AS CHICKEN THIEVES

Constable Is Charged With Stealing Fowls at Mt. Clemens.

MOUNT CLEMENS, MICH. — Robert De Hate, Harrison township constable, was arrested with Joe Peckeral of Mt. Clemens, on a charge of stealing chickens from the home of Dr. Shotwell.

Bad luck resulted in the men's apprehension. Late in the evening they started out with a rig after loading it with empty poultry crates, according to the police. They were met by Captain Aemke, of the Mt. Clemens police department, who jokingly asked them if they were going out to steal chickens. When they were a few miles outside of Mt. Clemens they collided with a Ford auto, demolishing their vehicle. At a livery stable they rented another rig. Their arrest followed when they were unable to tell a connected story.

Maid and Jewelry Gone, Babe Alone.

GERMANS TAKE ST. ELOI HEIGHT

Capture British Position Near Ypres After 2 Day Battle.

ITALY ASSEMBLES ITS FLEET

Government Gathers Warships at Taranto, Port Nearest Dardanelles—Expels German Newspaper Correspondents—Sultan Hesitates at Flight—More Turkish Batteries Silenced.

BERLIN — The German war office gave out a report on the progress of the fighting as follows:

"The English position on the height near St. Eloi, south of Ypres, has been taken by the Germans. Fighting for the possession of this location has been going on since day before yesterday.

"In the Champagne district several partial attacks delivered by French troops broke down in the face of German fire. The French losses were heavy.

"To the north of Beausejour German troops took possession of several French trenches.

"An engagement begun yesterday in the Argonne continues today. Also in the Vosges there are several places wher the fighting still is going on."

Italy Assembles Fleet.

GENEVA — A dispatch to the Tribune from its Rome correspondent says that a large part of the Italian navy is being concentrated at Taranto at the southeastern extremity of the country and the point nearest the Dardanelles.

The Rome government has issued an order expelling from Italy the correspondents of the Vienna Tagerblatt and Frankfurter Zeitung.

Money Order Service Suspended.

The Italian minister of posts and telegraphs has issued orders suspending the exchange of telegraphic money orders with Austro-Hungary. Orders also have been issued suppressing the traveling postoffice on trains bound for the Austrian frontier.

Train Ready at Constantinople

The Tribune's Dedeagatch correspondent telegraphs that Talaat Bey, the Turkish minister of war is having great difficulty in persuading the sultan to transfer the capital from Constantinople to Konich in Asia Minor.

A special train is said to be held in readiness constantly to transport the government funds and archives to Konich, if Adrianople is evacuated. Turkish troops are reported to be concentrated at Constantinople and along the Dardanelles.

More Turk Batteries Silenced.

PARIS — Several batteries of Turkish field artillery posted above Kumkale at the entrance to the Dardanelles were discovered and silenced by British warships after a bombardment Sunday, says a special dispatch from Athens.

British Admit Loss of 166 Ships.

LONDON — In a written answer to a query, Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, asserted that the number of British merchant ships detained, captured or destroyed from the beginning of the war to March 10 totaled 166.

Germans Take Swedish Grain Ship.

COPENHAGEN — The Swedish steamer Gloria, carrying a cargo of corn from LaPlata, Argentina, to Stockholm, has been halted by a German warship and is being convoyed into Swinemunde, on the Baltic, according to dispatches received here today.

The government has ordered an investigation of the report.

CRUISER DRESDEN IS SUNK

British Warships Sink German Raider In Five Minutes Off Chili.

LONDON, ENG. — The admiralty announces that the German cruiser Dresden had been sunk. The engagement occurred off the Juan Fernandez islands, west of Valparaiso, Chile, on Sunday, the admiralty said.

The British cruisers Glasgow, Orama and Kent trapped the Dresden and closed in upon her. After five minutes of action during which heavy damage was inflicted on the German cruiser, she hauled down her colors and ran up the white flag of surrender. The Dresden was aflame, however, when the white flag was run up A magazine had exploded and the Dresden's upper works were afire. Her crew were quickly taken off by boats from the British warships. Flames spread rapidly and with successive explosions the Dresden quickly went to the bottom.

Fifteen wounded men of the crew of the Dresden landed at Valparaiso. There were no English casualties, the admiralty announced.

Father Claims Mystery Baby.

PORT HURON, MICH. — Delbert Freed, father of the "mystery baby," which was given to Mrs. John Lovelace of this city a week ago, came to Port Huron to identify his child. He said that he did not know the grandmother had given it away.

LAPEER HIERS WIN IN FORTUNE FIGHT

500 O'Conners Were After Recluse's Wealth

HASTINGS, MICH. — Three O'Conner heirs of Lapeer, Mich., were winners along with a number of O'Connors from other states, in the O'Connor fortune trial which ended here, when an alleged will made by John O'Connor, an aged recluse, who died in Hastings eighteen months ago, leaving $100,000, was thrown out of court. The action will result in the property being divided among the various O'Connors, who prove heirship to the Hastings miser.

O'Connor, according to the Lapeer O'Connors, got in trouble in that town forty years ago and left. He amassed a fortune in Hastings but lived the life of a recluse. He died suddenly.

Five hundred O'Connors, some from every state in the Union, are claiming the property.

To assist in identification the body of the old miser is being kept in cold storage.

ITEM BRINGS THEM TOGETHER

Sisters Will Meet After Half Century of Separation.

HANCOCK, MICH. — Two sisters —Mrs. Bridget Gallagher of Logansport, Indiana, and Mrs. Josephine Sullivan of Calumet, Mich.—are soon to see each other for the first time in more than half a century. Until recently neither was aware of the other's whereabouts.

A Hancock man in Logansport on business some weeks ago met Mrs. Gallagher and was told by her of a sister who had gone to the Michigan copper mining country upwards of fifty years ago and had since not been heard from. Mention of the incident was made in a Hancock newspaper. The item came to the attention of Mrs. Sullivan. Correspondence that followed established the relationship of the two women, and with the advent of warm weather Mrs. Gallagher will make the journey to the copper country. The women are in the seventies. Each is a widow in comfortable circumstances.

ALL PATIENTS ESCAPE BLAZE

One on Operating Table When Traverse City Hospital Starts Burning.

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH. — Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Grand Traverse hospital, a twenty-two room institution one mile northwest, and owned and operated by Mr and Mrs. A. L. Smith. At the time the fire was discovered there were four patients in the building, one of whom was on the operating table ready to have an anaesthetic administered.

They were all removed in safety and taken to another private hospital.

PREFERRED TO WORK, KILLED

Old Man Refuses to Retire on Pension and Loses Life.

ISHPEMING, MICH.—When a large rock on which he was working rolled down upon him, Ole Oleson of Ishpeming was instantly killed in the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co.'s cliffs mine. He was seventy-two years old and the corporation's oldest miner.

The company offered to retire him on a pension some time ago, but Oleson rejected the proposition. He was a miner for the Cleveland Cliffs for thirty-five years.

Would Amend Act on Wages.

LANSING, MICH. — Known to few employers there is on the stattute books of Michigan drastic law regarding non-payment of wages and Senator Barnes introduced an amendment. An employer who defaults in payment of wages, barring acts of providence and conditions of bankruptcy, can be forced to pay interest at the rate of 10 per cent a day. The amendment of Senator Barnes would cut the percentage to one cent a week.

To Test Corrupt Practice Act.

LANSING, MICH. — Jacob Gansley, an officer of a local brewery, charged with a violation of the corrupt practices act, in contributing money to the local option campaign fund on behalf of the brewery, a corporation, when arraigned stood mute, and the announcement was made that the attorneys on both sides had agreed to test the corrupt practices act in the supreme court.

BRITAIN ISSUES "STARVE" ORDER

Measure to Cut Germany Off from World Promulgated.

U. S. TO PROTEST VIGOROUSLY

Washington Sees Blow to Import Trade Made Through Blockade of Germany—Order Is Drastic on Neutrals of Europe—It Is Without Precedent.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States will vigorously protest England's latest shipping order. Officials say that it is a flagrant violation of international law and of the rights of neutrals. Failure to specifically proclaim a blockade, to be maintained by ships of war off Germany's seaports, is declared to make the "order in council," as issued in London, a distinct violation of the treaty rights of the United States with both France and England.

LONDON, ENG. — The British foreign office delivered to Ambassador Page its reply to the American note proposing to Great Britain and Germany the withdrawal of the German submarine blockade provided England would permit food to reach German civilians. Great Britain's reply is an absolute refusal.

Great Britain has thus struck her promised blow against Germany. By issuing an order in council she throttled Germany's commerce in a drastic manner unprecedented in international law.

The decree practically declares a blockade of the German North sea coast without using the precise term. This is contrary to all precedents, which require the presence of blockading warships.

Restricts Neutral Countries.

To complete the program of starving out the kaiser the government laid certain drastic restrictions on neutral commerce. These are designed to prevent Germany from exporting or importing any commodities through Holland or Scandinavian countries on the Baltic sea, the waters of which are controlled by the Geran navy.

The blockade is effective at once.

Expects Strong Protests.

The government expects strong protests from the United States, Holland and the Scandinavian countries, whose commerce is hit hard by the order in council made public today. The British reply will be that drastic action of an unprecedented sort was made necessary by Germany's violation of all principles of international law in torpedoing unarmed merchantmen. Furthermore, assurance was given that ample protection will be given neutrals in the British prize courts.

OWNERS OF DACIA DISAGREE

Minority Stockholders Hold Breitung Responsible for Ship's Loss.

NEW YORK — A suit over the steamship Dacia, formerly a Hamburg-American liner, which was seized on Feb. 27 by a French cruiser and taken to Brest, where her cargo of cotton and provisions for Germany have been confiscated, was filed in the supreme court against E. N. Breitung. The only paper yet filed in the action is a summons, drawn by counsel for E. V. Novelly & Co., the plaintiffs, of 18 Broadway.

It is understood that Novelly & Co., as the owners of the minority interest in the vessel, will seek to hold Mr. Breitung responsible for sending the Dacia out to certain capture by the French or English after the English government had announced that the vessel would be taken if found.

RUSS CLAIM FOE REPULSED

Petrograd Says Germans Are Driven Back All Along Line.

LONDON, ENG. — The Russians in their official statement claim to have made advances on the whole front in the region of Przasynsz. It says all German counter attacks have been repulsed.

The German statement in regard to Russia said the Russian attacks in Poland were repulsed but no details were given.

Carranza Ends Progreso Blockade.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — General Carranza has abandoned his blockade of the port of Progreso on urgent representations by the United States. The Mexican gunboat has been called off, and two American ships laden with sisal for the United States have cleared without interference.

JAMES VANVLEET

News has been received of the death of James Van Vleet a resident of Flint who passed away Tuesday morning after an illness of two weeks, at the advanced age of 95 years 7 months having celebrated his 95th birthday last July. His parents were Jared and Polly VanVleet. Mr. VanVleet was related to Mr. Ed. VanVleet and and Jared VanVleet of Tecumseh (deceased.)

"PEG 'O MY HEART"

Tecumseh is to have the opportunity of witnessing Oliver Morosco's production of J Hartley Manners' comedy, "Peg O' My Heart," which recently concluded a sensational run of over 600 performances at the Cort Theatre, New York City.

In being afforded the opportunity to see the performance of the current company, this city is particularly fortunate. Miss Dorothy Mackaye as "Peg" is perfectly cast and her natural winsomeness and genuine acting ability makes her work in the part a delight. This little actress was selected for the part by Mr. Morosco personally and he considers her one of the coming stars. To see her as 'Peg' is to love her. Miss Mackaye first saw the light of day at a little village in the North of Scotland. When a "wee bit of a lass" her parents returned to Dublin, Ireland, where her girlhood and school days were spent. Miss Mackaye is a true type of Erin, with her beautiful auburn hair and eyes of Irish blue. By birth and early environment, she is naturally fitted to portray the colleen in the now famous play.

Before coming to America Miss Mackaye appeared for two years with marked attention in the Music Halls of London and the continent. Her initial success in this country was with Max Figman as "Mary Jane" in "Mary Jane's Pa," and later as "Little Nell" in "The Old Curiosity Shop". For two years prior to her association with Mr. Morosco, she was a member of the famous stock organization at Elitch's Garden, Denver, Colorado.

The company which Mr. Morosco is sending here to present the comedy of youth, written by the brilliant J. Hartley Manners, is as near equal of the New York cast, which is headed by Laurette Taylor, as it is possible to make it. As for the stage setting, it is the exact replica of that used in the New York production. The company carries a special car of scenery, electrical effects, furniture etc. Everything used on the stage is carried even to the stage carpet. The only thing the local house has to furnish is two pianos on the stage.

"Peg O' My Heart" will be the attraction at the Bradley Opera House next Wednesday evening, March 24th and the local management wishes to assure his patrons that in offering Mr. Morosco's famous attraction that he is offering one of the best that ever came into Tecumseh. That is saying a good deal when one stops to recall some of the attractions that we have had the pleasure of seeing here but to see "Peg" will confirm this statement. Seats will be on sale commencing Monday.

"THE SPOILERS" BY REX BEACH

The presentation of Rex Beach's play, "The Spoilers," was greeted with a good house on Tuesday evening.

The cast was a strong one and the story was well told by the pictures as they were presented. Everyone who had read the book, and those who had not, could not fail to enjoy the evening. Tecumseh was favored in having an opportunity to see so good a show.

CHOPPED THUMB

Some Michigan people know what to do when they get a cut or a bruise. Others are panic-stricken over external hurts which could be healed by a simple liniment, as in the case of Mr. L. H. Carpenter of Dryden, N. Y, who says: "Recently I cut my thumb with an axe so that it hung by only a little skin. I used nothing except Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh and saved my thumb. It is the best remedy I ever saw for cuts and wounds of any kind." Certainly, no family should be without this liniment of many uses. Your dealer has it. adv

ST. PATRICK' PARTY

Mr. and Mrs Harry Bond entertained the Owl Eye Club Wednesday evening with a pretty St. Patrick party. The rooms were beautiful with strings of shamrock and green crepe paper streams looped along the ceilings and draperies.

After ten games of pedro were played the guests were served with a fine lunch in which the color scheme was carried out.

The host and hostess were mightily surprised when in walked Mr. Bond's parents of Royal Oak and his sister Mrs. Pierce of Troy and at the close of the evening these visitors gave a program of readings and songs which were certainly no small features of the entertainment.

SAFETY FIRST

This is the slogan widely advertised and justly so. If we vote saloons back into Lenawee County, can automobiles hope to go onto the roads with safety. We know that most of the accidents are due to drink. When you want to take a ride with your family do you want to meet a lot of drunks whirling along the highway without any realization of their responsibility? It is bad enough now; how could the situation by improved with saloons?

GENERAL BALDWIN'S PROMOTION

Congress has promoted Frank D. Baldwin (retired) United States Army to the rank of major general on the retired list. In doing this the lawmakers have done a belated act of justice to one of the finest soldiers of the service. When General Baldwin was retired because he had reached the age of 64 years, Congress violated precedent and neglected for some reason to pass the act necessary to advance the old soldier one grade, as had been done in virtually all cases in the past.

For eight years ranking officers of the United States Army on the active lists, led by Generals Nelson A. Miles and Leonard Wood, have been using all proper influence to secure justice for Baldwin. Within a few days Senate and House voted unanimously to make Brigadier General Frank D. Baldwin Major General Frank D. Baldwin.

Baldwin is the only soldier in the United States Army, active or retired who had been given by act of Congress two medals of honor for deeds of conspicuous personal gallantry in the face of the enemy. His record of fighting service, probably, is unparalleled in the history of American arms. In 1902, after Baldwin had won the battles of Byan, Pandapatani in the Philippine Islands, Theodore Roosevelt, then President, cabled to General Chaffee to express to Colonel Baldwin his congratulations and thanks for the splendid courage and fidelity which again had "carried our flag to victory."

No one ever had understood why Baldwin was not promoted to the rank of major general on his retirement. Every other brigadier general who had seen civil war service was thus honored. Congressmen admitted that it was an injustice and army men said it was an outrage. It was both. Frank D. Baldwin finally has been made a Major General. His service to his country would justify the conferring of a higher rank.

Ex

The above article will be of deep interest to the many friends of Major General Frank D. Baldwin in and around Tecumseh who hold him in high esteem as a Man and a Soldier and every one will be glad to know that he has received the proper appreciation though long delayed.

HOUSEWIVES, THINK OF THIS.

Supposing your husband takes three ten cent drinks of liquor every day in the year. What does it do for yourself and children? Does it not brutalize your husband, desolate yourself, debauch your son, and betray your daughter? You, as the home-maker, could buy of your grocer for the sustenance of your family, with the money your husband has spent for his own selfish "pleasure," the following necessaries of life: 15 sacks of flour, 20 bushels of potatoes, 100 pounds granulated sugar, 10 pounds of salt, 50 pounds of butter, 20 pounds of rice, 50 pounds oat flakes, 25 pounds coffee, 5 pounds of tea, 50 cans tomatoes, 10 dozen oranges, 20 dozen bananas, 50 cans corn, 25 pounds beans, 100 cakes of soap, 1 pound pepper, 4 gallons molasses, 20 gallons oil, with money left for wife and babies. By all means persuade your husband and son to vote dry April 5th,

Steamed puddings will not be heavy if made with K C Baking Powder and cooked slowly to give the pudding time to rise before the dough is cooked through. Have a low blaze under the water for at least the first fifteen minutes.

K C Marble Pudding

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

2 cups sifted pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ teaspoonful cinnamon; ¼ teaspoonful salt; yolks of 2 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup sugar; 4 tablespoonfuls melted butter; ½ cup cold water; whites of 2 eggs, beaten dry; 1½ ounces melted chocolate.

Sift together, three times, the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. To the yolks add the sugar, butter and water, and stir into the dry ingredients. Add the whites of the eggs. Divide the mixture into two parts and add the chocolate to one part. Dispose the two parts in a buttered mold to give a marbled appearance. Steam forty-five minutes.

The Webster Anderson Co. have been having their spring opening this week. Their suits, coats and fancy dress goods are all of the latest and appeal to the woman's love of fine apparel. Everything that would please can be found here. The millinery display by Miss Foster is very beautiful. The pretty hats with their trimmings of fruits and flowers and dainty ribbons invite the attention of all. The Victrola concert every afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock is one of the pleasing features of the week

SPRING OPENING

The millinery store of Miss Nettie Pierce presented a charming appearance for her spring opening Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Freeman has spared no pains in the redecorating and reconstruction of the interior. The ceiling of steel is in a beautiful grey tint with side walls in a lighter shade with dainty pink flowers in the border.

The show room has been enlarged the partition being changed and newly varnished and the changes in the arrangements of the furniture make a very pleasing appearance.

Miss Pierce has a fine display of millinery. Transparency in hats seems to be quite the up-to-date idea and is certainly quite charming with the dainty colored flowers in the rims. Colors in hats prevail and with their trimmings of fruits and flowers and narrow ribbons are very pretty.

A few poke bonnets are also shown which bring out the sweet young faces under their brims in a delightful manner. Tailored hats are also shown and a few with the broad ribbon trimmings. The breath of spring is in the air and each hat seems to breathe it in.

ALL PEOPLE WELCOME

RYND—PERCY.

St. Patrick's Day dawned bright and clear and the pleasant home of Mrs. Mary Ives was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 12 o'clock noon when her sister Mrs. Alice Rynd and Charles Percy both of Minneapolis, Minn., were united in marriage.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Bradish of Madison, the bridal party lead by Mrs Jas. Wood, took their places and Rev Geo. W. Jennings pronounced the words that made these two one, using the ring servive. Mrs. Mary Ives as matron of honor gave away the bride. Jas Waldron acted as best man

The bride wore a gown of bronze silk poplin and carried a boquet of cream roses.

The house was very prettily decorated in green and white; hyacinths and carnations being used in all the rooms. A four course dinner was served. The bride's table had a large basket of white carnations as a center piece and at each plate were a carnation and a spray of farn with decorated place cards

The company were seated at small tables all with the green and white decorations. Honoring St. Patrick's Day the green effect was seen in the various courses of the dinner, a green leaf or fruit being somewhere in evidence. The dinner was served by the Misses Anna Carson, Clara Waldron, Ruth Keeney and Miss Bradish of Madison.

The bride, who was formerly Miss Alice Gray, needs no introduction to Tecumseh where she has always been known and loved and will be followed to her home in Minneapolis by the best wishes of everyone. Mr. Percy has won the esteem of all with whom he has met in his short stay here and it is hoped that he will come often.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy left on the 5:35 train enroute to their home. At the hour of their departure drew nigh there was a sudden shower of confetti but it did not prevent their leaving. They will stop for a short visit in Chicago.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Chas. Randall and Mrs. Milton Ingersoll of Adrian, Miss Bernice Bradish of Madison, Mr. and Mrs Will McIntyre of Dundee, Mr. and Mrs. John Cadmus of Ridgeway, Mrs. Will McScherey and daughter Mabel of Hillsdale.

"And what," asked the cannibal chieftain, in his kindest tones, "was your business before you were captured by my men?"

"I was a newspaper man," answered the captive.

"An editor?"

"No; merely a subeditor."

Severe Head Pains
Caused By Catarrh
Cured By Peruna

I Feel It a Duty to Mankind to Let All Know of My Cure. Peruna Did It.

Mr. W. H. Chaney, R. F. D. 2, Sutherlin, Pittsylvania Co., Va., writes: "For the past twelve months I have been a sufferer from catarrh of the head. Since taking four bottles of your Peruna I feel like a different person altogether. The severe pains in my head have disappeared, and my entire system has been greatly strengthened.

"This is my first testimonial to the curative qualities of any patent medicine. I feel it a duty to mankind to let them know of Peruna. In my estimation it is the greatest medicine on earth for catarrh."

We have thousands of testimonials like Mr. Chaney's. Some of them were cured after years of suffering and disappointment in finding a remedy.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which Is Better—Try an Experiment of Profit by a Tecumseh Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment.
Must be proved to be as represented.
The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.
But the endorsement of friends is.
Now supposing you had a bad back,
A lame, weak, or aching one,
Would you experiment on it?

You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

Its different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony

Read this Tecumseh case:

Henry Kempf, carpenter, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were not doing their work as they should and I was suffering from a lame and aching back. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug Store and it did not take them long to remove the trouble."

Absolute Zero.

In the absence of all heat the temperature is zero, not the zero of the thermometers, but what is called "absolute zero." In other words, where there is no heat there is no temperature. Absolute zero is supposed to be about 274 degrees below the thermometric zero of the Centigrade scale and about 461 degrees below the thermometric zero of the Fahrenheit scale. Absolute zero might, imaginatively, be defined as molecular death, because a substance which has lost all temperature has necessarily lost all molecular, or internal, energy and has become entirely inert.—New York Journal.

Origin of "Hip, Hip, Hurrah!"

"Hip, hip, hurrah!" our modern yell of delight, is said to have an ancient origin. The word "hip" is supposed to be composed of the initial letters of the Latin phrase, "Hierosolyma est perdita," meaning "Jerusalem is destroyed," the "i" in "hip" being substituted for the "e" in "est." When the German knights were persecuting Jews in the middle ages they are said to have run, shouting, "Hip, hip!" as much as to say Jerusalem is destroyed. "Hurrah" is said to be from the Slavonic "hu-raj," meaning "to paradise;" hence "hip, hip, hurrah!" would mean "Jerusalem is lost; we are on our way to paradise."—Indianapolis News.

Mortgage Sale.

Whereas, O. M. Webster and Margaret L. Webster, husband and wife, of the Township of London, Monroe County, Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage bearing date the 5th day of September, A. D. 1913, to E. B. Kingsbury, of the Village of Seneca, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, on the 12th day of September, A. D. 1913, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in Liber 192 of Mortgages, on page 350; and

Whereas, a portion of said mortgage was assigned by said E. B. Kingsbury to Benjamin Blain, said assignment bearing date September 6th, 1913, and which assignment was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, on the 28th day of December, A. D. 1914, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 249; which said portion of said mortgage was afterwards, on, to-wit: December 28th, A. D. 1914, assigned by said Benjamin Blain to Hannah Keifer, which said assignment was recorded on December 28th, A. D 1914, in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 250.

The balance of said mortgage (outside of that portion assigned to said Benjamin Blain and assigned by him to said Hannah Keifer) was assigned by E. B. Kingsbury to said Hannah Keifer on October 24, A. D 1913, which last assignment was recorded on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1913, in the Register of Deeds office of the County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 567.

Whereas, the amount claimed to be due upon the debt secured by said mortgage at this date is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) therein stipulated for, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law or equity to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and said Hannah Keifer being now the owner of the whole of said mortgage, and the mortgage debt secured thereby, and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the interest secured by said mortgage whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and in pursuance thereof and of the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House at the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within said County, on the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon: The description of said premises contained in said mortgage and which will be sold as aforesaid is, as follows, to-wit: The following parcel of land in Adrian City, Lenawee County, Michigan, to-wit:

Commencing at the crossing of the south line of Toledo street with the west line of McVicker street in said city. Thence westerly on south line of said Toledo street seventy (70) feet more or less. Thence southerly paralled with west line of lot one (1) on the plat of Eastern Addition to the Village (now city) of Adrian, Michigan, to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of the tier of lots fronting on Toledo street aforesaid. Thence easterly on a line parallel with said Toledo street and to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of said tier of lots to the west line of McVicker street. Thence northerly along the west line of said McVicker street to the place of beginning.

Said mortgaged premises will be sold as aforesaid to satisfy both the principal and interest due on said mortgage, to-wit: One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), together with interest that may be due at the time of the sale, also to satisfy an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) as provided in said mortgage, also to satisfy any taxes that assignee of said mortgagee has paid or may be required to pay to protect her interest in said mortgaged premises, and all other legal costs of this foreclosure.

HOW A DEEP SEATED COUGH

And Sore Lungs Were Overcome by Vinol—Mr. Hillman's Statement of Facts Follows:

Camden, N. J.—"I had a deep seated cough, a run-down system and my lungs were awfully weak and sore. I am an electrician by occupation and my cough kept me awake nights so I thought at times I would have to give up. I tried everything everybody suggested and had taken so much medicine I was disgusted.

"One evening I read about Vinol and decided to give it a trial. Soon I noticed an improvement. I kept on taking it and today I am a well man. The soreness is all gone from my lungs, I do not have any cough and have gained fifteen pounds in weight and I am telling my friends that Vinol did it." — FRANK HILLMAN, Camden, N. J.

It is the curative, tissue-building influence of cods' livers aided by the blood-making, strength creating properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, that made it so successful in Mr. Hillman's case.

We ask every person in this vicinity suffering from weak lungs, chronic coughs, or a run-down condition of the system to try a bottle of Vinol on our guarantee to return your money if it fails to help you.

LINCOLN BEACHEY

Daring Aviator Finally Loses Life in Thriller.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

SAN FRANCISCO — Lincoln Beachey, whose skill and daring as an aviator has echoed around the world, was claimed by the elements which he so long defied when the new German Taube, in which he had hoped to demonstrate his complete mastery of the air, folded its toy-like wings and plunged from a great height into the waters of the bay. Before the horrified gaze of 50,000 people who had witnessed his flight from the Marina in front of the Palace of Mines at the exposition the peer of aerial champions went to an end as spectacular as his remarkable career.

FIEND SLAYS WOMAN AND TWO CHILDREN

Skulls of Six Persons Beaten in with Flatiron.

TERRE HAUTE, IND.—A mysterious person attacked Mrs. Mary C. Balding and four of her children at night as they lay asleep. Two of the children were instantly killed, the mother died several hours later, and two other children are so seriously injured that physicians say they cannot recover. Each of the victims was beaten on the right side of the head with a flat iron. An infant clasped in Mrs. Bading's arms was the only one in the house to escape injury.

The police believe an insane person committed the crimes. The Baldings were found and authorities say robbery was not the motive.

William C. Balding, husband and father of the victims, was in Centralia, Ill., on the night of the tragedy.

PLAN DEFENSE AGAINST ITALY

Austrian Emperor Confers With War Minister on Frontier Fortifications.

ROME — There were three important developments in the Italian situation. They were:

A conference was held in Vienna between Emperor Francis Joseph and General Ritter von Krobatin, Austro-Hungarian minister of war, on the subject of the defenses of the dual monarchy on the Italian frontier. The Italian minister of posts and telegraphs issued orders suspending the exchange of telegraphic money orders with Austria-Hungarian and suppressing the traveling postoffices on trains bound for the Austrian frontier. It was announced that Emperor Francis Joseph had not refused absolutely to grant any territorial concession to Italy, but had offered so little territory compared to what Italy would accept that an understanding between the two countries seemed hopeless.

ORDER THAW BACK TO ASYLUM

Appeal to Be Sent to New Hampshire Is Refused by Judge.

NEW YORK — Justice Page denied the motion of the defense that Harry K. Thaw be returned to New Hampshire. The judge said Thaw was to go back to Matteawan unless legal papers were served on the warden of the Tombs prison calling for the prisoner's retention in New York City.

Anticipating the decision, Thaw's counsel had obtained from Supreme Court Justice Bijur a writ of habeas corpus which will keep Thaw in Tombs prison until next Friday, when he must be produced in court.

NOT CANDIDATE, SAYS ROOT

"Such a Thing Is Impossible," Former Senator Declares.

"All talk of my being a candidate is absolute nonsense," he declared. "Such a thing is impossible."

Beauty of Zambezi Falls.

To realize fully the wondrous beauty of the Zambezi falls, Rhodesia, one must have time to linger and watch the ever changing scene. The depths of the chasm below are veiled from sight by the rising columns of opalescent mist, and above the yawning abyss the sun glints and sparkles, weaving the drops into a magnificent rainbow. Three hundred feet below roars and boils the swirling flood as it emerges from the Boiling Pot, rushing on down the zigzag gorge between towering cliffs of rock, narrow, fierce and of unfathomable depth.—African World.

She Was Frank.

The moving picture director was having trouble in getting one of the scenes right. The girl was supposed to resist an attempt to kiss her, but the rehearsal was far from satisfactory.

"Think, now," said the director, coaching her, "haven't you ever tried to stop a young man from kissing you?"

"No," was the girl's frank reply.—London Answers.

DISCOVER DEAD MAN IN TREE

Dundee, Mich., Is Greatly Excited Over Strange Spectacle.

DUNDEE, MICH. — Dundee is deeply stirred by the mystery surrounding the death of a man believed to be Charles Stark, a railroad man from Elyria, O., whose dead body was discovered in a tree in the center of a field two miles from the village.

The gruesome discovery was made by persons who passed the field on the way to church. A man passing spied what first looked like a coat in the tree, which stands several rods from the road. He investigated and found the body. It was removed to a local undertaking establishment. The identification was made by papers found in the dead man's clothing.

Beer and Morphine Fatal.

MUSKEGON, MICH. — As the result of drinking a mixture of beer and morphine, given to him by his ten year old cousin, Martin Joseph, the eleven months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Huisenga, died.

The baby and his cousin were playing alone in the kitchen when he poured some beer into a glass containing several morphine pills.

Would Utilize More Potatoes.

LANSING, MICH. — In order to utilize a large portion of Michigan's large potato crop, which may be wasted, approximated by the State Association of Farmers' Clubs at 1,000 car loads for 1914, the state legislature will be asked to determine the commercial possibilities of dried potatoes or potato flour in America and in foreign markets.

Dr. Ray S. Freund Dies.

DETROIT, MICH. — Dr. Ray S. Freund, a native of Port Huron, and a graduate from the University of Michigan, is dead in Butte, Mont., at the age of forty-three. Uraemic poisoning was the cause. He was a son of Dr. Isador and Jennie Spalding Freund and grandson of Jed Spalding, one of the pioneers of Port Huron.

Women Win in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, PA. — The Pennsylvania senate passed by a vote of 37 to 11 the joint resolution proposing a woman's suffrage amendment to the state constitution. As the resolution passed the 1913 legislature and went through the house several weeks ago, it will be submitted to the people next November.

Saginaw Police Chief Dies.

SAGINAW, MICH. — James P. Walsh, chief of the Saginaw police department, dropped dead at his home here. He was a prominent Mason.

HAUGHTY SEMINOLES.

They Don't Like White Men and Wish Only to Be Let Alone.

Many people in the northern states are unaware that there dwells in the fastness of the Florida Everglades one of the most interesting and picturesque bands of American aborigines in the United States, known as the Seminole Indians, who are now as separate and distinct from the white race as when Columbus first held mass on the shores of Cuba. These are the remnants of the one time mighty nation of the Seminoles, who defied the United States government for more than half a century and persistently refused colonization.

While the numerous wars and forced emigration have reduced their numbers to a few hundred, their mode of living, dispositions and customs are in many respects the same as when the haughty De Soto sailed into Tampa bay in 1539.

The Seminoles live to themselves, avoiding contact with the white race as much as possible and seldom if ever taking whites into their confidence, and on account of the almost inaccessible nature of the country in which they live little is known of their intimate home life. Unlike the Indians of the west, they persistently decline any assistance from the government, saying in response to offers for their support, "We only wish to be let alone."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GERMAN ALLIES TO LEAVE ITALY

Consuls Advise Germans and Austrians to Get Out.

ANOTHER WAR ACT IS PASSED

Anti-Espoinage and Anti-Contraband Laws Are Characterized in Senate as Bugle Call—Measure Will Be Signed by King Today—Military Matters Forbidden Publication.

Rome, March 22.—All Germans and Austrians in Italy have been advised by the consuls of their respective countries to leave Italy within the shortest possible time.

Rome, March 22.—The passage of the anti-espoinage and anti-contraband law, which many believe is the last step in Italy's war preparations, was passed in the senate at 1:45 o'clock in the morning. There were 145 favorable votes and only two against the measure.

Calls Law a Bugle Call.

Senator Maragalino said that the law was the last phase in the war preparations, looking towards a realization of Italy's national aspirations, "from which even the earthquake did not deter us, hence this law is virtually a bugle call summoning the people to take up arms."

Senator Santini expressed confidence in the cabinet and alluded to the German contraband traffic and the action of Germany in furnishing rifles to the Tripoli rebels.

The law will be signed by the king and will be promulgated by royal decree today. It is probable that parliament will be adjourned when the prohibition of the publication of military matters will be decreed by the government.

Unknown Puts Up $5,000.

New York, March 22.—Bond in the sum of $5,000 in fifty one hundred dollar bills was put up for the release of Rae Tanzer, in jail on a charge of misusing the mails in connection with her suit for $50,000 against James W. Osborne, special United States attorney. The young man who put the bills up said they were furnished by a man unknown to him.

More British Officers Die.

London, March 22.—A casualty list of officers received from the British headquarters in the field, under date of March 15, gives the names of eighty-three officers, including Hindus, who were killed or have died from wounds and of 125 wounded or missing.

Y. W. C. A. Secretary Quits.

Marion, Ind., March 22.—Miss Florence Stone has submitted her resignation as general secretary of the Young Women's Christian association of this city after a tenure of two years.

U. S. IS ESTOPPED IN BLOCKADE CASE

Our Own Record Supports Position of Allies.

Washington, March 22.—There is now no likelihood of the United States objecting to the Anglo-French blockade of Germany on the ground that its radius of action is too big. The United States is foreclosed from protesting on this ground by its own record.

In reply to an inquiry from the United States as to the radius of the so-called blockade the British and French both stated that it would be confined to European waters, including the Mediterranean. It now appears that the radius of the allies' operations will be less than that which the United States government itself has determined as a maximum in previous discussions of the rule of blockade. At the London naval conference in 1909 which is said in the declaration of London the American delegates of which Admiral Stockton was the naval expert stood out for a radius of action of at least 1,000 miles in case of a blockade. The American delegation gave notice of a reservation of right to this effect when the rules of blockade were adopted by the conference. This radius, it is believed, is very much greater than that probably intended by the allies whose operations so far as Germany is concerned, are likely to be confined to the English channel, the North sea and the waters north and west of Scotland. It is suggested therefore that the United States government would be unwise in insisting at this time that the allies confine their operations within a smaller radius.

CHILD'S CORPSE IN CISTERN

Boy Thought to Have Been Kidnaped Found Drowned.

Danville, Ill., March 22.—The mysterious disappearance of three year old Jack Hamilton, son of William Hamilton of Kellyville, who had been missing from the family residence since Friday morning has been solved by the finding of the body floating in a cistern near the home.

Jack was seen with some other boys playing in the vicinity, and it is believed that the older boys left the trap door open. The parents had believed the child to be kidnapped.

PLAY TEETER TOTTER WITH GUN, FOUR SHOT

Child Finds Loaded Weapon In Lumber Pile.

St. Charles, Mich., March 22.—Four little girls were wounded, not seriously, today, by the discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Antone Konecy, eight years old. Two, aged five and one-half and seven years respectively, are children of John Chimmic. The older girl has one shot in her hip. The others are three and one-half and seven and one-half years of age and children of Joe Tolasch. They will recover.

The boy found an old gun containing a shell in a lumber pile, started to play teeter totter and the gun was discharged.

JITNEY BUSINESS IS GROWING

Traction Company Wakes Up to Potency of Competition.

Battle Creek, Mich., March 22.—The Michigan United Traction company, running street cars in Jackson, Lansing, Kalamazoo and Battle Creek, has recognized the danger of the approaching jitney bus systems, and is planning to fight them.

One tentative plan is to give seven tickets for a quarter, another to put in rival jitneys to reach districts not torched by street cars, and another to change the rules so as to remove some of the restrictions regarding continuous transfers, etc. Battle Creek is soon to have a $50,000 jitney system.

EX-CONVICT BECOMES FAGIN

Confession Solves "Key Burglar" Mistery in Saginaw.

Saginaw, Mich., March 22.—The mysterious "key burglar," who has committed forty jobs in three months, has been found in the confession of three boys—Charles Rosenbush, twenty-three years old; Albert Fisher, twenty, and Clarence Sherbert, eighteen.

Rosenbush said the goods had been disposed of through a man he met in Jackson prison.

Palmer to Testify.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 22.—Victer L. Palmer, who will be the chief witness in the trial of Frank B. Lay Jr., has reached Kalamazoo from Fort Leavenworth, where he is serving a two year sentence. The trial started today, and it is expected that there will be considerable light thrown on the affairs of the defunct Michigan Buggy Co.

To Have Woman Commissioner.

New berry, Mich., March 22.—Upper Michigan will be possessed of one woman county commissioner of schools after the spring election to be held next month. That woman is Mrs. Anna I. Auten of Newberry, Mrs. Auten is the Republican candidate in Luce county. She will be unopposed at the polls.

To Have Fine Bank Building.

Battle Creek, Mich, March 22.—The foundation work has been begun on Main street for one of the finest bank buildings ever erected in Michigan, if not in the United States. It will house the Old National bank, whose directors visited fifty cities, inspecting old and new bank buildings, before deciding on plans.

New Church Dedicated.

Morenci, Mich., March 22.—The dedication of the new M. E. church in this city began Sunday with a sermon by Bishop W. E. Anderson, and these services will continue for a week. The church has been built at a cost of $22,000, and the pastor has had full charge of its construction.

Suspect Hamburg-American Ship of Coaling Warships.

San Juan, P. R., March 22.—The Hamburg-American steamer Oden Wald, which was running in and out of this port since the outbreak of the war and which was suspected of carrying supplies to the German sea raider Karlsruhe when she was in the West Indies, was fired on by the United States gunners at El Morro when she attempted to leave without clearance papers. She was struck by a shell but suffered no serious injury and returned to port.

Some time ago the Oden Wald left this port with 10,000 tons of coal and returned shortly afterwards with her bunkers practically empty. On that occasion she went out without clearance papers and it was reported that the American officer in command of the port had informed the captain of the Oden Wald that if he tried that game again he would fire on the ship. The captain of the Oden Wald applied for clearance papers on March 18 and they were refused, pending instructions from Washington. Then he started out without them and the American commander kept his word.

The Oden Wald has been running in and out of San Juan since Aug. 9 of last year. She is a vessel of 2,093 tons.

SCOTT BRINGS PIUTE CHIEFS

Chief of Staff Takes Warlike Redskins Single Handed.

Bluff, Utah, March 22.—The Piute Indian uprising in Utah is over. Brigadier General Scott, chief of staff of the United States army, returned here with Old Polk, Tse-Ne-Gat and other members of his gang as his prisoners. General Scott took the Indians single handed.

Six men were killed and many wounded in early fighting between the Indians and members from the posse headed by United States Marshal Nebeker.

IS U. S. GAME LAW INVALID?

Federal Judge Decides States Only May Control Migratory Birds.

Topeka, Kas., March 22.—Declaring that only the states have jurisdiction over game, Federal District Judge Pollock in a decision filed held the federal migratory bird statute unconstitutional.

To the Housewife

Madam, if your husband is like most men he expects you to look after the health of yourself and children. Coughs and colds are the most common of the minor ailments and are most likely to lead to serious diseases. A child is much more likely to contract diptheria or scarlet fever when it has a cold. If you will inquire into the merits of the various remedies that are recommended for coughs and colds you will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy stands high in the estimation of people who use it. It is prompt and effectual, pleasant and safe to take, which are qualities especially to be desired when a medicine is intended for children. For sale by all dealers. adv

MEETING

Of Belgium Relief Committee

The Committee for the Relief of Belgium met at Mrs. Hardy's house on Thursday evening, and in view of the terrible distress in that unhappy country, and in consequence of letters received from the American Legation in Brussels, and Headquarters in New York; it was decided to resume work immediately.

The following appeal was formulated:

The Tecumseh Committee for the Relief of Belgium is very anxious to send another contribution to that sadly stricken heroic country. If the Belgians shall live or die, depends entirely on the continued help America gives. Fifty cents a week will keep a Belgian alive.

We earnestly urge you for the sake of humanity to give what you can spare. Any sum of money, no matter how small, will be gratefully accepted by any member of the committee. Also any kind of non-perishable food, and new clothes. Kindly leave heavy parcels at Mrs Hardy's house.

30,000 babies born in Belgium, since the war, many from widowed mothers lack milk, if they shall have it, or perish depends on your individual generosity.

Tecumseh, Michigan.

Dear Madam:

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of December 24th concerning a report that every inhabitant of Belgium is receiving a weekly allowance of Fr. 5 10. I judge from the tone of your letter that I need hardly assure you that this is not the case Food is being given to those who absolutely cannot pay, and is being sold at cost price to those that can, so that the funds for the purchase of food stuffs may be turned over and made to go as far as possible. Practically no monetary relief is being given to individuals

Signed: Hugh S. Gibson,

Commission for Relief in Belgium,
New York, March 15, 1915.

Dear Madam:

We desire to state officially that no Belgium is allowed any sum in cash, but each and every one in the destitus class gets a ration which costs us about fifty cents a week

We venture to hope that this denial will mean some barrels of flour, but we will be grateful for whatever we can get from your community.

Signed; Lindon W. Bates,
Vice Chairman.

REBEKAHS ENTERTAIN

One of the finest entertainments given at the I. O. O. F. temple in many a day was presented Friday evening and for which those present were indebted to the efforts of Floyd Juckett. the chairman of the entertainment committee of the Rebekahs. The affair was given by the latter lodge with the Odd Fellows and friends to the number of 140 their guests.

The excellent program was as follows:

Welcome—Mrs. J. A. Collins, N. G. of the Rebekah lodge.

Piano solo—Miss Mabel Ager

Reading, "The Lightning Rod Man" also "O'Grady's Goat"—C. J. Cuthbert of Galion, Ohio lodge

Vocal solo—Miss Edna Gaston

Reading. "Attend these Meetings" —Mrs. Collins

Address—Rev. Geo. Jennings of Port Huron lodge

Saxophone and piano duet—Glen Tansley and Miss Ager

Reading, "The Rebekah's Vision"—Mrs. P. C. Snell

Song and encore—Will and Fred Dickinson, Floyd Ager and Floyd Juckett.

The guests were then invited to the dining room where small tables were daintily laid and Miss Alma Tansley and her white gowned waiters deftly ministered to the company.

Later dancing and visiting occupied the attention of the crowd until a late hour, Mrs. Tom Dennison and Glen Tansley furnishing the music.

The decorations of the dining room and parlor deserve special mention Crepe paper strands in pink and green, the Rebekah colors, were inter woven from the ceiling and the effect was most beautiful.

FARMERS' UNION

Round-Up Meeting Held Saturday

The Farmers' Union held their round-up for the season at the Grange Hall Saturday with about 100 in attendance. A social hour was enjoyed by all after which a pot luck dinner was served.

The meeting was then called to order and after a short business session, this very pleasing program was given:

Duet, "Is it None of Your Business"—Mrs. A. J. Bigelow, Mrs. Lyman Howe

Reading—Mrs. Geo Sanford

Instrumental duet, piano and trombone—Mrs. Will Waldron and son Wilfred

Reading—Mrs. Albert Waring

Duet, "Was That You"—Mesdames Bigelow and Howe

Reading, "Aunt Belinda's Letters" —Miss Emma Rogers

Solo—Wm Wilson

Supt. Reed then gave an interesting talk on "School Ideals along Hygienic Lines," laying special stress on physical training in our schools and the needs of the pupils. His speech was full of good things which should be passed along. Later he spoke for the clubs for the boys and girls, along the lines of agriculture, domestic work, etc

The meeting was then adjourned to meet sometime in June at Wampler's Lake with Will Waldron and family.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

Like a breath of air from a rose scented garden is "Peg O' My Heart" Oliver Morosco's production of J. Hartley Manners' comedy which concluded a run of nearly two years at the Cort Theatre, New York City, and which comes to Tecumseh, next Wednesday night.

It is sweet, clean and wholesome and through it all is a delightful strain of Irish-American humor and a touch of pathos both of which combine to make it the most attractive stage story theatregoers have been offered in many years.

In these days of underworld drama and riskue musical farces it is truly gratifying to see a wholesome play like "Peg O' My Heart" presented. That the public appreciates Mr. Morosco's effort to spread the delight that attends the witnessing of the play is evident through the fact that in every city where the comedy has been presented it has played to capacity audiences.

Mr. Morosco is sending Dorothy Mackaye to this city as "Peg." In so doing he is favoring the theatre-going public here, for little Miss Mackaye is a wonderfully artistic 'Peg,' and gives a performance that lingers in the memory as a sweet thought of a delightful occasion. She was selected for the role of "Peg" by Mr Morosco himself, and he considers her one of the greatest little actresses on the American stage. Miss Mackaye is surrounded with an excellent cast, whose work has been favorably commented on.

Miss Adele Hughes who is playing one of the leading feminine roles with "Peg" will be remembered by Tecumseh theatre goers for her excellent work in "The Third Degree" which played at the Bradley some time ago. Miss Hughes played the role of "Anna Jeffries" in "The Third Degree."

Mr Morosco is sending to Tecumseh a fully equipped production of "Peg" the company carring everything in the line of scenery, electrical effects and furniture used on the stage, with the exception of two pianos which the local house has to furnish. They carry a special car for this mammoth production which is an exact replica of the original New York production which played for over two years at the handsome Cort theatre in New York City.

"Peg O' My Heart" will be at the Bradley next Wednesday night, March 24th and has the local management's endorsement as the "best on the road this son."

EVELYN NESBIT THAW IN "THREADS OF DESTINY"

On Friday evening, March 26, the management of the Bradley will present Lubin's great masterpiece in five parts "Threads of Destiny" in which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and her son Russell William Thaw play the principal roles. This is Evelyn Nesbit Thaws first and only appearance in motion pictures and is a wonderful play of society life.

Since the killing of Stanford White by Harry Thaw, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has been more in the 'lime light' than any other person in the world. Mrs T. is, at the present time, appearing in the leading vaudeville theatres all over the world at perhaps the highest salary ever paid a single person in that profession and was secured by the Lubin company to play the leading role in this great sensational production "Threads of Destiny" at an enormus price. It is Tecumseh peoples only chance to see the most talked of person in the world today.

This picture should be of especial interests at the present time owing to proceedings which are now being carried in New York as to Thaws sanity See hand bills for full particulars

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

Miss Pearl Beebe of Tipton entertained a company of friends Friday, March 19. Cards furnished the amusement of the afternoon, 500 being the chosen game. At the close of the games the company were ushered into the dining room where a three course dinner was served, during which her engagement to Faunt V. Lenardson of Britton was announced. The marriage is to take place early in May.

THEY ARE OUT, LET US KEEP THEM OUT

We hear this on every hand. The saloons are out, let us keep them out. That is a sensible view. It has taken us years to work up to the point where we could get rid of the saloons. Now that they are out, let us keep them out. Why? Because we have the smallest court calendar in six years.

During the years 1908 9, when we had saloons, there were 338 arrests for drunks and disorderlies at Adrian. In the following four years, when we were without saloons, there were only 291 drunks and disorderlies arrested. In other words, the average number of arrests during the two years under saloons was 169 and the average number of arrests in the four years without saloons was a fraction less than 73. We are after sobriety and orderliness in this county, are we not? Well, you see we cannot get it with saloons

To Whom It May Concern:

Some time ago I came to this city with the expectation of becoming a citizen of "the Biggest Little Town on Earth" Since coming I have taken up my wrestling game and won all but one bout which was called a draw.

I came here to become a citizen not a grafter, not to play the old race horse game—get any race till the money is on me—the fall down, for the money.

So please do not be misinformed. I am out to win every match, if I can I ask no one to back me. All I ask is, use me fair and, if interested in the real kind of manly art, turn out. I will win if I can and I challenge any of your friends or foes at 160 lbs., winners take all. Yours sincerely, FARMER MOORE.

We read of the wonderful trees and fruits of California and have them on postcards, but to see the real thing is quite worth while. While at the Mulvaney office Monday we were invited to look at a plank, and it was quite a sight to behold. It measured 60 ft and 4 inches in width, ten feet in length and two inches in thickness and had not a knot in it. It is California red wood. To see, gives one a more realizing sense of the size of these trees.

COUNTY OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE HERE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

The nineth annual county conference of older boys will be held in Tecumseh Friday and Saturday of this week. Also the county convention and committee of county Y. M. C. A. will hold a short session at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Lenawee was the first in the world to bring the boys of a county together to discuss their moral and religious problems. Tecumseh was the place where this first conference convened January 6-7, 1906, and the entire enrollment was forty-two.

Today in twenty-four states and provinces ninety or more organized county Y. M. C. As. are bringing together the older boys for such a conference. Upon the same days the nineth of Lenawee is meeting in Tecumseh, at least five other counties in Michigan alone are holding similar gatherings.

There will be in all probability about seventy five delegates at the conference. A number of fathers will accompany the boys so as to attend the county convention and the father and son banquet Friday afternoon and evening

The out-of-county speakers are the following:

Harry White, Y. M. C. A. secretary Madras, India, formerly secretary Y. M. C. A. Brooklyn, New York and also secretary of an eastern college association.

Burton B Johnson assistant state secretary of Y. M. C. A. in charge of college association and religious work, author of Bible study course for older boys "Jesus the Head Coach."

N. Earl Pinney, student U. of M., represents the university at oritorical contest chairman of the extension department of the university Y. M. C. A.

The boys themselves are to have the most important places on the program. Besides having all the offices they will among themselves discuss the conference theme of "Leadership." The following is the program:

LET US DISCHARGE OUR DEBT TO OUR CHILDREN

We have 13219 pupils of school age in Lenawee County, and for their education we suffer ourselves to be taxed to the extent of $488,760.00. No man kicks about it either. All are agreed that school needs come first, that we ought to discharge our debt to our children by giving them adequate educational facilities. We love to see our children qualified to meet the exegencies of life.

There is no man living, who can prove that bringing saloons back to Lenawee County will help the situation of our young people. The fact is, they will undo what the schools do. They will make our children worse than worthless The would-be saloon keeper wants to make easy money at the expense of your children. Will you let him do it? Vote "Yes" April 5th.

The World's Languages Now and What May Be In the Future.

How many men, if asked how many languages there are in the world, could give anything like an accurate answer? The average man's knowledge or ability to speak languages rarely exceeds two besides his native tongue.

It may appear strange, but it is nevertheless true, that there are over 4,000 languages spoken by mankind, while the number of dialects exceeds this. There are more than sixty vocabularies in Brazil, and in Mexico the Nahua is broken up into some 700 dialects. There are hundreds in Borneo, and in Australia there is no classifying the complexities. Let us assume that fifty dialects, on an average, belong to each language and we have the colossal total of 200,000 linguistic abilities.

A century hence the probability is that there will only be four languages of importance in the world. Central Europe may produce a newer and more straightforward German language. Imperial English may reign alone over the North American continent, while a more businesslike Spanish will be used in South American states. Then Russia may take on some more rich Slavonic dialect, which will blend the races of eastern Europe and central Asia into a harmonious federation. So that in future these four languages will enter into what may be a never ending competition.—Exchange.

ERRORS OF SCULPTORS.

Statues In England Noted For Crude Blunders In Modeling.

Some of the statues in public places in England are notable for certain unique symbols or glaring errors in modeling. One of the former kind is the statue of Sir Anthony Ashley at Wimborne, Dorset. Carved out of a stone at the feet of the figure is a faithful representation of a cabbage, indicating that Sir Anthony introduced the vegetable from Holland into England.

Even more peculiar is the carving on one of the four panels on the Queen Victoria statue in George square, Glasgow. The subject is the knighting of James Anderson, the lord provost of that city. As no sword was available the ceremony was performed with an umbrella, and the substitute has been copied by the sculptor. This same statue is incorrect in one important detail. The stately pose of the horse is negatived by the position of the hind legs—a position which is only possible when a horse is racing at full speed.

Perhaps the worst equestrian statue in the world is that erected in front of Trinity college, Dublin, to the memory of King William III. Among other faults, one of the forelegs of the horse is straight and the other curved considerably, yet both hoofs meet side by side on the pedestal.—London Spare Moments.

Many a Tecumseh Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Tecumseh There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter: Read the following statement.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte & Potawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first system of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain across the small of my back, which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did, procuring my supply at C. A. Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time the pains and aches left and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer troubled me. In fact, I felt like a different person. I have since recommended Doan's Kidneys Pills to a number of my friends and shall continue to do so. My former endorsement holds good"

YEGGS GET $800 FROM SAFE

Erie Postoffice Is Burglarized and Big Haul Made.

Monroe, Mich., March 22.—Yeggs, supposedly three of them, "blew" the safe in the Erie postoffice and made away with about $600 in stamps and $200 in cash. They stole a horse and rig to make their getaway, and the outfit was found in a ditch, overturned. The horse was tangled in the harness and had evidently been thrown and abandoned after several miles of hard driving.

The yeggs broke the postoffice door with tools they stole from a blacksmith shop. They entered a saloon before leaving town, but did not get much loot.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

Whereas, O. M. Webster and Margaret L. Webster, husband and wife, of the Township of London, Monroe County, Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage bearing date the 5th day of September, A. D. 1913, to E. B Kingsbury, of the Village of Seneca, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, on the 12th day of September, A. D. 1913, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in Liber 192 of Mortgages, on page 350; and

Whereas, a portion of said mortgage was assigned by said E. B Kingsbury to Benjamin Blain, said assignment bearing date September 6th, 1913, and which assignment was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, on the 28th day of December, A. D. 1914, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 249; which said portion of said mortgage was afterwards, on, to-wit: December 28th, A. D. 1914, assigned by said Benjamin Blain to Hannah Keifer, which said assignment was recorded on December 28th, A. D. 1914, in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 250.

The balance of said mortgage (outside of that portion assigned to said Benjamin Blain and assigned by him to said Hannah Keifer) was assigned by E. B Kingsbury to said Hannah Keifer on October 24, A. D 1913, which last assignment was recorded on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1913, in the Register of Deeds office of the County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 567.

Whereas, the amount claimed to be due upon the debt secured by said mortgage at this date is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) therein stipulated for, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law or equity to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and said Hannah Keifer being now the owner of the whole of said mortgage, and the mortgage debt secured thereby, and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the interest secured by said mortgage whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and in pursuance thereof and of the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House at the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within said County, on the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon. The description of said premises contained in said mortgage and which will be sold as aforesaid is, as follows, to-wit: The following parcel of land in Adrian City, Lenawee County, Michigan, to-wit:

Commencing at the crossing of the south line of Toledo street with the west line of McVicker street in said city. Thence westerly on south line of said Toledo street seventy (70) feet more or less. Thence southerly paralled with west line of lot one (1) on the plat of Eastern Addition to the Village (now city) of Adrian, Michigan, to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of the tier of lots fronting on Toledo street aforesaid. Thence easterly on a line parallel with said Toledo street and to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of said tier of lots to the west line of McVicker street. Thence northerly along the west line of said McVicker street to the place of beginning.

Said mortgaged premises will be sold as aforesaid to satisfy both the principal and interest due on said mortgage, to-wit: One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), together with interest that may be due at the time of the sale, also to satisfy an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) as provided in said mortgage, also to satisfy any taxes that assignee of said mortgagee has paid or may be required to pay to protect her interest in said mortgaged premises, and all other legal costs of this foreclosure.

MOTHERS OF DELICATE CHILDREN

Should Read the Following Letter—Mrs. Slack's Story About Her Child's Recovery Is Entirely Reliable.

Palmyra, Pa.—"Three years ago my little girl had black measles which left her with a chronic cough and so awfully thin you could count all her ribs, and she coughed so much she had no appetite.

"Nothing we gave her seemed to help her at all until one day Mrs. Neibert told me how much good Vinol had done her little girl, so I decided to try it for my little one, and it has done her so much good she is hungry all the time, her cough is gone, she is stouter and more healthy in color and this is the first winter she has been able to play out in the snow, coasting and snow-balling without any ill effects."—Mrs. ALFRED SLACK, Palmyra, Pa.

We know Vinol will build up your little ones and make them healthy, strong and robust, therefore we ask parents of every frail and sickly child in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil.

If we can induce you to try a bottle of Vinol as a body-builder and strength-creator for your child, and you do not find it is all we claim, we will return your money on demand.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

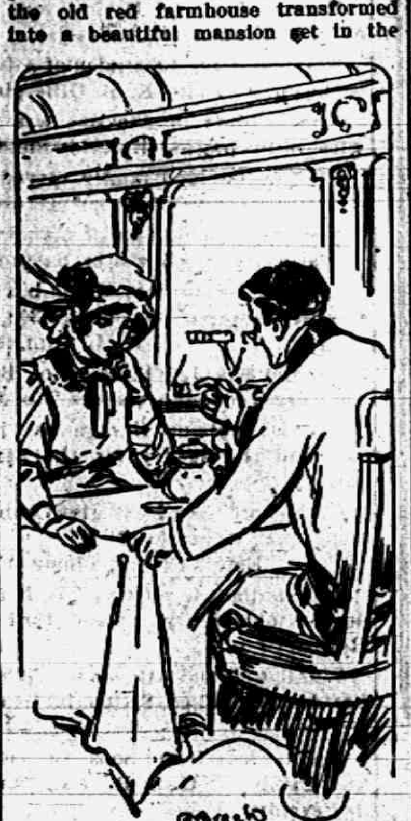
The station platform was crowded with people waiting for the gates to open to admit them to the Boston express waiting down there on the tracks.

Rosalind Mereton, with a devoted cavalier on either side of her graceful little velvet clad form, caught a glimpse of her reflection in the narrow mirror of a slot machine, and the tired look vanished from her lustrous hazel eyes. Rosalind in a tip tilted little hat with a velvet strap under her round white chin, with a pink rose tucked under the brim, where two little brown curls dangled coquettishly, was an enchanting sight even to herself.

With a pale youth at either elbow Rosalind was safely piloted through the crowd and reluctantly released at the gate, through which she passed with a farewell smile that included them both. Dearly as they believed they loved the pretty little actress, there was no jealousy between them, because they had a common ground of fellowship—they were both acutely jealous of a third young man, Hanford Beeks, the millionaire, whose bouquet of violets and orchids nestled in the lace frills of Rosalind's coat.

The train left the city and went thundering out into the country toward the New Hampshire hills, where Rosalind had been born. She was going there to spend a few days. The stock company of which she was a member was undergoing the throes of reorganization before going out on the road, and there was something that Rosalind wanted to think over in the quiet of the country.

Hanford Beeks wanted to marry her. She pined for the happiness that she was sure must be attained when one had millions of dollars to spend upon pleasure. She saw in her mind's eye the old red farmhouse transformed into a beautiful mansion set in the midst of a formal garden, while her father and mother rode luxuriously in costly motorcars. Gone would be the ancient surrey and the fat white horse, Becky, who had drawn them to church each Sunday every year within Rosalind's recollection. Riches and ease would follow her beloved parents the rest of their days if she married Hanford Beeks. How glad they would be, too, to have her give up the profession which she had adopted after a brief summer's acquaintance with some actresses who were summering in Putwold.



BENJAMIN TOLD HER, HIS EYES STUDYING HER FACE.

Because of her ignorance of the world and its evil ways Rosalind had brushed aside all tempting pleasures and thrown herself into her work, for which she possessed some talent. But she was weary of it. Unknown to herself, the call of her blood was for those simple domestic duties which a long line of Puritan ancestors had nobly fulfilled.

But this offer of Hanford Beeks! He was a splendid type of young American, and he was honest in his desire to make Rosalind happy. She had been dazzled by his proposal, and she had begged for time.

There was one obstacle in the way.

She didn't love Hanford Beeks.

The dining car was attached at Springfield, and Rosalind slipped off her coat and went to dinner. There was just one available seat in the crowded car, and that was at a table where sat a solitary young man.

A waiter drew out her chair and handed her the menu card. Rosalind lifted her eyes in one swift appraising glance of the man who was calmly eating his soup. She had not noticed him at first beyond the fact that he had arisen and sat down after she had been seated.

It was a homely countenance, rugged and strong as her own New Hampshire hills, with steady gray eyes and dark hair that was rusty red at the ends. It was the face of a man who would and could do things, who might surmount obstacles. His big brown hands were capable too. Rosalind looked him over from the crown of his well brushed head to the shoulders of his perfectly fitting gray coat. He was immaculate. Yet the last time Rosalind had seen him he had been garbed in blue overalls, and a ragged straw hat had been tossed on the back of his head. He had been loading cornstalks on a farm wagon the very day she left Putwold to go on the stage.

"How do you do, Ben?" asked Rosalind demurely.

Benjamin Hall looked up quickly and stared at Rosalind. His first careless glance at her entrance had seen nothing save the crown and brim of the tip tilted hat. He had not looked under it because he rather thought girls were a bore, all save one.

"Rosie! Rosie Mereton!" he gasped, holding out one of the big brown hands.

"Ben, do you mean that you didn't recognize me?" asked Rosalind, with tears in her eyes, because it was so good to see a face from home once more. "Are you going home?"

"I am. And you are, too?" he asked eagerly, his eyes never once leaving her lovely face.

"Yes, just for the week end. Tell me where you have been and what you have been doing," answered Rosalind, feeling an odd embarrassment in Benjamin Hall's presence.

Benjamin told her, his eyes studying her face as if he would read in its clear openness some record of the three years since they had parted.

He told her that he had left Putwold a few months after her own departure. The death of his parents had left him free to start life anew. He had sold some woodland and had rented the homestead to strangers. He had gone west and bought an interest in a mine which his uncle controlled. He had prospered. He was going back to Putwold. He was going back to the land which his ancestors had tilled.

"I'm homesick for the farm," he told her. "I've been west, and I've studied the way they do things out there, and I shall know how to make it pay. Now tell me about yourself, Rosie."

Rosalind told him briefly. There seemed so little to tell in her narrow life of hard work.

"And you are going back?" he asked.

"Yes, I suppose so," said Rosalind, flushing warmly.

"Is this true?" asked Benjamin quietly as he took a newspaper clipping from his notebook and gave it to her.

Rosalind read it with down bent head: "It is rumored that Miss Rosalind Mereton, the lovely little ingenue in the popular comedy, 'Lavender Flowers,' is soon to wed one of our most energetic young millionaires."

"Is it true, Rosie?" asked Benjamin.

Rosalind shook her head.

"No, not yet," she said impulsively, and then blushed scarlet at her self betrayal.

Benjamin looked at the violets and orchids at her breast and sighed sharply. He had hoped to be in time to offer Rosalind many things, but he was too late. He wondered fiercely what sort of chap this man was. "Did Rosalind love him or was she dazzled by the millions? Who could blame her?" he asked himself fiercely.

Adroitly he changed the subject, and when the meal was over he accompanied Rosalind back to her seat in the day coach. Sitting there beside her with the rugged scenery of New Hampshire blurring into the dusk, Benjamin felt a growing confidence in himself. He was nearing his own hills; he was on his own ground, and the girl he had always loved was beside him, wearing another man's orchids, perhaps half promised to this rich man.

"Rosalind," he said suddenly, "are you engaged to this man?"

"No," said Rosalind quickly.

"Do you expect to be?" he demanded bluntly.

"He has asked me," admitted Rosalind.

"Do you love him?" went on Benjamin relentlessly.

Rosalind hesitated. She wondered, because she felt no anger against Benjamin and his questioning.

His hand touched her arm, her hand, and held it warmly.

"Do you love this man, Rosalind?" he asked quietly.

Rosalind looked up into the gray eyes and, looking, could not withdraw her gaze.

"No, no, no!" she said intensely.

"Ah, Rosalind, I have always loved you," he said chokingly.

"And I, oh, Ben, I believe I have. That's why I've longed for Putwold and the old farm, and father and mother will be so glad, and, Ben, some one will see you!"

"I don't care," said Ben boldly. "The whole world can know how happy I am in winning the girl I love!"

And he kissed Rosalind.

"Did you send word to your mother that you were coming?" he asked as they neared Putwold.

"Yes. Won't they be surprised to see us together, you and I, old playmates?" asked Rosalind gleefully.

Ben bent down suddenly and pressed his cheek against hers. "Rosalind, you are sure—sure that you won't regret the money and the motorcars and yachts and everything that this man has offered you? I've heard he is a splendid fellow," he added generously.

"Sure, Ben," said Rosalind steadily. "There was one thing lacking and that was love. We can never be poor with that blessing."

The train came to a standstill, and Rosalind peered from the window an instant.

"Ben," she cried breathlessly, "there's father and mother, and they're driving old Becky. How dear they all look!"

So the train rumbled on after bringing back to Putwold village two of her children who had gone out into the world to seek wealth and happiness only to come home and find it there after all.

EGYPT REVOLT STORY FAKED

Berlin Says Report of Rebels Taking Soudan Proves False.

Berlin, March 22.—"The report recently published by the Vossische Zeitung concerning an insurrection in the Soudan and an English defeat has proved to be untrue," says an Overseas News agency item made public here tonight.

A dispatch on March 18 said that a German merchant who had recently returned from Egypt was authority for the assertion that the whole of the Soudan, including Khartum and also parts of Nubia, was in possession of the dervishes.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

It was an appreciative audience that greeted, "Peg O' My Heart", at the opera house on Wednesday evening. The play was so clean and pure, and "Peg" was such a quaint Irish maiden filling one with laughter at her witty sallies or bringing tears to his eyes with her grief and longing for her father and home. Miss Dorothy Mackaye certainly was well chosen for this part. The other characters were well taken, the whole cast being excellent.

The story centered around "Peg" transplanted in to a loveless home, but in spite of all her surroundings, she remained the same, true to her father and the happy free and easy life as they wandered over the country. Tecumseh was highly favored to have the opportunity to see this delightful play.

THE ROSE MAIDEN

The pretty cantata, "The Rose Maiden" was presented at the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening with a good audience in attendance. The chorus composed of the High School Glee Clubs, was good indeed and was highly appreciated by the audience. The soloists, Mrs. Eugene Rosacrans, Mrs. R. S. Moore, Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney, W. S. Dickinson Fred Dickinson and W. A. Thorp, director, were all exceptionally fine. Tecumseh may well be proud of her musical talent.

WHY BLAME THE SALOON-KEEPER

Can you blame the would-be saloon-keeper for wanting Lenawee to go wet? He wants to make easy money. No ordinary business man makes such profits as the saloon-keeper.

Once the sixty saloon-keepers rode rough shod over the mothers and children in Lenawee County. Once they made the merchants believe their very existence depended on the presence of saloons.

Once they defied the better class of citizens.

But times have changed. The booze angels are on their knees imploring the voters to let them come back. We don't blame them but we will blame the voters if they permit them to return.

Always at the last minute the saloon supporters send out through the mail a circular containing a lot of half truths and falsehoods. If their statements were true they would give us time to answer them. SHALL THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC BE PROHIBITED IN THIS COUNTY? YES

Defeat Iowa Primary Bill.

DES MOINES, IOWA — The Iowa house today defeated the bill that would have given to cities of the first class and cities operating under special charter, the right to nominate their candidates for city officers at a primary election.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN IT'S YOU!

If you want to live in a kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip.
And start on a long, long, hyke.
You'll only find what you left behind'
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself, when you know your town.—
It isn't your town—it's you!
Real town are made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead.
When everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbor can make one, too
Your town will be what you want to see;
It isn't your town—it's YOU.

BOYS TAKE BIG RISK AND ONE IS DROWNED

Three Escape Canoe Accident, One in Sanitarium.

MOUNT CLEMENS, MICH. — John Neipp, eighteen years old, 1204 Van Dyke avenue, Detroit, was drowned in Lake St. Clair when a canoe in which he was riding, capsized, and John Maquotte, 305 Lincoln avenue, Frank Hackenberger, 793 Canton avenue, were rescued with difficulty by residents along the lake shore who heard their shouts for help.

Lots claims the boat suddenly capsized, throwing them into the water. Neipp, who was employed by the American Wine company, is said to be the only support of his aged mother, a brother and a sister.

Hackenberger owned the boat and the cottage where the party was stopping. Horace Warsaw, 450 Holbrook avenue, and Charles Merlo, 367 Erskine street, were also in the party, but say they knew the trip was dangerous and refused to go. Neipp went down in eight feet of water, 250 feet from shore.

Hackenberger was taken to St. Joseph's sanitarium, where, it is said, his condition is critical. Prosecutor Kent will have the men at the sheriff's office to make a statement relative to how the boys upset the boat.

$1,500 FROM THREE HOMES

Saginaw Police Believed They Already Had Gang in Limbo.

SAGINAW, MICH. — Just when the police had hoped that local burglaries were at an end with the arrest of three Saginaw boys and James Walters, alias Murphy, of Detroit, three houses were robbed and about $1,500 worth of jewelry and silverware was taken.

At the Rich home the loss totaled $1,000; three rings, brooches and silverware were secured at the McCron home, and silver was taken from the Lemcke residence. Some property recently stolen is being recovered from persons to whom it was sold.

MINING GAZETTE HEAD DIES

Body of John S. Penrose Lies in State at Houghton.

HOUGHTON, MICH. — John S. Penrose, aged fifty-five years, business manager of the Houghton Mining Gazette, is dead of pneumonia. Mr. Penrose was one of the best known newspaper men in northern Michigan. His body was placed in the Houghton Masonic temple Sunday to lie in state until today, when the funeral services will be held.

Mr. Penrose was born at Mineral Point, Wis. He came to the copper country when five years of age and learned printing on the Portage Lake Mining Gazette.

RESEARCH CIRCLE

At the regular meeting of the Research Circle Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Smeltzer, the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. J. O. Eaton
Vice President—Mrs. J. J. Belcher
Secretary—Mrs. F. E. Smalledge
Treasurer—Mrs. Mary Smeltzer
Delegate to State Federation—Mrs. Ernest Pangburn
Alternate—Mrs. John Kingan
Delegates to the County Federation—Mrs. Andrew Wilson, Mrs. F. E. Smalledge
Alternates—Mrs. John McIntyre, Mrs. Will Westcott

Five new members were admitted: Mesdames Fred and Wilson Aldrich, John Snow and R. V. Wilson and Miss Nellie Wilson.

The next meeting will be with Mrs G. R. Newsom Tuesday evening, the program to be in charge of the Junior members.

"South America," "Present Day Problems" and miscellaneous subjects are the subjects for next year's study.

IN BEGINNING CLASS

The admission of beginning classes twice a year into a school which promotes classes but once a year makes proper grading impossible. The normal child who starts in the spring is neither a beginner nor a first grader when he enters school in September. He must therefore be promoted to work which is too difficult, be asked to repeat his earlier work or be placed in an intermediate grade.

If promoted he forms the habit of failing because the work is too hard and this habit interferes with all of his later work. If asked to repeat, he loses interest which is almost as fatal as failure. If he be placed in an intermediate grade he interferes with all regular students and makes a larger teaching force necessary.

At the end of two years the child entering in the spring is very seldom ahead of the child who enters the next fall. Because of these facts it is thought best to discontinue the spring classes until such time as semi-annual promotions are possible.

L. CASS MILLER

L. Cass Miller passed away at his home in Pratt, Kansas, Sunday March 7, 1915 aged 72 years.

Mr. Miller was a Lenawee Co., boy and was a graduate of the class of '66 Tecumseh High School, later graduating from the normal at Ypsilanti.

He was superintendent of public schools for several years or until 1877 when he took up journalism. on the "Livingston Republican" in Howell, Mich.

In 1873 he was united in marriage to Nellie L. Mills of Ypsilanti who with their four daughters and a brother J. Romeyn Miller of Detroit are left to mourn his loss.

The old friends of Cass Miller in Tecumseh will regret to hear of his passing and memory will recall the pleasant hours spent in his company

One by one they are passing away and out of the class of '66 which numbered eight only two are left.

LEAP TYETER TOTTER WITH GUN, FOUR SHOT

Child Finds Loaded Weapon in Lumber Pile.

ST. CHARLES, MICH. — Four little girls were wounded, not seriously, today, by the discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Antone Konecy, eight years old. Two, aged five and one-half and seven years respectively, are children of John Chimmic. The older girl has one shot in her hip. The others are three and one-half and seven and one-half years of age and children of Joe Tolasch. They will recover.

The boy found an old gun containing a shell in a lumber pile, started to play teeter totter and the gun was discharged.

YEGGS GET $800 FROM SAFE

Erie Postoffice Is Burglarized and Big Haul Made.

MONROE, MICH. — Bold yeggs supposedly three of them, "blew" the safe in the Erie postoffice and made away with about $600 in stamps and $200 in cash. They stole a horse and rig to make their getaway, and the outfit was found in a ditch, overturned. The horse was tangled in the harness and had evidently been thrown and abandoned after several miles of hard driving.

The yeggs broke the postoffice door with tools they stole from a blacksmith shop. They entered a saloon before leaving town, but did not get much loot.

JITNEY BUSINESS IS GROWING

Traction Company Wakes Up to Potency of Competition.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — The Michigan United Traction company, running street cars in Jackson, Lansing, Kalamazoo and Battle Creek, has recognized the danger of the approaching jitney bus systems, and is planning to fight them.

One tentative plan is to give seven tickets for a quarter, another to put in rival jitneys to reach districts not touched by street cars, and another to change the rules so as to remove some of the restrictions regarding continuous transfers, etc. Battle Creek is soon to have a $50,000 jitney system.

SAN JOSE SCALE.

The San Jose scale has now become distributed over most of the counties in the southern half of the lower peninsula and has destroyed thousands of trees which the owners had not taken the precaution to spray. On the other hand, where the proper remedies had been thoroughly applied the insects have been held in check and in many cases have been practically exterminated. Where spraying has failed to control them, it is due to using too weak sprays, or from lack of thoroughness in the spraying.

Lime-sulphur solution, either home-made or the commercial brands, is the most effectual remedy for this insect but it must be used at the rate of not less than one part of a 24 per cent. commercial solution to nine parts of water; or one part of home made solution (with the formula 100 lbs. sulphur, 60 lbs. lime and 50 gallons of water) in six parts of water.

Although the application may be made in the fall, or in the spring after freezing weather is over, the best results will be obtained when the treatment is given just as the buds are opening. However, if the trees are badly infested, it is often advisable to spray them in the fall and repeat the application in the spring.

"Scalecide" and some of the other soluble oils are often used with good results but care should be taken not to apply them to peaches, plums and cherries; and upon other fruits a very fine spray, only, should be used. The soluble oils are particularly valuable for fall applications and from the fact that they spread considerably upon the branches, they sometimes give better results than lime-sulphur solution unless pains are taken to cover every part of the trees with the latter solution.

"Soluble sulphur" is sometimes recommended for San Jose scale. It is not a lime sulphur preparation but is sulphide of soda, while lime-sulphur is sulphide of lime We cannot recommend this material unless used about twice as strong as is advised by the manufacturers.

Before spraying for the San Jose scale, the trees should be thoroughly pruned, all dead and surplus branches removed and the others headed back. This will not only greatly lessen the labor and material required, but will make it possible to do a much more thorough job of spraying.

When the spring application has been neglected, or has not been thoroughly made, serious injury may result during the summer. Great benefit can be secured by spraying the trees with lime sulphur solution at the rate of one gallon to 25 gallons of water, when the first brood appears, which will be about the 10th of July, varying somewhat with the season and the latitude. When in the larval (crawling) stage, the insect may be killed with lime sulphur solution of this strength without doing much harm to the leaves, although care should be exercised to keep the spraying from the foliage of peaches and Japanese plums.

EXPECT NO EXTRA SESSION

Wilson Says He Sees No Need for Calling Congress Together.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Formal announcement was made at the White House that at present President Wilson has no intention of calling an extra session of congress before the beginning of the regular session next December. It was said that the president sees no prospects of any contingency arising which would cause him to alter his present intention.

Several senators had suggested that the president call a special session of the senate in October to consider ratification of the Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties.

Negro Woman Tells Police Husband and Man Held Slew Dawson Family.

PEORIA, ILL. — Police officials of Monmouth and Peoria obtained a confession, according to the police, from Annie Marie Knight, a negro woman of Monmouth, that it was her husband, John Knight, and Lovey Mitchell who murdered William E. Dawson, his wife, and daughter at Monmouth on the night of Sept. 30, 1911. Mitchell has been arrested.

Mrs. Knight was brought to Peoria by Chief of Police Morrison of Monmouth. After several hours of questioning the woman said she was willing to confess.

Fifty Hurt as Avalanche Sweeps Away Houses at Howe Sound, B. C.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA — Fifty lives were lost by a snow slide which came down at midnight and carried away a number of bunk houses filled with workmen at the Brittania mine on Howe Sound, twenty miles from Vancouver.

Because the mine is several miles from shore a special steamer with doctors and nurses are on the way to the mine. Fifteen miners were also injured.

SHOP.....

IF you were considering a cottage for the summer; purchasing a fine team of horses; or equipping your new home with chandeliers, involving an outlay of $1,000 to $1,500 you would SHOP before you bought.

You would believe neither advertisments nor the say-so of friends unreservedly. You would see for yourself, narrowing down gradually from the many to the one.

We are perfectly willing to rest the Mitchell car on this shopping comparison—either the smart Light Four or the eager Light Six.

In two hours you can see every car in any automobile center inside your price limit. Possible regrets may be avoided if you SHOP.

RUSSIANS TO GET ST. SOFIA

It Is Said Plans Are Made by Allies for Cathedral's Disposition.

NEW YORK — The allies have finally reached an understanding regarding the disposition of the Holy Land and of the Mosque of St. Sofia in Constantinople in the event of the fall of the Turkish empire, according to information reaching here from England through missionary channels.

The plan, these reports say, is to make the Holy Land more accessible to travelers and to develop it as more of a tourist center than it has been under Turkish rule. St. Sofia, according to the same information, is to become a cathedral of the Russian church.

ADVENTISTS' LEADER IS ILL

Mrs. Ellen G. White, Founder of the Seventh Day Sect, Injured.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — Mrs. Ellen G. White, founder, prophetess and present leader of the Seventh Day Adventists, is seriously ill at her home in St. Helena, Cal. It is said Mrs. White recently fell, fracturing her hip. Because of her advanced age, eighty-seven years, her physical condition has alarmed her friends. Battle Creek was known as the world capital of Adventism when Mrs. White lived here.

FAMILY FAMOUSLY AUGURED

Three National Holidays for Birthdays and Longest Day for Wedding.

MARQUETTE, MICH. — Three national holidays are doubly celebrated by the family of Edward Lirette of this city. Mr. Lirette is the father of three sons. Edwin was born on Christmas day, Raymond on the Fourth of July and Paul on Lincoln's birthday.

Not only this, but Mr. and Mrs. Lirette were married on the longest day of the year—June 21, 1899.

To Have Fine Bank Building.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — The foundation work has been begun on Main street for one of the finest bank buildings ever erected in Michigan, if not in the United States. It will house the Old National bank, whose directors visited fifty cities, inspecting old and new bank buildings, before deciding on plans.

To Have Woman Commissioner.

NEWBERRY, MICH. — Upper Michigan will be possessed of one woman county commissioner of schools after the spring election to be held next month. That woman is Mrs. Anna I. Auten of Newberry. Mrs. Auten is the Republican candidate in Luce county. She will be unopposed at the polls.

Wood Pile Warning.

FLINT, MICH. — John Rutherford, twenty-four, of Flint, was killed while sawing wood on the E. W. Rockafellow farm, two miles from Atlas Monday. Rutherford was oiling machinery when a belt flew off and hurled him against the gasoline engine.

Bay County Pioneer Dies.

BAY CITY, MICH. — Arthur M. Grant, seventy-three, one of Bay City's old time saw mill men, is dead. He came here fifty years ago from Canada and was employed by Pitts & Cranage for many years.

Named to Take Factory Census.

IONIA, MICH. — Gilbert Curtis, who is living just east of Saranac, has been appointed by the governor to be special agent for Ionia, Clinton and Shiawassee counties to take the federal factory census.

Threatened to Blow Wife's Head Off.

ANN ARBOR, MICH. — William Hock, an Ann arbor township farmer, is in the county jail charged with threatening to blow his wife's head off, during a family quarrel.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Widow of Pingree Aid Dies.

PITTSBURGH — Living only a few days after she was stricken with pneumonia, Mrs. Cora Maltz Hubbard, aged forty-six years, wife of John W. Hubbard, president of the Hubbard Manufacturing company of this city, is dead.

Mrs. Hubbard was the daughter of the late George L. Maltz, former state treasurer of Michigan, and later state banking commissioner under the Pingree regime. When she married Mr Hubbard she was the widow of Albert Park of Alpena and Detroit, an old friend of her father, who built the so-called Pingree "3 cent lines" in Detroit.

Flint Pioneer Passes Away.

FLINT, MICH. — James Van Vleet, aged ninety-five years, died here.

In 1844 he cleared a farm out of the wilderness in Gaines about twelve miles from Flint. He was justice of the peace for sixteen years, school inspector for twelve years and supervisor for eighteen years. In 1868 he was treasurer of Genesee county, after serving two terms in the legislature. During the civil war he served as enrolling officers. He leaves four sons and three daughters.

Michigan Chief Is a Paragon.

OWOSSO, MICH. — William S. Patterson, Chief of the Owosso police department, is, his friends say, a paragon as a husband. For nearly three years Chief Patterson has done the family washing, getting up at 3 o'clock on Monday morning. The Patterson washing always gets on the line before any of the neighbors display theirs. Mrs. Patterson is not robust and her husband takes this domestic duty off her hands.

Brown City School Burns.

BROWN CITY, MICH. — Half an hour after school started here the school building was discovered on fire. Within an hour it was destroyed with a loss estimated at $25,000. Pupils vacated the building quietly with books and wraps.

Because there is no vacant building in town it will be difficult to continue recitations till the school is rebuilt.

BREVITY OF ENGLISH.

Its Advantage In This Respect Over French and German.

In an international report, printed in parallel columns in French, German and English, the three versions being exact translations of each other, the English report invariably finished first; sometimes it won by a whole page. As a rule, the French report was the most diffuse.

This brevity of English is partly explained by the fact that English is made up to an extraordinary extent of words of one syllable. Its nouns having (unlike the German) lost all their inflections except the possessive "s," have become mere roots, a very large proportion of them monosyllabic. In Germany a monosyllabic root practically always gets an extra syllable tacked on by way of case ending. In the second place English has little of the elaborate and explicit machinery of structure that French has, so it saves space in prepositions and such paraphernalia. Instead, English has what the grammarians call incipient agglutination—that is, sticking words together in groups without either prepositions or case endings to connect them.

An example of the former kind of brevity is a word like "earthquake," two syllables, compared with the German "erdbeben," three syllables, and the French "tremblement de terre," five syllables. An example of the terseness of English would be a phrase like, "I have been to the house and have now come back;" every word a single syllable. In a telegram this would be just as intelligible in the form "Been house now back." You cannot carry that sort of thing far in any other European language.—Manchester Guardian.

Muffins

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

When muffins are on the breakfast table, nobody cares for meat or eggs and they would be served more often if this meal were not prepared so hurriedly that there is no time to make them. If K C, the double-raise baking powder is used, the batter may be stirred up the night before, put in the pan ready for baking and nothing to do in the morning but bake them.

One-Egg Muffins

2 cups flour; 2 slightly rounded teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 teaspoonful salt; ¼ cup sugar; ¼ cup melted butter or lard; 1 egg; 1 cup water or milk.

Sift dry ingredients together three times. Add to this the unbeaten egg, melted shortening and water or milk. Then beat all together until perfectly smooth. Oil muffin or gem pans and have oven slow until the muffins come to the top of the pan, then increase the heat to bake and brown the muffins. This recipe makes 12 large muffins. Raisins or currants may be added if desired.

Graham Muffins

1 cup graham flour; 1 cup pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 to 2 level tablespoonfuls sugar; ½ teaspoonful salt; 1 egg; 1¼ cups milk or water; 2 to 3 tablespoonfuls melted butter; mix and bake as One-Egg Muffins.

Graham batter should always be quite soft to insure light and moist muffins.

To get 18 other recipes as good as these, send us the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder, and we will send you "The Cook's Book" by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill. Handsomely illustrated. Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

YOUNG—JACOB

One of the prettiest weddings of the season occurred Wednesday at the home of Mrs. E. A. Young on Patterson St., when her daughter Anna Elizabeth was united in marriage to Edward W. Jacob of Blissfield.

At 12:00 o'clock noon to the strains of the Mendelssohns wedding march played by Miss Evah Linton of Jackson a neice of the bride the wedding party entered the parlor.

Rev. Hall of South Rockwood, leading the bride and groom, and their attendants Miss Maude Vanderpool of Adrian and Robert Linton of Jackson took their places when they were united in marriage by Rev. Hall.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white satin with pearl and lace trimmings and carried pink carnations. Miss Vanderpool wore blue silk and carried carnations.

After congratulations a three course dinner was served. There were ten seated at the brides table, the rest of the company being seated at small tables and the company served by the Misses, Bertha Sayers, Grace Mohr, Gertrude Jacob and Ruth Young. The bride received many beautiful presents of linen, cut glass and silver.

The newlyweds left on the 3:03 train for their home in Blissfield where Mr Jacob is engaged in farming The bride was a graduate of Tecumseh High School and later attended the Normal at Ypsilanti since then she has been teaching.

The out-of-town guests were Oscar Jacob and family, Sylvania, O., Fred Jacob, wife and daughter, Harry Harsh and wife, Gertrude Jacob, Rev. and Mrs. Marsh and Frank of Blissfield: Geo. Mohr, wife, Grace and Alvin; Mrs. Ernest Sayers, and Oscar; and Leon Moore of Brooklyn; Mrs. Vernon Hill, Ralph and Beatrice Hill, Jasper; Jas Linton and family, Jackson; Irving Luce and family, Tipton.

MARY ELNORA RICHART

FOR SOUR STOMACH, GAS OR INDIGESTION

Use Mi-o-na and Get Immediate and Effective Relief

When you have heartburn, pains in the stomach, and taste undigested food, it's a sure sign your last meal is not digesting, but fermenting, causing poisonous gases, sourness and acid stomach.

Prompt and lasting relief for any stomach distress is a simple inexpensive matter if you will only try the harmless Mi-o-na prescription easily obtained from C. A. Wright & Son or any druggist.

Mi-o-na is especially prepared to neutralize excess acid and stop fermentation which surely sours your food, causing sick headache, dyspepsia billiousness and bad dreams.

Mi-o-na not only corrects sour, acid and gassy stomach, but improves the entire digestive system so that the blood, nerves, muscles and skin all receive increased nourishment causing clear complexion, bright eyes and that delightful sensation of "feeling fit."

Get some Mi-o-na tablets today—if they do not banish every sign of indigestion they will not cost you a penny.

SAME IN LENAWEE COUNTY

Collier's of March 27, 1915, gives out the following under the captain "Hard on the Booze Angels."

"The somewhat genial F. B. A., another New York humorist, is also on the wing. Here's what he says about Kansas.

There isn't much poverty in Kansas and the kind of misery that the liquor States abound in, is unknown I heard two traveling men riding from Newton to Hutchinson, discussing it. "Since Kansas went dry," one said, I make these little towns and sell a lot of stuff. Couldn't touch them before "Same with me," the other said, who "represented" an adding-machine house. "These dry States beef mighty little when business is bad in other parts of the county. I'll bet New York will go dry before long."

All the walls of the booze angels who howl about blind pigs, wood alcohol, and allied topics cannot alter the main facts. The saloon does not get the money under prohibitation In time the liquor habit is broken, and as that happens booze ceases to be an issue and people turn to better ways of living.

When Anybody Finds a Cure He Is Generally Willing To Tell His Neighbor

¶ The willingness of one neighbor to tell another neighbor in a private way of the benefit received from Peruna, explains the popularity of Peruna more than all the advertising that has been done.

¶ The fear of the publicity undoubtedly prevents the majority of such people from writing a testimonial to be used in the newspaper. But in spite of that we are receiving fine testimonials continually.

ANEMIA—Mrs. F. A. DeWitt, Marengo, Ohio, says: "I believe Peruna to be the best tonic. I recommend it for any run-down condition of the system."

SPRING COLDS—Mrs. Rhoda Stufflebeam, Bunch, Iowa: "A spring cold I took settled on my lungs. Coughed. Could not sleep. We feared consumption. Thanks to Peruna, I am a well woman today."

CATARRH—Mrs. Sadie Allen, Joseph, Oregon: "My little boy is entirely cured of catarrh of the ears by Peruna. Am thankful for your good advice."

SPRING TONIC—Mrs. Wm. McRoberts, Brown Valley, Minn.: "Taken in spring Peruna tones up the system, acts as a tonic. I consider Peruna a whole family medicine chest."

¶ How did they hear of Peruna?

¶ Simply because one neighbor is always willing to tell another one he has found a cure. Neighborly conversation of grateful patients has done more for Peruna than advertising. Much more.

CERTAIN RESULTS

Many a Tecumseh Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Tecumseh There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter: Read the following statement.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte & Potawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first system of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain across the small of my back, which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did, procuring my supply at C. A. Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time the pains and aches left and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer troubled me. In fact, I felt like a different person. I have since recommended Doan's Kidneys Pills to a number of my friends and shall continue to do so. My former endorsement holds good."

W. T. Azbell, ex-postmaster of Edwardsport, Ind., writes. "I suffered from severe trouble with my kidneys and back. First bottle of Foley Kidney Pills gave me relief." Thousands testify that backache, rheumatism, sore muscles, aching joints and bladder weakness vanished when Foley Kidney Pills were taken. For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

Are You Rheumatic?—try Sloan's

If you want quick and real relief from Rheumatism, do what so many thousand other people are doing—whenever an attack comes on, bathe the sore muscle or joint with Sloan's Liniment. No need to rub it in—just apply the Liniment to the surface. It is wonderfully penetrating. It goes right to the seat of trouble and draws the pain almost immediately. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25c. of any druggist and have it in the house—against Colds, Sore and Swollen Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief. adv

Welcome Information

Most middle aged man and women are glad to learn that Foley Kidney Pills give relief from languidness, stiff and sore muscles and joints, puffiness under eyes, backache, bladder weakness and rheumatism. They get results. Contain no harmful drugs. For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

Whereas, C. M. Webster and Margaret L. Webster, husband and wife, of the Township of London, Monroe County, Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage bearing date the 5th day of September, A. D. 1913, to E. B Kingsbury, of the Village of Seneca, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Lenawee, on the 12th day of September, A. D. 1913, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in Liber 192 of Mortgages, on page 350; and

Whereas, a portion of said mortgage was assigned by said E. B. Kingsbury to Benjamin Blain, said assignment bearing date September 6th, 1913, and which assignment was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, on the 28th day of December, A. D. 1914, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 249; which said portion of said mortgage was afterwards, on, to-wit: December 28th, A. D. 1914, assigned by said Benjamin Blain to Hannah Keifer, which said assignment was recorded on December 28th, A. D. 1914, in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 250.

The balance of said mortgage (outside of that portion assigned to said Benjamin Blain and assigned by him to said Hannah Keifer) was assigned by E. B. Kingsbury to said Hannah Keifer on October 24, A. D 1913, which last assignment was recorded on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1913, in the Register of Deeds office of the County of Lenawee, in Liber 191 of Mortgages at page 567.

Whereas, the amount claimed to be due upon the debt secured by said mortgage at this date is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) therein stipulated for, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law or equity to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof, and said Hannah Keifer being now the owner of the whole of said mortgage, and the mortgage debt secured thereby, and

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the interest secured by said mortgage whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and in pursuance thereof and of the statute in such case made and provided, the premises described in said mortgage will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House at the City of Adrian, in said County of Lenawee, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within said County, on the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon. The description of said premises contained in said mortgage and which will be sold as aforesaid is, as follows, to-wit: The following parcel of land in Adrian City, Lenawee County, Michigan, to-wit:

Commencing at the crossing of the south line of Toledo street with the west line of McVicker street in said city. Thence westerly on south line of said Toledo street seventy (70) feet more or less. Thence southerly paralled with west line of lot one (1) on the plat of Eastern Addition to the Village (now city) of Adrian, Michigan, to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of the tier of lots fronting on Toledo street aforesaid. Thence easterly on a line parallel with said Toledo street and to within fifty-five (55) feet of the south line of said tier of lots to the west line of McVicker street. Thence northerly along the west line of said McVicker street to the place of beginning.

Said mortgaged premises will be sold as aforesaid to satisfy both the principal and interest due on said mortgage, to-wit: One Thousand Four Hundred and Two and 70-100 Dollars ($1,402.70), together with interest that may be due at the time of the sale, also to satisfy an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25 00) as provided in said mortgage, also to satisfy any taxes that assignee of said mortgagee has paid or may be required to pay to protect her interest in said mortgaged premises, and all other legal costs of this foreclosure.

Dated: December 29th, A. D. 1914.

MOTHERS OF DELICATE CHILDREN

Should Read the Following Letter—Mrs. Slack's Story About Her Child's Recovery Is Entirely Reliable.

Palmyra, Pa.—"Three years ago my little girl had black measles which left her with a chronic cough and so awfully thin you could count all her ribs, and she coughed so much she had no appetite.

"Nothing we gave her seemed to help her at all until one day Mrs. Neibert told me how much good Vinol had done her little girl, so I decided to try it for my little one, and it has done her so much good she is hungry all the time, her cough is gone, she is stouter and more healthy in color and this is the first winter she has been able to play out in the snow, coasting and snow-balling without any ill effects."—Mrs. ALFRED SLACK, Palmyra, Pa.

We know Vinol will build up your little ones and make them healthy, strong and robust, therefore we ask parents of every frail and sickly child in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil.

If we can induce you to try a bottle of Vinol as a body-builder and strength-creator for your child, and you do not find it is all we claim, we will return your money on demand.

50,000 GIVE UP AS PRZEMYSL FALLS

Long Siege, Disease and Little Food Force Surrender to Russ.

CRACOW IS CZAR'S NEXT GOAL

Stronghold Is Called "Key to Austrian Empire"—Siege Has Been on for Six Months—Petrograd Rejoices—Czar Calls for a Te Deum—Germans Retake Memel.

LONDON, ENG. — The long investment of the mid-Galician fortress of Przemysl has ended.

Depleted by disease, subsisting on horse flesh and surrounded by a superior force of Russians, the garrison, of more than 50,000 men, has surrendered to the besieging army after a defense lasting six months, which up to the present is recorded as Austria's most noteworthy contribution to the war.

The capture automatically releases a Russian army of nearly 160,000 for action in Poland and along the Carpathian front and constitutes perhaps the greatest victory for Russian arms since the beginning of the war.

Will March on Cracow Next.

The besieging army will now march on the strong Austrian fortress of Cracow, 125 miles to the west of Przemysl, it being the announced determination of the Russian commander in chief to reduce the ancient Polish capital as speedily as possible.

Moral Effect of Fall.

It was argued that the moral effect of the surrender will be tremendous the theory of the allies being that it will stimulate feeling in their favor both in Roumania and Bulgaria, just as the operations in the Dardanelles are causing an agitation in Greece and Italy.

Przemysl fell with honor, the British press concedes, for it withstood the onslaughts longer than any place during the war, the investment having begun about Sept. 16, something more than six months ago.

Why City Held Out.

The duration of the siege compared with the length of time it took the Germans to capture such strongholds as Liege, Namur and Antwerp was due to two causes, one being the desire of the Russians to keep the loss of life among the besieging army at a mimimum, the other to the lack of great guns which the Germans had in Belgium.

Czar Attends Te Deum.

As soon as the news of the fall of Przemysl reached the headquarters of the Russian commander in chief a Te Deum of thanksgiving was celebrated in the presence of Emperor Nicholas and Grand Duke Nicholas and all their staffs.

Great Joy in Petrograd.

The Exchange Telegraph company has a dispatch from its Petrograd correspondent saying that great enthusiasm was manifested in Petrograd on the receipt of the news.

Crowds of people thronged the streets, cheering and indulging in patriotic demonstrations. The fortress was occupied by Russian troops immediately after its surrender.

LASSEN AGAIN POURS LAVA

Eruption Continues From Peak for Third Successive Day.

REDDING, CAL. — Lassen peak is in eruption for the third successive day. The outpouring comes both from a vent near the mountain's timber line in the Manzanita lake region and from the main crater.

The volume of smoke from both vents is small, however, in comparison with the huge plume previously emitted and is not so sulphurous nor so heavily laden with ashes.

SLAYS WIFE, SHOOTS SELF

Treasurer of Astor Trust Company Commits Double Tragedy.

NEW YORK — Howard M. Boocock, treasurer of the Astor Trust company, shot his wife as she was playing the pianola in their home at 36 East Seventy-fourth street about 8:50 o'clock at night and then shot himself. Both were dead when a physician arrived.

Just what led up to the murder and suicide the police were unable to learn at a late hour.

Dutch Protest German Seizure.

THE HAGUE, NETHERLANDS — (Via London) — The Netherlands government at noon, after a meeting of the state council, forwarded a telegram to Berlin asking for an explanation of the proceedings of the German submarine in taking forcible possession of the Dutch steamers Batavier V and Zaanstroom.

GERMANS SEIZE RUSSIAN TOWN

Capture Krottingen After Driving Out Slavs From Memel.

RUSS SWEEP INTO HUNGARY

Half a Million Men in New Move Against Austrians Press Forward in the Carpathians—Bouvet's Men Sink Standing at Salute—Cry "Vive La France."

BERLIN — The official statement says:

"German troops are pursuing the Russians, who were driven from Memel, East Prussia. The Germans occupied the Russian town of Krottingen across the border from Memil, and freed more than 3,000 Germans who had been dragged away from their homes by the Russians.

"Attacks made by the Russian troops on both sides of the Orzyc river, in Russian Poland, were repulsed."

500,000 Russ Strike at Austrians.

PETROGRAD — Half a million Russian troops, inspired by the news of the fall of Przemysl, are pressing forward in a gigantic movement all along the Carpathians, according to war office dispatches. From the Dukla Pass region to the borders of Roumania the Slavs are driving southward in a mighty sweep toward the plains of Hungary and the crown land of Bukowina.

Bouvet Crew Die Heroes.

PARIS — Standing at salute and shouting "Vive la France," the officers and crew of the French battleship Bouvet, which was sunk in the Dardanelles March 18, went down with their ship, according to an account by the Tenedos correspondent of the Athens Patris, who thus describes the action in which the Bouvet and the Gaulois were engaged:

"The captain of the Bouvet had been ordered to cross a dangerous mine zone and force a passage to Chanak Kalessi, thus making the allies masters of the straits as far as Nagara. At 1:20 p. m. the Bouvet was five miles from Chanak and was firing at Fort Dardanus. It had crossed two mine zones The Gaulois followed, firing at Fort Dardanus. It had crossed two mines zones. The Gaulois followed, firing all its guns. The commander of the Bouvet by a skillful maneuver avoided two mines which were exploded by a destroyer, but a third struck it in the region of its magazines and it sank by the head.

Pass Night in Small Boat.

"Seven survivors of the Bouvet climbed into a boat and passed the night in a bay on the European side of the strait. They were taken off the next day by a British destroyer.

"When the captain of the Gaulois saw the Bouvet was sinking he ordered 'full steam ahead' without an instant's hesitation, but his ship had been struck seven times and he was obliged to put back anchoring off Mavrais island."

NEGRO IS GIVEN 24 YEARS

Jesse Williams, Who Assaulted Mrs. Schwartz, Aged 75, Is Sentenced.

WHEATON, ILL. — Jessee Williams, the negro who attacked and beat Mrs. Frances Schwartz, a seventy-five year old white woman, at Wheaton, was sent to the penitentiary for twenty-four years.

The crime of Williams was without the usual excuse of the "hungry" or the "unemployed." He was a janitor in the flat where the aged woman lived, and attacked her when he knew that the family had left her at home alone. He supposed she was dead, but she was able to tell who had attacked her, and is now slowly recovering.

LORIMER PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Former Head of La Salle Street Bank Is Arraigned.

CHICAGO, ILL. — William Lorimer, president of the defunct La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, was arraigned before Federal Judge Geo. B. Carpenter on a charge of misapplication of funds of the La Salle Street National bank in 1912, before the institution was made a state bank. As the clerk called the case of the People against William Lorimer, Mr. Lorimer stood up. "Do you wish to enter a plea at this time?" Judge Carpenter asked.

"I do. Not guilty," Mr. Lorimer answered.

Probate Judge Acquitted.

WEST BRANCH, MICH. — In the circuit court in the case of Probate Judge H. S. Karcher and son Clyde, Rose City druggists, charged with selling liquors to be used as a beverage, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty after being out only a short time.

It was charged that on Jan. 31, during the absence of Judge Karcher and his son, a young employe of the store sold Burt Shroeder, aged twenty-six, three pints of alcohol.

Missing Girl Case Stands.

NILES, MICH. — The mystery in the disappearance of Mary Compton, a pretty country girl of twenty years, was cleared when it was learned that she had eloped with Abraham Lincoln Snyder, aged sixteen years.

The couple fled over the state line into Indiana, secured a license and were married at South Bend while the distracted mother, Mrs. William Compton was searching boarding houses at Niles.

Be Sure You Get This Old Reliable Cough Medicine

Imitations always follow the trail of success. Hundreds of imitations have come and gone since FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND began, 40 years ago, to loosen the grip of coughs and colds.

Be sure you get the genuine

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound

And avoid the names that sound like it.

Here are three easy ways to tell the genuine. 1st—The name of "Foley's." 2nd—The yellow package. 3rd—The Beehive on the yellow package. You cannot get a substitute to do for you what FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND will do—for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial and lagrippe coughs, throat and lung trouble. Buy it of your druggist and be safe.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Held Here Last Thursday and Friday

COUNTY CONFERENCE OF OLDER BOYS

One hundred boys and twenty-five or thirty men attended the father and son banquet held in the Presbyterian church Friday night and partook of the splendid menu prepared and served by the girls of Tecumseh high school. Nine years ago in this same church met the first county conference of older boys which ever came together.

During the evening this Lenawee conference wired greetings to five other such conventions meeting in the state. To Lenawee belongs the credit of starting county Y. M. C. A. work in Michigan which since has extended to 15 other counties having even reached Iron county in the Upper Peninsula. Lenawee and a county in Massachusetts are the two oldest counties in county work. Otis Stanchfield, a son of Michigan, is now introducing county Y. M. C. A. work in India.

Upon the suggestion of the boys of the Tecumseh Senior Y. M. C. A. the Saturday forenoon of the 9th conference was given over entirely to the boys. The topic discussed was "Leadership." The following boys led in the various phases of the discussion: Leon McLachlin, Tecumseh; Marsh Drury, Britton; Frank Marsh, Blissfield; Charles Underwood, Ridgeway; Sheldon Burt, Clayton. When the boys did finally warm up to the topic, they had a lively time of it in a give and take of opinions. This is probably the first instance in a boy's conference where the boys planned and carried on such a discussion with so little adult participation.

Gordon Bachman proved an unusual toastmaster in his original jokes in presenting the boys and men who gave the toasts. Warm words of welcome were given by Harold Lowry and W. L. Reed and very appropriate responses by Paul Hastings of Addison and H. W. Porter of Weston.

The addresses of N. Earl Pinney of Ann Arbor and State Sec'y L E. Buell of Detroit at the banquet and at other times during the conference were strong and instructive.

The conference finished with a mass meeting early Saturday afternoon. It is evident that a larger number of our boys are grappling with the real moral and religious problems of their lives and expect to be real factors in their communities

The following boys were elected to office:

President—Charles Underwood, Ridgeway

Vice Pres.—Russell McNeil, Tecumseh

Secretary—Harland Keran, Britton

Considerable credit for the success of the conference is due the Tecumseh boys especially those of the Junior and Senior Y. M. C. A groups who spared no efforts in preparing for and taking care of the conference Seventy-four boys went away from Tecumseh having enjoyed the fine hospitality of her homes.

At the short session of the county convention and committee meeting of the county organization of Y. M. C. A., the following men were made committeemen: W. S. Kimball, Clinton; O. E. Williamson, Tecumseh; W. L. Reed, Tecumseh; Charles Foote, Ridgeway; D. J. Curtis, Britton; Chas. Evans, Tipton; J. B. Daniels, Onsted; A. K. Dean, Addison; O. B. Stowell, Thos. Holmes, Hudson; Geo. Townsend, Clayton; Chas. Fogelsong, Palmyra; A. D. Ellis, O. D. Porter, Blissfield; B. B. Butler, H. Thane Bauman, Morenci. These men with 11 others now constitute the county committee of the county Y. M. C. A. One-third of the membership will be elected each year.

There are now over two hundred boys in the groups of the County Y. M. C. A. in Lenawee.

RUNAWAY

David Ghertner was the victim of a serious accident yesterday morning when his team ran away. They started from his home and evidently were frightened by the creamery auto truck. They ran down the street to J. W. Owen's corner where they struck a tree. One horse was so badly injured that it died on the way home and the other is to be killed.

BUSINESS CHANGE

For some time Mr. James Silver has been contemplating selling his Moving Picture business on account of poor health, and last week a deal was closed with Harold Anderson who has purchased the business and took possession Monday morning.

Mr. Anderson will continue the business along the same lines as Mr. Silver has done, and will be open for business every afternoon and evening through the week.

MRS. JOHN S. TEMPLE

The funeral of Mrs, Helen A. Temple was held at the home Saturday afternoon and all that was mortal was laid to rest in Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. Temple was born in Chautauqua County, N. Y. Aug. 14, 1843 and came to Michigan with her parents when but nine years old. In 1866 she was united in marriage to John S. Temple coming to Tecumseh eight years later.

Seven children were born to this union, five of whom are living. Mrs. L. G Acton of Portland, Ore, Mrs. Richart Pascoe of Kearsarge, Mich., Mrs B C. Day Lafayette, Ind, Mrs. Frank H. Snow of Kalamazoo, Mrs. W. S. Shipp of Battle Creek all of whom with the exception of Mrs. Acton were with her at the home of her death.

In early life Mrs, Temple was a member of the Baptist church but after her marriage she with her husband united with the M. E. church and has always been a consistent member, and in her everyday life has been a kind and loving friend to all.

In the forty years that she had lived in Tecumseh, she has won a host of friends who will mourn her loss.

She is not dead only asleep,
Resting after a well spent life
"There is no death. The stars go down;
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright in Heavens jeweled crown,
They shine forever more."

HOT ONION THIEF IS WITH US

He Steals Two Handkerchiefs to Dry Tears as He Eats.

Huntington, Ind., March 29.—Mrs Rosahna C. Tatman reported to the police that her home had been visited by a thief, who took only onions. The onions were so hot that he took two of Mrs. Tatman's handkerchiefs from a freshly dried washing to wipe the tears from his eyes while he ate them.

The marauder left parts of the onions and the handkerchiefs in the house.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

The Democratic Caucus was held at the council building Friday evening with a good attendance. The following were nominated:

Supervisor—James Lowry
Clerk—B. J. Pulver
Treasurer—E. A. Daisher
Com. of Highways—Chas. Bennett
Highway Overseer—Joseph Hanford
Board of Review—E. C. Brown
Justice of the Peace—John Mahaney
Constables—Jas Kennedy, Floyd Bryan, Ed McKinney and Harold Brown.

MR. VOTER

You got a wet circular. Does it voice your opinion? Are you willing to turn your children over to the class of men who write such stuff? Did they tell the truth about Lenawee County?

Who brought on the local option elections in 1913 and 1915? If it is such expensive business as the "Wets" say, why don't they quit it? Why do they slam the farmers by saying that local option was forced upon them two years ago by the votes of country townships? Why do they blaspheme the Creator by saying "The Great Creator is not a prohibitionist" when the "Ten Commandments" begin with "Thou shalt not?"

Why do they eulogize alcohol when the New York Medical Journal says "Alcohol is the most potent factor in physical and mental degeneration?"

LENAWEE COUNTY LOCAL OPTION ASSOCIATION. adv

1850

The following market report was taken from an Adrian Expositor of Nov, 1850. It is interesting to compare the prices which ruled sixty-five years ago with those of to day. A slight difference will be noted. For cheapness now-a-days cannot compare with the "good old times:"

Pork	$2.50@3 00
Potatoes	25 cts
Corn—ready sale at	31 cts
Oats	20 cts
Eggs	6 cts
Butter	10 cts
Salt per bbl	$1.50
Rye	38@45 cts
Barley	50 cts
Poultry—ready sale at	6 cts
Lard	7 cts
Hay	$6,00

ELNORA RICHART

The funeral of little Elnora Richart was held Saturday morning from the home, the Rev. Wm A. Rex officiating. A band of her schoolmates gathered to pay their last respects to their friend.

As she lay in her casket surrounded by beautiful flowers it was hard to believe that death had claimed her, she seemed so peacefully asleep For nine bright sunny years she had been the joy and comfort of the home now left desolate, and her sweet childish presence was welcomed in the whole neighborhood. Her lonely father has the sympathy of the whole community for she was his all.

"Sleep on in thy beauty
Thou sweet angel child,
By sorrow unblighted
By sin undefiled.
Like the bird of the ark
Thou hast flown to thy rest
From this wild sea of strife,
To the land of the blest."

WANT TO SEE IF ANY BODY GOT BIG FUND

Hunting Witnesses In Probe of $300,000 "Slush" Story.

Lansing, Mich., March 29.—Officials of the senate and house have been dispatched to Detroit and other Michigan points carrying subpoenas to be served on newspaper men and others who are wanted here this afternoon to attend the investigation that was commenced in conformity with a house and senate resolution which has for its purpose the clearing up of rumors of a $300,000 "slush fund," that the railroads, according to rumors, are credited with having put aside to further railroad legislation.

Auditor General Fuller created a little furor here when he announced that the resolution was not broad enough to warrant him indorsing expense vouchers.

Certain attorneys, who are connected with the railroads, will be asked to appear and explain some trips to Lansing, it is claimed. Many railroad officials have already signified their willingness to come without invitation

FRUIT WITHOUT BLOSSOMS

Buds Turn Into Apples of Good Quality.

Tustin, Mich., March 29.—On the farm of Francis Smith, near here is an apple tree which never blossoms, but bears fruit and produces no seeds. The apples are good for cooking and eating. Fruit growers in this section are unable to determine the cause of this strange phenomenon.

The tree has been planted thirty-three years and has borne for several years. Mr. Smith expects to send some of the buds to the state horticultural department this spring. The buds turn into apples without blooming.

SUBSTANCE IS FOUND TO HEAL WAR WOUNDS

Sir W. Watson Cheyne's Carbolic Acid Paste Kills Germs.

New York, March 29.—The ragged and dirt ingrained wounds of war have made necessary the discovery of some thing better than ordinary antiseptics. A substance had to be found that would follow the germs to every nook and corner and kill them before they had a chance to multiply. Such a substance seems to have been found by Sir Watson Cheyne and associated physicians. The Medical Record reviews the matter editorially.

"Ordinary syringing of the wound is not sufficient to disinfect it," says the Medical Record. "The antiseptic must be introduced into the wound and left there to diffuse into the tissues. Watson Cheyne and his associates devised a method of estimating the diffusibility of antiseptics in blood clot and their action on the bacteria contained in it. There were several surprising results.

"The favorable result was reached with a 20 per cent paste of carbolic acid. This diffused rapidly into the nutrient medium and checked the growth of bacteria before they had formed colonies visible under the low power of the microscope."

The method has produced happy results in the few instances so far in which it has been tried on human beings.

THREE HOUR SERVICE

Good Friday at St. Peter's 12 m. to 3 p. m.

The public in general are invited to attend all or a part of the Three Hour service in remembrance of the crucifixion of Christ. The service is divided into seven sections. During each section a brief sermon is preached on one of the last words of Christ from the Cross, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." "Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise." "Woman, behold thy son." "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" "I thirst." "It is finished." "Father into thy hands I commend my spirit."

During each portion of the service there will be some of the old fashioned gospel hymns sung. W. S Dickinson, Mrs. R. Meade, Mrs Eugene Rosacrans, Miss Edna Taylor and others will sing solos. The church and the cross on the altar will be draped in black. This service is the most solemn service of the year—the Cross comes before the joys of Easter.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

"Resolved:—That the Aeroplane is a greater Invention for Modern Warfare than the Submarine."

Tecumseh High School had a very lively debate last Friday afternoon the subject being, Resolved:—That the Aeroplane is a greater Invention for Modern Warfare than the Submarine.

Affirmative—Burton Garlinghouse, Miss Norma Moody, and Gordon Bachman.

Negative—Ralph Cuthbert, Ruth Young and Fay VanValkenburg. Miss Boag and Miss Harris coached the contestants. The negative side came out ahead. Rev. G. W. Jennige, S. P. Hosmer and Dr. L. G. North being the judges.

UNCLE SAM AIDING THE UNEMPLOYED.

The U. S. Department of Labor has increased its sysmtem of employment offices so that now there are branch offices in every important city in the United States. These offices have been located centrally in the territory which has been assigned to them in order that help may be directed quickly to any applicants. The first office to be opened by the Government was in New York City. This office has been in operation for a number of years and has proved quite successful. During the early part of the year offices were opened in sub-zones. Chicago being in charge of a zone with Detroit and Sault Ste Marie, Michigan known as sub-zone offices. The state of Michigan has been divided into districts and assigned to these three stations, the Upper Peninsula being assigned to the office at Sault Ste Marie and the Lower Peninsula to Detroit, with the exception of a few counties in the south-western part of the state which are more easily reached from Chicago.

At the time these offices were opened the efforts of the Department were directed solely toward supplying farmers with help. Applications for help came in from farmers in all sections of the country, and the help was promptly supplied. Because of the success with which this office has met the Department has now ordered that the service be extended to include all classes of help, both skilled and unskilled. All offices are now prepared to receive applications from employers for all classes of workmen—The proper blanks for use in making applications for help may be obtained from any postmaster in the United States or from the Distribution Branch. Farmers and other employers needing help should communicate with the nearest office addressing: Distribution Branch, U. S. Immigration Service, at Detroit, Michigan: Chicago, Illinois, or Sault Ste Marie, Michigan; stating their requirements in full. An applicant for work suiting these requirments is then selected and directed to the position offered.

The Government extends its services free to all residents of the United States, no fee being charged to either employer or employee. However, no help will be supplied where trouble exists between employer and employee as in the case of strikes, etc., or where such help would in any way interfere with proper labor conditions. Where the employer states his willingness to supply transportation, every precaution possible is taken to insure the applicant's safe arrival at destination.

FOR SOUR STOMACH, GAS OR INDIGESTION

Use Mi-o-na and Get Immediate and Effective Relief

When you have heartburn, pains in the stomach, and taste undigested food, it's a sure sign your last meal is not digesting, but fermenting, causing poisonous gases, sourness and acid stomach.

Prompt and lasting relief for any stomach distress is a simple inexpensive matter if you will only try the harmless Mi-o-na prescription easily obtained from C. A. Wright & Son or any druggist.

Mi-o-na is especially prepared to neutralize excess acid and stop fermentation which surely sours your food, causing sick headache, dyspepsia billiousness and bad dreams.

Mi-o-na not only corrects sour, acid and gassy stomach, but improves the entire digestive system so that the blood, nerves, muscles and skin all receive increased nourishment causing clear complexion, bright eyes and that delightful sensation of "feeling fit."

Get some Mi-o-na tablets today—if they do not banish every sign of indigestion they will cost you a penny.

Rexall Orderlies

Sick headache, billiousness, piles and bad breath are usually caused by inactive bowels. Get a box of Rexall Orderlies. They act gently and effectively. Sold only by us at 10 cents. E. J. Pulver.

Armour Fertilizer

is made of BLOOD, BONE and TANKAGE by the largest Packing house in the world.

This fertilizer will give better results and more lasting results than any Chemical fertilizer manufactured as you are putting back on the soil what you have taken off when you sell your livestock and grain.

Our sale of ARMOUR last year was more than all other kinds combined. WHY? The farmers of this section know they get better and more lasting results.

Tell us your soil and we will give you a brand that will give you results.

AGRICULTURAL LIME

The kind we sell is 97% pure. Use only 200 to 300 lbs. per acre and get immediate results because it is hydrated and instantaniously available. Compare with the kind you have to use around 2000 lb. per acre. Think of the cost of hauling, etc., etc.

Does Service Mean Anything To You?

If you are thinking of purchasing an automobile this should be one of the most important things to be taken in consideration.

How long would the Ford Motor Co. retain us as their representatives in this district unless we had proper equipment and efficiency to render service to our customers?

Curbstone dealers do not have any investment to give any service, they take your money, and most of them say "good night." You know that it is impossible to get service out of them because they have nothing to do with.

Isn't it some satisfaction to buy a car of people who can take care of you? We guarantee to make all adjustments on new cars without charge and make you feel like coming back again tomorrow.

Have just installed an Allis-Chalmers Air Compressor that cost $200 to furnish free air for our customers, we can pump your car up in less than 5 minutes, our supply tank carries 250 pounds pressure, and we can fill 8 cars at the same time. This is some service but not for people who buy from curb stoners because it's up to them to look after you.

We employ only the best skilled labor in our repair department and at the present time we have four repairmen who can take good care of you and give you prompt service. About May 1st. we will be open nights as well as days, you can leave your cars here at night get them washed, polished and greased ready for business early in the morning, also livery service any time day or night, always at your service.

OUR FIRST ELECTION.

Methods In the Days When Washington Was Chosen President.

At the first national election at which General Washington was chosen president only eleven of the thirteen states voted, North Carolina and Rhode Island not yet having entered the Union, and in only three—Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia—were popular elections held. In the other eight states the legislatures chose the electors. New York did not choose electors because of a feud between the anti-Federalist house and the Federalist senate.

One exciting incident was caused by the fear on the part of Alexander Hamilton that John Adams, who was on the ticket for vice president with Washington, was plotting to tie the vote, and thus by throwing the election into the national house of representatives defeat the Father of His Country for president. So real was this fear in Hamilton that he dispatched messengers on horses to Virginia, Connecticut and New Jersey to stampede the legislatures of the latter two states to Washington.

So long did it take to gather news that Washington was actually inaugurated president before some of the remote counties in Virginia had sent in their returns. In this first election there was only one ticket and there was no campaigning. There were only about 3,000,000 inhabitants in the country at that time, and the whole cost of setting up the machinery of this presidental election is estimated at less than $100,000.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Spinster's Hint.

A maiden well advanced in years used to wait every morning for the postman, a bachelor of about her age, and ask him if there were not a letter for her. Several weeks passed thus, but the anxiously expected letter did not arrive. Finally one morning the postman said to her:

"Well, tomorrow you shall get your letter if I have to write it myself."

"That's right; do it," replied the old maid. "I shall be delighted to accept it."

"Well," said the postman, smiling, "what do you want me to write—a business letter or a love letter?"

"If you mean business, please write a love letter!" was her blushing reply. —London Scraps.

Ownership of the Air.

Our ancestors must have foreseen the aeroplane or they would not have embodied in the law the principle that he who owns the land owns the column of air above "usque ad coelum," or up to the skies. This can be traced back as far as the reign of Edward I., and from this time every authority to the present court of appeal has emphasized the right of every citizen not only to be king of his own castle, but of the sky above it.—London Chronicle.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE

Tecumseh People Have Good Reason For Complete Reliance

Do you know how—
To find relief from backache;
To correct distressing urinary ills;
To assist weak kidneys?
Your neighbors know the way—
Have used Doan's Kidney Pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests

Here's Tecumseh testimony.

E. C. Brisbin, [illegible] Democrat St, Tecumseh says: I began to sufier from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of the trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand. You may continue to use my name as a reference for the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this remedy and it acts promptly and effectively."

EITEL'S POSITION SEEMS HOPELESS

U. S. Naval Officials Think Ship Will Interne.

IS WATCHED FROM ALL SIDES.

Battle Ship Alabama Starts for Hampton Roads to See That Vessel Conforms to Requirements and Also Is Protected to Limit of U. S. Jurisdiction.

Washington, March 29.—It was announced at the navy department tonight that Rear Admiral James Helm, commanding the Atlantic reserve fleet at Philadelphia, will be on board the battle ship Alabama when she takes up her patrol duty in Hampton Roads in connection with the imminent departure of the Prinze Eitel Frederich.

The Alabama left the Philadelphia navy yard early this morning for Hampton Roads. She is commanded by Capt. T. A. Lyons. Her instructions are to prevent any violation of the neutrality of the United States government in connection with the Eitel. While officials are of the opinion that the German cruiser will eventually interne rather than face British cruisers waiting for her outside the Virginia capes, every precaution is being taken as if it were a certainty that the German vessel will venture out.

Departure Conditional.

This departure will be conditional, however, on whether a merchantmen of any nationality has left Newport News within the previous twenty-four hours. If a British or a French ship has gone out a few hours previously, the German cruiser must wait until twenty-four hours have elapsed before going to sea in her wake. United States authorities at Newport News will decide when these circumstances make it proper for the Eitel to depart and the Alabama will be used to prevent the German vessel from proceeding out to sea before permission has been given her by this government. In view of the large number of British ships clearing from Newport News and Norfolk it is thought probable the Eitel Frederich may be delayed some time when she announces a desire to go to sea.

Aviators Again Bombard.

Paris, March 29—The afternoon war office statement says:

"Belgium aviators have bombarded the German aviation camp at Ghistelles (in West Flanders) seventy-five milles southwest of Bruges. To the east of the Heights of the Muse, near Marchevulle, we captured 100 yards of the enemy's trenches and repulsed two counter attacks. At Les Parges we continued our progress of the previous day."

Berlin Tells of Foes' Repulses.

Berlin, March 29.—The official statement by the German army headquarters says:

"To the southeast of Verdun French attacks on the Meuse heights near Combres, and in the Woevre plains near Marchevulle, were decided after stubborn fighting in favor of the Germans. On Hartsmansweilerkopf in the Vosges only artillery duels took place yesterday. Russian charges in the Augustowo forest (near the East Prussian frontier) were repulsed. Between the Pissa and Omulew rivers several Russian attacks were made, but they all broke down under the German fire. Near Waack the Germans captured 900 Russians."

Kimbrough In Penitentiary

Saginaw, Mich., March 29.—Charles Kimbrough, the negro sentenced for slaying and burning little Rose Laundry, has been placed in a cell at the penitentiary. His attorney, Robert J. Curry, will not attempt to secure a new trial.

COULD NOT SLEEP, COULD NOT EAT

Woman So Weak and Nervous Could Not Stand Her Children Near Her—Vinol Changed Everything for Her

Plant City, Fla.—"I wish I could tell everybody about Vinol. For nine years I was in bad health. I got so I could not sleep, and I could not stand it to have my children come near me. I could not even sew or do any heavy housework. I was simply tired all the time. I tried so many medicines I could not recall them all, but nothing did me any good. One day a friend asked me to try Vinol and said it was the best tonic she ever saw. I did so, and soon got the first good night's sleep I had had for a long time. Now I sleep well, my appetite is good, my nervousness is all gone and I am so strong and well I do all my housework and work in my flower garden without feeling tired or nervous. Vinol has made me a well and happy woman."—Mrs. C. H. MILLER, Plant City, Fla.

Vinol contains the curative, healing principles of fresh cod livers (without oil) and tonic iron.

We ask every weak, run-down, nervous person in this vicinity to try Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, on our guarantee to return their money if it fails to benefit.

JAP ELECTIONS OPEN NEW ERA IN HISTORY

Landslide to Ministerial Side Reveals Progress.

Tokio, March 29.—The result of the general election shows a landslide for the ministerial side. Mr. Osakai, minister of justice, has scored a record breaking victory in the history of Japanese elections by polling 8,432 votes.

The causes of the Seiyukai defeat are, first, the fact that the people have become tired of its despotic control because of the majority it commanded for many years in the house of representatives; second, its policy of nominating for candidates too many former representatives, thus obstructing the entrance into the political arena of new men; third, the party had no definite platform to combat the opposing party.

On the other hand Count Okuma aroused the enthusiasm of the people and enlisted their sympathy by his many struggles in spite of his old age and has reaped the fruits of years of labor in education and liberal propagandism. This coupled with the dislike of the people to change the cabinet at this critical time when Japan is engaged in the war and important negotiations with China, brought about this overwhelming victory for the Okuma cabinet.

The election opens a new chapter in the history of Japanese constitutional development.

MISS WILSON AIDS CHARITY

Her Voice on Record In "Star Spangled Banner" for Sufferers.

Washington, March 29.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president, has just concluded recording "The Star Spangled Banner" on a musical record and has agreed to turn over her royalties to the international board of relief, an organization working in the war stricken cities of Europe.

Miss Wilson's income from her recorded voice on this one record will help relieve several hundred families. In a recent trip to New York she was shown the method of making original records. After several records were sung by her and commercial successes she evolved the scheme of her records placed on sale.

Weather for Tomorrow.

Illinois, Indiana, lower Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa—Fair and colder.

Here's a Tangle.

How easy it is to mix up the average business man was demonstrated the other day when the son of a local merchant leaned against his father's knee and innocently asked:

"Daddy, is today tomorrow?"

"No, my son, of course today isn't tomorrow," answered the father.

"But you said it was," continued the son.

"When did I ever say today was tomorrow?"

"Yesterday," answered the son.

"Well, it was; today was tomorrow yesterday, but today is today, just as yesterday was today yesterday, but is yesterday today, and tomorrow will be today tomorrow, which makes today yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now run along and play," and the father collapsed into his chair with a sigh of relief.—Louisville Times.

How She Did It.

"So she refused you?"

"That's the impression I received."

"Didn't she actually say no?"

"No, she didn't. All she said was just 'Ha, ha, ha!'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

VILLA LOSES IS CARRANZA CLAIM

Washington Agency Says Rebels Repulsed at Matamoras.

SEVERE FIGHTING IS SHOWN

Red Cross Nurses In Northern States Ordered to Proceed at Once to Brownsville, Tex., Near Fighting—U. S. Issues No New Orders Regarding Firing Across Border.

Washington, March 30.—Reports received at the state department and at the Carranza agency here are that the Villa forces were defeated in at least the early stages of the battle for possession of Matamoras which began late Saturday.

The Carranza agency's dispatch stated that the Villistas lost 900 men in their attacks on the trenches of the Carranza troops defending the city. The Villistas were mowed down by machine guns in three separate it is said. A large number of the Villa troops are said to have abandoned their camp after this fighting while their wounded fled to the American side. The Carranza forces suffered only very slight losses, it is claimed, not having been required to move from the protection of the trenches.

Severe Fighting Shown.

That there has been some severe fighting outside Matamoras was shown by reports received at Red Cross headquarters. Four hundred wounded Mexicans have been already brought across the international into Brownsville, Tex., and are being cared for there.

S. P. Morris, acting national director of the Red Cross, ordered four Red Cross nurses in northern states to proceed at once to Brownsville and he will go there himself if conditions seem to make it necessary that he should do so. Two hospitals in Brownsville have been already taken over by the Red Cross representatives at the scene and an ambulance service has been instituted on the American border.

The latest reports received give no sign of any end to the fighting outside Matamoras. In fact, everything points to the battle being more prolonged and fierce than is usual in the Mexican struggle.

No New U. S. Orders.

The war department has not issued any new orders in regard to securing the protection of life and property on the American side. It is held that nothing has yet arising in the situation at Brownsville which is notfully covered in orders which the United States forces on the border have had for more than a year. Warnings have been sent as usual to opposing commanders across the river to respect life and property on the American side of the line and not to permit bullets to fall on the United States soil. No official report has been received yet in confirmation of unofficial dispatches stating two Americans had been slightly injured by Mexican bullets falling in Brownsville.

INDIANA BANK IS CLOSED

Fourth Institution In Hamilton County to Fall Since Jan. 1.

Noblesville, Ind., March 29.—The People's State bank at Arcadia did not open for business, making the fourth financial institution of Hamilton county that has suspended business since Jan. 1. The direct cause of the failure of the Arcadia bank was the result of an order from State Auditor Crittenberger to J. S. Hinesley, cashier, to replace three notes of $5,000 each with cash. These notes bear the signatures of persons connected with the Hamilton Trust company of this city, which was closed by the auditor in January.

The Arcadia bank was organized in 1912 with a paid up capital stock of $25,000. J. L. Hinshaw was president until a few weeks ago, when R. W. Myers was elected to succeed him.

Paderewski Stirs Sympathy for Poles.

London, March 29.—The visit to London of Ignace Paderewski on behalf of the suffering Poles, has already resulted in the formation of a great relief committee. Among the members of the committee are such men as Premier Asquith, ex-Premier Balfour, Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George, Lady Randolph Churchill and the Russian and French ambassador.

Teehee! He Counts the Cash.

Washington, March 29.—Houston C. Teehee, five-eighths Cherokee Indian of the restricted type succeeds Gabe Parker, another Indian, as register of the treasury in Washington. Teehee's name will appear on each piece of paper money issued by the treasury.

Prominent Ohio Democrat Dies.

Dayton, O., March 29.—Edward W. Hanley, chairman of the Ohio Democratic state central committee, who was defeated for the United States senate by Atlee Pomerene in 1911, is dead at Dayton of Bright's disease, aged sixty-two.

Force, Wisdom and Faith.

When a human soul draws its first furrows straight the rest will surely follow. Henceforth your existence becomes ceaseless activity. The universe belongs to him who wills, who knows, who prays, but he must will, he must know, he must pray. In a word, he must possess force, wisdom and faith. Be conquerors on the earth. Your convictions will be changed to certainties. —Honore de Balzac.

An Illustration.

"How many men there have been whose merits were not appreciated till after their death," said the expert in gloom.

"Oh, well," replied the patient person, "that's the way it is all through nature. A turkey struts around a whole lifetime without any idea what it is really good for."—Washington Star.

"How do you suppose Noah managed to keep his arc lights going?"

"Well, from the fact of the flood there must have been a strong current running."—Baltimore American.

Be Sure You Get This Old Reliable Cough Medicine

Imitations always follow the trail of success. Hundreds of imitations have come and gone since FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND began, 40 years ago, to loosen the grip of coughs and colds.

Be sure you get the genuine

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound

And avoid the names that sound like it.

Here are three easy ways to tell the genuine, 1st—The name of "Foley's," 2nd—The yellow package. 3rd—The Beehive on the yellow package. You cannot get a substitute to do for you what FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND will do—for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial and lagrippe coughs, throat and lung trouble. Buy it of your druggist and be safe.

RESEARCH CIRCLE

One of the most interesting meetings of the Research Circle was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. R. Newsom, the program being in charge of the Junior members:

Piano duet—Florence and Margaret VanWinkle

Reading, "The Present Craze"—Vera Sisson

Piano duet—Helen and Agnes McIntyre

Reading, "A Little Girl's Hope"—Helen Westcott

Vocal solo—Edna Taylor

Song, "The Sand Man"—Mary Newsom, Teresa Deery, Isabelle McIntyre, Helen and Geraldine Westcott and George Deery.

Piano solo—Georgiana Conklin

Graphanolo solo, "A Broken Hearted Sparrow."

Graphanolo solo from "Faust," story told by Mrs. Conklin.

Nearly all numbers were encored.

The name of Mrs. Lena Jones was added to the list of membership.

The next meeting will be the annual Symposium and is to be held in the Methodist church parlors next Tuesday evening at 6:30.

IS LOCAL OPTION GOOD FOR A TOWN?

The saloon defeners say No, but what say others? A recent number of the Deerfied Times-Journal says "Deerfield" boasts of some of the most up-to-date business houses of any town of its size anywhere in the United States, and the beauty of these up-to-the minute stores is—they are doing a good big business."

Clinton's leading business men are the leaders in the Local Option fight The lamb supper event was pulled off recently and the town was overrun with people.

A Tecumseh business man stated that on Saturday, March 13, they had the largest crowd on their streets that he had seen in that town in years.

We have interviewed business men in Adrian and they express themselves as satisfied and think it best to keep the saloons out. There are some people left in Lenawee county, who realize that when men spend their money in saloons they connot spend it in the legitimate lines of trade.

The wets say "Local Option is a withering blight to any city or large town." They leave out a word; it should read "Local Option is a withering blight to saloons of any city or large town" When the fellows go to the regions around to get their booze they do not come home with groceries meat, shoes and clothing.

The fact is the wets simply appeal to the appetites and the prejudices of the drinkers the saloons have already created and cultivated. There is no appeal to the better sentiment, the sober life and the home ties so necessary in the family and all social relations.

The Chief Justice of the Mississippi Supreme court puts it right when he says: "Whiskey is a good thing in its place. There is nothing like it for preserving a man when he is dead. If [illegible] want to keep a [illegible] put him in whiskey; if you want to kill a live man put whiskey in him."

The saloons are out, let us keep them out. Think of your children and the best interests of society when you go to the polls April 5th, and vote yes.

MARY ANN NIXON

Mary Ann Nixon passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Patterson in Franklin township Tuesday at 9:30 p. m. Mrs, Nixon has been practically helpless for the past seven months but death resulted from pneumonia at the age of 78 years.

Her husband Samuel Nixon died about 19 years ago. She is survived by five children Henry Nixon, Mrs. Chas. Greenfield, Mrs. Walter Patterson, Mrs. Tracy Brooks, and Mrs. Amos Moyer. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at 1 p. m. with burial in Brookside.

GEORGE S. PARDINGTON

The many friends of George Pardington will be grieved to hear of his sudden passing away, at his home at Nyack-on-the Hudson Sunday, March 28, death resulting from apoplexy.

When a young boy his father, the Rev. R. S. Pardington was pastor of the Methodist church here, and Geo. an almost helpless invalid, appealed to the hearts of all.

While time never quite restored him to health, yet he became a great student and teacher, his pupils taking him to and from his classes in his wheel chair. His was a bright, intellect and he imparted his knowledge in a very happy manner. While we regret his death, yet we are confident that his life work was accomplished.

His wife and two children, his mother and brother Arthur with a host of friends are left to mourn him,

Birthday Party

Master Jimmie Temple celebrated his fourth birthday Tuesday, Mar., 30. About a dozen of his young friends were present, and a merry time was enjoyed by everyone. Games were played, and it would be difficult to tell who enjoyed them most, the children or the older ones who were watching them.

The merriest time of all, was when the refreshments were served, everyone showing their appreciation in the way they partook of the good things. Master Jimmie received a number of nice presents on this occasion.

ANNUAL BANQUET

The Board Of Commerce April 14

The ex-committee of the Board of Commerce held a meeting Tuesday night to make definite plans for the coming annual banquet which will be held at Witherell hall on Wednesday evening, April 14. The committee in charge of speakers are busy securing talent, and announced that they had secured Mayor Sparks of Jackson, as one of the speakers and are hoping to secure the Master of the State Grange. The farmers in this community will be particularly welcome at this banquet and it is the desire of the committee to have a goodly number of them present.

It is hoped to make this banquet a great success, an opportunity for our citizens and friends to meet each other. There will be no money to be raised, and no ax to grind. The following committees have been appointed:

Ex-Com.—J. J. Belcher, Jas. A. Murphy, C. H. Williamson, C. A. Wright, and F. C. Brown.

Refreshment Com.—Floyd Heesen, Jas. McDermott, John Gaston, W. F. Fisher, W. L. Jones, Lester Rogers, and Guy Nemire.

Decoration Com.—G. A. Rathbun, B. J. Pulver, Leon Rosacrans, D. L. Whitenack, F. S. Turner, and Lester Coller.

Program Com.—H. S. Temple, F. S. Anderson, and Thos. McCann.

SEND NEWS TO THE PAPER

This paper belongs to you, Mr. and Mrs, Subscriber, just as well as to the publisher. You want it to be a newsy one, of course. You can help make it so.

Every reader should be a reporter, at least to the extent of reporting the news he knows concerning his family and friends. You perhaps have wondered how we gather so much news for every issue. If every reader would give us the items he knows, we would make it twice as newsy as it now is Merely paying for the paper and taking what we give you is not enough.

Other readers would be interested in learning the news you know: You will enjoy seeing it in print, yourself. If you do not acquaint us with the items you know of, you cannot find fault with the paper for not containing them.

If you think for one minute, right now, several items will come to your mind. What if they are but "personals." We want personals. We want anything that is news.

Take a livelier interest in YOUR paper. You'll appreciate it more, as will all of your friends. Ex.

EX-GOV. GEO. H. HODGES

Ex-Govenor George H. Hodges of Kansas, gave a speech at the Opera house Tuesday night to a good audience, his subject being "Kansas' great Progress under Prohibition." Rev. W. B Hartzog made a few preliminary remarks relative to local option in Lenawee county and voiced the belief of the committee that when the votes were counted Lenawee county would go dry by a good majority.

Dr. North in introducing the speaker of the evening remarked that never before at any meeting had he introduced a democrat, but it was with great pleasure that he introduced Ex-Gov. Geo. H. Hodges of Kansas.

Gov. Hodges was a most pleasing personality and his address was given in a very interesting manner. He presented facts and figures by which he claimed that a community was better for being dry, and cited the prosperity of his own state in proof of his assertion.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

For the benefit of our many customers and users of De Laval Cream Separators we have established a De Laval Service Day.

On this date we shall be glad to have any De Laval user bring his separator to our creamery for a complete and careful inspection and adjustment, which will be made free of charge. Should any parts, due to unusual wear or accident, need to be replaced, this will be done, the only charge being the price of the new parts used. No Charge will be made for our services.

A De Laval service man will be with us to assist with this work. Bring in your De Laval Separator that day and receive the benefit of his advice on the care and operation of the machine, as well as the free service. It is our wish, and that of the De Laval Company, that every user of a De Laval Separator get the maximum of efficiency at the minimum of cost, and we therefore urge you to avail yourself of this free and useful service.

Come Early and Avoid Delays.

Does Service Mean Anything To You?

If you are thinking of purchasing an automobile this should be one of the most important things to be taken in consideration.

How long would the Ford Motor Co. retain us as their representatives in this district unless we had proper equipment and efficiency to render service to our customers?

Curbstone dealers do not have any investment to give any service, they take your money, and most of them say "good night." You know that it is impossible to get service out of them because they have nothing to do with.

Isn't it some satisfaction to buy a car of people who can take care of you? We guarantee to make all adjustments on new cars without charge and make you feel like coming back again tomorrow.

Have just installed an Allis-Chalmers Air Compressor that cost $200 to furnish free air for our customers, we can pump your car up in less than 5 minutes, our supply tank carries 250 pounds pressure, and we can fill 3 cars at the same time. This is some service but not for people who buy from curb stoners because it's up to them to look after you.

We employ only the best skilled labor in our repair department and at the present time we have four repairmen who can take good care of you and give you prompt service. About May 1st. we will be open nights as well as days, you can leave your cars here at night get them washed, polished and greased ready for business early in the morning, also livery service any time day or night, always at your service.

Armour Fertilizer

is made of BLOOD, BONE and TANKAGE by the largest Packing house in the world.

This fertilizer will give better results and more lasting results than any chemical fertilizer manufactured as you are putting back on the soil what you have taken off when you sell your livestock and grain.

Our sale of ARMOUR last year was more than all other kinds combined. WHY? The farmers of this section know they get better and more lasting results.

Tell us your soil and we will give you a brand that will give you results.

AGRICULTURAL LIME

The kind we sell is 97% pure. Use only 200 to 300 lbs. per acre and get immediate results because it is hydrated and instantaniously available. Compare with the kind you have to use around 2000 lb. per acre. Think of the cost of hauling, etc., etc.

GET OUT AND VOTE

Not long ago we heard a resident of this county say "I never vote at a caucus" This appears to us to be a great mistake There are a great many people who never vote at a caucus or an election and if the results do not suit them, they are quite often the first ones to voice their disappointment. Who is to blame?

Monday's election is very important. The Local Option question is to be settled for the next two years Whether for it or against it. get out and use your franchise so that the result will be the true expression of the people

State, county and township officers are to be elected You surely have a choice and it is your duty, Mr. Voter, to get out and vote

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee ss.

Probate Court for said County.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian on the 31st day of March, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

Present, HON. HARRY L. LARWILL Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of GERTRUDE STACY deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Blanche Turner, executrix, upon the estate of said deceased, and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, have been fully paid, and praying that her first annual administration account may be allowed and for such other order and decree as to this Court shall seem proper,

It is Ordered, That Monday, the 26th day of April, next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

HARRY L. LARWILL,
(A true copy) Judge of Probate
E. I. LARWILL, Register of Probate.

Commissioners Notice

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

In the matter of the Estate of ELIZA HENDERSHOT, Deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Probate Court of said County, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against the estate of said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at law the office of Fred'k B. Wood in the Village of Tecumseh Lenawee County, Michigan, on the 5th day of April, 1915, and on the 30th day of Sept. 1915, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days.

And that six months from the 31st day of March 1915 are allowed by said Probate Court for the creditors of said estate to present their claims to us for examination and allowance.

Dated March 31th, 1915.

FOR SOUR STOMACH, GAS OR INDIGESTION

Use Mi-o-na and Get Immediate and Effective Relief

When you have heartburn, pains in the stomach, and taste undigested food, it's a sure sign your last meal is not digesting, but fermenting, causing poisonous gases, sourness and acid stomach.

Prompt and lasting relief for any stomach distress is a simple inexpensive matter if you will only try the harmless Mi-o-na prescription easily obtained from C. A. Wright & Son or any druggist.

Mi-o-na is especially prepared to neutralize excess acid and stop fermentation which surely sours your food, causing sick headache, dyspepsia biliousness and bad dreams.

Mi-o-na not only corrects sour, acid and gassy stomach, but improves the entire digestive system so that the blood, nerves, muscles and skin all receive increased nourishment causing clear complexion, bright eyes and that delightful sensation of "feeling fit."

Get some Mi-o-na tablets today—if they do not banish every sign of indigestion they will not cost you a penny.

SHIP MEN ASK DRY BRITAIN

David Lloyd-George and Naval Men Receive Deputation.

LONDON, ENG. — David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, accompanied by other officials and prominent naval and army officers received deputation from the ship builders employers' federation who urged the imperative necessity of total prohibition of the sale of intoxicants during the war, not only in saloons but in private clubs and other licensed premises.

The federation's representatives declared that partial prohibition is useless and that the concensus of opinion among the workers themselves favored total prohibition. Notwithstanding the fact that work is carried on Sundays and in other overtime, they said, the output actually is less than it was before the war, and in many cases the workmen work fewer hours. Eighty per cent of this, the employers' deputation said, can be attributed to drink. It is admitted that there are many and strenuous exceptions but the efforts of these are overbalanced by the idleness of others.

A Happy Home

(Read What Peruna Did)

Mrs. James F. Summitt, No. 1006 East Eighth St., Muscatine, Iowa, writes:

"My health was so miserable for years that I was practically an invalid. We had no family, owing to my ill health. I was induced to give Peruna a trial, and found very quickly that it was helping me.

I am now well and Happy. We have A Baby Boy He is our first and only child.

"I am now well and happy. We have a baby boy, which we believe is the direct consequence of my improved health. He is our first and only child, and if Peruna had not cured me of my ailments we should never have had him. I hope every suffering woman will give Peruna a trial, the same as I have."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Have proved their worth in many tests

Here's Tecumseh testimony.

E. C. Brisbin, farmer, N. Democrat St., Tecumseh says: I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of the trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand. You may continue to use my name as a referance for the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this remedy and it acts promptly and effectively."

RIDGEWAY

OBITUARY

Sarah Lawrence Rappleye, daughter of Wm. and Elizabeth Lawrence, was born in Ridgeway, Mich., May 15, 1852. and died March 27, 1915, at the age of 62 years, 10 months, and 12 days.

While she was but a mere child both her father and mother died leaving her to the care of her grandmother with whom she lived until her marriage to Lafayette Rappleye. To this home was added an only son Oscar Lawrence. On Mar. 1, 1913, the home circle was broken by the sudden death of the husband and father. Of the immediate family beside the only son Oscar Lawrence of Blissfield, Mich., a sister. Mrs. Gilbert Burtch of Onida, S. D., and a half sister Mrs. Mary Jackson of Ritchie, Ill., remain to mourn her going.

With but a few days of severe illness her death came as a sad shotk to all. Sister Rappleye was an [illegible] member of the Gleaners and a member of the Britton Rebekah lodge, but of greater honor still, for over 35 years a member of the Ridgeway Methodist Episcopal church, and greatest and best of all, a member of the household of God, who has called her to Himself to dwell in His glory forever. Her love for Christ and His church was fervent, her labors abundant. Resignation to God's will, and peace that is the reward of simple trust, filled the last hours amid intense physical suffering until God came and took her to Himself.

A large concourse of friends, many coming from out of town, gathered Wednesday afternoon to pay the last tribute of love to a loved neighbor and friend. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Ernest L. Palmer sang and Rev. J. E. Somery spoke words of comfort to the friends. The remains were laid beside those of her husband in the Ridgeway cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere appreciation to the many friends who so kindly and tenderly cared for our dear mother and assisted in any way, to the friends for the many beautiful floral remembrances and to Rev. Somers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rappleye

COULD NOT SLEEP, COULD NOT EAT

Woman So Weak and Nervous Could Not Stand Her Children Near Her — Vinol Changed Everything for Her

Plant City, Fla.—"I wish I could tell everybody about Vinol. For nine years I was in bad health. I got so I could not sleep, and I could not stand it to have my children come near me. I could not even sew or do any heavy housework. I was simply tired all the time. I tried so many medicines I could not recall them all, but nothing did me any good. One day a friend asked me to try Vinol and said it was the best tonic she ever saw. I did so, and soon got the first good night's sleep I had had for a long time. Now I sleep well, my appetite is good, my nervousness is all gone and I am so strong and well I do all my housework and work in my flower garden without feeling tired or nervous. Vinol has made me a well and happy woman."
—Mrs. C. H. MILLER, Plant City, Fla.

Vinol contains the curative, healing principles of fresh cod livers (without oil) and tonic iron.

We ask every weak, run-down, nervous person in this vicinity to try Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, on our guarantee to return their money if it fails to benefit.

ITALIANS GO TO AUSTRIAN FRONT

Troops Are Ordered to Face the Teuton Army.

NEGHBORS MASSING THERE

Shifting of Several Regiments Stationed on Swiss Border to Region Where Austria Is Concentrating Forces Awakens War Talk—Comment Upon Diplomatic Status.

GENEVA — The Italian military headquarters, it is reported here, has ordered several regiments stationed near the Swiss frontier, with bases at Como, Varez and Brescia, to move toward the Tyrolese frontier, where Austrian troops have been concentrating during the last fortnight.

Shows Diplomatic Status.

ROME, ITALY — The Giornale d'Italia says it considers futile the discussion regarding alleged private negotiations between the vatican and the Italian government concerning the status of diplomats accredited to the Holy See in cases Italy joins the war.

The paper reproduces the law governing the prerogatives of the pope and the diplomats accredited to him, together with the debate in parliament when the bill was passed, to prove that it was designed to cover only times of peace.

The presence [illegible] Italy and those residing at the vatican, the Giorale l'Italia says, renders superfluous any discussion. In times of war, it declared, the Italian government would not hesitate to remove hostile ambassadors accredited even to the vatican without in so doing, however, attempting to interfere with the independence of the pontiff, while the vatican certainly would not create difficulties for Italy in time of war.

Confirms Offer to Bulgaria.

PARIS — The Athens correspondent of the Havas Agency declares he has received from diplomatic sources confirmation of the report that Field Marshal von der Goltz has been authorized by Turkey to offer Bulgaria the Enos-Midia line as a new boundary in exchange for her continued neutrality in the war.

The territory involved includes Adrianople, Kirk-Kilisseh and other important towns.

LOCATE SUNKEN SUBMARINE

F-4 Said to Be at Bottom of Mouth of Honolulu Harbor.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Searchers for the lost submarine F-4 reported that they had determined the location of the vessel within a radius of fifty yards, and that it lay at the bottom of the mouth of Honolulu harbor in water ranging from 215 to 300 feet in depth.

Honolulu, March 31.—Naval officials said they had abandoned hope of rescuing the twenty-one men aboard the submarine F-4. They say their work is one of recovering the bodies and getting what salvage there may be in the vessel which they apparently believe is wrecked.

GARRISON WILL NOT RETIRE

Secretary Says He Has Had No Intimation of New Jersey Job.

TRENTON, N. J. — Secretary Garrison will not relinquish his position in the cabinet except with the acquiesance of President Wilson. He says he has no intimation from Governor Fielder that his name has been considered in connection with the chief justiceship of New Jersey nor has he conferred with the president relative to his retirement in the event of such a contingency arising.

John Crowell Is Dead.

ECHO OF OLD BANK FAILURE

His Former Cashier Is Accused by Burt Jenney.

LENNON, MICH. — An echo of the failure of the Burt Jenney bank here several years ago was heard here when a deputy sheriff of Cass county came and took back with him George Haffner. Haffner was formerly cashier of the Jenney bank here, and the charge against him is the signing of a number of notes which were transferred from Jenney's Lennon bank to his Dowagiac bank about the time of the failure. Though this was three years ago, complaint has only just been made against Haffner, who was cashier of the bank which succeeded Jenney's here for over two years.

His arrest is made on complaint of Jenney in Cass county, where Jenney is living, and when Haffner was taken back there twelve prominent citizens of this village went with him to assist him in fighting the charge.

WANT TO SEE IF ANY BODY GOT BIG FUND

Hunting Witnesses In Probe of $300,000 "Slush" Story.

LANSING, MICH. — The officials of the senate and house have been dispatched to Detroit and other Michigan points carrying subpoenas to be served on newspaper men and others who are wanted here this afternoon to attend the investigation that was commenced in conformity with a house and senate resolution which has for its purpose the clearing up of rumors of a $300,000 "slush fund," that the railroads, according to rumors, are credited with having put aside to further railroad legislation.

Auditor General Fuller created a little furor here when he announced that the resolution was not broad enough to warrant him indorsing expense vouchers.

Certain attorneys, who are connected with the railroads, will be asked to appear and explain some trips to Lansing, it is claimed. Many railroad officials have already signified their willingness to come without invitation

ANGELES NEW MEXICAN HEAD

Former Diaz General Latest Selection of Villa and Zapata.

U. S. TROOPS SENT TO BORDER

Situation at Brownsville, Tex., Becoming Serious, Says Funston—Wheels Turn In Mexico City and Obregon Is Moving Back on Job—British Ambassador Makes Complaint.

EL PASO, TEXAS.—General Felipe Angeles is to be named provisional president of Mexico by the convention representing the Villa-Zapata factions, which will meet in Mexico City in the course of ten days. With the naming of Angeles a supreme effort to secure recognition from the United States will be made. This is the information brought from Mexico City by persons who are close to the convention government.

According to the plan now being carried out Roque Gonzales Garza, who was the last provisional president appointed by the convention and who has retained his position to date, will be retired, Villa at the same time renouncing his claims to the dictatorship of that portion of the country under his control.

Angeles is a former Diaz general.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The war department this afternoon ordered three batteries of artillery to proceed from Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio, Tex., to Brownsville for duty, if necessary, in protecting the American city from danger growing out of the artillery battle between Villistas and Carranzistas across the river.

At the same time one regiment of infantry was ordered held in readiness at Texas City, Tex., fully equipped and ready to proceed to Brownsville at a moment's notice.

This action by the war department followed a dispatch from Major General Funston, in command of the United States forces on the Mexican border, in which he said the situation was serious and that the use of United States troops might be necessary.

Obregon Back to the Job.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The wheel in Mexico City is about to be given another turn and General Obregon may, soon succeed the Zapatistas in possession of the capital, according to advices received here.

Reports that the Zapatistas are to evacuate the city again were discussed with Secretary Bryan by Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador. The ambassador was considerably disturbed over the information he had indicating that the foreigners in Mexico City are once more to be exposed to the dangers of a city under no control.

British Alarmed Over Foreigners.

There is also some anxiety at the British embassy regarding foreigners in the Tampico area. The embassy has been assured that the United States will have ships there to provide a safe refuge for foreigners in case the situation becomes critical. The state department is advised that while there is still some fighting at Ebano, there is no immediate prospect of a battle at Tampico. The oil companies with properties near Ebano have already suffered considerable losses as a result of the operations of the contending forces and many oil tanks have been damaged.

Be Sure You Get This Old Reliable Cough Medicine

Imitations always follow the trail of success. Hundreds of imitations have come and gone since FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND began, 40 years ago, to loosen the grip of coughs and colds.

Be sure you get the genuine

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound

And avoid the names that sound like it.

Here are three easy ways to tell the genuine. 1st—The name of "Foley's." 2nd—The yellow package. 3rd—The Beehive on the yellow package. You cannot get a substitute to do for you what FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND will do—for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial and lagrippe coughs, throat and lung trouble. Buy it of your druggist and be safe.

TURK MINISTER SAYS WAR WILL END IN FALL

Thinks Germany Will not Fight Through Another Winter.

Paris, April 5.—A dispatch from Geneva to the Matin quotes Djavid Bey, the Turkish minister of finance, as saying:

"I am of the opinion that the war cannot last much longer, for the Germans will be unwilling to make a second winter campaign. I expect, therefore, a definite solution towards the end of October."

Djavid Bey, who arrived at Geneva from Berlin, talked freely to the French reporters. He said he had negotiated a loan of $30,000,000 in Berlin. He scoffed at the idea that the allies could force the Dardanelles or the Bosphorous. Turkey, he said, had never allowed the English to become acquainted with the new defense batteries, only the old forts, although the English were charged with training the Turkey fleet.

Bey expressed regret that his country was at war with her old friend France, but added, "Sentiment plays a small role in international diplomacy. While in Germany I was most struck with the savage hatred which every German showed for England. Hatred of England seems to have absorbed the whole nation's capacity of hatred, so nobody seemed to think of destroying France."

ADMITS VOTE FRAUD GUILT

Fred Morrison, Defendant in Terre Haute Cases, Quits.

Indianapolis, April 5.—Fred Morrison, one of the twenty-eight defendants in the trial of the Terre Haute election fraud case in the federal court, created a surprise when he asked to be permitted to plead guilty. Judge Anderson ordered the change.

Morrison was a city employe and had served as election inspector. A number of government witnesses testified he operated the lever on the voting machine and went behind the machine with the voters. The defendant on the witness stand denied both charges absolutely. The two Democratic members of the election board corroborated Morrison. One of these, William Davern, was charged with perjury and was held to the federal grand jury under bond of $5,000.

Receivers Named for Mill Plant.

Oshkosh, Wis., April 5.—The Paine company of Oshkosh, operating a sash and door factory, saw mill and veneer plant which is said to be among the largest enterprises of its kind in the world, has been placed in the hands of receivers by Judge Burnell in the circuit court. It is stated that the company has assets largely in excess of its liabilities.

Buys Carnegie Library Site.

Bloomington, Ind., April 5.—Bloomington's new $40,000 Carnegie library will be erected at Washington and Sixth streets on the lot formerly occupied by the colored schools. The lot was sold by the school trustees at public sale and was bid in by the library board for $12,000.

Farmer Dies of Injuries.

Goshen, Ind., April 5.—Benjamin Miller, sixty-four years old, farmer, died here of injuries sustained in a runaway when a colt he was driving took fright at a barking dog. Mr. Miller had planned to move to California in a few weeks.

SCHOOL ROW WILL NOT DOWN

Board May Have to Give Real Reasons for Ousting Superintendent.

Clio, Mich., April 5.—The patrons of the local schools are aroused over the charges John G. Chapel has made against the board of education, which he declares caused him to send his resignation to the board to take effect immediately. He charges that political and religious differences caused the board to ask him to resign at the close of the school year. He also declares that the grievances against his pedagogical services were not made known until after he became the Democratic nominee for county school commissioner.

The patrons of the school are demanding of the board the reasons for asking Chapel's resignation, but the board appears to be reluctant.

Aged Woman Found Dead.

Rochester, Mich., April 5.—Mrs. John Martin Wilcox, eighty-four years old, a resident of this city for more than sixty years, was found dead in bed in her home. She was the mother of ten children, and one of the best known residents of the vicinity.

Charges Slander, Asks $5,000.

Monroe, Mich., April 5.—James Todd, former supervisor of Ida township, has sued Frank Wenrich, a wealthy farmer, asking $5,000 for alleged slander. Todd declares Wenrich made statements reflecting on his business integrity.

Dogs For Food, $5 Each at Przemysl.

London, April 5.—The common soldiers and the populace were the only sufferers from starvation in Przemysl. The officers had abundant food, wines and cigars to the last, according to the Times' Przemysl correspondent. "In the last days," says the correspondent, "cats sold for $2 each and dogs for $5 for food purposes, as there was no more horseflesh left."

Finds Infant in Barn.

Lansing, Mich., April 5.—An abandoned girl baby, about twenty-four hours old, was found in his barn by Milan Bray, a farmer near here. There was $5 in bills pinned to the infant's clothing, and a bottle of milk wrapped beside it in a blanket.

EASTER IN THE CHURCHES

Easter dawned bright and beautiful and the breath of spring was in the air. Early in the morning of the first day of the week, the church bells pealed forth their joyful notes that told the glad tidings, Christ was risen from the dead.

At St. Peter's church, where but two days ago all was gloom, palms and flowers and the bright sunshine proclaimed the glad tidings, He is Risen The church was filled with an attentive audience, who joined in the service of praise and thanksgiving with earnest hearts. The music was inspiring throughout. The rector gave a brief sermon choosing as his theme, "Your happy Life." The vesper service was very interesting, the children of the Sunday school taking a leading part. The singing was exceptionlly fine. At 8 p. m. the rite of baptism was conferred on eight children The total offertory for the day was $263.29. $18.34 of which was given by the children for missions. Last year the total offertory was $130. The morning offertory this year applies on the debt for church and rectory repairs.

The 10 a. m. service at the Presbyterian church was full of the Easter spirit, both sermon and special music being given, Palms and flowers were used in decoration. An Easter service was given by the Sunday School at 11:15 with recitations and singing. The union service at this church was well attended, Rev. Rex had charge of the meeting and presented a number of cartoons relative to the local option movement. The special duets and solos during the morning services deserve special mention.

6 a. m. service at the M. E. church was well attended as was the 10 a. m. service, when a most delightful program was given by the children assisted by the choir, a solo by Mrs. E. Rosacrans, and an address by their pastor Rev. G. W. Jennings. Potted plants and flowers were used in decorating the church.

At the Friends' church the 10 a. m. service was conducted by the children with special exercises and music, Each one entering into the spirit of the day.

Every where in churches and homes Easter was fittingly observed.

RUNAWAY GIRL IS CAPTURED

Her Story Aimed to Start Betrayal Yarn Nipped in Bud.

Bloomington, Ind., April 5.—Asserting that she had been lured away from home by a man, but afterward admitting that her statement was not true, Lulu Patton, fourteen year old daughter of Winford Patton of Oolitic, was taken from a Monon train here by Joseph Hensley, superintendent of police, after her father had telephoned that his daughter was running away. Somebody had told him of his daughter's departure after she boarded the train at Bedford.

Lulu denied her identity and she said she was from New York city, but under questioning reversed her statement. She had $10 in her purse, which, she said, a Bedford man had given her. She changed this statement upon the arrival of A. L. Clark, a liveryman from her home town, who said the money belonged to her father. Clark took the girl back home.

MICHIGAN ALDERMAN IS NAMED IN OUTRAGE

Forces Dry Detective to Walk from Town Shoeless.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 5.—The battle between the wet and dry forces of Berrien county, which will vote on the question of local option Tuesday, reached an anti-climax when an investigator for the anti-saloon forces was forcibly compelled to leave town by the wets.

Prosecution of the men responsible for rough handling which the investigator received is threatened by the dry faction, but the opposing forces are in practical control of city and county administrations.

The young men gave the names of Joseph P. Burke, and W. E. Anderman and claimed to be from Chicago. Burke represented that he was here to take baths, but put in most of his time around the saloons.

The suspicions of Alderman George Bridgeman, one of the wet leaders, were aroused and he investigated. He says he found report sheets in Burke's room which showed him to be an operative for a detective agency.

After a council of war six of the leaders of the saloon forces met in a chop suey restaurant in company with Burke and Anderman. Two members of the party admitted that Burke was put through the "third degree" and confessed that he was employed to obtain evidence against the saloon forces.

SYLVESTER ERSKINE

The funeral of Sylvester Erskine was held at the home Monday afternoon, the burial service of the Episcopal church being given by Rev. F Hewitt. The Masonic fraternity attended in a body and acted as escort to the grave, where the impressive service of the order was given,

Mr. Erskine was a veteran of the Civil war, serving till its close For many years he conducted a barber shop in town until about 9 years ago his health failed him and he was obliged to give up business. For several years he has been an almost helpless invalid and death came as a welcome release from suffering and pain. His widow and two daughters, Mrs. Boyd Belcher and Louise Erskine, a granddaughter, Mary Isabel Belcher, with two brothers Frank Erskine of Adrian, and James Erskine of Missouri are left to mourn him.

WILL START WORK AT SOO

Regulation and Compensation Structure Will Cost $250,000.

SAULT STE. MARIE, MICH. — Superintendent L. H. Davis of the Michigan Northern Power company, announced that work on the regulating and compensation works above the rapids in St. Mary's river would be started April 1. The Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company will lay a sub-structure for the dam. The Penn Bridge company of Beaver Falls will have charge of the steel construction work in the superstructure of the compensating works.

These works will be used in regulating the flow of the water across St. Mary's Falls, the outlet of Lake Superior, and will keep the water level in the lakes at an even station. The contracts approximate $250,000.

KILLED IN STRANGE MISHAP

Inmate of Michigan Institution Gets Head Caught Between Bedposts.

Lapeer, Mich., April 5.—Joseph Thiry of Detroit, an inmate of the Michigan Home and Training school, met a tragic death here. His head was caught between the posts at the head of his bed and he was strangled.

Thiry was in bed when he had an epileptic convulsion. When his head was caught the rest of his body fell to the floor, suffocating him. Attendants came to the rescue, but it was too late. Thiry was 25 years old.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

CHARGES PLOT IN SWOBODA'S CASE

American Thinks French Army Grafters Fear Accused Man.

SEES FRAMEUP IN ARREST

Robert K. Maclea, Former Expert for Tariff Board, Charges That Samples and Prices Alleged Spy Carried to France Showed Up Rascality of Contract Ring.

Petrograd, April 5.—The Turkish protected cruiser Medjidieh has been sunk in the Black sea near Sabastopol, by striking a mine. The Medjidieh formed part of the sultan's squadron which has been attacking Russian coast towns since December. She took an active part in the Balkan war of 1912, being defeated by Greek warships in a battle in April 1912.

New York, April 5.—Raymond Swoboda is pictured as the victim of a business conspiracy rigged by a grafter's ring which has been cheating France by thousands and tens of thousands of dollars on war supplies. Robert K. Maclea, at one time textile expert for the tariff board and one of the American group for whom Swoboda went abroad, drew the picture.

"I am now absolutely convinced of Swoboda's innocence of the charge of causing the fire on La Touraine," said Mr. Mcclea, who went to Washington to ask the state department to investigate when the cables reported Swoboda's arrest in Paris. "I have had time to investigate more fully. The details of the case I do not feel that I ought to discuss pending the state department's own investigation which has been begun.

Declares Swoboda Native American.

"It has been reported, however, that Swoboda was born in San Francisco, as he stated in applying for his passport. Any accusation founded under the theory that he is a German spy is vitiated at the outset by that simple fact.

"This young man, with long established relations with French bankers of the first rank, believed that the present war certain to be considerably prolonged. He foresaw a remarkable opportunity for American manufacturers in France—not merely for the makers of munitions of war but for the makers of textiles and every sort of articles. When he sailed on La Touraine he took with him 900 samples of cloth, many of them from mills which I represent. He carried samples of almost every kind of product made in this country.

Hint Contract Ring Fears Him.

"He had enemies abroad. It is likely that the ring engaged in swindling France in war supplies would not view with equanimity the invasion of their field by a man representing American manufacturers prepared to sell in bulk and with only a reasonable profit. If they could put him out of business, don't you suppose they would do it.

"In proper time our government's own inquiries will show up this whole attack on Swoboda for what it is. The thing can't be hidden and the man 'railroaded' now."

Compels Austrians to Withdraw.

Vienna, April 5.—A statement issued by the war office says:

"The presence of large Russian reinforcements arriving from Permysl compelled the Austrian army to withdraw from the Beskid region."

French Take Village.

Paris, April 5.—The following official communique was issued by the war office:

"The day was calm on the whole front except in the Woevre, where our progress has continued. We have taken the village of Regnieville, two kilometers and a half (one and five eighths miles) west of Fay-en-Haye, which was occupied on April 1."

Says Allies Can't Stand Cost.

Paris, April 5.—The Echo de Paris quotes Herr Von Havenstein, president of the German Imperial bank as saying yesterday: "I reckon that neither Russia nor France will be able to support the war financially if it lasts a year from today."

REFUSES TO PAY $1,000 BALM

Man Against Whom Girl Got Verdict Languishes in Jail.

MONROE, WIS. — The La Branch-Herbst breach of promise case was recalled when Herbst, through his attorney, pleaded guilty to assault and battery on Charles Cousino, Miss La Branch's brother-in-law, and paid a fine of $7 and costs.

Herbst is lodged in jail here, having been surrendered by his bondsmen. He refuses to pay the $1,000 heart balm awarded by a jury recently.

Progenitor of Many Is Dead.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 5.—Greenbury Fields Burgess, ninety-five years old, is dead in Addison township. He was a wealthy farmer. He had married three times and was the father of nineteen children, being himself the last of a family of thirteen. His widow, five daughters and four sons survive.

Shooting Held Justified.

Peru, Ind., April 5.—The grand jury here failed to return an indictment against June Smith, colored, of Indianapolis, who killed John Brown, also colored. Brown was shot when he attacked Smith's sister here after being refused a meal.

LOSS CONFIRMED OF PRINS MARITS

Head of Dutch Mail Line Tells of Sea Plot.

ALL ON BOARD ARE DROWNED

Wireless Call Heard by Many Ships—Vessels to Rescue Fail to Find Trace of Liner in Distress—Passenger List Is Reported to Be a Light One.

New York, April 5.—Confirmation of the disaster to the Prins Maurits was received by R. D. Bettman, head of the freight department of the Royal Dutch West India mail line, in a wireless from its traveling inspector, A. A. Boom, who is aboard the Clyde liner Algonquin, due today at this port from Santo Domingo. Mr. Boom's message told how Algonquin, which caught the wireless appeal from the Prins Maurits, proceeded at once to the position given by the Dutch liner, about fifty miles east of Cape Henry. Other steamships that also had caught the distress call, were cruising in the vicinity, and none heard more nor saw anything of the Prins Maurits.

"Sinking Fast" Says Message.

The essential part of the message to Mr. Bettman ran: "Last wireless news from Prins Maurits showed that she was sinking fast. Nothing more about her since. Fear all hands are lost." The message was undated and untimed and Mr. Bettman said he had no theory about the foundering.

The Prins Maurits sailed hence on Thursday for Cape Haytian and Barimarito, Dutch Guinana, with four passengers and 2,000 tons of general merchandise. She was commanded by Capt. H. J. Van Der Goot, a veteran of the line, and had a crew of forty-five, including a stewardess. Her passengers were: Mrs. A. La Roche of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. H. P. Wallace of Philadelphia and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Mioto of Hayti.

The Prins Maurits measured 1,328 tons gross, was 284 feet long, 38 foot beam and 19.8 depth of hold. She was built at Hamburg in 1900. Ship and cargo were valued at about half a million dollars.

Tug Sinks, Fourteen Dead.

New York, April 5.—Charles H. Potter, manager of the Luckenbach Steamship company, owners of the ocean going tug, Edward Luckenbach, said he had received dispatches, somewhat indefinite in parts because of wire trouble, from the line's representative in Norfolk saying that the tug had been lost off Virginia, one barge was aground and two were at anchor. Two of the crew had been saved and fourteen had been lost.

Captain Eumstead was among the lost. He had been twelve years with the company and leaves a wife and children in Norfolk.

The Luckenbach left this port on Thursday evening for Norfolk with three barges.

CLASH IN BALKANS IS BELIEVED IMPENDING

Bulgarian Attack on Servia Is Viewed with Alarm.

London, April 5.—Latest reports from the Balkans indicate that a general clash is imminent at any moment. Bulgaria is practically on a war footing and the general hatred felt toward Servia and Greece throughout that country is becoming rapidly intensified. It is the impression here that unless some unexpected event occurs to prolong peace Bulgaria will soon be up in arms and fighting for Germany.

During the day the general aspect of the Balkan situation has changed speedily. Early dispatches from Rome said that the Bulgarian attack upon guardsmen along the Servian border was considered as a mere frontier incident, sufficiently serious in itself, but unlikely to lead to an open breach or war between the two countries.

This attack, according to information from Rome, is generally known to have been instigated by Germany with the hope of bringing on war between Servia and Bulgaria and thus making a complete Balkan alliance impossible.

Later dispatches from Sofia, however, and other available points in the Balkans said flatly that the situation was viewed with the greatest alarm and that all indications pointed unmistakably to the fact that decisive events are impending.

SHAKE DOWN PLOT CHARGED

Terre Haute Libel Suits Due to "Red Light" Stories.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 5.—Henry C. Price, an attorney, entered suit against Felix Blankenbaker, another attorney, asking $5,000 damages, and a similar suit against Don M. Nixon, publisher of the Spectator, a weekly paper, demanding the same amount, for alleged libel.

Some time ago Price announced that he had been engaged by a New York Hygiene association to proceed against owners of property in the "red light" district under the recently passed "landlord abatement act." It is alleged that Blankenbaker, in an interview, accused Price of an attempt to "shake down" residents of the district. The Spectator last week published affidavits of a number of women, asserting that Price had attempted to levy toll on them and owed them money, which he was seeking to avoid repaying.

Indiana Doctor Fined.

Franklin, Ind., April 5.—Dr. William Murphy of Morgantown pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery on Webb Zook of Henley township and was fined $200, after a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill was nolled. Zook was shot when the men quarreled over the sale of some straw.

MONDAY ELECTION

DRY PLURALITY REACHES NEARLY 2000, WHILE HART GETS ABOUT 1600

Republican ticket wins in all parts of the County except Raisin.

Yesterday's election in Lenawee County called out a big vote everywhere. The Local Option question and a sharp contest on judgeship were the principal reasons for the big vote. Late reports give the Drys a plurality of about 2000 over the Wets and Hart about 1600 over Chandler.

Our local vote was [illegible], the largest in the history of Tecumseh township, excepting the period when the car shops were located here. All day the polls were crowded and the interest lagged only when the news of Jack Johnson's defeat reached town. A full republican ticket was elected in Tecumseh. The board of supervisors will be controlled by republicans.

Tecumseh township gives the Drys a plurality of 30 votes. The west precinct gave the Drys a majority of 45 while the east went wet by 15. The City of Adrian from last reports gives the Wets a majority of [illegible] votes.

MAY DENY FLATIRON MURDER

Lewis Likely to Repudiate Alleged Confession When Arraigned.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 5.—That Vernie Alphonse Lewis, who is said to have confessed killing Mrs. W. C. Balding and three children with a flatiron, will be brought to Vigo county for arraignment this week is indicated here.

Announcement recently was made by Albert R. Owens, an attorney of this city, that he had been engaged by Mrs. Lizzie Blacketer, mother of Lewis, to conduct his defense. In view of this fact Prosecutor Werneke said that he expected Lewis would repudiate his confession and enter a plea of not guilty when arraigned. It is also reported that Owens is planning to make a plea of insanity for his client.

CLOSES LOAN ASSOCIATION

Too Much Borrowing Among Members Supposed Cause of Failure.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 5.—A certain element of secrecy seems to have entered the affairs of the Battle Creek Building and Loan company, a supposedly reliable corporation that was closed by the state pending investigation. The most persistent reports are that officials have been guilty of loaning funds to themselves.

The association is one of the largest organizations of the kind in the state. Its last report, June 30, 1914, showed $235,205 in prepaid stock, with 7,382 shares of $50 each in force. There are 264 investing members and 90 borrowing members, and last year it paid a dividend of 5½ per cent on its capital stock in force.

Cattle Exhibit to Be Limited.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 5.—The Wisconsin state board of agriculture has decided that no cattle from outside the state will be allowed to exhibit at the 1915 state fair, on account of fear of transmission of the hoof and mouth disease.

Making Matches.

The manufacture of matches is a complicated and elaborate process, in which are used a succession of ingenious machines and devices which must work at all times with the utmost precision and delicacy. It is now possible to turn out from a single dipping machine about 600,000 square matches an hour. A green log is made into matches and packed for shipment in less than two hours.

Johnnie's Excuse.

"Why don't you say 'Thank you Johnnie, when you are handed anything?" said Mrs. Brown at the table. "Your sister always says it."

"Yes," replied little Johnnie, "she's a woman and always wants to have the last word."—Exchange.

An Optimist.

"I am going to buy a raven," a gentleman informed his neighbor.

"Really?" rejoined the latter. "What for?"

"I want to see if these birds really do live 300 years, as people say!"—Westminster Gazette.

Mean Trick.

"George, father has failed."

"That's just like him! I told you all along, darling, that he was going to do all he could to keep us from being married!"—Exchange.

Very Much So.

"Didn't you think the operatic prima donna had an unusually high voice?"

"I should say she had! My seat cost me $5!"—Baltimore American.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Light as a Feather

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Baking Powder Biscuits made by this recipe are so far ahead of ordinary baking powder biscuits that, if once tried, you will never use any other recipe. Try it the next time you run short of bread. Save this recipe. 29

K C Baking Powder Biscuits

Three cups flour; ¼ to ½ cup shortening; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; about 1 cup milk or water; 1 teaspoonful salt.

Sift three times, the flour, salt and baking powder. Work into the flour the shortening, using lard or butter for shortening. Then mix to a very soft dough with the milk. The softer the biscuit enters the oven, the lighter it comes out. Never knead baking powder biscuits; press the dough into shape and roll lightly. Cut in small shapes and bake on a sheet or very shallow pan in a hot oven. In placing biscuits in the pans place well apart, not allowing edges to touch. Small biscuits are better than large ones. Large biscuits do not have the proper amount of time to raise and bake.

Have you seen the new K C Cook's Book? Brimful of appetizing recipes that simply must be successful every time if the few simple directions are carefully followed. You would gladly pay 50 cents for this valuable book, yet we send it absolutely free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder. JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago. Small cans do not have Cook's Book certificates.

ECHO OF OLD BANK FAILURE

His Former Cashier Is Accused by Burt Jenney.

Lennon, Mich., March 29.—An echo of the failure of the Burt Jenney bank here several years ago was heard here when a deputy sheriff of Cass county came and took back with him George Haffner. Haffner was formerly cashier of the Jenney bank here, and the charge against him is the signing of a number of notes which were transferred from Jenney's Lennon bank to his Dowagiac bank about the time of the failure. Though this was three years ago, complaint has only just been made against Haffner who was cashier of the bank which succeeded Jenney's here for over two years.

His arrest is made on complaint of Jenney in Cass county, where Jenney is living, and when Haffner was taken back there twelve prominent citizens of this village went with him to assist him in fighting the charge.

Freight earnings showed a falling off of $8,013. Total earnings $321,-501, an increase of $2,746. Passenger earnings for the three weeks ending March 21 showed an increase of $13,169 over last year. Total earnings of the period were $947,769, an increase of $312.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many A Tecumseh Household Will Find Them So

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Tecumseh readers

A C Aylesworth, W. Chicago St, Tecumseh, says: "About four years ago I had a acute attack of lumbago, and my kidneys were disordered I at length heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and procuring a supply at C. A. Wright & Son's Drug Store, I began using them. In a short time I was relieved. I have had no return attack of the trouble I hope other kidney sufferers will read my statement and be led to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

SAGINAW, MICH. — Charles W. Kimbrough, the negro sentenced for slaying and burning little Rose Laundry, has been placed in a cell at the penitentiary. His attorney, Robert J. Curry, will not attempt to secure a new trial.

Drops Dead While at Work.

MUSKEGON, MICH. — Orin F. Rodgers, fifty-two years old, dropped dead while at work in a local manufacturing firm here. Death was due to apoplexy. Rodgers was vice president of the Muskegon Mill Men's union.

AGED PAIR SAVED FROM FIRE

Carried Through Flames Out of Danger by Neighbors.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — Trapped in their burning cottage early in the morning, Johannes Dykstra, aged eighty-nine years, and his wife escaped death through the bravery of Sam Dykstra and Jacob Dewitt, who carried them through the flames to safety. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dykstra were taken to St. Marys hospital. The wife may recover, but little hope is held for the husband. Jacob Dykstra, a neighbor, who discovered the fire and aided in the rescue, also was badly burned.

HOW TO CURE A CHRONIC COUGH

Told in the Following Letter by a Jackson Man Who Knows from Experience. His Word Is Good.

Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the grippe left me not only with a chronic cough, but I was run-down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrups but they did me no good. I finally got so weak I was not able to do a day's work, and coughed so much I was alarmed about my condition. One evening I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Before I had taken a quarter of a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles my cough is entirely cured, all the bad symptoms have disappeared and I have gained new vim and energy." —JOHN L. DENNIS, 711 Lynch Street, Jackson, Miss.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because the active medicinal principles of cod liver oil contained in Vinol rebuilds wasting tissues and supplies strength and vigor to the nerves and muscles while the tonic iron and wine assist the red corpuscles of the blood to absorb oxygen and distribute it through the system, thus restoring health and strength to the weakened, diseased organs of the body.

If Vinol fails to help you, we return your money.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND

Noted Roman Catholic Pre-[illegible] of St. Pa[illegible] Very Ill.

ST. PAUL, MINN. — Archbishop Ireland, it is announced, is suffering a general breakdown from overwork. The famous churchman became indisposed shortly after the opening of St. Paul's Cathedral Sunday. The opening of the pile had been a dream of the archbishop's for forty years. He is over seventy years old.

PASSENGERS DIE, GET NO WARNING

125 Including Crew Victims of German Submarine.

LONDON, ENGLAND — The Elder Dempster company, owner of the Elder line of steamers, of which the West African liner Falaba was one, announce that apparently about 125 persons lost their lives by the sinking of the vessel. The Germans made no effort to save any of the survivors, it was declared by the skipper of the Eileen Emma. A telegram from Cardiff said that sixty-two first class and thirty-four second class passengers have been saved and that nothing is known of the fate of nearly fifty more passengers. Only forty-six members of the Falaba's crew of nearly 120 have been landed at Cardiff.

Officials of the Elder line here privately expressed the fear that many of the liner's crew went down with her when she was sunk by a German torpedo. Several are known to have been killed by the explosion that wrecked her engine room. It is now believed that other boat loads of passengers and crew were thrown into the water by the capsizing of their boats and went to the bottom.

Thirteen men of the crew of the Liverpool steamer Aguila were killed or drowned when the Aguila was torpedoed off Bishop islands, according to a dispatch received here from Fishguard. The submarine commander gave the crew four minutes in which to leave the ship, but shot a torpedo while the boats were being put over the sides. The chief engineer and the boatswain were instantly killed by the explosion and eleven others were either killed outright or were thro[illegible] the water and d[illegible]d.

BUGGY HEAD IS CONVICTED

Jury Finds Frank B. Lay Guilty of Embezzlement.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 5.—Guilty as charged was the verdict of the jury which tried Frank B. Lay Jr., former vice president of the Michigan Buggy company, upon a charge of embezzlement. The jury was out but a few minutes. Lay, who had expected an acquittal, looked dazed when the verdict was announced.

Lay, who for many years was a prominent society leader, was indicted by a grand jury following the collapse of the buggy company, of which he was an official. His brother and father, also officials of the company, are under indictment. The indictment followed the discovery of a "velvet payroll," created secretly by the officials, through which each one of the company drew out $25,000 per year in extra salary.

ASK RECEIVER FOR RAILROAD

Georgia and Florida Unable to Meet Its Debts, Says Application.

AUGUSTA, GA. — W. R. Sullivan and H. R. Warfield of New York and J. M. Wilkinson of Valdosta, Ga., were appointed receivers of the Georgia and Florida railway, on joint application of the Baltimore Trust company and officials of the road before Superior Court Judge Hammond. The petition said the railroad had not paid the interest on the bonds since May, 1913. The action is described as friendly.

Aluminium Bronze.

Aluminium bronze was invented by the French chemist Deville in 1859 and was used experimentally for the manufacture of domestic utensils and articles of jewelry. It has the color of gold and retains its brilliancy, not being attacked by salt water or the atmosphere. It consists of 10 per cent of aluminium to 90 of copper. It has tenacity of Bessemer steel and when heated is easily forged and rolled.

NO INFORMATION ON PEACE

Washington Ignorant of Basis of Belief for Peace in Thirty Days.

Washington, March 29.—No information of a positive character has reached Washington with regard to the date of peace in Europe. Officials here declare that they are unaware of whatever information it is that has reached Philadelphia bankers leading them to conclude that the war will be over within thirty days.

Estimates here as to the probable length of the war are as widely varying now as in the first weeks of the great conflict. They range all the way from predictions that the bulk of the fighting will end this summer to the belief that the war will go on for several years.

BAD CHECK CHARGE IS SQUARED BY STUDENT

University Officials Seek to Eliminate Great Abuse.

ANN ARBOR, MICH. — Karl Bronson of L[illegible], [illegible]ormer U. of M. student, arrested on complaint of Charles Preketes, charged with passing a worthless check, was released after reimbursing Preketes and paying the court costs of $4.15. Preketes withdrew the complaint.

When Bronson arrived here last fall he opened a check account in the First National bank. Shortly afterward he drew most of his money. Later four checks were given on that account to shop keepers, say the police, which were returned for lack of funds. Bronson declared that these checks were forgeries.

The police have worthless checks in their possession signed by several names, which students declare to be forgeries.

There has been a regular epidemic of bad checks signed by students in the university, floated on the merchants here, say the police. One State street merchant says he has fifteen. The police and the university officials are trying to eliminate the practice of students' overdrawing on their bank accounts. There has already been one suspension.

STEAMER STRIKES A SHOAL

Wauketa Delayed an Hour With 400 Passengers on Board.

DETROIT, MICH.—Aground on her first trip of the season, the steamer Wauketa of the White Star line, with about 400 persons aboard, was held for about an hour off the Country club, Gross Pointe. Residents along the river in the vicinity of Grosse Pointe reported that the river apparently was clear of ice. The Wauketa struck a shoal on her downward trip, her pilot being confused by the blinding snow flurries and the lack of beacons to mark his course.

The trip up the St. Clair Flats and Algonac was without event, and upon arrival of the steamer at the former point she was greeted with a salvo from a medley of firearms and the beating of tin pans and other noise producing instruments, in honor of the season's first voyage.

VILLA IS FORCING SECOND BIG LOAN

Serious Trouble from Foreigners at Monterey Expected.

REBEL FEATHERING HIS NEST

Former Bandit, Under Pretense of Getting Contributions for "Poor," Uses Cash for War Purposes—He Is Fabulously Rich Now and Contributes Nothing.

Washington, April 5.—Serious trouble may be provoked between the Villa au[illegible]ities at [illegible] and the American and other foreign residents of that city, according to reports reaching Washington, as a result of the attempts to get large sums of money from the foreign as well as Mexican business men.

Advices received indicate that a second forced contribution has been demanded of the business men by the Villaistas. The first was asked for in the name of "the poor," but it is reported that the second forced contribution is designated openly as a war loan. According to the understanding of the situation here, the funds of both the loans for "the poor" and the "war loans" are devoted to identical purposes, both going for the purchase of munitions of war with only a small margin for the poor.

Villa personally imposed the first contribution for the poor and informed the foreigners that they would have to pay just the same as the Mexicans. Protests from the American and British governments, however, resulted in the foreigners being exempted.

Nobody Exempted.

It is now proposed by the Villaistas, according to advices, that no one shall be exempted from the payment of the war loan. This is certain to evoke fresh protests from Washington. Owing to the difficulties of communication between here and Monterey, it is thought likely that to get word to Consul Hanna at Monterey will require considerable time. The dispatches thus far received about the situation at Monterey are very meager, owing to the censorship and the telegraphic difficulties.

The last report received here stated that the Germans at Monterey were paying the war loan but that the Americans and British have refused thus far.

Villa Enriching Himself.

With respect to war loans and enforced contribution it has been suggested that Villa devote to the poor the proceeds of some of his enterprises. It is understood that Villa and his brother control the gambling concessions and other privileges of a similar character, while Villa controls a packing house in Juarez. While the latter is operated under the name of the State of Chihuahua, it is regarded generally as Villa's personal enterprise. All information received here from Mexico indicates that Villa is personally handling a good deal of money and foreigners are unable to see why it is not reasonable that he devote some of it to the relief of the poor rather than call on business men whose enterprises have been almost ruined by the troubles in Mexico.

GERMANS SINK ITALIAN SHIP

Reported Destruction of Luigi Parodi Causes Bitter Feeling in Genoa.

ROME — A report reached here that the steamer Luigi Parodi, carrying a cargo of coal from Baltimore, was shelled and sunk by a German submarine. The report has not been officially confirmed. The Luigi Parodi is an Italian steamer of 4,137 tons. Her port of registry is Genoa. She was built in 1891 and is 360 feet in length.

The report has caused a profound impression in Genoa, and there are many expressions of resentment. Nothing is known as to the fate of the crew of the Luigi Parodi, which was made up entirely of Genoese.

ROBERTS AND OTHERS GUILTY

Twenty-Seven Convicted in Terre Haute Vote-Fraud Cases.

INDIANAPOLIS — All the twenty-seven defendants, including Mayor Donn M. Roberts, in the Terre Haute election-fraud cases, were found guilty by a jury. The case has been on trial in the federal court here since March 8.

Judge Anderson instructed the twenty-seven men found guilty as well as the eighty-nine who had pleaded guilty, to go to their homes and return to court April 12, when sentences will be pronounced on all.

ITALY IS MASSING TROOPS

All Houses on Austrian Border Occupied by Soldiers.

CHIASSO, SWITZERLAND — The assembling of Italian troops on the Austrian frontier is continuing with the greatest activity. All houses of peasants in the districts bordering the confines affected have been occupied by soldiers. It is learned that still more important military activity is under way.

Information on this point is refused transmission by the Italian censors.

RESEARCH CIRCLE

Tuesday evening about 125 members and guests of the Research Circle assembled in the Methodist church parlors to celebrate the twenty-first birthday of the Circle. The parlors were very prettily decorated with potted plants and presented a very homelike appearance.

Shortly after 6:30 with Mrs McLachlin presiding at the piano, the company marched into the dining room and took their places at the tables which were elaborately trimmed in the club colors "green and white." The center table held a large birthday cake with 21 candles and was cut by the two oldest members of the Circle, that is the two ladies who had been members of the Circle for the longest period, Mrs. Andrew Wilson and Mrs. John Belcher.

A three course supper was served by young ladies and piano music was given during the serving of the supper by Hessie Orr and Edna Taylor. At the close of the supper the following program was given with Mrs. Milburn Keyser as Toastmistress:

Piano Solo—Ethel Keyser, which was enjoyed by all.

The President, Mrs. Andrew Taylor with a few pleasing remarks, welcomed the Circle and guests to the celebration.

Violin Solo—Lynn Rogers, accompanied by Mrs. Ella Hodges.

Toast, "The Mother", was given by Mrs. James Kennedy, who was a charter member of the Circle. She referred to the mother of the Circle, Mrs. Chas. Burridge Sr., who was the originator of the club, and whom all who came in contact with her in club work loved.

Toast "The Child", Mrs. Andrew Wilson She told of the childlife of the club up to the age of ten years, of its work and accomplishments during that time.

Then followed a vocal solo by one of the Junior members of the Circle, Edna Taylor, who is always willing to assist the Circle in any way possible.

Toast, "Coming of Age", was given by Mrs. Ernest Pangborn, who told of the growth and work of the Circle during its "teens" and reaching the most wonderful time of any child's life, its "twenty-first birthday." She also gave some good advice for the Circle to use in the future, now that it was a full grown child,

"Our Absent Members" was given by Mrs. Belcher and she brought to mind many of the faces of members, some who are living in scattered parts of our United States, and some who have passed over the river to their Eternal home. This toast was especially interesting to those who were members many years ago when the Circle was young.

Vocal Solo, "Firelight Faces" was given by Mrs. Eugene Rosecrans accompanied by Mrs. Hodges and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Recitation, "The Little Wild White Rose",—Mrs. John Kingan, accompanied at the piano by Mrs McLachlin.

Music, "Till we meet again", by the Circle and guests.

The President then bade the guests goo[illegible]

SAYS CHECKS WERE FORGED

Student in University of Michigan Scandal Offers Alibi.

HILLSDALE, MICH. — Karl M. Bronson, student at Hillsdale college and formerly of the University of Michigan, recently charged by Charles Preketes with passing a worthless check, said that he had in his possession several affidavits from fellow students proving that he was in Hillsdale on the day the transaction is said to have taken place at Ann Arbor.

Bronson's father is here and has announced his intention of bringing charges against Preketes for the difficulty in which his son was involved.

POLE TERRORIZES SYRIANS

Angered by Remark on His Eastern Celebration He Goes on Rampage.

LANSING, MICH. — Joe Siblick a Pole, angered at something a Syrian family on the floor above his said about his Easter celebration, entered their home armed with a revolver. He frightened the Syrians so badly that they hid under beds and shrieked. Cries brought neighbors whom Joe held at bay by shooting through the door into the hallway. All of his bullets went wide.

For three hours Joe controlled the situation, when the police broke in the door. It took three of them to arrest him.

MICHIGAN IS SWEPT BY DRYS

Fourteen Out of Sixteen Counties Vote Local Option.

DETROIT, MICH. — Incomplete returns indicate that the drys have won a tremendous victory in Michigan. Bitter campaigns have been waged in sixteen counties, twelve of which were wet. Claims of the drys that they have won in fourteen of the sixteen counties are being verified by returns.

According to latest returns the results are; Dry—Alger, Berrien, Calhoun, Eaton, Emmet, Genesee, Iron, Kalamazoo, Lapeer, Lenowee, Mason, Oakland, Sanilac and Tuscola. Wet—Chippewa and Grand Traverse.

KILLED IN STRANGE MISHAP

Inmate of Michigan Institution Gets Head Caught Between Bedposts.

LAPEER, MICH. — Joseph Thiry of Detroit, an inmate of the Michigan Home and Training School, met a tragic death here. His head was caught between the posts at the head of his bed and he was strangled.

Thiry was in bed when he had an epileptic convulsion. When his head was caught, the rest of his body fell to the floor, suffocating him. Attendants came to the rescue, but it was too late. Thiry was 25 years old.

EARLY SPRING

Reception Given by Mrs. John J. Freeman in Honor of Her Daughter Mrs. Albert M. Reason, London, Ontario.

NINETY GUESTS CALLED

Mrs. John J. Freeman delightfully entertained at Afternoon Tea on Wednesday, April 7th, in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Albert E. Reason, London, Ontario.

The lights shaded with dainty green gave an added charm to the decorations of dainty spring flowers—Easter lilies and bouquets of pink tulips being used in the reception room where Mrs. Freeman and her daughter received their guests. Mrs. Freeman's corsage bouquet was Mauve sweet peas and Mrs. Reason's, Richmond roses.

A huge bowl of daffodils decorated the living-room.

The tea-room was most attractive, the table being centered with a rustic basket of golden daffodils with feathery fern festooning. The chandelier, green shaded candles shed a soft light from side-board and china cabinet.

Mrs. R. N. Lowe ushered the guests to the tea-room where Mrs. F. B. Wood presided at the coffee urn and Mrs. Richard Mead cut the ices.

Charming assistants were Mrs. Leon Rosecrans, Mrs. Donald Wright and Mrs. Herbert Temple.

Little Miss Catherine Reason opened the door for the guests and in the library Master Freeman Reason furnished music on the Victrola throughout the afternoon.

About ninety guests called.

MONDAY CLUB

The regular meeting of the Monday club met at the usual time and place with a fine attendance. Mrs. J. J. Freeman was leader of the program the topic being "Roman Day." Mrs. Jennie C. Law Hardy gave a very delightful and and instructive talk on "St. Peters and the Vatican" which was doubly interesting from the fact that she spoke from personal observation.

At the close of her talk a number of views of St. Peters and the Vatican were shown by the Radiopticon. Two new members were voted in, Mrs. Ernest Pangburn and Mrs. Jas. Smith. The next will be the closing meeting of the season, and will be held at the home of Mrs. F. S. Turner.

SCHOOL ROW WILL NOT DOWN

Board May Have to Give Real Reasons for Ousting Superintendent.

CLIO, MICH. — The patrons of the local schools are aroused over the charges John G. Chapel has made against the board of education, which he declares caused him to send his resignation to the board to take effect immediately. He charges that political and religious differences caused the board to ask him to resign at the close of the school year. He also declares that the grievances against his pedagogical services were not made known until after he became the Democratic nominee for county school commissioner.

The patrons of the school are demanding of the board the reasons for asking Chapel's resignation, but the board appears to be reluctant.

FREEMONT MAN BADLY HURT

Auto Turns Over in Ditch Near Muskegon When Knuckle Breaks.

MUSKEGON, MICH. — Suffering serious injuries, Charles Johnson of Fremont, is at Hackley hospital as the result of an automobile accident seven miles north of here, in which the car turned turtle twice.

Johnson, with Thomas Gilbert, W. E. Peterson and W. R. Phillips, was returning to his home in Fremont when the steering knuckle broke. The front wheels of the car turned at right angles, throwing the machine into the ditch. Johnson's companions were thrown clear of the car and escaped injury, but he was pinned to his seat by the steering post.

UNPLEASANT ACCIDENT

While the High School boys were engaged in a game of ball Tuesday afternoon, Harold Lowry was the victim of a very painful accident when he and Harold McClure came in sudden contact. Harold Lowry sustained a broken nose and Harold McClure was knocked senseless for a short time. As Harold Lowry has lately undergone an operation for the removal of adenoids his accident is particularly unfortunate.

FRIDAY APRIL 9, 1915

50 years ago today, Gen'l Lee of the Confederate army made an unconditional surrender to the army of the Republic, which was the culmination of four years of suffering, privation, and sacrifice by both the boys in the blue and the grey, who were associated in the horrors of the Civil war. How bravely our boys in blue endured all this for their country's good, that our nation might be preserved and stand as a pattern to other nations—that peace and prosperity might ever be ours.

Today we give all honor to those that have made all these things possible on this 50th anniversary of Lee's surrender and the closing of the war that had wrought so much for our country's good. Today we stand a united country with peace and prosperity on every hand—"The land of the free, and the home of the brave."

The Tribe of War-Time Penmen

Most of our American newspapers and public men, are showing good sense in their dealing with war issues and are not bothering about the ill-tempered attacks upon the United States that are appearing with almost equal frequency and virulence in the German and the English press. There are journalists, even in the fighting countries, whose utterances show something of the reasonableness of normal times But generally speaking, the journalism of countries engaged in fierce war cannot contribute anything to a sane international public opinion. The attacks of some of the English editors upon the United States are not worth considering. It would have been rather fortunate if the whole tribe of English writers of books, pamphlets, and newspaper articles upon the war had been sent at once to the trenches, along with the writers of France. They are the victims of a kind of mania, and should not be taken seriously. Obviously the same thing is true of a number of writers in Germany. The soldiers and the men of action are not malignant. Ferocity is largely confined to the scribblers, who manufacture many of the atrocity stories in order to fan the flames of hatred. France sets the better example.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for April.

WAR AND NATIONAL ANTHEMS

Some one, with an interest in dates, has just discovered that the national anthems are given as follows;

"God Save the King," 1740; "Marseillaise," 1792; "Brabaconne," 1830; "Die Wacht am Rhein," 1854; Austrian Hymn, 1797; while "God Save the Czar," was composed by Alex Lwoof about the middle of the last century. And this list does not mention "Tipperary," and "Get Out and Get Under," which have proved the most popular of the marching songs of the allies.

Probably the only country that can boast a national anthem that has stood the test of time is Japan, with a record of over 700 years. It is very doubtful if the national hymns of the countries now at war will be useful for patriotic purposes or have any special significance after 700 years.

Already it has been pointed out to the Germans that the splendid, thrilling "Wacht am Rhein" has lost much of its meaning because of changes in that country's boundaries; while in England and Russia there are a good many citizens who believe that God has no interest in saving the king or czar while the poorest peasant is being used as cannon fodder.

And in the meantime no war songs are being written, no poetry that lauds the bravery and daring of battle or aims to stir the pulses of the patriotic—a most unusual condition for war times which have always been prolific of patriotic poems, and the inevitable conclusion is that,

"False is the war no poet sings." Ex

ICE JAM THREATENS TO CAUSE OVERFLOW

Southeast Wind Starts Huge Mass from Lake Huron.

PORT HURON, MICH. — The final break in the ice bridge which has been holding thousands of acres of ice back in Lake Huron, came in the afternoon about 1 o'clock. St. Clair river is filled with a slowly moving, grinding mass of ice.

The southeast wind relieved the pressure of the bridge. If south winds continue, vast quantities of ice will be blown over on to the Canadian shore, while a north wind will keep it going down stream.

The cakes of ice are so large that it is feared that the channel will become blocked at the canal at the Flats.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

A Ring and A Letter

The Latter Was More Valuable Than the Former

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

Going to my room at my hotel one morning after breakfast, I was surprised to see a young lady coming out I glanced at the number on the door, wondering if I were not about to make a mistake. No; there were the figures 24, and No. 24 was my room.

"Where are you going, sir?" she asked haughtily.

"Into my room."

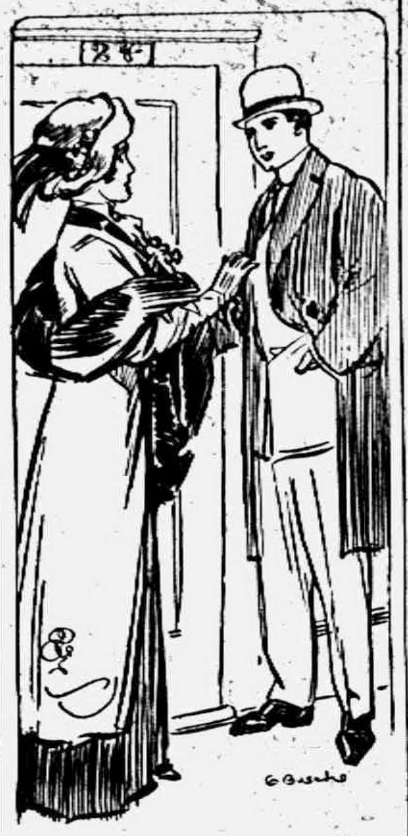
"Your room?"

"Yes, my room."

"I beg your pardon, this is my room."

"I beg to differ with you."

The young lady was becoming angry. Her cheeks flushed, and her eyes flashed. At that period of my life a pretty girl showing fight was an attractive object to me. Now, an elderly woman under the same circumstances is just the reverse. I was amused at this young lady's heat, especially since I knew she was wrong.



"WHERE ARE YOU GOING, SIR?"

"What is the number of your room?" I asked her.

"No. 24."

"Are you sure?"

"Yes, of course I'm sure. Don't you suppose I know the number of my room?"

What should I do? I couldn't very well go into the room with the lady to investigate matters. Noticing a speaking tube for the use of the employees of the hotel, I said to the girl:

"Suppose you ask the clerk to give you the number of your room."

"I'll do no such thing. Do you suppose I'm going to let him think I've lost my senses?"

"Perhaps I am the one that is mistaken. I'll ask him myself."

I stepped to the tube, whistled, and receiving attention, said:

"Give me the number of my room, Eldridge."

The young lady was not so far from the tube but that she could hear the reply:

"No. 24, Mr. Eldridge."

The young girl's look of astonishment was very amusing. She came for the tube like a whirlwind, scarcely giving me time to get out of her way.

"What's the number of Miss Chalmers' room?" she asked.

"What name?"

"Chalmers—Marian Chalmers."

"One moment, please."

The girl waited impatiently while the clerk was evidently consulting the records. Presently the reply came:

"Miss Chalmers' room is 34."

I have never seen a madder girl. Without a word to me she strode to a staircase and disappeared. I went into my room. There was nothing of mine in it except a suit case, and that was where it would not be noticed. On the porcelain washstand was a ring and beside it a letter addressed in a feminine hand to Charles P. Atwood, U. S. A. It was sealed and stamped, ready for the post. I was not willing to trust my reputation in the hands of so impetuous a person, so, catching up both, ring and letter, I hurried downstairs and gave them to the clerk for safe keeping. I told him the circumstances connected with my turning them in and asked him not to notify Miss Chalmers of their receipt till I asked him to do so.

"When the young lady misses them I think we shall have a cyclone." I remarked.

"Quite probably," he said, with a smile.

I returned to my room and had not been there ten minutes when I received a message from the clerk that Miss Chalmers would like to meet me in the public parlor at once. I gave her a little time to cool, then went to the parlor.

"Through my mistake," she said, "I left a letter and a ring in your room. Will you kindly give them to me?"

"Here is the key to the room. You may go or send there to recover your property."

"Please do give me the letter," she said in a pleading tone. "You may keep the ring."

This was adding insult to injury, but it did not irritate me in the slightest. If thus insulted by a man I would have turned on my heel and left him. But I was becoming every moment charmed with this wayward creature.

"You are inclined to be complimentary," I replied.

There was something connected with the letter that deprived Miss Chalmers of any reasonableness she may have possessed in her calmer moments. She plunged deeper into the quicksand.

"Do tell me if you have posted my letter."

"I assure you that I have not done anything of the kind."

This seemed to give her some relief. "I'll do this for you," I said. "I'll go to my room and if I find anything there belonging to you I'll bring it to you."

"Will you? Oh, how kind! I knew you for a gentleman the moment I laid eyes on you."

"Indeed!" I replied with difficulty, restraining a smile.

In order to preserve the letter if not the spirit of truth, I went to my room, then to the hotel office and asked the clerk to give me the ring. He did so, and I returned with it to the young lady, who was impatiently waiting for me.

"Here is your ring," I said, handing it to her.

"The letter?"

"It is not there."

"Oh, heavens!" she moaned.

I don't pretend to excuse myself for my action on this occasion, except on the ground that "all's fair in love and war." And this excuse may be far-fetched. From the lady's action, I fancied that this Mr. Atwood was an object of interest to Miss Chalmers, and my own interest in her was developing with lightning rapidity.

"Are you quite sure," I asked, "that you did not post it?"

"No, I did not, thank goodness, but I nearly did. I put it into a letter box, but I held on to one corner and didn't drop it."

"Are you fearful of its reaching the wrong person?" I asked, throwing sympathy into my voice.

"I'm fearful of its reaching the right person."

"Can't you write a letter recalling it?"

"The person for whom it was intended starts for the Philippines tomorrow morning. But that isn't the chief difficulty in the way. To recall it would expose a contemptible fickleness."

"A lady is always privileged to change her mind, you know."

"If she says 'No' a change may be excusable, but if she says 'Yes' it's a very different matter."

My conscience, which should have restrained me in holding this advantage over the girl and permitting her to tell her affairs to a stranger, was really growing weaker all the while under the excuse I have offered, for I was becoming very anxious to discover whether all was fixed between my charmer and this army man. Her last statement was a dead giveaway. It was now plain to me that the letter in question was an acceptance and that that acceptance was regretted. Such being the case, the pleasure I had taken in tormenting her ceased, and I began to plan how I could return her property without incriminating myself.

"I have an idea," I said, pretending to think very hard.

"About what?" she asked eagerly.

"What has become of your letter."

"Do tell me."

"No; should I be mistaken you will meet with a disappointment. Remain here for a few minutes while I make an investigation."

She followed me eagerly with her eyes as I left the room. I went to the clerk of the hotel and asked him to take the letter I had given him to Miss Chalmers' room and leave it on the dresser. He assented, and on his return I asked him to send a maid to the room and bring it to me. When the maid did so I took her with me to the parlor and told her to give it to Miss Chalmers.

The look of relief on the lady's face was a sight to behold.

"Where did you find it?" she asked the maid.

"On the dresser in room 34, miss."

"Are you sure?"

"Yes, miss."

"I can explain it," I said, continuing my Ananias performance. "When you met me this morning you were very much rattled. Indeed, you said some very unkind things to me."

"Forgive me."

"You must have thought you left the letter in my room, whereas it was all the while on your dresser."

"I wonder if I did."

"I am certainly very happy to be the instrument for the return of that which you seem to prize so highly."

"I wish I could reward you for your kindness and make up for my horrid treatment of you."

"You can."

"How?"

"By permitting this episode to result in a permanent acquaintance."

"I am pleased to do so. I live in Chicago, and if you are ever in that city I should be happy to have you call on me."

"I go there frequently."

I had never been there in my life, but this was the only truth I told on that eventful day, for during the next four months I did go there frequently for no other purpose than to court Miss Chalmers.

After our wedding I made a confession to my wife. I have said that she was mad when she disputed with me about the room in the hotel, but that mad was not a circumstance to the mad she developed at my confession.

Jackson Mayor Fined $1.35.

The mayor subjected himself to arrest to test out the efficiency of the police department.

The Seven Wise Men of Greece.

The seven wise men of Greece were Thales of Miletus, Periander of Corinth, Cleobulus of Lyndus, Chilon of Lacedaemon, Solon of Athens, Bias of Prienne and Pittacus of Mitylene. Some fishermen of Miletus sold a draft of fishes to a bystander. When the net was drawn in it contained a golden tripod, and the purchaser claimed it was his, while the fishermen contended that they sold only the fish that might be in the net. The dispute was referred to the oracle of Delphi, who awarded the tripod to the wisest man in Greece. Thereupon it was taken to Thales, who declined it and suggested that it be given to Bias. He in turn refused to accept it, and thus it was successively declined by all the seven, and they were thereafter known as the seven wise men of Greece.

Beltane.

In the highlands of Scotland and in Ireland May 1 was called Beltane. This was the name of an ancient pagan festival, traces of which have survived to this day. The name is still used for May day in Gaelic Scotland. It is said that the druids on that day used to make two fires with great incantations and drive their cattle between them as a safeguard against disease.

MICHIGAN ALDERMAN IS NAMED IN OUTRAGE

Forces Dry Detective to Walk from Town Shoeless.

BETON HARBOR, MICH. — The battle between the wet and dry forces of Berrien county, which will vote on the question of local option Tuesday, reached an anti-climax when an investigator for the anti-saloon forces was forcibly compelled to leave town by the wets.

Prosecution of the men responsible for rough handling which the investigator received is threatened by the dry faction, but the opposing forces are in practical control of city and county administrations.

The young men gave the names of Joseph P. Burke, and W. E. Anderman and claimed to be from Chicago. Burke represented that he was here to take baths, but put in most of his time around the saloons.

The suspicions of Alderman George Bridgeman, one of the wet leaders, were aroused and he investigated. He says he found report sheets in Burke's room which showed him to be an operative for a detective agency.

After a council of war six of the leaders of the saloon forces met in a chop suey restaurant in company with Burke and Anderman. Two members of the party admitted that Burke was put through the "third degree" and confessed that he was employed to obtain evidence against the saloon forces.

U. S. PROTESTS DO NOT BLUSTER

Notes to Germany and Great Britain Made Public.

ASKS $228,059.54 FOR FRYE

Protest to England Is Lawyer's Argument, While Stating Position of Washington With Vigor—Reparation for Losses to U. S. Citizens Appears Sole Intent of Document.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — While protesting vigorously against certain features of the allies' blockade of Germany the United States government is not yet indulging in any threats or otherwise attempting to coerce Great Britain into conducting her war operations in conformity with what this government considers to be the law of nations. This was made clear here with the issuance of the note of the United States to Great Britain with respect to the British orders in council making effective the plan of the allies to cut off all trade with Germany.

The American note is essentially a lawyer's argument, framed with a view of upholding what this government conceives to be the law, rather than in the expectation of achieving any substantial modification of the British policy. Its tone is more solemn than severe.

U. S. Expects Reparation.

Notice is served that the United States will look to Great Britain to "make reparation for every act which under the rules of international law constitutes a violation of neutral rights." This announcement that the United States will demand compensation for every loss growing out of specific acts of British interference with American trade in violation of what are considered to be American rights are the sole reference contained in the note to the intentions of the United States in the premises. Settlement is thus put upon a basis of dollars and cents and it is generally conceded that for the present this represents the full measure of what the United States is in a position to do.

Demands $228,059.54 for Frye.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The United States government has asked of Germany compensation to the amount of $228,059.54 in the case of the American ship Wm. P. Frye, sunk Jan. 28 by the German commerce destroyer Prinz Eitel Friedrich. The state department made public the text of the note in which the American claim is presented to the German government.

Ambassador Gerard reported to Washington that the foreign office at Berlin had promised him an early reply to the note he presented and stated that the legal department of the European office is already at work on the case. The foreign minister referred to the fact that exchanges have already begun between Berlin and the German embassy at Washin-

An Everyday Cake

Here is a simple and inexpensive cake that can be varied in many ways with different frostings and icings. It looks a little nicer baked in a tube pan, but will be equally as good baked in a square loaf.

K C Gold Cake

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

½ cup butter; 1 cup sugar; yolks of 4 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup flour, less 2 level tablespoonfuls; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ cup milk; grated rind of 1 orange.

Sift flour and baking powder together three times; cream butter and sugar, beat yolks of eggs, add these to creamed mixture, and lastly add the moisture and flour alternately, beating batter until smooth. Gold Cake can only be made successfully by beating yolks of eggs, very, very creamy and light lemon colored, using a rotary beater. The rotary beater is the only beater that will do justice to the yolks of eggs. The beating kills all egg taste and improves the texture of the cake.

Coconaut Frosting

Beat the whites of 2 eggs dry; gradually beat in half a cup of sifted confectioner's sugar and continue the beating until the frosting is smooth, thick and glossy; then beat in grated cocoanut, fresh or prepared, and spread upon the cake. This frosting is made thick by beating rather than by sugar.

Save this recipe. You will want to use it frequently. Or better, send us the colored certificate packed in each 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder and we will mail you "The Cook's Book" containing this and 89 other baking recipes equally good—all by Mrs. Hill. Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

THE SILVER SWORD.

It Grows In Hawaii and Is the Rarest Plant In the World.

The rarest plant in the world grows in Hawaii, a fact which is unknown to all but very few of the thousands of tourists annually visiting the paradise of the Pacific. It is the silver sword.

Its very name is odd and unusual, at once arousing the curiosity and the interest of the stranger who chances to hear it. It is a cactus-like growth, the long, silky, gray leaves of which give it its peculiar name. The reason for its rarity is that it is found only on the most inaccessible slopes of the volcanoes of this group of islands.

From the earliest times it has been appreciated and greatly admired by the native Hawaiians, who called it "ahinahina" (gray headed), because they had never before the coming of the white man seen silver and therefore could not apply to the plant the cognomen which so well describes it.

All who have found it prize it more jealously than do Alpine climbers treasure the edelweiss. It is a far more beautiful thing and more difficult to obtain than the famous flower of Switzerland.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Our Moral Codes.

Our moral codes were invented not to prepare men for heaven or for Utopia. They were invented by men who were none too good themselves to protect themselves from people who were not much worse. There are great differences in human beings as to the amount of knowledge and wisdom which they possess, but there is small difference in regard to the amount of goodness or rascality that they manifest.—Mowry Saben in Forum.

A Suffering Case.

"Those detectives have just arrested an osteopath as a felon."

"That must have been a painful duty."

"Why painful?"

"Didn't it give them a bone felon on their hands?"—Baltimore American.

Sure.

"Why do we always speak of the silvery moon?" asked the boob.

"On account of its quarters and halves, I suppose," replied the cheerful idiot.—Cincinnati Inquirer.

All human things of dearest value hang on slender strings.—Edmund Waller.

"Relieved Her Rheumatism"

That is what Mrs. E. A. Boyd of Corning, N. Y., says she accomplished for her baby's leg, just by rubbing it with Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh.

This was another of the "hard cases" for which this liniment is noted. The child's leg was so terribly afflicted, it would not reach the floor. The Balsam of Myrrh put it back in shape.

Annual Parish Meeting

ST. PETER'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH MAKES A GOOD SHOWING

The annual meeting of the congregation of St. Peter's parish was held last evening. It was preceded by a splendid supper, served by the ladies of the church, to which about 75 sat down.

The proceeds from the supper were given by the ladies to apply on the debt incurred last year in renovating and improving the church property.

At the meeting which followed treasurer Rogers read his report for the year which showed the following very satisfactory condition of affairs.

Balance on hand May 1, 1914, $31.015 receipts from subscriptions and offertories, $1,368.86, loan, $555.00; other sources, $74.75; total, $2,029.62,

Expenditures—Salaries, $717.63; labor and supplies on improvements, $779.63; note and interest, 228.80; music, $131.15; diocesan assessments, $53.33; other expenses, $94.83; balance on hand April 8, 1915, $25.20.

The treasurers of the Ladies' Guild, the Altar Guild and the Sunday school also made splendid reports.

Then came the election of the Vestry. John F. Hicks who has been a member of the vestry for many years and has always done yeoman service in behalf of the church positively declined to be re elected. As a token of appreciation of his long, faithful and efficient service, the congregation by a rising vote made him senior warden emeritus

The vestrymen chosen are as follows: Lester Rogers, Col. A. S. Cummins, Tribou LeBaron, Tom W Mingay, C. F Patterson, J. C. Mahaney, T. C. Harris, G. J. Ziehr, H. J. Slater, Geo. B. Hines, C. A. Barber and F. G. Lewis.

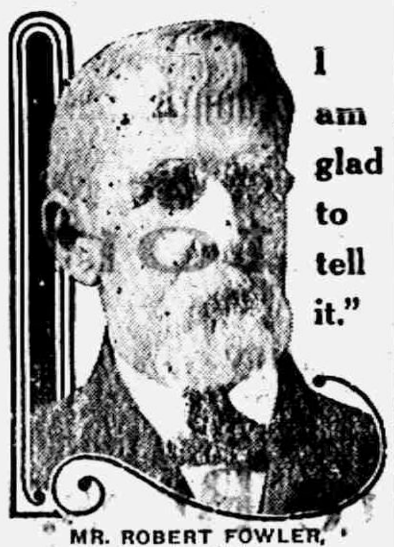
"Peruna Cured Me



I am glad to tell it."

MR. ROBERT FOWLER,
Of Okarche, Oklahoma.

Mr. Robert Fowler, Okarche, Oklahoma, writes:

"To any sufferer of catarrh of the stomach. I am glad to tell my friends or sufferers of catarrh that seventeen years ago I was past work of any kind, due to stomach troubles. I tried almost every known remedy without any results.

"Finally I tried Peruna, and am happy to say I was benefited by the first bottle, and after using a full treatment I was entirely cured.

"I am now seventy years old, and am in good health, due to always having Peruna at my command. I would not think of going away from home for any length of time without taking a bottle of Peruna along for emergency.

"You are at liberty to use my picture and testimony if you think it will help any one who has stomach trouble."

COMFORTING WORDS

Many A Tecumseh Household Will Find Them So

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Tecumseh readers

A. C. Aylesworth, W. Chicago St., Tecumseh, says: "About four years ago I had a acute attack of lumbago, and my kidneys were disordered I at length heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and procuring a supply at C. A. Wright & Son's Drug Store, I began using them. In a short time I was relieved. I have had no return attack of the trouble. I hope other kidney sufferers will read my statement and be led to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

HOW TO CURE A CHRONIC COUGH

Told in the Following Letter by a Jackson Man Who Knows from Experience. His Word Is Good.

Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the grippe left me not only with a chronic cough, but I was run-down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrups but they did me no good. I finally got so weak I was not able to do a day's work, and coughed so much I was alarmed about my condition. One evening I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Before I had taken a quarter of a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles my cough is entirely cured, all the bad symptoms have disappeared and I have gained new vim and energy." —JOHN L. DENNIS, 711 Lynch Street, Jackson, Miss.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because the active medicinal principles of cod liver oil contained in Vinol rebuilds wasting tissues and supplies strength and vigor to the nerves and muscles while the tonic iron and wine assist the red corpuscles of the blood to absorb oxygen and distribute it through the system, thus restoring health and strength to the weakened, diseased organs of the body.

If Vinol fails to help you, we return your money.

NEW CHAMPION

Jess Willard, Who Brings the Fistic Crown to White Race.

JESS WILLARD IS NEW FISTIC KING

Age and High Living Dethrone Jack Johnson.

HAVANA — Jess Willard, the gigantic ex-cowboy, was crowned heavy weight champion pugilist of the world at the race track here. He battered his way to the throne through twenty-five rounds of bruising, smashing attacks and retreats and won his niche in the fistic hall of fame in the twenty-sixth round by driving his huge right first into Jack Johnson's midsection and following it with two terrific blows from the same hand to the negro's jaw. Johnson went to the floor with a thud, an inert mass of bronzed flesh while Referee Jack Welch of San Francisco went through the formality of counting out the ten seconds before proclaiming the white man the winner.

Pandemonium broke loose as the negro crashed down. The shrill cries from many women's throats rose high above the frenzied shouts of deeper toned voices. Men laughed hysterically and threw their hats on high. The Cubans, who made up a large proportion of the vast attendance, bawled their pleasure at the dramatic climax, blacks and whites alike. They fairly revelled in the carnage and their excitement was revealed in shining eyes and excited outcries.

BRITISH WARSHIP IS LOST

Berlin Reports the Lord Nelson Was Sunk at Dardanelles.

BERLIN — The British battleship Lord Nelson was stranded inside the Dardanelles and destroyed by fire from the Turkish forts, according to Athens dispatches received here.

The Lord Nelson was built in 1906, he had a tonnage of 16,500, was 436 feet long and 79.5 feet at her beam. She carried a crew of about 865. The Lord Nelson's largest guns were four 12 inch cannon.

No Japs to Europe.

TOKIO — The project to organize and send a Japanese volunteer army to Europe has been abandoned. The promoters explain that they failed to get the governmental sanction, which was judged necessary. The promoters then decided to work for the dispatch of one regiment instead of two divisions, and applied to the army authorities for approval, only to meet again with failure. The project was therefore abandoned.

Wilson's Man Off to Mexico.

VERA CRUZ — Duval West, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, left for Mexico City, accompanied by Arnold Shanklin, the American consul general. They planned to go by special train to Ometusco. Beyond that railway communication is cut.

New Head for M. A. C.

LANSING, MICH. — The sub-committee of the state board of agriculture, which was appointed to engage a successor to President Jonathan L. Snyder of the Michigan Agricultural college, has selected Professor Kenyon S. Butterfield, president of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, as the man.

Dies of Strange Disease.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — Nels Christen, a local merchant, is dead at Butterworth hospital of an unknown ailment. Mr. Christen was taken ill a few months ago at which time he weighed 200 pounds. He slowly wasted away until at the time of his death he weighed but 100 pounds.

Germans Expel Pinchot.

THE HAGUE — (Via London.) —Gifford Pinchot, ex-chief forester of the United States, who, it is understood, has been acting as special agent for the state department at Washington in the European war zone, has been expelled from Belgium by the German authorities.

RUSS VICTORIOUS IN CARPATHIANS

Sweep Austrians Back In Furious Bayonet Engagements.

ARTILLERY RENDERED USELESS

Austrian Losses Alone on Sunday Are Over 15,000 Men—British Steamer Is Sunk by Submarine—Crew Saved—German Submarine Caught in Trap Off Dover.

PETROGRAD — The most furious bayonet battle in the history of the world is being fought on the southern ridge and slopes of the Carpathians at the Lupkow Pass, according to dispatches reaching here.

In snow-filled gulleys up and down the slippery mountain sides, the struggle is going on. The Austrians in their retreat southward from the railway abandoned much of their artillery. The Russians moved up the heights supported only by small mountain guns.

Guerrilla Warfare Waged.

Neither side has been able to put its artillery effective use in the broken ranges. Guerrilla warfare, fierce struggles between small groups in the narrow defiles, with Austrian and Slav clashing with cold steel, is strewing the Lupkow region with thousands of dead.

The czar's troops have not yet passed the Lupkow, according to the best information available at the war office today. They have driven the enemy from each successive height dominating the railway, the Austrians making their stand on the last ridge.

Reports Are Conflicting.

Because of the nature of the fighting at this point dispatches are conflicting and it is possible that with both lines broken by intervening mountain peaks a few small bodies of Russians have made their way down the southern slopes through the Austrian lines.

Heavy re-enforcements have been thrown into the attack on the Lupkow. The war office believes that once the way is cleared through this pass the right wing of the enemy north of the Uzsok will begin to withdraw.

Austrians Lose 15,000.

GENEVA — Dispatches from Budapest state that a serious battle started in the Carpathians on Saturday evening, extending from Dukla to Eperies, Saros County, Hungary. The dispatches state that the fighting was the severest around Saros and that the Austrian and German armies were repulsed.

The new young Bavarian troops suffered heavily, it is said, and the Austrian losses on Sunday alone were over 15,000. The battle continued and re-enforcements were being hurried up to assist the Austro-German forces.

British Steamer Northland Sunk.

LONDON — The British steamer Northlands of 2,000 tons, with a cargo of iron ore, was sent to the bottom by a German submarine in the English Channel off Beachy Head.

The Northland sank in ten minutes. Her crew of twenty-four men were picked up later by the Belgian steamer Tepati.

The Northland was built at West Hartlepool in 1900 and was owned by the Northlands Steamship company, limited, of Cardiff.

German Submarine Caught in Net.

PARIS — A German submarine has become securely entangled in a net specially designed for that purpose and placed off Dover, according to the Petit Journal's Dunkirk correspondent, who adds that the French naval authorities expect to capture the submersible when it comes to the surface.

CURTIS GUILD PASSES AWAY

Former Governor of Massachusetts and Diplomat Pneumonia Victim.

BOSTON, MASS.—Curtis Guild, former ambassador to Russia, is dead. Mr. Guild was stricken with pneumonia last Friday. Mr. Guild was born in Boston Feb. 2, 1860. He was educated at Harvard and in Geneva, Switzerland. His father founded the Commercial Bulletin of Boston and Mr. Guild received a training in newspaper work on that paper.

He was brigadier general of the Massachusetts state militia at the outbreak of the Spanish war, served through the war and was inspector general at Havana, Cuba, until the break up of the corps in Cuba. Mr. Guild held the decorations of an officer of the Crown of Italy and the Grand Cordon of the Order of St. Alexander Nevski, Russia. He served in various diplomatic capacities and was active in state and national Republican politics.

VOICE FROM GRAVE IN CHURCH CONTROVERSY

Proof of Forgery Is Claimed In Devona Case.

Port Huron, Mich., April 12.—When the controversy involving the St. Clair Episcopal church is brought up in circuit court here next Thursday, the judge will hear a voice from the grave which, it is believed, will have a strong bearing on the efforts of Bishop Williams to depose Rev. F. S. Devona.

It will be in the nature of depositions of the children of the late Thaddeus Bacon, tending to show that the signature attached to the church deed was forged. The testimony of a witness Friday was to the effect that the signature was not genuine, and depositions will be taken in California where are located the children of Mr. Bacon, an officer of the church in 1881.

Monday Club

The closing meeting of the Monday Club was held at the home of Mrs. F. S. Turner Monday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. D. Shull, who was detained at her home by illness, Mrs. Eugene Harris presided. Mrs. F. S. Turner, leader of the afternoon, announced the following program:

Vocal Solo—"Angel Land", (Pinsuti)
Mrs. A. E. Reason

Paper—"Italian Commerce and Industry of Today"
Mrs. F. G Lewis

Vocal Solo—(a) Nocturne, (Denza)
(b) "I Love my Love," (Pinsuti)
Miss Edna Gaston

Sketch—Pinsuti, Tosti,
Mrs. F. S. Turner

Vocal Solo—"Goodbye", (Tosti)
Mrs. Eugene Rosacrans

Reading—
Mrs. Carpenter, Blissfield.

Vocal Solo—"Matti nata", (Tosti)
Mrs Reason

Reading—"Bishop orders his tomb at St. Praxed's", (Browning)
Miss Jane Harris

Ladies Quartette—"Pretty Primrose Flower", (Pinsuti)
Mesdames Meade, Hodges, Rosacrans, Miss Caldwell.

The program was very interesting, and several of the numbers were encored, the ladies responding in a very pleasing manner. At the close of the program refreshments were served by Mrs Charles Williamson's committee.

PLANS NEARLY COMPLETED FOR COMMERCE CLUB BANQUET

The various committees in charge of the annual Commerce Club banquet are hard at work, and report that the attendance this year will easily reach 250. The banquet will be held at Witherell hall Wednesday evening, April 14th, at 6:30 o'clock.

Plans are being made to make this banquet a great success. Good speakers have been secured, among whom will be Mayor Sparks of Jackson, John Ketcham, Master of the State Grange and Edw. Frensdorf of Hudson Good music has been arranged for and a fine course dinner will be served. If you have not secured your ticket yet, you had better do so at once as they are going fast. Price 50c per plate.

Tecumseh business houses will close at 6 o'clock Wednesday, so as to give the business men a chance to attend. The farmers will be especially welcome. All roads will lead to Tecumseh Wednesday night.

Government Offers Additional Public Land

The United States Reclamation Service announces the opening and availability the latter part of April, of a large number of desirable homesteads in the well known Shoshone Irrigation project near Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming. This opening will mark the fifth unit to be offered the public in this district and will afford an excellent opportunity for the serious homemaker to secure a desirable 40 or 80 acre tract under the homestead law in a district of proven agricultural worth.

According to an announcement issued by Albert V. Leonard, Settlement Agent of the U. S. Reclamation Service in the Federal Bldg., the Government during the past six months has been swamped with appeals for suitable agricultural homesteads and the opening of the Shoshone lands will in a measure appease the demand for irrigable tracts in this section.

"There is no question but that the recent peculiar business and economic conditions have been largely responsible for the increasing demand for and widespread interest in the "back to the land" movement," states Mr. Leonard. "The Government is desirous of encouraging this laudable movement in every proper way and seeks to make readily available information concerning the opportunities which exist for the homeseeker. It is my desire that the Shoshone opening will attract an industrious class of people who will maintain the high standard of progressive farming which is rapidly transforming the Shoshone project into an agricultural community of accomplishment. With an excellent climate, fertile soil, ample water supply, and a splendid settlement with schools, churches, and other community interests, this project should appeal strongly to prospective settlers and I shall be very glad to supply such people with all necessary data."

PREPARE TO IMPEACH ROBERTS THIS WEEK

Terre Haute Councilman Says Mayor Will Be Removed.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 12.—Almost on the eve of the time set for appearance for sentence of the 116 men convicted in the United States District Court of election conspiracy here, only a few of the men have made arangements for release under bond pending an apeal.

Many of the convicted men who are holding minor city jobs under Mayor Donn M. Roberts are making no pretense at concealing their disappointment in not being able to obtain sufficient bond.

Eli H. Redman, whose title to the office of judge of the Vigo Circuit Court was blighted by the testimony of scores of "repeaters" during the trial, has made tentative arrangements with a surety company to provide bond, it is reported.

Early this week, possibly within 48 hours after sentence has been passed on Donn M. Roberts in the United States District Court, Roberts will be made defendant in another trial, this time on charge of malfeasance, misfeasance of office and bribery, incident to impeachment proceedings. The charges which have been ready for the last six weeks, will be preferred in special session of the Common Council, according to word given by a member of the council and acted on promptly and unanimously.

MOTION PICTURES OF JOHNSON—WILLARD FIGHT BARRED BY U. S LAW.

The moving pictures of the Johnson—Williard fight cannot be shown in the United States. A law being put through Congress just after Johnson had won by knocking out Jeffries at Reno being still in effect.

"In July, 1912, congress enacted a law to prohibit the importation and the interstate transportation of films or other pictorial representations of prize fights, but so far as I know this is the first instance in which it has been invoked." The wording of the law is as follows:

"Section 1—That it shall be unlawful for any person to deposit or cause to be deposited in the United States mails or for mailing or delivery, or to deposit or cause to be deposited with any express company or other common carried for carriage, or to send or carry from one state or territory of the United States or to bring or cause to be brought into the Unted States from abroad, any film or other pictorial representation of any prize fight or encounter of pugilists, under whatever name, which is designed to be used or may be used for purposes of public exhibition,

"Section 2—That it shall be unlawful for any person to take or receive from the mails or any express company or other common carrier, with intent to sell, distribute, circulate or exhibit any matter or thing herein forbidden to be deposited for mailing, delivery or carriage in interstate commerce.

"Section 3—That any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall for each offense upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $1,000 or sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court."

PLOWS SAVE TOWN FROM FIRE

Flames Sweep Woods and Fields for Mile and Half.

Vevay, Ind., April 12.—Moorefield, a village northwest of this city, was threatened with destruction by a fire which swept through the woods and fields for a mile and a half, but farmers with plows succeeded in checking the flames near the edge of the village. Residents of the town joined forces with the farmers and women and children carried water to throw on the burning grass. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars

The fire was started by sparks from a burning stump on the farm of John Orr. John Raney's barn, one of the largest in the country, was destroyed and three head of cattle in a pasture were burned. The bodies of chickens and rabbits caught by the flames dotted the ground.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

GERMANY'S NOTE CRITICIZES U. S.

Charges Double Dealing In Favor of the Allies.

ASKS ARMS EXPORT EMBARGO

Document Sent to German Ambassador —Avoids Status of Note for American Answer—Cites U. S. Embargo on Arms to Mexico as True Neutrality.

Washington, April 12.—The text of the German complaint against the policy of the United States with respect to British interference with American trade and the sale of American made arms and munitions to the allies was made public at the German embassy.

It then became known that the communication to the state department is designated as a memorandum proceeding from Ambassador Bernstroff and is not to be regarded as in quite the same category as the note from the foreign office at Berlin. It does not require an answer from the state department. Nevertheless the German communication is viewed seriously in official quarters and it is regarded as having much significance with respect to the relations between the German and United States governments.

Accuses U. S. of Double Dealing.

The German memorandum accuses the United States of having acquiesed in all that the British have done to keep American foodstuffs from reaching German territory. It bases this charge on the fact that the United States has failed to prevent the British from their successful interference with this trade apparently assuming that since the United States has done nothing to make its protests effective it accepts all that England has done. The United States is invited therefore to compel England to yield by imposing an embargo on the sale of arms.

Also Asks Arms Embargo.

It also complains of the shipment of arms and munitions to the allies declaring that this trade is in violation of the spirit of neutrality though admitting it to be technically no violation of United States neutrality. The German ambassador argues that the United States should take into consideration the fact that it is the only nation capable of supplying arms and munitions to the belligerents and that defense of this trade ought not to rest on the "purely theoretical willingness to furnish Germany as well."

It is pointed that the international law permitting neutrals to supply belligerents was designed only to protect an existing trade and not intended to lead to the building up of a great new trade in war material, which the ambassador states, has been the result in this country during the war. He holds that the fact that Germany has hitherto supplied belligerent countries with war material is of no consequence in this war, where the United States is the only country in a position to sell arms and munitions.

Cites Case in eMxico.

Finally the German memorandum cites the action of President Wilson in lifting the embargo on the shipment of arms to Mexico because of the fact that Huerta, possessing the sea ports, was able to get arms from abroad while the revolutionists, shut off from the American supply, were not able to have acess to any other source. This, the ambassador states, was real neutrality and he declares if "real neutrality" were applied to the present case, the United States government would put an embargo on the shipment of arms to Europe.

Though officials of the state department are preserving the strictest silence in regard to the German memorandum, it has long known that the views of the administration are such as to make certain the repudiation of all the German memorandum suggestions. Furthermore, the memorandum itself is not at all pleasing in any way to the state departent. The opinion prevails largely in Washington that it was drafted and sent to the state department more with a view to obtaining results through political reaction than through convincing the United States government of the reasonableness of the views set forth therein.

GERMANS CLAIM FOE LOST HEAVILY IN WEST

Official Statement Tells of Desperate Eighting.

Berlin, (via London), April 12.—The official statement given out by the German army headquarters reads as follows:

"In the western thearter on the Yser canal, near Poesele, south of Drei Grachten, we took three villages which were occupied by the Belgians and made one officer and 40 men prisoners. In engagements near the Aver stream, we made fifty French prisoners. French attacks in the western Argonne failed. Fighting between the Meuse and the Moselle increased in intensity, in the afternoon. In the forest region to the north of the Combres Heights the French made attempts at our positions on the heights. The attack which commenced early in the day completely failed and the positions on the heights remained in cur possession. Southwest of Ailley stubborn fighting continued throughout the day. In the unsuccessful attack in force to the north of Fliery the French sustained heavy losses. In battles yesterday in the Bois le Pretre we took four machine guns. Veny severe night battles which followed were favorable to us. The very heavy French losses in the engagements between the Muese and the Moselle cannot yet be approximately estimated. Between St. Louis end Lamarville woods our troops counted 700 dead and at a small place north of Regnieville more than 500 dead bodies were found. We took 11 French officers and 804 men and seven machine guns. An anchored balloon, which the French state descended within their lines, is now anchored near Moerchingen where it landed. In the Vosges a snow storm prevented active fighting on a large scale."

"In the eastern theater, near Mariampol and Kalwarya and near Klimki, on the Skimwa, Russian attacks were repulsed. At a place near Bromierez, west of Plonsk, the Russians were driven out. We made [illegible] and captured three machine guns. In Poland, south of the Vistula, the Russians kept up a very lively infantry fire and artillery fire all night."

No Business Good Business.

"Yes," said the quiet man, "business has been good with me this week—or bad—I don't know which you would call it I have been busier than the company likes to have me."

"What do you mean by that? Is there an employer who does not like to have his employees work? Could I get a job there? It seems to me that such a position would suit my temperament exactly."

"The company doesn't care to have anything doing in my department. It would be glad to pay me my salary and never have me do a stroke of work."

"What an ideal job! What kind of a place is it?"

"I am an adjuster of death claims for a life insurance company."—New York Press.

GERMANY'S LAST SEA RAIDER QUITS

Auxiliary Cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm in U. S. Port.

CREW IS NEAR STARVATION

Vessel Seeks Sanctuary at Newport News After 255 Days at Sea—Twelve British, Two French and One Norwegian Merchant Ships Sunk Since September 7.

Newport News, Va., April 12.—Last of German's sea raiders, the Kronprins Wilhelm, scourge swept, her crew facing starvation, her bunkers empty, barred from New York harbor by the perpetual guard of British cruisers, has sought sanctuary here.

The auxiliary cruiser had been at sea 255 days, during which time she sank fifteen merchantmen. Twelve of these were British, two French and one Norwegian. Her last victims were the British royal mail steamship Tamar and the British steamer Daleby.

Commander Thierfeldt on his arrival in port explained that his ship was badly in need of repairs. Her bottom, he said, was foul and her boilers needed overhauling. He stated that he would request permission to have the repairs made here.

Ship Carried Contraband.

The sinking of the Norwegian sailing ship Samantha, the only neutral vessel sent down by the Kronprinz, was almost a duplication of the sinking of the American bark Wm. P. Frye by the Prins Eitel, her sister raider. Asked why he sank the Norwegian vessel, Commander Thierfeldt said:

"She was carrying contraband of war. She had a cargo of wheat which I believed was intended for the use of the British army and navy."

The appearance of the Kronprinz Wilhelm just three days after the interment of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich created great surprise. When last heard from the Kronprinz was in the South Atlantic. She had been reported sunk half a dozen times.

Submarine Her Escort.

The big liner, 613 feet in length and of 14,700 tons displacement, steamed majestically up Hampton Roads early in the morning and was directed by the United States submarine G-1 to an anchorage off the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Company.

As the Kronprinz steamed past Fortress Monroe and through the fleet of sixteen United States battleships assembled at Hampton Roads she neither fired a salute nor dipped her flag, an act which caused considerable comment.

Collector of Customs Norman F. Hamilton immediately boarded the vessel and held an extended conference with Commander Thierfeldt. During the conference Lieutenant Ford, attached to Admiral Fletcher's staff, came alongside in a launch from the Wyoming and joined the conference.

Later reporters were invited aboard by Commander Thierfeldt. He said he was too tired to talk, but directed that members of his staff show the visitors over the ship.

Commander Thierfeldt, however, gave a brief but graphic description of his voyage to Dr. Hal McCafferty, United States quarantine officer of Old Point.

Crew Starving.

The crew of the Wilhelm were in a condition of starvation. Sixti-six sailors were sick, and all were in a state of exhaustion. While at sea she was chased three times by British cruisers, and escaped as the cruiser Karlsruhe engaged them. The ship was finally reduced to the necessity of rice diet which caused scourge aboard.

Paris Admits Trneches Recaptured.

Paris, April 12.—The following official communique was issued at night:

"North of Albert, during the night of April 10-11, the Germans delivered an attack on both banks of the Ancer directed against our trenches at Hamel and in the Thiehval wood. They were repulsed after hand to hand fighting. In the Argonne violent fighting took place throughout the night. We demolished a blockhouse, captured 300 meters of trenches and maintained our gains despite two counter attacks by the Germans. Between the Meuse and the Moselle no infantry action has been repulsed in the region of Les Eparges and Combres, following our victory of April 9. In the Ailly wood, we succeeded in capturing a new line of trenches following an attack delivered during the evening of April 10. In the Montmare wood the Germans captured the trenches which they lost during the day. The positions which we captured on April 8 are still in our hands. In the La Pretre wood, on the western extremity of the Quart en Reserve (that part of the wood which in times of peace is kept in reserve by the government in order to allow the timber to grow) two violent counter attacks by the enemy were repulsed by our infantry and our artillery.

"Our aviators have dropped 155 mm. shells on the railroad station and the foundry at Bruges."

Unknown Finlander Killed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 12.—An unknown Finlander was struck and killed by a South Shore train in the yards at Trout Lake. It is thought the man attempted to steal a ride and misjudged distance in the heavy fog. The body was unidentified at noon Saturday.

Loses on Recount.

Jackson, Mich., April 12.—After a canvass of the tie vote for justice of the peace, without having issolved the tie, Justice Claude Tarbox, present incumbent, asked for recount. He lost on the recount to Attorney Arthur W. Wiggins by four votes.

Second Attempt Successful.

Adrian, Mich., April 12.—Herbert Cole, 32 years old, of Morenci, south of here, killed himself by cutting his throat with a razor. A recent attempt to accomplish the same end by drinking wood alcohol was unsuccessful.

ANIMAL TOILETS.

Cleanliness Rules and Some Creatures Wash Each Other.

Most animals love cleanliness. We have all seen sparrows fill their feathers with dust and then shake themselves until they are clean. This is one of their ways of washing. And we have all watched the cat lick herself till she is spotless and shining. For her toilet the cat makes use of her tongue, tail and her paws. A cat's tongue is rough, having all over it tiny horny papillae that are directed inward. Pussy brushes herself all over with her tongue, using the hard rough pads under her paws upon those parts that are beyond the reach of her tongue. Her claws she uses as a comb to take tangles and matted foreign substances out of her fur. She also picks her teeth with her claws.

The cat uses the pads of her feet like a sponge, moistening them with saliva and passing them repeatedly over her head and face. Finally, to complete her toilet, she gives herself a few whisks with her tail.

Sone animals wash each other. Condors, vultures and eagles after a feast of carrion fly to the nearest water and splash about in it until their feathers are clean. The care that animals which live together in communities take to keep their homes clean is astonishing and is well seen in the nests of moles and especially among the bees and ants.—New York World.

SAFETY FROM FIRE.

A Method For Insuring Escape From a Crowded Building.

In discussing the best means of emptying a loft or factory building of its occupants in time of fire or panic, H. F. J. Porter, expert on safety from fire and known as the father of the fire drill, points out a method for solving the escape from a crowded building.

This method is a fire wall so arranged on a building as practically to bisect it. This wall must be continuous from cellar to roof and be provided with doorways on each floor, closed by automatic fire doors. The building must be designed with two sets of egress facilities of ample proportions, one set located on each side of the wall accessible from each floor.

No fire is at all likely to occur on both sides of this fire wall simultaneously, unless it is of incendiary origin Should a fire occur the alarm sounds, and the occupants of the building on the side where the fire is merely have to pass through them and be perfectly safe.

A fire drill will empty either side of a building so equipped, no matter how many stories high, in a minute. The refugees remain in the safe side of the building until the fire has been put out, or they may at any time without haste use the egress facilities provided there, which would be free from smoke or fire.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Just Why We Sneeze.

Sneezing may be due to one of a number of causes. A bright light will cause many people to sneeze, as also the pollen of certain plants, while there are few people but will sneeze in the presence of dust. When you have a cold the sneezing is due to an attempt by nature to cure you. She is trying to make you sneeze for the same purpose that she wants you to shiver—to generate heat for warming the blood and preventing you from taking more cold—to help relieve the cold you have. For one does not sneeze with his nose, but with the entire body. During the act every muscle of the body gives a jump, as it were. It goes into a sort of spasm that warms the entire system.—New York American.

Forgot Her Sister.

A woman from a small town, in the city to do some shopping, stepped up to a clerk at the hosiery counter in one of the department stores.

"Say," she said, "I want to get two pairs of stockings like my sister from Kentucky bought here last August."

"I don't know your sister, and I probably would not remember what she bought, even if I were acquainted with her," explained the clerk.

"You must remember my sister," insisted the customer. "She is a little, heavy set woman."—Indianapolis News.

The Duke's Walk.

"To meet one in the duke's walk." This is an invitation to fight a duel. In the vicinity of Holyrood house, Scotland, there is a place called the duke's walk, so called from its being the favorite promenade of the Duke of York, afterward King James II. This walk is said to have been the common rendezvous for settling affairs of honor, as the site of the British museum was in England.

Revenge!

"Why are you so crazy to take mud baths? There's nothing the matter with you."

"It's this way, doctor. I was brought up in a lace collar and a Fauntleroy suit. And I always vowed that I would get my share of playing in the mud some day."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

It Made a Difference.

"Bliffers is always talking about his love for the plain people."

"Yes?"

"Well, the other day somebody called his daughter plain, and he was hotter than a red headed hornet."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Curious Old Custom.

In Peru it was once the custom for domestic servants to have two of their upper front teeth extracted. Their absence indicated servitude.

A Shortened Visit.

"Did the little girl from next door have a good time?" inquired the fond mother.

"I'm not sure, mamma," said the wise child. "Her nurse said she could stay two hours, but I gave her some lessons on how to behave when on a visit, and I read to her several chapters from that dear little book you gave me called 'Punctilious Points For Polite People,' and she went home an hour earlier."—Clevland Plain Dealer.

A Strong Resemblance.

"What a funny looking man that conductor is," said Mrs. Jiggles on the trolley.

"Yes," said Jiggles. "I've been trying to think who he looks like. His face is very familiar to me."

"Oh, I know who it is," said Mrs. Jiggles. "It's our goldfish."—Judge.

The Senses.

If you shade your eyes you weaken your sense of hearing. If you sip a glass of cold water you will increase for a short time your power of vision. If you fill your mouth with water you will greatly strengthen your sense of smell.—Indianapolis News.

MADE HIM A PROFESSOR.

He Didn't Know Very Much, but His Bluff Won the Appointment.

In one of the Japanese papers are some reminiscences of the war with Russia, and among them is the following:

When peace was concluded between Japan and Russia the study of the Japanese language became something like a craze among Russians. At Harbin, for instance, Japanese were in great demand as teachers of their mother tongue. Many Japanese barbers and laundrymen shut up their shops and became instructors of Japanese.

As in most cases the instruction was not conducted on a systematic method, many Russian students of Japanese only succeeded in acquiring a smattering of the language

Then one day a Japanese interpreter who taught Japanese to Russian railway men at Harbin received a letter from one of his whilom pupils asking for a certificate of his proficiency. As a matter of fact, his knowledge of Japanese does not extend beyond what may be called pidgin Japanese, but a certificate was forwarded to him as requested

A few weeks later the interpreter was surprised to receive a letter from the Russian informing him that he had been engaged by the government as professor of Japanese at a monthly salary of 500 roubles.—Japanese Chronicle.

SEEK THE BRIGHT SPOTS.

Don't Grouch in the Gloom, but Look Up and Be an Optimist.

He who thinks the world is full of good people and kindly blessings is much richer than he who thinks the contrary. Each man's imagination largely peoples the world for himself. Some live in a world peopled with princes of the royal blood; some in a world of paupers and privation. You have your choice.

This is a big, busy world. It cares precious little what you think of it or what faults or troubles you find in it. It is a choice that concerns yourself more than all others combined, whether you grouch in the gloom, the companion of hateful goblins, or stride in the sunshine, seeing smiles and catching shreds of song.

Men and women in God's image were not made as whining, groveling beings. They were made to stand erect, mentally as well as physically; to labor well and joyously; to take the gifts of providence, whether they be joy or sorrow, and bear them cheerfully and with courage; to add ever something to the world's store of happiness, if it be only a smile.

Look up! See how flooded with sunshine this beautiful world is when faced with smiling eyes

If you would win anything, do anything, be anything, don't whine.—Christian Herald.

A Tartar Courtship.

Among the Tchulian Tartars a curious mode of "popping the question" exists. The Tchulian bachelor in search of a wife, having filled a brand new pipe with fragrant tobacco, stealthily enters the dwelling of the fair one upon whom he has bestowed his affections, deposits the pipe upon a conspicuous article of furniture and retires on tiptoe to some convenient hiding place in the neighborhood, local etiquette requiring that he should execute this strategic movement apparently undetected by the damsel of his choice or any other member of her family. Presently he returns without further affectation of secrecy and looks into the apartment in a casual sort of way. A single glance at the pipe he left behind him enables him to learn the fate of his proposal. If it has been smoked he goes forth an accepted and exultant bridegroom; if not, the offer of his hand and heart has been rejected.

Sandy's Advice.

At a time when the Scots had considerably less love for their southern neighbors than in these days a father, taking leave of his son, said: "Sandy, ma bairn, ye're aboot tae gang up tae London. Tak' a' th' siller ye can frae the English—ta' everything ye can frae them. But mind ye, Sandy, they're a braw fechtin people, sae be carefu' wi' them. Never fecht a bald mon, for ye canna catch him by th' hair."—Argonaut.

"A Shine in Every Drop"

Women Who Make Living Dearer.

Woman's abuse of a shopping privilege adds tremendously to the cost of operating department stores, and places a needless burden upon every buyer. One of the large merchants of New York city is authority for the statement that 25 per cent of the articles sent out to charge patrons are returned, not occasionally, but habitually. We are not thinking of the woman who returns garments that have been worn and declares they have never been used. She belongs in a class by herself and demands special treatment. But the woman who orders goods sent home without considering whether she needs them or not ought to be amenable to reason.—Francis Frear in Leslie's.

Suffocated.

To the grouchy looking person who had boarded his car the conductor said as he returned him his transfer:

"This transfer expired ten minutes ago."

Whereupon, with a growl, the man dug for a nickel and as he handed it to the conductor observed:

"No wonder, with not a single ventilator open in the whole car."—Harper's Magazine.

Miss Lila VanValkenburg and sixteen members of her S. S. class met at the Baptist church parlors Friday evening. They have taken up the study of "Ann of Ava." After a short session games and refreshments closed a very interesting evening.

Mrs Catherine Osborne in the west part of town was found by her neighbors Friday morning in an unconscious condition on the floor of her home. Not seeing her about as usual they forced an entrance. A doctor was called and her daughter in Toledo was notified who came at once. At last reports she had recovered consciousness but was still helpless.

WIT AND WISDOM

The Wit and Wisdom club were very pleasantly entertained last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. G. North. A short business meeting was held when it was decided to hold the closing meeting in the Presbyterian parlors. The following program was then given under the leadership of Dr. L. G. North:

A graphaphone selection.

Paper by H. C. Conklin on Washington and the meetings of Congress, which he attended this last winter.

Recitation—Mrs. Carpenter of Blissfield.

Paper—Mrs. Hurry, "Wm. Cowper."

Roll call, "Interesting places I have seen."

Refreshments were then served and the evening closed with a guessing contest.

NOTICE.

Our rate on ice the coming season will be the same as in past years, but owing to unsatisfactory conditions that have arisen by credits, as well as improvements which will take all our funds this summer, we feel it will be more satisfactory to all concerned that we put our business on a cash basis commencing May 1st. Our men will have coupons so that you can buy as low as 30c worth at a time, and all unused coupons can be redeemed at any time. We are sure this system will do away with countless errors and be far more satisfactory to our customers and we hope it will meet with your approval.

GRANVILLE MILLS

A large concourse of people gathered at the home in Macon, to pay their last respects to the memory of Granville Mills, who passed away Thursday evening. From near and far, his friends of many years, came, took the last look of his familiar face, and passed on with sad hearts, for he was dear to them all.

The Rev. Frederick Hewitt gave the beautiful burial service of the Episcopal church, and gave a short and impressive sermon, singing by John Pennington. The body was taken to Brookside cemetery and deposited in the mausoleum.

Wm. ANDERSON

Wm. Anderson passed away Saturday April 10, at his home in Brownville at 12:30 p. m. after a long illness, aged 80 years. A widow and one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Wallace are left in his immediate family.

The funeral was held at the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. G. W. Jennings of the Methodist church officiating. Burial in Brookside cemetery.

Inside Facts About The Leonard Cleanable

IT is the inside of a refrigerator that counts. And no refrigerator is better than its lining. If it is lined with zinc or sheet iron, no matter how it is painted and enameled, it cannot possibly be sanitary.

In the Leonard Cleanable the lining is of genuine porcelain—all in one piece. No joints, no cracks, no crevices to harbor germs and give out odors. You wash it with soap and water as you clean a dish. You can tell this lining from others for it cannot be scratched or marred, even with a hat pin or knife blade.

Don't accept any other refrigerator than the genuine Leonard Cleanable. Look for the name, and be sure. Let us show you this splendid refrigerator and explain its many good qualities. It is made in the largest refrigerator plant in the world and, in our opinion, the best.

Sammy's Wisdom.

It was never a happy day for Sammy's painstaking father when his young hopeful's school report arrived.

As for Sammy himself—well, he was a philosopher.

The awful day had come once more, and father was in the lowest depths of misery.

"Sammy, Sammy," he groaned, "why is it that you are at the bottom of your class again?"

"What does it matter, father, whether I am at the top or the bottom?" queried that wise youth. "They teach the same at both ends, you know."—London Tit-Bits.

Birds of Distinction.

The crow and the bird of paradise were talking about fame.

"Why, you are so homely you are only known to the farmers," sneered the proud bird of paradise. "Now, I am so beautiful I have my feathers on the hats of the society women."

The crow laughed sardonically.

"That may be, my friend," he chuckled, "but I have my feet under their eyes."—Chicago News.

Dark Days.

There are a number of daylight darknesses recorded in history, among them being those in B. C. 295, A. D. 252, 746 and 775. There was a dark day in England in January, 1807, and another on Oct. 21, 1816. There was also a dark day in Detroit on Oct. 19, 1762. On May 19, 1780, there was such atmospheric gloom over Hartford, Conn., that the legislature adjourned for the day.

Now He Reminds Her of It.

"Ha! I've a good joke on my wife."

"What is it?"

"She wouldn't give me a letter to mail because she was positive I'd forget it, and then she carried it around three days in her shopping bag."—Boston Transcript.

NAMES OF OUR EARTH.

It Was Called Ge by the Greeks and Terra by the Latins.

Answering the question, "Who named our planet the earth? Why could it not have had a romantic and beautiful name such as astronomers have given to the planets Jupiter, Venus, Mars or Neptune? Our planet alone has this [illegible], but not [illegible] name the earth," [illegible] in the New York American says:

The good Anglo-Saxon folk gave the name earthe to this, our world, and the British dwindled the word down to earth. But is this not fully as romantic as the name Ge, given to it by the Greeks, and Terra by the Latins? Ge is indeed commonplace, but Terra is highly romantic.

Classic mythology tells that Terra was one of the most ancient deities and wife of Uranus and mother of Oceanus, the Titans, Cyclopes, Giants, Thea, Rhea, Themis, Phoebe, Tethys and Mnemosyne. And she is the same deity as Tellus. But Tellus was the most ancient goddess after Chaos. In later mythic ages she was called by the exceedingly romantic names Cybele, Rhea, Vesta, Ceres, Tithea, Bona Dea, Proserpina and others. And when sailing under the euphonius titles she passed through many very romantic episodes. At times she got into romantic difficulties when circulating around with other goddesses and gods.

POWER OF ELOQUENCE.

Financial Effect of Whitefield's Sermon on Ben Franklin.

Whitefield made seven visits to America. He brought great blessings to our land. Whittier wrote of him thus:

The flood of emotion, deep and strong,
Troubled the land as it swept along,
But left a result of holier lives

In Philadelphia he preached with such effect [illegible] that the dancing rooms were [illegible] and the ball and concert rooms were shut up "as inconsistent with the gospel."

Benjamin Franklin tells that in Philadelphia 30,000 heard him with ease. Ben was caught with the matchless delivery of his sermons. "I happened in a meeting in the course of which I perceived," writes he, "that he intended to finish with a collection, and I silently resolved that he would get nothing from me. I had in my pocket a handful of copper money, three or four silver dollars and five pistoles in gold. As he preceeded I began to soften and concluded to give the coppers; another stroke of his oratory made me ashamed of that and determined me to give the silver; and he finished so admirably that I emptied my pocket wholly into the collection dish, gold and all."—Christian Herald.

Spanish Boys' Game.

Spanish lads have a game which they call "Hobbybull," and it has something on the American kiddies' hobbyhorse, according to those who have seen it. The boys of Malaga and other Spanish cities find an immense amount of excitement and amusement in mock encounters with the hobbybull, which is merely a framework mounted on wooden wheels and has a pair of horns lashed to its forward end. Armed with a scarlet cloth, one of the boys infuriates the hobbybull, while another operates the "animal."

If the matador has talent in the art of taunting and teasing and the other lad is spirited the game may become serious. Boys in training to become matadors practice regularly with the hobbybull and consider such play a part of their training.—Philadelphia North American.

Qualities of the Topaz.

The name of the precious stone inserted in the ring of Gyges has not been handed down to us, but it is probable that it was the topaz, whose wonders Philostrates recounts in the life of Apollonius. An attribute of the sun and of fire, the ancients called it the gold magnet, as it was credited with the power of attracting that metal, indicating its veins and discovering the treasures. Heliodorus in his story of Theagenes and Chariclea says that the topaz saves from fire all those who wear it and that Chariclea was preserved by a topaz from the fiery vengeance of Arsaces, queen of Ethiopia. This stone was one of the first talismans that Theagenes possessed in Egypt. The topaz at present symbolizes Christian virtues—faith, justice, temperance, gentleness, clemency.

WOOD FOR VIOLINS.

Maple Is the Best and Is What the Old World Famed Makers Use.

In the finest violins the body is made of white maple. In cheap ones violet ebony is used. In medium priced ones alternate leaves of the two are employed. The best wood of all is that of the epicea, a tree resembling a fir in general appearance, which grows in central and northern Europe, but musical instrument makers set special value on that from the Vosges mountains. Its wood is most homogeneous and has the advantage over all others that there is scarcely any difference between the sap wood and the heart.

Violet ebony, which comes from Brazil, Africa and India, is much used for pianos. True ebony is now so expensive that it is reserved for nuts and twisters.

Sycamore maple, somewhat less homogeneous than white maple and hence less sonorous, is employed chiefly in making mandolins.

The wood of trees from high altitudes and a severe climate is much better than that from plains and warmer countries for all purposes in which sonority is desired. And it should have had not less than 200 or 300 years of growth, and its concentric circles should be no more than two or three millimeters apart.

The ancient violin makers, Stradivarius, Amati, Guarnerius and the others, used the finest and best seasoned maple, and this, with their perfect varnish, is why their violins have lasted so long.—New York World.

MORE STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

Mrs. Hutchison—Eighty-One Years Old—Uses No Other Tonic but Vinol and Recommends It to Friends.

Greenville, S.C.—"It is with pleasure I tell others of the great benefit I have derived from Vinol, for the past several years. I am 81 years old and I find Vinol gives me strength, a healthy appetite and overcomes nervous disorders. Vinol is the only tonic reconstructor I have used for several years. I have recommended it to a great many of my friends and it has always proved satisfactory." — Mrs. M. A. HUTCHISON, Greenville, S. C.

Such cases as the above are constantly coming to our attention. If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

It is the tissue building, curative elements of the cod's livers, aided by the blood making strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol, that makes it so successful in building up strength for old people, delicate children and for all run-down conditions. Vinol is also a most successful remedy for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis. If it fails to benefit any one who tries it we return your money.

A Famous Desperado

He Was the Most Daring of All Villains.

By JOHN Y. LARNED

[illegible] rascals such as Dick Turpin, Claude Duval and others, real or fictitious, but for reckless effrontery coupled with an ambition for important criminal achievements none of these villains overtops Colonel Thomas Blood, who flourished in England during the protectorship of the Cromwells and the reign of Charles II. One of Oliver Cromwell's sons gave Blood large grants of land in Ireland, which were confiscated on the restoration of the legitimate monarch. From this he began his career as a desperado of high degree. The following story does not deviate from the main facts of his boldest and last attempt:

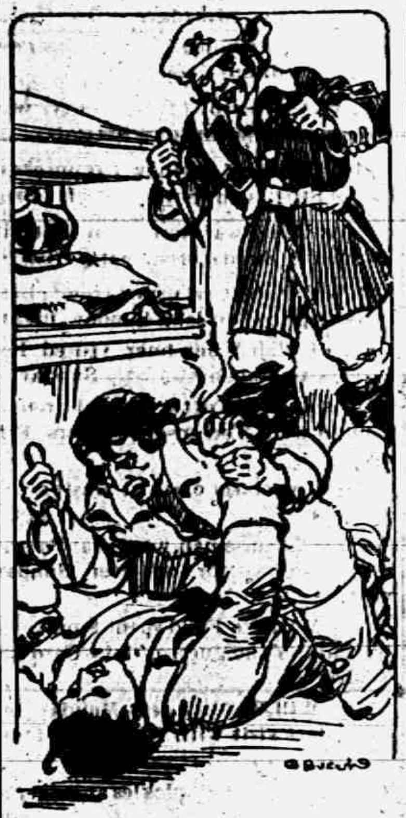
One April morning in the year 1671 a gentleman and a lady visited the Tower of London. It had not yet become the museum it is today, but the kings of England and princes of the blood had ceased to reside there, except when one of them was confined with the expectation of having his head lopped off either in the yard or on Tower hill, close at hand. The crown jewels were kept there, but the iron grating which now protects them had not been constructed.

While looking at the bauble insignia of British sovereignty the lady suddenly fell into the gentleman's arms, apparently having fainted. He looked about him for some resting place on which to lay her, but, seeing no lounge or bed, he said to an attendant:

"My wife is very ill. Will you not ask the keeper's permission to remove her to a room where there is a bed?"

The attendant hurried away and soon returned with an invitation for the lady's husband to carry her into the private apartments of the keeper himself, Mr. Edwards.

"Heaven bless you, sir," said the anxious husband, "my poor wife is suffering greatly, and were it not for your kindness I don't know what we should do."



IN A TWINKLING THE KEEPER WAS ON THE FLOOR.

"You are welcome, sir, I assure you, to my dwelling place and to remain here with your lady as long as she is too ill to be taken away."

The lady gradually recovered. Meanwhile her husband, who had a seductive manner and tongue, ingratiated himself into the good graces of the keeper and his family. After remaining there some time the invalid declared that she was able to leave, and with a profusion of thanks for the favor received they departed.

"What a fine gentleman!" exclaimed Mrs. Edwards.

"And such a gentle lady!" remarked their daughter.

A few days later the same couple called on the keeper's family, bringing with them a present of gloves as a token of their gratitude for the kindness they had received. Shut up as the Edwards were, in the gloomy fortress, they were much pleased to see those who visited them, and they were especially delighted that the entertaining stranger and his refined looking wife should be so appreciative of what they had done for them.

Ruth Edwards was a pretty girl of seventeen, and the gentleman appeared to take a great fancy to her.

"Is she your only child?" he asked.

"No; I have a son a soldier with our army in Flanders. But he will soon be at home. He writes that his regiment is ordered to England."

"Has your daughter a husband in view?"

"A husband! Alas, no! She meets no young men here except jailers. Her only suitor is the headsman's son, and I wouldn't have her marry him for a kingdom. Besides, we have no dowry to give her."

"What a shame," said the visiting lady, "that such a pretty girl should go unclaimed!"

"It shall not be," said the gentleman, bringing his fist down on a table. "What? So comely a wench to spend her days here? What say you, wife, to a match between our nephew Ralph and little Ruth?"

"I say that if Mr. Edwards will give us his daughter to wed with Ralph on the day of the nuptials I will give the groom a thousand pounds."

"We should be pleased," said the mother, "to see the young man and make his acquaintance. If he be steady and pleases our daughter your offer will be accepted."

"Well said," replied the gentleman.

"Dinner is served," said Mrs. Edwards at this juncture. "Dine with us and we will arrange a time for you to bring your nephew."

The invitation was accepted, and when all were seated at the table the visiting gentleman bent his head reverently and said grace with great fervor. After dinner the guests were shown over the house.

"What a fine brace of weapons!" remarked the gentleman, bending over a case of pistols.

"Being the keeper of the crown jewels, I am likely to have use for them," replied Mr. Edwards.

"My friend," said the other sententiously, "do you know those pistols are just what I want for a friend of mine? What are they worth?"

"I paid a guinea for them."

"I will give you double the amount."

"No; since you wish for them you shall have them for what I paid."

When the pair left the Tower the visitor took the pistols with him.

• • • • • • • •

"Now, you men listen attentively to what I have to say. My plan is simple and can be carried out without difficulty if every one knows his part and does it. Parrot, you are to take the globe. Hunt, you are to take a file and a bag with you, make two parts of the scepter with the file and put the parts in the bag."

"What are you going to take, colonel?" asked a third man, Halloway.

"I shall take the crown. You, Halloway, are to remain outside the jewel room and watch. Let each man carry a cane with a sword in it and all the arms he can conceal in his clothing. See to it that these instructions are carried out to the letter."

"All right, colonel," said Hunt, "we'll stand by you and do our parts, but I must say that this is the most ambitious move you have ever made. To take the crown jewels of England from the Tower in broad daylight and get away with them is a bigger job than taking Old Noll's body from Westminster abbey."

• • • • • • • •

It was the 9th of May at 7 o'clock in the morning. Colonel Blood, the gentleman who had established himself in the confidence of the Edwards family, knocked at the door of the keeper's apartments with three companions, Hunt, Parrot and Halloway. Being admitted, he apologized for the nonappearance of his wife and nephew, saying that they would soon arrive. The friends he had with him desired to see the crown jewels and would Mr. Edwards kindly show them while waiting for the others? The keeper consented; the party entered the jewel room, and the door, as usual, was closed.

In a twinkling the keeper was on the floor bound and gagged. But he struggled and was stabbed. Parrot, who had worn a loose pair of breeches purposely, thrust the globe in his pocket. Blood crushed the crown to save bulk and put it under his cloak, while Hunt began to file the scepter in two parts to get it into the bag.

While this scene was being enacted a young soldier from the British army in Flanders entered the Tower gate and went to the apartment of the keeper. Throwing open the door, he took his mother into his arms and then embraced his sister.

"Where's father?" he asked.

"He's in the jewel room with some visitors."

"What's that?" exclaimed the young man, hearing a cry, and, without waiting to say more to his mother and sister, ran to the jewel room. Just before he passed in the visitors passed out. The young man found his father on the floor covered with blood, bound and gagged, but able to make a guttural sound. Pointing to the door, his son understood what he meant, and, running after the thieves, shouted to the guard to stop them. They were all taken and the regalia found on them.

"It was a bold attempt," said Blood, "but it was for a crown."

It would seem that there was nothing more to our story but to mention the hanging of Colonel Blood and his assistants at Tyburn. But the close, though not exciting, is the most remarkable chapter of all. Blood refused to plead except to the king privately. He managed to secure an interview with Charles II. and then made statements that changed the situation.

Charles had in his childhood become a wanderer in foreign lands. His father had died at the block. After many privations he had been recalled to the throne of England. His object was to pacify the various factions and cement them that he might have a peaceful reign. Under these circumstances it was natural that a desperado like Blood should affect him. He had been on both sides during the parliamentary war, at one time having joined the "fifth monarchy men." He convinced the king that his death—if he was executed—would be avenged by hundreds of his associates.

Another influence doubtless prevailed. Charles was an immoral man himself and admired any villain who was brave as well as wicked.

By hanging Blood Charles could have got rid of him, but even in his power so desperate a man was to be feared. The king pardoned him, restored his confiscated estates, and he was often thereafter seen in the presence chamber.

RIGHT AND LEFT HANDED.

A Series of School Tests and an Ambidextrous Failure.

Ever since it was proved that in all righthanded people the speech center of the brain—the place from which talking is controlled—is on the left side of the brain and that in lefthanded people it is on the right side there has existed a suspicion that if a person became ambidextrous, or able to use both hands equally well, the speech center might be doubled, and consequently talking ability might be improved. Very elaborate tests have shattered this hope.

A German specialist obtained the assistance of the school authorities and tried it out on nearly 3,000 school children. After a careful record was taken of each child's hand preference, speech ability and general capability all the children were told to try to use both hands. For many months an effort was made to have all the children become ambidextrous.

At the end of the test all the teachers and other observers agreed that, though some of the children had succeeded in becoming ambidextrous, the effort had worried them all and had shown no advantages manually or in speech that in any way recompensed for the trouble taken. Consequently the scientist has decided that nature is doing pretty well with her own system of left side speech and right hand preference.—Saturday Evening Post.

Elephants' Ears.

The African elephant is equipped with enormous ears, while his brother in India has only small ears. Both animals have small, inadequate eyes and are forced to trust to scent rather than vision in the battle of existence. The Indian elephant lives in the jungle, where odors are pungent and easily discernible, but the African elephant is a native of the plains, where the air is dry and hot and barely circulates. The heat dries the moisture out of the tiny hairs in the nostrils which connect with the sensory nerves, and it is only through flapping his enormous ears that he can create the currents of air which enable him to discern any odor at all.

Travelers are prone to ascribe the flapping of an elephant's ears to fury, but this is a mistaken notion.—Philadelphia Ledger.

MRS. JACOB WOODBECK

Mrs. Lucy Woodbeck died at her home on Shepard street early last Friday morning after a lingering illness, aged 67 years. Mrs. Woodbeck had been a resident of Hartford for the past six years

She was born at Palmyra, Lenawee county, Michigan, Nov. 8, 1847, and in 1866 was married to Elias Wraight. One daughter was born to this union, Alma, now Mrs. Chas. Fielder of Watervliet, Mich, who was with her mother during the last weeks of her life. Death early claimed her first husband and in 1872 she was married to Jacob Woodbeck Three children were born to them, two of whom survive, Anthony and John A. Woodbeck, both of whom were present at the funeral. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Maria Heydenbeck of Birdsall, Mich., and Mrs. Annis King of Tecumseh, Mich., who were unable to attend the funeral, and seven grandchildren and many friends to mourn her death, among the latter being Justice J. H. Stocum, who had boarded with Mrs. Woodbeck for several years.

Mrs. Woodbeck was a member of the Hartford Baptist church and of the local lodge of Rebekahs. Funeral services for her were held at the home Sunday afternoon, Rev. D. C. Henshaw officiating, and interment took place at Maple Hill.—The Hartford Day Spring.

BANK CHARGES HIT TREASURY HEADS

Plot to Damage Riggs National Alleged in Suit.

M'ADOO AND WILLIAMS TARGET

Injunction Against Secretary of Treasury and Comptroller of Currency Asked to Prevent Their "Usurping of Power"—Matter May Be Aired in Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Conspiracy to defame and damage the Riggs National bank was charged against Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Comptroller of the Currency John Skelton Williams in a suit filed in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The Riggs bank is affiliated with the National City Bank of New York and that institution is involved in the affairs that led up to the proceedings in court.

The allegations, which cover eighty-six typewritten pages and cover thirty-seven instances of alleged improper use of official power, are so serious that it is believed the matter must be aired in congress. Should the bank be successful in the litigation the victors will make an attempt to secure the impeachment of McAdoo and Williams.

Asked to Enjoin McAdoo.

The bill asks that Mr. Williams be enjoined from revoking the Riggs designation as a depositary for the reserves of other national banks or refusing to approve it as such depositary. An injunction to restrain Mr. McAdoo "from usurping the powers" of the treasurer of the United States, also is asked.

The court is asked in addition to find the sections of the revised statutes dealing with the examination of banks unconstitutional and void if they "must be construed as they have been and are being construed and enforced" by the defendants.

Temporary Injunction Granted.

One portion of the prayer seeks to restrain John Burke, treasurer of the United States, from payment into the treasury of $5,000, declared to be due the bank as interest on $1,000,000 of United States bonds deposited with the comptroller against its note circulation. This interest was withheld to cover penalties of $100 a day for failure of the bank to make certain reports. Once paid into the treasury, only an act of congress could get the $5,000 out, and Justice McCoy late in the day granted a temporary injunction on this phase of the case.

The justice then set April 16 as the day for answer by the defendants to show cause why permanent injunctions should not issue.

FINDS AGED WOMAN GUILTY OF MURDER

Mrs. Becker Convicted of Slaying Miss Frances Bomholt.

DETROIT, MICH. — "Guilty of murder in the first degree!"

This verdict, directed against the aged Mrs. Caroline Becker at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, just 24 hours after the jury had retired to decide her fate, shattered irrevocably her last hope for freedom and branded her a murderess, the slayer of her friend and benefactress, Miss Frances Bomholt.

Mrs. Becker was arrested on the 19th of last December, three days after her friend, Frances Bomholt, had been robbed of $15 and beaten to death. The day after her arrest Mrs. Becker confessed to the murder but the confession was not allowed as evidence, it being contended it had been forced from her by the police.

HEAD OF LITTLE SAN SILENT

Dr. C. S. Hubbard of Battle Creek Said to Have Prison Record.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — Dr. C. S. Hubbard, head of the Little San, arrested in Grayling on a charge of obtaining $600 from Mrs. Agnes Findlay under false pretences, has been brought to Battle Creek. Stories of the manner in which the doctor conducted his sanitarium are freely circulated. A number of men who said they had cashed worthless checks have made their losses known. It is believed that large sums were secured by the doctor on these checks.

Officers who have been investigating the record of the doctor before he came to Battle Creek, said that he had served seven years in a western prison and now is wanted in two western cities for charges of queer financing.

CHILD IS GIVEN CLOSE SHAVE

Car Passes Over Babe, Cut Head is only Injury.

YPSILANTI, MICH. — Gordon Metz, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Metz, was knocked down and run over by a fast interurban car. The only injury he sustained was a cut on his forehead. Dr. Ralph Southard and Motorman Gus Peterson, believing he was killed, so reported the accident.

His escape was considered little short of miraculous as he lay between the rails while the car ran over him.

SLUMBER PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Harriott was invaded by a slumber (?) party of six young ladies Wednesday evening. For awhile needles and [illegible] and fancy work progressed finely. Games and pranks of all kinds were indulged in later, and finally the hour approached for retiring. Suddenly a bear crept slowly up the stairs and in the panic that ensued one member of the party made an inglorious descent of the stairs, and stayed not on the order of her going. Sleep at last fell upon the company.

When the call came to breakfast, it was a hungry crowd that responded, and such a breakfast, it was one to tempt the most fastidious. Mrs. Harriott surely was at her best and those girls assumed their parts in a very satisfactory manner. Those present were Mrs. George Adamson of Toledo, Miss Myra White of Dundee, and the Misses Edyth Gray, Florence Aten, Gertrude Kreidler and Nealie Coller.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

HUDSON Six-40 for 1915

New Price $1,550 F. O. B. Detroit

THE 1915 GEM

The HUDSON Six-40 for 1915 offers 32 surprises.

Last year it seemed that no car could be better. And it seemed that quality cars could never sell lower.

But the HUDSON engineers—headed by Howard E. Coffin—have brought out 31 new features. And a trebled output—due to overwhelming demand—will reduce the price $200.

This light Six is lighter than ever.

It is handsomer—better-equipped. Just think—48 engineers for one whole year, have worked exclusively on refinements. Yet the price—which was never approached in a quality car—has been lowered by $200.

You will find in this new model the jewel car of the year—the final ideal in a Six. You will find many attractions shown in no other car. And a price which no one considered possible until Hudson made it possible.

Sample car can be seen at the Co-Operative Co's show room. Phone 256 for demonstration.

VILLA ON VERGE OF COLLAPSE

Condition Due to Reverses and Personal Trouble With His Officers.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS — General Villa is reported in a message from Aguas Calientes to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown, due to recent reverses of his forces and personal trouble with some of his officers.

Within four days, it is reported, he has ordered eight officers shot for imaginary failures in the discharge of their duty, but in each instance has been persuaded to reconsider by the combined efforts of his closest friends on the staff.

ROBERTS GETS SIX YEARS

Terre Haute Mayor Sentenced for Conspiracy in Election Frauds.

INDIANAPOLIS — Mayor Donn M. Roberts, one of the twenty-seven men convicted by a jury in federal court for participation in the conspiracy to defraud the government in the election in Terre Haute on Nov. 3, 1914, was sentenced by Judge Anderson to six years in Leavenworth prison, and to pay a fine of $2,000. In all, 116 men, 89 of whom had pleaded guilty, were to be sentenced.

Eli H. Redman, elected judge of the circuit court of Vigo county by ten votes, and Sheriff Dennis Shea were sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and fined $1,000 each. Harry S. Montgomery, president of the board of public works; Thomas C. Smith, city judge; George Ehrenhardt, member of board of public works, and Edward R. Driscoll, secretary of the Vigo county democratic central committee, were sentenced to three years each in the penitentiary and fined $500.

MUST NOT TIP IN WISCONSIN

Legislature Passes Bill Making Act Misdemeanor—Sent to Governor.

MADISON, WIS. — The assembly concurred in the Bosshard senate bill prohibiting tipping. The bill, which now goes to the governor for approval and which is to go into effect Sept. 1 next, provides that any employe who accepts tips or any employer who knowingly permits an employe to accept tips shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Railroads and hotels are required to post copies of the law. The penalty for its violation is a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $25, or imprisonment not to exceed thirty days.

OSSOWETZ AGAIN BEING SHELLED

Germans Begin New Fighting In Poland With Huge Guns.

ATTEMPTING TO FIRE THE CITY

Vigorous Offensive Against the Soldiers of the Czar Is Commenced by Von Hindenburg's Forces—Believed Bluff in Petrograd—Severe Fighting Resumed in Flanders.

PETROGRAD — The Germans have launched a new offensive movement in Poland, from Suwalki southward to the Vistula, according to a semi-official statement from the war office. They have resumed the bombardment of Ossowetz, abandoned nearly a fortnight ago, and are making infantry attacks against the Russian positions elsewhere.

In their new attack against Ossowetz fortress the kaiser's troops are combining ancient and modern methods of warfare. Their aviators are hurling bombs by daynight, while heavy siege guns smash away at the outer forts. By night the enemy is attempting to fire the City of Ossowetz by the use of incendiary bombs and floating fire rafts.

Fire Rafts Floated.

Four of these fire rafts were sent down the Biebriza River late at night, following an all-day bombardment in which one of the German batteries was silenced by the fortress guns. The swollen waters of the Biebriza carried the flaming piles down upon the city at the rate of nearly eight miles an hour. Simultaneously the German guns opened fire upon Ossowetz, shell screaming across the river and exploding near the region where the Biebriza penetrates the heart of the city.

Volunteer fire corps were sent up the river in motor boats. Before they arrived the fortress guns got the range of the flaming rafts and sent them to the bottom.

Near Jedvabno, midway between Lomza and Ossowetz, the Germans made several impetuous charges against the Russian trenches. In each instance the attacks were preceded by showers of hand bombs, but the enemy was repulsed with comparatively heavy losses. Around Suwalki the Slavs captured four guns and many prisoners in an engagement that began Saturday.

See Attempt at Diversion.

The general staff has no fear that the new activities of the Germans in Poland constitute any actual resumption of the attempt to reach the Warsaw-Petrograd railways. Von Hindenburg, it is generally believed, is creating a diversion with a view of preventing any Russian troops from being withdrawn from Poland for the Carpathian operations, or perhaps to conceal the weakening of the German forces in Poland.

Severe Fighting Resumed in Flanders.

LONDON, ENG. — Severe fighting has been resumed near the seacoast in Flanders, according to Amsterdam dispatches, with the Belgians again attempting to expel the Germans from Drei Grachten on the western bank of the Yser.

Hand-to-hand combats in the streets of Drei Grachten and the villages to the southwest are increasing in violence.

New York Anarchists Found Guilty.

NEW YORK — Frank Abarno and Carmine Carbone were found guilty of placing a bomb in St. Patrick's cathedral on the morning of March 2, when 700 persons were at mass. The extreme penalty for their offense is twenty-five years in state prison, but it is deemed unlikely that this penalty will be exacted, the jury having made a recommendation of mercy.

Villa Troops Defeated.

LAREDO, TEXAS — Villa troops were defeated shortly after noon in a battle with Carranza forces between Huisachito and Jarita, thirty miles south of Nuevo Laredo, opposite this city, according to a telephone message received here. The constitutionalist force numbered about 2,000 men and the Villista army 1,500.

VOICE FROM GRAVE IN CHURCH CONTROVERSY

Proof of Forgery Is Claimed In Devona Case.

PORT HURON, MICH. — When the controversy involving the St. Clair Episcopal church is brought up in circuit court here next Thursday, the judge will hear a voice from the grave which, it is believed, will have a strong bearing on the efforts of Bishop Williams to depose Rev. F. S. Devona.

It will be in the nature of depositions of the children of the late Thaddeus Bacon, tending to show that the signature attached to the church deed was forged. The testimony of a witness Friday was to the effect that the signature was not genuine, and depositions will be taken in California where are located the children of Mr. Bacon, an officer of the church in 1881.

WOULD WIND UP ITS AFFAIRS

Battle Creek Building & Loan Association Plans Liquidation.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — While a Lansing report that the Battle Creek Building & Loan association had decided to liquidate is not altogether true, a meeting of stockholders will be called by President W. H. Hamilton to consider such action, according to Attorney W. S. Powers.

Powers insists the concern is solvent. If there is a liquidation, he says, the trustee in charge will carry out all contracts and wind up all old business, though accepting no new business. A. C. Kingsman, making an audit of the books, states the work will require at least another week.

CHARGES BILL WET SCHEME

Kimmerling Measure Clever Move, Says Representative Moore.

ADRIAN, MICH. — Characterizing the proposed bill of Rep. Kimmerling, of Monroe, looking to the prohibition of all shipments of liquor into dry territory as a clever move to kill local option in counties already dry. Rep. Moore, of Lenawee county, has announced that he will fight this or any similar measure to a finish.

"I'm a prohibitionist myself," said Mr. Moore, "but I'm convinced that this is a wet move, pure and simple." Rep. Moore will lead the fight in the house for Sen. Straight's state-wide prohibition bill.

Haffner Case Is Adjourned.

DOWAGIAC, MICH. — Hearing in the case of George Haner, Lennon banker, charged with the forgery of a note for $1,250 was adjourned until April 27. The case went over on agreement of attorneys, who in conference with Prosecuting Attorney Hu obtained from him promise that be would investigate it thoroughly before he goes any farther.

Attorneys for the defense claim a conspiracy against Haffner.

COMMERCE CLUB

Banquet a Big Success. About 300 in Attendance

SEVERAL OUT-OF TOWN SPEAKERS HERE.

The annual Tecumseh Commerce Club banquet was held Wednesday evening at Witherell hall. About 300 men gathered together for this annual event. Four long tables stretched the full length of the hall with a speakers table arranged facing them across the north end. Each table was neatly arranged and decorated with cut flowers. Flags were stretched from corner to corner and upon the walls were placed placards upon which were printed very apt suggestions such as, "This is Tecumseh, the biggest little town on earth," and "Schoolhouses are built for children, not forever," etc. Coller's orchestra furnished music during the evening.

At 6:45 the Banquet hall was thrown open and the guests marched in to music played by the orchestra and took their places. Rev. W. B. Hartzog pronounced the invocation.

A bountiful four course dinner was served under the direction of Wade Jones and Earl Updike and served by a corps of high school boys.

After the dinner the meeting was called to order by President J. J. Belcher, who proceeded with a short business session. The following executive members of the Commerce Club were elected for the ensuing year: J. J. Belcher, Floyd Heesen, F. S. Anderson, Levi Hayden, Channing Beebe, Charles H. Williamson, Wade Jones, Herbert Temple and C. A. Wright.

President Belcher then in a few well chosen words introduced the toast master of the evening, Gen'l F. B. Wood and as a toastmaster. Gen'l Wood was perfectly at home.

The first speaker, John C. Ketcham, Master of the State Grange was introduced as one Tecumseh might claim as her own, as his was a Lenawee county name and some of his earlier life was spent here. Mr. Ketcham, took for his subject, "Get Together." He stated that it was a pleasure for him to be in Tecumseh again and that he remembered vividly many of his earlier experiences in Tecumseh. He learned to fish in Evans Creek, to swim in Hayden mill pond, played ball at the old ball grounds and sat at the feet of Alice Wimple during his early school life here. (Perhaps this is the reason for his ability as an after dinner speaker.)

One point he wished his hearers to remember, to take away with them and he called it his text was, "We invite you to work with us, as we propose to work with you, for the good of both of us." "No city or town can get very far without this together spirit" he said and and pleaded for that spirit here. "Get together, drop petty jealousies, grudges, fault finding and everyone boost for." "Make your home town so good to you that whereever you go or whatever you see, that your return to the home town will look the best to you of anything you have seen." "The trouble with every town" and he thought we might have the same trouble here, "is that we might have many knockers and not enough boosters." He complimented Tecumseh on its splendid organization its Commerce club and thought it ought to be made a power for splendid work for the good of Tecumseh.

He touched briefly upon the subject of good roads, not on the statewide plan but the local plan. Building roads leading to the local markets.

A few years ago nine out of every ten people in this country were farmers, last year only two out of ten were on the farm, but the times were changing with the back to the farm movement. The tariff is a great issue and one used the most by politician while making their campaign for votes but a question far more vital to this country is the question of the farmers crops. He spoke of the enormous waste in getting the products of the farm to the consumer.

Mr. Ketcham was first on the program so as to enable him to catch the 9 o'clock train.

Toastmaster Wood then introduced Supt. W. L. Reed who took for his subject "The Training of the Next Generation in Tecumseh." He gave a very interesting talk on our schools, outlined some of the work which the State is trying to introduce and explained the "6 and 6 plan."

"Up to the 6th grade," he said, "the course of study remained about the same, but beginning with the 7th the pupil had the right to choose for himself the studies he wished with the exception of a few which he was compelled to take. In this town there are 75 boys and girls of school age who are not in school and the question is, why are they out of school and how to keep them in."

Supt. Reed pointed out the condition of our school property here and what the state authorities were saying about us. Recently a bill has passed the State Legislature which gives the state authorities the power to condemn all schools which they deem unsafe, unsanitary and unfit for school work. Not a single school in Tecumseh would pass an examination by state authorities, the west branch being the best of the four. He pointed out the necessity of having good buildings and equipment if we hope to train the child properly. We would like to dwell at large upon Supt. Reed's talk but time and space forbids and will add in closing that he appealed to the loyalty of Tecumseh people to take care of this question before the state authorities took it up for them.

The next speaker was Mayor Sparks of Jackson on "Commission Form of Government." Mayor Sparks gave us facts and figures about Jackson's city government—what could be accomplished by paid experts whose business it is to run city affairs on a business basis. He quoted facts and figures from the first three months of this year as compared with the same period last year. What is good for larger places is good for the smaller towns and he urged Tecumseh to get on the band wagon and establish a commission form of government.

Rev. G. W. Jennings spoke on "The Preacher and the Business Man" Rev. Jennings demonstrated his ability as an after dinner speaker and kept his hearers in good humor throughout his talk, keeping up a continuous fire of stories. Rev. Jennings said he never lived in a community where he hadn't entered into the spirit of the place, there interests were his.

He complemented the Commerce Club on the success of the Banquet and the gathering to-gather of such a fine assembly of men and united they would be a great force for betterment and progress in Tecumseh and looking into their faces he could not help but think how often he had seen all of them in attendance at his two Sunday services.

He saw no reason why the Preacher and the Business man should not get together, for what was good for the one, was good for the other, and pleaded for this "Get together" movement, drop petty differences and boost.

Toastmaster Wood read a message of regret from P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, who was unable to be present and then introduced the last speaker, Edwin L. Frensdorf of Hudson, who spoke on "Politics, or Something or Other".

Friend Frensdorf spoke of his friendship for Tecumseh and his interest in its people. He took up the subject of Schools and told how Hudson had built a new high school at a cost of $75,000. He urged Tecumseh people to do their duty for their children and neighbor's children, and when they were ready to take up the High School question, to send a delegation over to Hudson to look over their school, and that he, himself, would be pleased to entertain them at his expense and show them their building and what they were doing. Mr. Frensdorf stated that 88 per cent of the prisoners confined in Jackson prison had not gone farther than the fourth grade in school, showing how important an education is to our boys and girls. He took the occasion to say a good word for Tecumseh, good old Lenawee County, and touch briefly on the good road question.

The Commerce Club banquet this year is perhaps the best they have yet given, and the credit is due to a few of our business men, who got out and hustled for its success. To plan a large banquet like this one, and to have everything pass off without a hitch, means a lot of hard work. The men who sacrificed their time to make this banquet a success are J. J. Belcher, F. S. Anderson, C. H. Williamson, Floyd G. Heesen, James McDermott, Wade Jones, James Russell, George Rathbun, Herbert Temple.

This year the dinner was prepared by the refreshment committee and it was some dinner too. As chefs, Floyd Heesen, James McDermott, and Chas. N. Williamson excel.

"Enlarging the scrap pile" (being a review of some of the things heard at the Commercial Club banquet) is the sermon subject at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Evening subject "Killing lion and bear." Special music at both services

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks. 33

K C Jelly Roll

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 2 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; ¼ cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Spreader Announcement

Last week we sold our first Steel Lowdown Cloverleaf Manure Spreader. We will say frankly that in all our experience with spreaders, we never saw one work so well as this, it beats anything we have ever seen or heard of.

It is narrow in width, low built, steel construction and very light in draft, having no sidedraft when used with three horses, has the builtin, wide spread attachment so you can evenly cover the ground from 6 feet to 12 feet as you wish even in a wind storm blowing the manure.

We know of no other machine in the same class. We know you will agree with this statement after seeing it.

At all times our Temple's Service Insurance goes with this machine as on all of our many other lines.

THE SENIORS AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The entertainment at the Opera house Thursday evening under the auspices of the Seniors of T. H. S. was a very unique affair. The pictures were very interesting The solo by Miss Lillian Kennedy, accompanied by Irena Conklin on the piano, and Leon McLachlin on the violin, was exceptionaly good. The Girls' Glee Club of T. H. S. certainly deserves great credit for its fine music, but the Symphony orchestra put every thing in the shade with its fine execution, its wonderful time, and the grace of the performers. The class deserve much credit for the success of the entertainment.

Win High School Oratorical.

HILLSDALE, MICH. — At the fourth sub-district high school oratorical contest Harold Johnson, of Hillsdale, won first place in oratory, and Vera Baker, of Montgomery, first in the declamatory contest. Will Older, of Adrian, and Jack Cook, of Hillsdale, were second. The other contestants were: John Chantney, of Jackson; John Dunn, of Adrian, and Wilbur Pluck, of Prattville.

To Pay Defendant's Board.

MONROE, MICH. — The attorneys of Miss Alvina La Branche, the Detroit dress maker, notified Sheriff Cronenwett that they would see that the board of Henry Herbst, defendant in her breach of promise suit, surrendered by his bondsmen on a body execution, was paid.

This vetoed the sheriff's threat to release Herbst and leaves him in jail for an indefinite time.

Boys Boast of Crimes.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — "We have committed every crime except murder," boasted Sidney Mahood, seventeen, arrested here for burglary. Mahood, with Wenthrop Burch, eighteen years old, female impersonator, faces a prison term. The youths are charged with the burglary of the Helmer-Goodale Drug company.

Daughter Suicide; Auto Hits Mother.

SAGINAW, MICH. — As Mrs. Ida Wolverton left an undertaking establishment after arranging for the burial of her daughter, Mrs. William Keppler, who had committed suicide, she was struck and severely injured by an automobile. Inside Facts About The Leonard Cleanable

IT is the inside of a refrigerator that counts. And no refrigerator is better than its lining. If it is lined with zinc or sheet iron, no matter how it is painted and enameled, it cannot possibly be sanitary.

In the Leonard Cleanable the lining is of genuine porcelain—all in one piece. No joints, no cracks, no crevices to harbor germs and give out odors. You wash it with soap and water as you clean a dish. You can tell this lining from others for it cannot be scratched or marred, even with a hat pin or knife blade.

Don't accept any other refrigerator than the genuine Leonard Cleanable. Look for the name and be sure. Let us show you this splendid refrigerator and explain its many good qualities. It is made in the largest refrigerator plant in the world and, in our opinion, the best.

A Nervous Wreck

Had No Desire To Live

Peruna Is A Tonic and Strength Builder So Says

Mrs. Frank Stroebe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis. Her letter reads: "I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live.

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life.

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement."

Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 79, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder."

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW
What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Tecumseh Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that

Backache pains often come from weak kidneys,

'Twould save much needless woe.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Many women of this vicinity endorse them.

Mrs. T. Thorpe, 128 N. Main St., Adrian, Mich., says: Doan's Kidney Pills have proven very valuable to me and others of my family, bringing relief from kidney trouble. I publicly recommended this remedy before and I can now say that the benefit has been lasting."

Nothing so Good for a Cough or Cold

When you have a cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. There are many who consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unsurpassed. Mrs. J. Boroff, Elida, Ohio, says, "Ever since my daughter Ruth was cured of a severe cold and cough by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy two years ago, I have felt kindly disposed toward the manufacturers of that preparation. I know of nothing so quick to relieve a cough or cure a cold." For sale by all dealers. adv

Make Good Work Possible

You cannot do good work while your bowels are sluggish or your liver torpid. Wm. O. E. Bielke, Mgr. Scott Hotel, Hancock, Mich., says: "I gave Foley Cathartic Tablets a thorough trial, and find them a mild but safe cathartic." Foley Cathartic Tablets never gripe or cause nausea. They do away with that drowsy, dull, tired feeling and are wholesome, cleansing and healthful. Most satisfactory for stout persons. For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

Man Takes His Own Medicine is an Optimist

He has absolute faith in his medicine—he knows when he takes it for certain ailments he gets relief. People who take Dr. King's New Discovery for an irritating Cold are optimists—they know this cough remedy will penetrate the linings of the throat, kill the germs, and open the way for Nature to act. You can't destroy a cold by superficial treatment—you must go to the cause of the trouble. Be an optimist. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to day. adv

The Practice of Kicking.

Kicking, like charity, should begin at home. It ought to be the duty of everybody at home to object persistently and effectively to the specific overcrowded street car, the badly paved road, the encroaching doorstep, the neglected yard, the malodorous cesspool, the irresponsible motorcar and the reckless railroad—especially if he have any personal part in the maintenance of similar abuses. If the tendency of these evils were rightly apprehended, if a part only of the effort that is expended presumably in objecting to the generalized, foreign and futile subjects were bestowed on specific and tangible details, if we would forego the emotional pleasure of the impersonal "muckrake" to assail the evil at our very feet—especially if each one of us were careful to avoid offense in matters of the same kind—our country would surely be a much fairer one.—Unpopular Review.

No Accent.

Many stories are told of a former Canadian bishop who had passed his youth in Scotland, but flattered himself that not a hint of his origin could be gained from his speech or manner.

One day he met a Scotchman, to whom he said at last abruptly, "Hoo lang hae ye been here?"

"Aboot sax years," was the reply.

"Hoot, mon!" said the bishop sharply. "Why hae ye na lost yer accent, like mysel'?"

MORE STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

Mrs. Hutchison—Eighty-One Years Old—Uses No Other Tonic but Vinol and Recommends It to Friends.

Greenville, S.C.—"It is with pleasure I tell others of the great benefit I have derived from Vinol, for the past several years. I am 81 years old and I find Vinol gives me strength, a healthy appetite and overcomes nervous disorders. Vinol is the only tonic reconstructor I have used for several years. I have recommended it to a great many of my friends and it has always proved satisfactory." — Mrs. M. A. HUTCHISON, Greenville, S. C.

Such cases as the above are constantly coming to our attention. If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

It is the tissue building, curative elements of the cod's livers, aided by the blood making strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol, that makes it so successful in building up strength for old people, delicate children and for all run-down conditions. Vinol is also a most successful remedy for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis. If it fails to benefit any one who tries it we return your money.

MY SHADOWER

An Episode in Mexico Under Huerta.

By JOHN TURNLEE

I was a banker in the City of Mexico the latter part of the Diaz regime during the revolution that deposed him and the one that raised Huerta to the dictatorship. It was soon after Huerta came to power that about $50,000 disappeared from the vaults of the bank with which I was connected. The best detectives in Mexico were put to work to find out who was the thief and what had become of the money, but they never succeeded in getting the slightest clew.

During the period when Huerta was acting as provisional president—that is, before he had declared himself dictator—I was a commercial traveler in northern Mexico. The Constitutionalists were in possession of that part of the country, and traveling was dangerous. In the first place, the region was infested by robbers; in the second, any point was liable to be attacked by federals or rebels, and in the third one hailing from Mexico City ran the risk of being taken for a spy.

WE SAT FACING EACH OTHER.

While eating dinner one day at a hotel in Chihuahua, looking up suddenly, I met the gaze of a man bent on me intently. The moment I looked at him he dropped his eyes to his plate. Two or three times after that during the meal I looked at him just in time to catch him turning away his gaze. He did not look like a soldier or a fighter of any kind. He wore mutton chop whiskers and was bald on the top of his head.

I was fearful that I had seen him, or, rather, he had seen me, at the capital; that he was in sympathy with the rebel cause—the Constitutionalists held the place—and suspected me of being identified with the Huerta government. I arose from the table before I had finished my dinner in order to get away from him.

I was making for home, because on account of the troubled conditions of the country the selling of goods was out of the question, and left immediately for Santa Rosalia, about a hundred miles to the southward. There I stopped over to try to collect a debt. The day after my arrival I was looking out of a window when, on the other side of the street, I saw a figure suddenly emerge from behind a tree box. It was the man who had stared at me at Chihuahua.

I now became thoroughly alarmed. Either the man had spotted me for a spy and was dogging me with a view to turning me over to the rebel authorities or he was after several hundred pesos I had on my person. If the former was his object he would watch for his opportunity when near a band of rebels; if the latter, when he could get me alone, though I rather suspected, in this event, that he was in league with a band of robbers.

I was a long distance from Mexico City and despaired of getting through without giving the man his opportunity. We were constantly falling in with rebel troops, and I was at times obliged to move through lonely places. I was armed—every one in Mexico carried a revolver—but what use would weapons be to me against a band of rebels or robbers who quite often were both?

I left Santa Rosalia at midnight, hoping to elude my shadower, and instead of going by a direct route toward home I struck out for Parral. I thought it best to stop at the latter town for a day or two in the hope of losing my man and remained within doors most of the time. But the second evening of my stay there I went out on the street to get a little air, for the day had been intensely hot. Stopping to look into a shop window, who should I see inside but the man whom I was trying to get rid of. He was not purchasing anything, but was talking with the shopkeeper. I had no doubt that he was describing me and asking the man if he had seen me.

I slunk back to my hotel and went to my room.

I remained housed for three days; then, thinking that possibly I might have given my shadower the slip, I continued my journey. A week passed, during which I was moving slowly southward. I began to feel easier with regard to him, for it seemed that if he was still on my track I should have seen something of him. It was evident that he had lost me without having found an opportunity to turn me over to one of the rebel commanders or rob me. I was getting nearer all the while to federal territory, and if I could once get within it would feel comparatively safe.

I was doomed to disappointment. Tampico seemed for me the easiest point to reach, and from there I might go by sea to Vera Cruz. Both places were then in federal hands, but before I reached Tampico it was besieged by rebels. At Victoria I heard of the rupture between Huerta and the United States.

Puzzled as to what to do, I stopped where I was. I was in rebel territory and could not get into the federal lines. Foreign refugees were leaving Mexico when they could, and I was tempted to do the same. But I had lived a long while in the country, and if I were to go away from it I did not know how I would make a living.

I was walking through the town one day when suddenly I encountered my shadower face to face. On this occasion he seemed as much rattled at the meeting as I. He started, put his hand to his hip, thought better of the movement and did not draw his weapon. I followed his movements exactly.

"You villain!" I exclaimed. "Raise a finger against me and I will kill you."

"If you do my secret will be buried with me," he said, very much excited.

I gathered courage. For some reason, either because he was unaided or because we were on a public street, I seemed to have the advantage. I concluded to permit him to e[illegible] object toward me if he would without betraying my ignorance of it. I glared at him and said nothing.

"I am ready to restore the whole amount," he said, "not that you could, in the present state of the country, compel me to do so or imprison me for the crime."

"Go on," I said without indicating that I did not know what he was talking about.

"The fact is," he continued, "that I have not had a moment's peace of mind since I took the money."

"That is the usual result with new criminals," I put in, still ignorant of what money he referred to.

"Not a cent has been wasted, not a cent spent. The bills are in packages just as they were taken from the safe."

A sudden light broke in on my dull brain. This man who I supposed had been shadowing me had considered me his shadower. Truly, a guilty conscience needs no accuser.

"Where are they?" I asked.

"I'll never tell until I am promised immunity from prosecution."

"Will you be content with such a promise from me?"

He thought awhile before replying to this, then said: "I suppose I'll have to be content. You were an official of the bank. In these times we can't choose our methods. My principal motive is to get the matter off my hands and off my conscience."

"Very well; so far as my promise of immunity goes I will give it, and I think it will be respected by the others concerned. If the whole amount taken is restored I am quite sure you will not need to fear prosecution."

"Come to my room and draw up the papers."

I went with him and, as we sat facing each other, listened to his recital as to how he came to take the money:

"One of the clerks in the bank was a friend of mine. I had been for years in the employ of a safe and lock company. The clerk suggested how easy it would be for him to admit me to the safe and for me to pick the lock and take enough money to make us rich. We both fell under the temptation. On pretense of being behind with his books he worked at night, took me in when no one but himself was there, and I opened the safe and took the money.

"I carried it northward, crossed the Rio Grande and buried it in a metal box in the state of Texas. The clerk who admitted me to the bank became panic stricken at what he had done and would not accept a cent of it. I dared not spend it, for I knew detectives were watching me, as they watched all intimate friends of the bank's force. And that's the reason why the secret service men never got on to who took the money. None of it was ever spent."

The man concluded by saying that he had known I was an officer of the bank and asked me to tell him how I had spotted him. Then I confessed that I was perfectly ignorant of his being the thief of the money lost until he told me that he was. But he was so relieved to get the matter off his mind that he did not regret the mis- [illegible]

After I had sworn to the man to keep the secret pertaining to himself and the clerk who had helped him we started together for the Texas border, crossed it in a lonely place on the north bank of the Rio Grande and dug up the stolen bills. I deposited the money, dividing it among several different Texas banks, and wrote those concerned on its return an account of the adventure by which I had discovered it.

I gave the man who had returned it funds for his immediate use from my own pocket, and he went I know not whither. My terror when I supposed I was in danger of my life was turned to amusement at the denouement, and the further I pass from the former the more I derive of the latter.

NAVAL TORPEDOES.

Intricate Mechanism of These Awful Engines of Destruction.

At the torpedo's head is an explosive chamber which holds damp guncotton. This is fired by means of a rod which, on contact with the walls of a ship, is driven in upon a detonator. This fires a primer, which in turn explodes the guncotton.

The next chamber stores compressed air to the pressure of 2,000 pounds to the square inch. This is practically the boiler room of the torpedo, for it supplies the motive power to the four cylinder engine which drives it through the water on its errand of destruction.

Next comes the wonderful gyroscopic control of the air motor by which the rudders are adjusted. This is where the intricate mechanism of the torpedo is so clearly demonstrated. Should it rise or dip in the water this gyroscope actuates a motor which in turn operates rods related with the rudders and at once readjusts any deflection from the course originally set.

The motor mentioned is but a few inches in length, yet the power it exerts by means of compressed air is such that the pressure of half an ounce operated by the steering gear produces a pull of 160 pounds on the rudders.

This terrible fish's tail holds wheel gearing for the driving of two propellers and the manipulation of the rudders. The propellers revolve in opposite directions, thereby preventing the torpedo describing a circle.—London Answers.

Women and the Old Olympic Games.

One rule of the original Olympic games could not be followed nowadays without provoking serious troubles. Women were not allowed to be present or even to be anywhere in the district when the games were being celebrated on pain of being hurled from a precipitous rock. This rule is believed to have been defied only once, when the offender was pardoned in consideration of the fact that her father, brothers and son had been victors in the games. One particular priestess, however, was not only exempt from this law, but was accommodated with a special front seat on an altar of white marble, and women were allowed to enter chariots for the races, though they might not be present to see them win.

SLEEPING SOLDIER IS SLAIN

Indiana Mother Receives Particulars of Son's Death in Texas.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 19.—That George Dewey Schwartzstrauber, seventeen years old, son of Mrs. Ida Dunn of this city, was murdered in cold blood by one of his comrades, John Cedergreen, in a regiment at Texas City, was charged in a letter received from Capt. C. S. Fries, commanding the men's company. Mrs. Dunn had received a telegram saying that her son had been killed by a rifle shot. The victim was buried after services held here.

Captain Fries wrote that Schwartzstrauber and his comrade had a fight, and early the next morning Cedergren shot Schwartzstrauber as he slept. Cedergren was turned over to the civil authorities at Galveston to be tried for murder. The victim is survived by his widow, his mother and his father, George Schwartzstrauber.

Aged Man Believed Suicide.

Alexandrit, Ind., April 19.—John Lemon, eighty years old, a former resident of Anderson, killed himself in the woods on a farm owned by his brother, Joseph Lemon, near here. He had borrowed a shotgun to kill sparrows, but it is believed he shot himself purposely. He is survived by a son and a daughter.

Killed by Base Ball Bat.

Grass Lake, Mich., April 19.—Paul Ziegler, a high school student, was accidentally struck on the head by a schoolmate with a base ball bat, and died later.

CURE DESTROYS ITS OBJECTS

Antidope Law Causes Eleven Deaths in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., April 19.—Enforcement of the Harrison law, a federal act designed to prohibit the sale of habit-forming drugs, caused at least eleven deaths in Chicago during March—the first month that the law has been operative, according to a report by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman.

The report sets forth that only two deaths traceable to drug poisoning were recorded in the three preceding months before the law went into effect.

John Bunny's Death Exaggerated.

New York, April 19.—John Bunny, the motion picture comedian, who has been ill for more than three weeks, was said to have passed the crisis of his illness and to be on the way to recovery. Earlier reports stated he was dead.

NAIL DOWN YOUR TOWN LOTS

Here's a Guy Accused of Hauling Off Road.

Gary, Ind., April 19.—Thefts of a bungalow and the city pest house have occurred here in the past, but it remained for Steve Chorlek to be arrested for stealing a gravel road.

Special Officer Gus Newman found Chorlek digging up the road parallel to the Gary and Western Highline, and doing a land office business in selling the gravel, the officer charges.

"HELP WANTED"

Jack Lait's big New York and Chicago success, "Help Wanted," is coming. After making the most phenomenal theatrical run ever known in Chicago at the Cort Theatre, "Help Wanted," will be seen at the Bradley Opera House on Wednesdoy April 28, with the same cast that has been smashing all records through the middle west. Running half a year on Broadway, and with a record of 39 weeks at the Cort Theatre in Chicago, "Help Wanted," comes with the strongest credential to draw a capacity house of any show that has visited this city in a decade. It is surpassing both "Within the Law" and "Peg O' My Heart," for business.

Ada Simpson, as the little college graduate, in "HELP WANTED" which comes to the Bradley Opera House, Wednesday April 28

If you are a working girl, or if you are thinking of going to work in an office, the story of Jack Lait's success, "Help Wanted," will make the greatest sort of an appeal. For 39 weeks this play ran at the Cort Theatre, ond it is safe to say not a single stenographer in Chicago missed seeing it. The action of the piece takes place chiefly in a business office and home of a rick importer, who, despite the fact that he is married is random in his affections. The story deals with his attitude toward young women in his employ. One of these, a seventeen year old girl, has never been in the presence of men as a rule, and in a little while she is forced to leave her position in the office. The importer's step-son is in love with the girl and he makes up his mind to marry her, and in the importer narrowly escapes a calamity with his wife, and he is cured. This is a familiar story to hundreds of American girls, and with what is already known of the high standard of the play through the long New York and Chicago engagements, the engagement is this city will unquestionably carry with it a capacity house.

DRY FORCES PLAN TO STORM LAWMAKERS

"On to Washington" to Be Cry in Big Demonstration.

Washington, April 19.—One of the most picturesque developments in the fight of the anti-liquor people to secure national prohibition came to light here with the announcement of the strong probability that in one of the sessions of the next congress there will be inaugurated an "On to Washington" movement by those who sympathize with the propaganda. In brief, the plan, as it is outlined at this time, is to have many thousands of men and women report on a certain day and surround the capitol to give a demonstration of the widespread prohibition sentiment.

Such a demonstration, if carried out, will cost hundreds of thousands of dollars, as it is planned to bring many thousands of people to the capital. It will be known as "white ribbon day in Washington."

FOOL DEED CAUSES TRAGEDY

Woman Tries to Beat Train Over Crossing; Two Killed.

Wabash, Ind., April 19.—Mrs. C. B. Earl, thirty-five years old, wife of an oil driller, and her daughter, three, were killed here when their buggy was struck by a fast Wabash passenger train. The mother, daughter and son, six years old, were driving to the oil fields at the time of the accident. Despite the fact that Mrs. Earl saw the approaching train and several pedestrians attempted to stop the horse, she urged the animal forward, believing that she could cross the track in time.

The boy is still unconscious and probably will die.

FINDER MAY YET BE LUCKY

Woman Searches for Her Own Ring; Finds Another's.

St. Clair, Mich., April 19.—Mrs. Charles Schiappacassee lost a ring while bathing in the St. Clair river two years ago. She was surprised recently when Mrs. George C. Solis returned it to her.

Mrs. Solis also lost a ring and went to the river to search for it. She failed to find her own, but did locate the one Mrs. Schiappacassee lost.

WHEN AND HOW WE SHOULD SPRAY

Everyone who has given the matter any attention, realizes that it is not possible to grow first-class fruit without spraying the trees If one has not demonstrated to his own satisfaction that it will be a profitable investment it is only necessary to experiment with a few trees; or, better yet, interview any up-to-date grower, since all of them are convinced from experience that sprayink pays as an investment and practically insures a crop of fruit if other conditions are favorable.

In order to secure satisfactory results, the proper materials must be used and the work should be done in a thorough manner and at the right intervals. After the new growth has started it is important that the leaves and fruit be covered continuously with substances which will prevent the attack of insects and diseases. For the most part, the dangerous insects are those which eat either the leaves or the fruit and, for all such pests, arsenic of lead should be used at the rate of 2 to 3 pounds of paste, or one-half that amount of the powder in 50 gallons of water.

For the fungous diseases of fruit trees, such as the scab upon apples and pears, the rot and leaf-blight of plums and cherries, and the leaf-curl of the peach, commercial lime-sulphur solution is the remedy preferred. It can be used for apples and pears after the growth had started at the rate of 1 gallon to 35 gallons of water, but 1 gallon to 50 gallons will be sufficient for cheeries and plums. Since the spraying for the leaf-curl of the peach must be done before the buds have swollen, the strength may be increased to 1 in 6. When used upon the foliage of peaches and Japanese plums for the prevention of brown-rot and leaf-blight, not more than 1 quart of lime-sulphur should be used for 50 gallons of water, but two pounds of flour of sulpher and the same amount of dydrated lime, made into a paste, should be added just before it is used. The labor of spraying is greatly reduced since it is possible to combine the arsenate of lead with the lime-sulpher solution.

The first application should be made as soon as the growth has started and there is anything to spray, which will be about the time the blossom buds have developed so that the individual flowers may be seen. This will be when the flower buds are in "the pink."

The second application should be given within a week after the petals have fallen and the fruit has set; and a third spraying can generally be given to advantage two to three weeks later. Just how many other applications may be made with profit will depend upon the season, the prevalence of the insects and fungi, as well as upon varieties of the fruit, some of which require more attention than others. In some cases, a fourth application will be needed three weeks after the third; and, for winter varieties of apples, and for varieties of plums and peaches that are subject to the attack of the brown-rot one or more applications in the early part of August should be made.

NEW RAIL RATE IS PLEASING

Citizens Say Freight Reduction Saves Adrian Fence Industry.

Adrian, Mich., April 19.—Local fence manufacturers and citizens generally received word of a reduction in freight rates on wire fencing with satisfaction. The reduction came after a meeting in Chicago of the different roads connecting with the Pittsburg district.

The voluntary decision of the New York Central to follow the example of the Wabash in granting a reduction of three cents means that the wire fence industry, on which Adrian is practically built, is saved to the city.

PLOTTERS CAMP ON TRAIL OF M'COMBS

Cable Said to Be Working to Retire Democratic Head.

Albany, N. Y., April 19.—A row is brewing in the Democratic national committee. A cabal is at work in Washington plotting to bring about the retirement of William McCombs as chairman. Mr. McCombs will not quit without a fight. His friends say that he will resist to the end any attempt to force his retirement.

For several days articles have been appearing in the newspapers under Washington date lines to the effect that Mr. McCombs might retire on account of "poor health." These articles began to appear immediately after Homer S. Cummings, national committeeman from Connecticut, had called at the White House and discussed national affairs with the president. Mr. Cummings himself was mentioned in some of the articles as thet probable successor of Mr. McCombs and in others Jos. P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, has been suggested as the man upon whom the mantle of authority would fall.

Mr. McCombs resents the suggestion that he is thinking of getting out and does not hesitate to say that there will be a merry fight if any attempt of this character is made. New York state Democrats do not expect to see President Wilson openly align himself against McCombs. Yet the movement is said to be finding encouragement in quarters very close to the White House.

FARMERS GAIN $200,000,000

Europe's War Proves Ill Wind Blowing Good to Middle West.

Chicago, April 19.—Europe's war has enriched middle west farmers approximately $200,000,000. This money has gone chiefly to growers of grains. What speculators have made because of the war perhaps never will be known.

Fifty million dollars, it is conservatively estimated, that would not have been forthcoming via increased prices had it not been for the war, have been poured into the coffers of the packers.

NEGRO PROOF FALSE, ALLEGES MRS. LITTLE

"Bride Without a Race" Says She Is White.

Detroit, April 19.—Mrs. Alma Boone Little, "the bride without a race," is back in Detroit, after an absence of two weeks, with a statement which she declares will tear to shreds affidavits tending to show she is a negro woman. Her husband, Arthur Little, a druggist, is lately returned from Xenia, O., where he obtained affidavits from school, court and church officials showing that Mrs. Little attended schools for blacks, was a member of a Negro church and always associated with members of the black race.

"The affidavits prove nothing," said Mrs. Little. "I am white—white, and my husband knows it. When I was a little girl my foster mother, Mrs. Jefferson, now of Cincinnati, but formerly Mrs. Wade of Denver and Xenia, took me to the Ohio city. My foster mother is of Negro extraction. My husband's affidavits show that I was entered at the Xenia schools as a Negro girl. This is true. My foster mother was black and at that time she had not told anybody, not even me, that I was not her real child.

"I did not know that she was my foster mother until several years later. Her children were black and I lived with them. I went to the colored schools, the colored church and always associated with blacks, just as my husband says. But what else could I do? The color line is drawn tightly in Xenia, and besides I did not know I was of white parents. I spent my childhood thinking I was black and that Mrs. Jefferson was my real mother."

Among the affidavits which Mrs. Little has obtained to aid her in her fight for divorce is one signed by Mrs. Mary O'Neal of Denver, former wife of a physician there. She recites that her husband told her in 1885 or 1886 of a white woman to whom had just been born a girl baby. She said the woman's name was Boone and that she was being attended by a black woman, Mrs. Wade (now Mrs. Jefferson). Mrs. O'Neal recites that soon after the birth of the child, Mrs. Boone died. Mr. Boone had expired some months before, and his widow had become friendly with Mrs. Wade because she formerly worked as a domestic for Mr. Boone. The Denver woman declares that Mrs. Boone, when she was about to die, intrusted her infant to the black woman, who promised to rear and educate her.

Woman Hit by Train Gets $8,000.

Bay City, Mich., April 19.—Mrs. Emma Garland received a verdict of $8,000 damages in her suit for $50,000 against the Michigan Central railroad. She and others were injured when a train struck their automobile several years ago. The case will be taken to the supreme court.

Rob Post Office, Escape In Stolen Rig.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

SWISS MILITARY SYSTEM.

With No Standing Army Every Citizen Is a Trained Soldier.

The republic of Switzerland furnishes an example in the way of military preparedness well worth study. It has no standing army, and yet every man is a trained soldier and can at any time be called upon to defend his country.

Military training in Switzerland begins at the age of eight years. From the ages of seventeen to forty-nine service is compulsory at the call of the state. All males not incapacitated serve thirteen years in the aufzug, twelve years in the landwehr and six years in the landsturm. From eight years to seventeen the boys receive military instruction in the public schools, and when they enter the aufzug they are prepared for actual training in arms. In the first year of their service they spend from sixty-seven to ninety-two days in camp or maneuvers, depending upon whether they belong to cavalry, infantry, artillery or engineers. In each subsequent year they serve thirteen days.

The total service for the thirteen years is 141 days for infantry, 146 for engineers, 160 for cavalry and 163 for artillery. This makes a total of less than six months for the thirteen years but the training is that of actual warfare and the product is trained and seasoned soldiers.

This Swiss force can only be called for defense against invasion. For an offensive campaign a new army must be raised by volunteering.—Newark News.

SPAIN'S WOMAN WARRIOR.

The Maid of Saragossa and How She Saved Her City.

The Spaniards have erected a monument to the memory of Angostina Zaragoza, whose bravery during the peninsular war saved her city.

In July, 1808, the French were pressing hard upon Saragossa. The hardest fighting occurred at Portillo gate, where the assaulting batteries more than once reached the dilapidated earthworks. The gunners of the Spanish battery were shot down one after another, the survivors falling before they could discharge the last loaded gun.

The infantry flinched, and the French were closing in when a young woman betrothed to a young sergeant of artillery who had just fallen rushed in, snatched the lighted match from her dying lover's hand and fired the undischarged twenty-four pounder into the head of the advancing column.

The enemy was thrown back. The citizens with a cheer rushed forward, reoccupied the battery and the assault was checked.

Angostina Zaragoza received from her government a commission as sublieutenant of the artillery and a life pension. A few years later she was seen by an English traveler serving with her battery in Andalusia. She wore a blue artillery tunic, on the sleeve of which was a shield of honor.—Washington Star.

How to Know Hemlock.

The occasional reports in the papers of children or animals being poisoned by eating some umbelliferous plant emphasizes the importance of being able to distinguish the dangerous ones. In the case of hemlock itself, the most poisonous of all, this is not difficult. Notice first the dark green, much cut and divided leaves and the peculiar odor which botanists call fetid. But perhaps the most obvious thing and that which most easily distinguishes the hemlock from all other umbelliferous plants is the stem. This is smooth, polished, slightly furrowed and of a green color blotched and spotted with purple. No other member of the order has a stem in the least like it.—London Globe.

His Own Medicine.

A certain barrister named Jones who practiced in Lord Brougham's time was in the habit of commencing the examination of a witness with these words, "Now, sir, I am going to put a question to you, and I don't care which way you answer it."

Brougham, like many others, was growing tired of the monotonous formula, and one morning, meeting Jones near the temple, he addressed him thus: "Now, Jones, I am going to put a question to you, and I don't care which way you answer it. How are you?"—London Express.

But Do They?

Mrs. Bacon—I see it is stated that the average length of life rose from twenty and one-quarter years in the sixteenth century to forty and one-half years in the nineteenth century.

Mr. Bacon—I suppose the latter time was when the women began telling the truth about their ages.—Yonkers Statesman.

Use In Beauty.

Strike out all the beautiful from the world, leave us only the useful—the manifestly useful—and we should lose all elasticity out of our lives, all strength out of our purpose, all energy out of our arms. It is the thousandfold beauty, meeting our eyes at every turn, that saves us.—Charles Force Deems.

Gun Power at Waterloo.

As to gun power at the time of Waterloo, two facts of guidance: The British drill sergeants of the day taught recruits to hold their fire "until they could see the whites of the eyes of the enemy." That would make the best musketry range, I should say, about twenty-five yards. "Brown Bess" was not of much use beyond sixty yards, judging by all the evidence. As to big pieces, then, as now, naval guns were superior to field artillery, and Nelson loved to get in his broadsides at sixty yards! I believe that 600 yards was counted the limit of effective naval gun fire then. Field artillery range would be less, probably much less. The enormous increase in the effective range of guns since is due, first, to explosives with greater power and more controllable power; second, the invention of rifled barrels and breechloading, and, third, stronger alloys of metals.—Frank Fox in London Nation.

Public Elopements.

The Bulgarian is perhaps the most simple minded and industrious peasant in Europe, and, paradoxical as it may appear, his standard of morality is extremely high, although elopements are more numerous than in any other country. But these are generally innocent affairs, being simply the device of young couples to get married without the expense a regular Bulgarian wedding entails. In most cases not only is the consent of both parents obtained, but all friends are informed and assemble outside the bride's house to witness the elopement.

BRITISH SUB-SEA CRAFT WRECKED

E-15 Sticks in Mud and Turks Capture Crew.

SEVEN MEN UNACCOUNTED FOR

Submarine Was Making Reconnaissance in Shallow Water—Former Vice Consul at Dardanelles One of Prisoners—Manitou Losses Only 51—Admiralty Issues New Report.

London, April 19.—The British submarine E-15, one of the latest types, ran ashore Saturday off Kephez point in the Dardanelles. Seven of her crew were lost. The remaining twenty-four—the full crew numbered thirty-one men, including three officers—were rescued by the Turks and made prisoners. One of the men rescued, according to an official statement issued at Constantinople is the former vice consul at Dardanelles.

News of the loss of the E-15, which was built last year and was one of his majesty's most improved undersea boats, was given out by the official press bureau. She was attempting a difficult reconnaissance of the mine field in Kephez bay when her nose ran into the mud. Apparently she was not entirely submerged at the time for the Turkish soldiers on shore answered the calls of distress and put out to the rescue of the crew.

No Explanation of Life Loss.

There is no explanation, however, of how seven men happened to lose their lives. Apparently they were drowned for there is nothing to indicate that there was an explosion. The shallow water extends a good ways from the shore in Kephez bay. The point of the accident is on the Asiatic shore, about fifteen miles from the Aegean sea and only four miles below Kilid Bahr. The press bureau's official statement says: "The British submarine E-15, while attempting a difficult reconnaissance in the Kephez mine field off the Dardanelles Saturday, was run ashore off Kephez point, four miles below the narrows.

"The officers and twenty-one men of the crew of thirty-one were rescued by the Turks and made prisoners, according to the official statement issued at Constantinople. This statement adds that among the prisoners was the former vice consul at Dardanelles."

Manitou Losses 51.

London, April 19.—The meagre announcement of the reported loss of 100 men of the transport Manitou which was attacked by a Turkish destroyer off the island of Chios Saturday morning made by the admiralty was amplified a little by a further admiralty announcement which says that the deaths of the soldiers were due to the capsizing of two boats. The reportd losses are almost cut in half by the later information, which is to the effect that twenty-four were drowned and twenty-seven are missing.

The admiralty's statement still leaves unexplained the reasons for the men being in the small boats which were capsized when, as the earlier announcement said, the destroyers torpedoes missed the Manitou.

WILL MODIFY EUGENICS LAW

Amendment to Include Women In Requirements Rejected.

Madison, Wis., April 19.—The Wisconsin assembly displayed its willingness to retain the eugenics marriage law on the statute books, but with a modification of its stringent clinical requirements.

It engrossed the Morgan bill to amend the law to provide for a thorough physical examination for prospective husbands and rejected the amendment by Assemblyman Carl Hansen of Manitowoc to include women and tubercular persons within its terms.

Our Longest Canal.

The longest canal in the United States is the Erie canal, which covers a distance of 387 miles. The Florida East Coast canal is 350 miles long and runs from Mayport, Fla., to Miami. The Miami and Erie canal, between Cincinnati and Toledo, O., is 274 miles long. There are three canals in Pennsylvania, the Schuylkill Navigation company, between Mill Creek and Philadelphia, 108 miles; the Pennsylvania, between Columbia, Northumberland and Wilkesbarre, 193 miles, and the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, between Coalport and Easton, 108 miles long. The longest canal in Europe is the Berlin-Stettin, 120, and the next longest, the Suez, 103 miles.—Philadelphia Press.

Convicted Mayor Goes Through Town He Ruled In Closed Car.

LID IS ON FOR FIRST SUNDAY

Terre Haute Is Closed Up Tight—City Much Impressed With Impenetrable Coach With Sequestered Prisoners and Changed Situation In Municipality—Impeachment Friday.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 19.—It was a striking coincidence that when Mayor Don M. Roberts and the fourteen others who went through Terre Haute on their way to the federal prison at Leavenworth it was the first Sunday in a generation that saloons were closed in the city whose wide-openness was a prominent factor in the case of the 116 men sentenced for election frauds, and that the streets were filled with people drawn by the first spring weather the city has had this year. But Mayor Don Roberts and none of his fellow prisoners saw the thousands at the railroad station in the five minutes the train stood there, because the United States marshals had drawn tight the curtains of the special coach. Nor was any one permitted to look in at the doors.

Terre Haute Is Impressed.

Nothing in the months of investigation, trial and sentencing of the politicians has so impressed Terre Haute of a changed order of things as did that impenetrable coach, together with the knowledge that saloons were locked, that the red light district hangers on, eight of whose pals are among the 116 and are serving jail sentences in Indianapolis, had been ordered out of the city.

Gambling houses were closed Saturday night, dice boxes are forbidden in saloons and minors cannot enter pool rooms.

James Gossom, city controller, acting mayor, says the changed order of things is to meet an imperative demand by the people. He was recently appointed by Roberts to the position which under the law makes him acting mayor.

The city council has set the impeachment trial of the mayor for Friday.

Terre Haute Police Clean Up.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 19.—The board of public safety gave the police department orders to proceed at once with a general cleanup of the city. Public gambling, illegal sale of liquor, women in saloons and wine rooms and hangers-on in the west end are to be the targets of the campaign. The list of orders emphatically asserts that the cleanup is not of the variety "with the wink." Policemen are ordered to remove gambling paraphernalia from all buildings and "not let it be put in a back room to be used in the future."

Among the instructions handed to Sylvester Doyle, superintendent of police, one says: "You are hereby instructed to see that all saloons are closed at 12 o'clock each night and all day Sunday. This means 12 o'clock sharp. The above order means that no beer or liquors is to be sold any place in the city after legal hours or on Sunday. This includes restaurants, chop suey joints and the 'red light' district." Each officer will be held responsible for enforcing the orders.

HOOSIER TO MAKE GOOD $5,000

Trustee In Clay County Will Pay Back Alleged Shortage.

Brazil, Ind., April 19.—William Collins, former trustee of Harrison township, Clay county, announced here that he would pay back to the township all that the examiners of the state board of accounts declare he is in arrears.

It is reported that this will approach $5,000. Collins had dealings with George M. Ray and C. C. Shipp, who are accused of supply frauds in Jackson township.

The Weather.

Fair Monday and Tuesday; moderate southwest winds.

Sand Hills of Bergen.

Bergen is so called doubtless from the sand hills which at this point of the coast of Holland are unusually conspicuous and give the name of "Little Switzerland" to the neighborhood. These dunes are the scene of very interesting experiments in fir planting, with a view to keeping them stationary and preserving the valuable land behind them from sand drift. This slow afforestation at Bergen, on which some thousands of pounds are spent annually, was initiated by a very remarkable private association, the Netherlands Health society, which, starting in a quiet way twenty-five years ago, now employs from its headquarters in Utrecht an army of workers and turns over some £80,000 annually in its improvements.—London Standard.

The Lesson.

"Winzer put on his wife's spats this morning."

"Why, the old file must be growing polite."

"You don't get me. He wore 'em. He wanted his wife to see how ridiculous they looked."

"Well!"

"The first man he met said, 'By Jove, Winzer, I never saw you so well dressed.' And the second man said, 'Why, old chap, you're looking positively distanggy!'"

"What did the old guy say?"

"He said, 'This will be a good lesson to my wife. It's going to teach her that these extremes in fashion are meant only for the favored few.'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Key to the Dutch Seas.

In the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the fame of Middleburg and Flushing, in Holland, extended all over Europe. The latter especially was so important that it was called "the key to the Dutch seas." The Emperor Charles V. visited the city and spent some days in the small adjoining town of Zuytburg. It was there that in September, 1556, he dated his act of abdication before sailing from Flushing to Spain and retiring to the monastery of [illegible].

IMPROVEMENTS IN OUR BUSINESS DISTRICT

This spring has seen many improvements in our business district which speak well for the prosperity of Tecumseh.

After the Tecumseh Electric Co purchased the Tansley block, they began to reconstruct the interior, enlarging their office and have now one of the finest equipped stores in the village.

John Nyland embellished his shoe store with new steel ceiling and side walls and fresh paint throughout the interior.

J. J. Freeman next remodeled the store occupied by Miss Pierce with new steel ceiling and redecorating.

F. C. Davis, next in line, has new ceilings and has otherwise improved the interior of his harness shop.

Eugene Service has put in a new front in the store occupied by Aldrich & Son, the window being fine for the display of fruits and vegetables.

The 5 and 10c store was thoroughly reconstructed and we now have one of the finest stores of the kind in Southern Michigan.

A new floor in the Novelty Store adds much to its appearance.

A new awning decorates the front of the home of the Anderson Grocery Co.

Robt. McClelland has the front of his restaurant neatly painted.

Wm. Palman, at the People's store, now occupies the whole west store with his shoe stock, neatly arranged.

The Co-Operative Association's warehouse has been thoroughly remodeled and now they have a fine office and one of the best show rooms in town. The upper rooms have also been rearranged and an assembly room fitted up which will be occupied by the Tecumseh Grange. The front of the building now has large plate glass windows which add much to its general appearance.

Moore Bros. are enlarging their office and otherwise improving their building.

Extensive improvements have been made on the Garlinghouse property. They have provided themselves with a fine office and store room for their garage, and ample provision has been made to care for farmers' teams and automobiles.

The Parrett brothers have purchased the Keyser property just north of their hotel and will soon begin fixing it up.

There are a number of other improvements we understand will be made later. In doing away with the old fashioned store fronts and installing new ones is certainly a move in the right direction and will make the town far more attractive in appearance.

Special Notice to Tecumseh Folks

We wish to announce we are exclusive Tecumseh agents for the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka. This remedy, used successfully for appendicitis is the most THOROUGH bowel cleanser we ever sold. It is so powerful that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. Adler-i-ka never gripes, is safe to use and the INSTANT action is surprising. B. J. PULVER, druggist.

ORIGIN OF "OLIVER TWIST."

Dickens [illegible] His Principal Characters From Cruikshank.

The true story of the origin of "Oliver Twist" is not generally known. It is this:

After the amazing success of the "Pickwick Papers" Dickens was thinking of following it up by a story of London life, with which he was more familiar than with English country life. Just about that time he happened to visit the studio of George Cruikshank and was shown some drawings the latter had made illustrating the career of a London thief. There was a sketch of Fagin's den, with the Artful Dodger and Master Charley Bates, pictures of Bill Sikes and his dog and Nancy Sikes and, lastly, Fagin in the condemned cell.

Dickens was much struck by the power of these character sketches, and the result was that he changed the whole plot of "Oliver Twist." Instead of taking him through spiritless adventures in the country he introduced him into the thieves' den in London, showed up their life of sin, but brought his hero through pure and undefiled.

Thus it will be seen that George Cruikshank, not Charles Dickens, was the originator of the leading characters that appear in "Oliver Twist."—London Saturday Review.

HAIR AND VITALITY.

The One Acts, In a Measure, as an Index of the Other.

In the course of its continuous growth the hair records the tide of vitality as it rises and falls in the body. When a hair is held up to the light it may be seen to be smaller at some places than at others. There may be a space of one-eighth of an inch perhaps where the hair is so thin as to appear ready to break off.

Such spots indicate an appreciable loss of nourishment, a sleepless night or an attack of auto-intoxication. In the last named cases the general vitality is interfered with, and the roots of the hair, not being developed, are not as strong as otherwise.

The hair grows until the weight is so great that it can no longer be sustained by the root, and it drops out. That is why hairs are of different lengths. Coarse hair, having large roots, will grow long. When the vitality is low all over the body the roots are imperfectly developed, and the hair is likely to fall out, as in cases of typhoid fever.

Dandruff is a parasitic disease, and the parasites get down around the root of the hair, which becomes diseased. That is another reason why the hair falls out.—Boston Herald.

Worth the Risk.

"Botts was run over by a handsome limousine yesterday."

"Hurt much?"

"No. A stunning girl who was in the car made the chauffeur pick Botts up, and she held his head in her lap all the way to the hospital."

"Think of a thing like that happening to Botts, who has no soul!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WRESTLING MATCH

There was a good attendance at the opera house Friday night for the wrestling match between Farmer Moore and Johnny Billiter of Toledo. Much interest was shown throughout the match.

Farmer Moore took the first down in 37 minutes but came back strong in the next two bouts, winning the 2nd in 10 minutes and the 3rd in 19.

A purse of $200 was hung up and at the finish awarded to Farmer Moore.

Ora Shay of Adrian challenged the winner and will wrestle with Moore in Tecumseh in about two weeks.

HOLLOWAY

Irving Gray has moved his family from Ridgeway to Mrs. Adelia McIntyre's farm.

In honor of Mrs James Foley's and Miss Anna Drouillard's birthday, the Selects spent a very pleasant evening at the Foley home Friday. Some 40 enjoyed the dancing, cards and two course luncheon. From out of town were Messrs and Mesdames Younglove and Chris Theeke of Deerfield, Melvin Higgins, wife and daughter of Macon.

The Scrap Book

Well Developed.

One of the coaches at Yale tells of an old countryman and his wife who, on a visit to New Haven, were interested witnesses of certain maneuvers of the football team.

The old gentleman walked slowly around one stalwart player, looking him over as he might have done a horse he was about to purchase; then:

"HE AIN'T NO MAN."

"Sarah!" he exclaimed.

"What is it, Henry?"

"He's nigh on to six feet, ain't he?"

"Every inch of it."

"Weighs about one hundred and ninety odd, eh?"

"I reckon."

"Well, football sure does develop 'em most powerful."

"He's a fine young man," commented Sarah.

"Man," exclaimed Henry; "he ain't no man! Professor Hunter, who never lied in his life, has jest told me that that young person is in his fourth year."—New York Post.

Life and Love.

Life at its best—
Vibrant and full and strong!
Eager to find its power in the throng;
Mad for the movement of the surging press;
Mad with a strange, new heart of tenderness;
Eager to fight, to climb, to scale the heights above—
Life at its precious best—
Life crowned with love!

PICKING A PICKPOCKET.

Rules That Guide Chicago Detectives In Spotting Their Man.

How to tell a pickpocket when you see one—the feat is apparently not difficult, for all applicants who take the civil service examination to become Chicago detectives are required to have mastered it.

"What are the physical characteristics of pickpockets?" the would be thief catchers are asked.

And this is the answer they are expected to give:

"Pickpockets ordinarily travel in mobs and are of two distinct types—one small or medium stature, the other tall and muscular. As a general rule, the age runs from eighteen to thirty-five. Their hands are soft, show no signs of work, and the fingers of all except the 'stall' and particularly the fingers of the 'wire' are long and slender. Their eyes are shifting and furtive. Their complexion is generally sallow and without distinct color, this being due either to prison pallor in types or to the use of cocaine or other drugs. The cocaine users show drawn features and prominent cheek bones and usually have distinct rings around the eyes.

"The temperament of pickpockets is high strung because of the dangers of the 'profession' or from the use of drugs. At the same time they are polite almost to the point of obsequiousness. They seldom carry weapons and rarely resort to force. On duty they dress to suit the occasion, generally well, but not conspicuously. They avoid wearing anything that might lead to identification."—Baltimore American.

The Black Watch.

In 1730 six companies of Highlanders were raised for the protection of Edinburgh, and the following year were consolidated into a regular regiment, the Highland regiment, and were numbered the Forty-second. On becoming amalgamated the colors on their tartans were extracted, leaving only the dark green ground as a tartan, and from this they took the title of the "Black Watch."—New York American.

Miss Amy Kingan returned to her school work in Wellsville, Ohio, Monday. She had been home to attend the funeral of her brother Dr. Frank Kingan.

JOB WANTED by George Hathaway for blasting stones and stumps. Sure every blast and will do good work. Leave word at the home of Mrs Lottie Biggins, corner Kilbuck and Maumee streets.

Charles Skinner caught a 35 pound turtle Sunday with a hook and line. This is the largest one that has been caught in years and was caught in the Globe mill pond.

Rev. W. B. Hartzog has finished his work as manager of the local option campaign in Lenawee county. He reports everything complete, all pledges in, all bills paid and Lenawee a dry county. He has reason to feel proud of the good work done during the campaign.

Saturday was a typical day and in the afternoon our streets were full of autos, carriages and buggies. An auction of household goods on the four corners drew a large crowd. The grocery stores were busy taking in produce and sending out the needed supplies for the busy housewives. The Dry Good stores, the novelty stores in fact every place of business were busy dispensing their wares.

Several of the officers of the Rebekah lodge entertained a party of friends Friday evening to honor R. A. Fowler who leaves shortly to attend the Pacific exposition. The affair was in the nature of a dance to music by Mrs Will Coller. The committee to furnish the regular supper were not advised of the arrangements and the hosts took their guests to the Candy Kitchen for refreshments.

AUCTION

Having rented part of my house, I will sell at auction on Saturday, April 24th, at 2:30 p. m. in L. D. Dewey's south store, Furniture, Pictures, Books, Things new and old.

Room will be open at 12 o'clock for inspection of goods.

TECUMSEH MAN MISSING

Sunday afternoon John Balka went to the Quaker pond to fish and as he did not return that night, his father, Fred Balka became alarmed, and notified Deputy Smith. A thorough search of the river banks and pond was made Monday but no trace was found. It is the general belief that the young man has started out to find work in some new field.

NOTICE.

Our rate on ice the coming season will be the same as in past years, but owing to unsatisfactory conditions that have arisen by credits, as well as improvements which will take all our funds this summer, we feel it will be more satisfactory to all concerned that we put our business on a cash basis commencing May 1st. Our men will have coupons so that you can buy as low as 30c worth at a time, and all unused coupons can be redeemed at any time. We are sure this system will do away with countless errors and be far more satisfactory to our customers and we hope it will meet with your approval.

Inside Facts About The Leonard Cleanable

IT is the inside of a refrigerator that counts. And no refrigerator is better than its lining. If it is lined with zinc or sheet iron, no matter how it is painted and enameled, it cannot possibly be sanitary.

In the Leonard Cleanable the lining is of genuine porcelain—all in one piece. No joints, no cracks, no crevices to harbor germs and give out odors. You wash it with soap and water as you clean a dish. You can tell this lining from others for it cannot be scratched or marred, even with a hat pin or knife blade.

Don't accept any other refrigerator than the genuine Leonard Cleanable. Look for the name, and be sure. Let us show you this splendid refrigerator and explain its many good qualities. It is made in the largest refrigerator plant in the world and, in our opinion, the best.

ITALY'S NATIONAL GAME.

Morra Is Played With the Fingers and Is Older Than Chess.

We are apt to look on marbles as the most economical of games, but "morra" is perhaps the most economical game in the world, for it demands nothing but a pair of hands.

The players each throw out the right hand, with a number of fingers extended. Then each has to call "five," "three," "eight," or any number that he considers equal to the number of fingers extended by himself and his opponent added together. In this lies the test, for an old hand can divine by the very turn of his opponent's fingers how many he is going to extend. Whenever a player guesses the right total in any throw he counts it on his left hand by folding in a finger of that hand. It takes nine such correct guesses by one player to make a game.

This game is proscribed by law if practiced in public; hence the devotees betake themselves to alleys and byways. From the silence of these regions there comes the tell tale howling of the raucous players. As game succeeds game, and the wine they play for is consumed, the play becomes more intense, the cries more hoarse and loud, so that one would imagine they were dogs barking.

No game is older than this—even chess must yield the palm for antiquity—and yet it is as popular and as primitive today as when first played on the banks of the Nile.—Strand Magazine.

The Piano's Seven Octaves.

Pianos of standard size have a keyboard of seven octaves and three notes—fifty-two white keys. There is a reason for this limit. As it is, the keys at either end of the keyboard are rarely used, and the tones that can now be produced, from the lowest to the highest, include all that have any definite musical value to the human ear. If the compass of the keyboard were extended the added keys would produce sounds or noises without any musical significance. It is possible for the human ear to perceive sounds over a range of about eleven octaves, but the production of musical sounds is confined to the seven and one-third octaves.—Boston Herald.

A TECUMSEH CITIZEN COMES TO THE FRONT

Tells His Friends and Neighbors Of His Experience.

Every Tecumseh resident should read what a neighbor says. His testimony can be relied upon. Here are his own words.

W. C. Witherell, W. Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins obliging me to lie down. I was laid in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug Store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing. I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

I know of nothing so quick to relieve a cough or cure a cold." For sale by all dealers. adv

Make Good Work Possible

You cannot do good work while your bowels are sluggish or your liver torpid. Wm. O. E. Bielke, Mgr. Scott Hotel, Hancock, Mich., says: "I gave Foley Cathartic Tablets a thorough trial, and find them a mild but safe cathartic." Foley Cathartic Tablets never gripe or cause nausea. They do away with that drowsy, dull, tired feeling and are wholesome, cleansing and healthful. Most satisfactory for stout persons. For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

Some Valuable Pearls.

Of all the articles of luxury known to the Romans pearls were most valued. They were worn by all classes. The famous pearl earrings which belonged to Cleopatra are said to have been worth $800,000, and Julius Caesar presented the mother of Brutus with a pearl for which he paid $240,000. It has been said that one of the reasons why Julius Caesar invaded Britain was the wish to become master of the pearls which were supposed to abound there, a surmise incorrect, for few pearls of value have been found in Great Britain.

VICTOR HUGO AT LIEGE.

His First Impression of the Busy City as Seen at Night.

Shortly after the Franco-Prussian war Victor Hugo, the French poet, visited Belgium and subsequently wrote of his journey:

"The shades of evening drew near—the wind ceased blowing; lights burned dimly in neighboring houses; everything became half lost in the dusk. The passengers said, 'We shall be in Liege in an hour.'

"At that moment, at the foot of the hills, which loomed dark and scarcely visible, two round balls of fire suddenly glared like the eyes of tigers. By the roadside rose a frightful dark slender tower, surmounted by a huge flame that cast a sinister reflection upon forest, rock and ravine. Beyond, hidden in the shadows, was a mouth—a mouth of live coal which suddenly opened and shut, and with hideous roarings spouted forth a tongue of fire. It was the lighting of the furnaces.

"After passing the spot called Flemalle the sight was inexpressibly magnificent. All the valley seemed to be in a state of conflagration, smoke issuing from this place and flames arising from that; in fact, we could imagine that a hostile army had ravaged the country, and that twenty districts presented in the night and darkness all the aspects and phases of devastating conflagration—some just catching fire, some shrouded in smoke, others swept or encircled by flames.

"This aspect of war is caused by peace—this terrifying similitude of destruction is the effect of industry."

Nansen's Pancakes.

From boyhood Nansen accustomed himself to the use of snowshoes and would often go forty or fifty miles on them without taking any food with him. He had a great dislike to any outfit for his excursions. On one occasion he and some of his friends set off on a long snowshoe expedition, all except Nansen having a wallet containing their provisions on their backs. When they got to the first resting place Nansen unbuttoned his coat and took some smoking pancakes from the lining and asked his friends to share his food. They all refused, however, not caring for the mode of conveyance and heating. Nansen replied, "More fools you, for there's jam in them."

JOHN MUIR AND TREES.

The Great Naturalist's Plea For the Preservation of Forests.

Few men loved and knew trees better than John Muir, the naturalist of the Sierras. He fought hard to preserve the forests, and in one of his books he says:

All sort of local laws and regulations have been tried and found wanting, and the costly lessons of our own experience as well as that of every civilized nation show conclusively that the fate of the remnant of our forests is in the hands of the federal government and that if the remnant is to be saved at all it must be saved quickly.

Any fool can destroy trees. They cannot run away, and if they could they would still be destroyed—chased and hunted down as long as fun or a dollar could be got out of their bark hides, branching horns or magnificent bole backbones. Few that fell trees plant them; nor would planting avail much toward getting back anything like the noble primeval forests. During a man's life only saplings can be grown in the place of the old trees—tens of centuries old—that have been destroyed. It took more than 3,000 years to make some of the trees in these western woods—trees that are still standing in perfect strength and beauty, waving and singing in the mighty forests of the Sierra.

Through all the wonderful eventful centuries since Christ's time—and long before that—God has cared for these trees, saved them from drought, disease, avalanches and a thousand straining, leveling tempests and floods, but he cannot save them from fools. Only Uncle Sam can do that.

AN ARCTIC DRAMA.

Playing to the Coldest House Known In Theatrical History.

Many and many a play has had a chilly reception. But imagine what it must have been to witness a play or to be an actor therein in a temperature 25 degrees below zero. It was a company of American sailors who made the record of playing to "the coldest house" known in dramatic history.

Dr. Kane, the famous arctic explorer, told an audience at old Masonic hall along in the fifties of a play given at an exceedingly low temperature by the crew of one of the ships on the 14th of February, 1851. The play was the farce called "The Mysteries and Miseries of New York."

The outside temperature was 36 degrees below zero. In the "theater" it was 25 degrees below behind the scenes and 20 degrees below where the audience was seated. One of the sailors had to enact the part of a damsel with bare arms, and when a cold flatiron, one of the properties, touched his skin the sensation was that of a hot iron.

On Washington's birthday the crew had another performance. Outside the ship's thermometer was 46 degrees below zero. Inside, by the aid of lamps, it was only 30 degrees below zero. "The condensation," said Dr. Kane, "was so excessive that we could barely see the performers. They walked in a cloud of vapor. Volumes of smoke accompanied all vehemence of delivery. Their hands steamed. When an actor took off his coat it smoked like a dish of potatoes."—Indianapolis News.

BARRIE'S LITTLE JOKE.

He Was a Failure as a Presiding Officer and He Knew It.

There is only one recorded instance of Sir J. M. Barrie's acting as chairman of a public meeting. In the Century Magazine Mr. John D. Williams told the story to the American public. It was on the occasion of a Burns celebration.

Barrie took the chair as presiding officer and then kept to it firmly. Throughout the entire proceedings he did not utter a single word, but remained as if glued to the horribly conspicuous chair, loathing his predicament, but inwardly amused at the expressions on the faces of all about him, which made dismally clear the fact that he was a failure as a presiding officer.

When the meeting was almost half finished Barrie took advantage of a talkative group in front of him and quietly stole away before any one had a chance to miss him. But the next week a well known Saturday review printed a satirical article called "Mr. Barrie In the Chair." The thing was simply withering in its ironical account of the dumb presiding officer who eventually fled, leaving a meeting to preside over itself. The greatest regret was naturally expressed by those who had persuaded Barrie to come to the Burns celebration, and among his friends tremendous indignation was felt and vented. But some day they will know, if they have not already found out, that the article was written by Barrie himself!

His Task.

George—With the assurance of your love I could conquer the world. Grace—That will not be necessary. All you have to do is to conquer papa.—London Tit-Bits.

WHEN THE TIRED MOTHER GIVES OUT

What Then?—The Family Suffers, the Poor Mothers Suffer—Mrs. Becker Meets This Distressing Situation.

Collinsville, Ill.—"I suffered from a nervous break-down and terrible headaches, and was tired all over, totally worn out and too discouraged to enjoy life, but as I had four in family and sometimes eight or nine boarders, I kept on working despite my suffering.

"I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and within two weeks I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and now I am a well woman."—Mrs. ANA BECKER, Collinsville, Ill.

There are hundreds of nervous, rundown, overworked women in this vicinity who are hardly able to drag around and who we are sure would be wonderfully benefited by Vinol as Mrs. Becker was.

The reason Vinol is so successful in building up health and strength in such cases is because it combines the medicinal tissue building and curative elements of cod's livers together with the blood making, strengthening properties of tonic iron. We ask every weak, nervous, run-down man or woman in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if it fails to benefit.

I jumped on the Congressional Limited one winter afternoon as the train was moving out of the Washington station.

It was a hurried business trip to New York, of which I had only an hour's notice. I had the afternoon papers and a small hand bag.

When shown to my seat in the parlor car I noticed that the chair next to mine was occupied by a woman; also that she was pretty, aristocratic looking and dressed fashionably.

So far as could be seen, she had nothing in the shape of bundles or baggage with her except what appeared to be a lot of stationery wrapped in pink paper and tied with a red cord, which she kept on her lap and carelessly handled from time to time.

Just before the train reached Philadelphia she got up, stood a moment apparently undecided and then, turning to me and extending the box in pink, surprised and pleased me by asking with a smile, "May I trouble you to look after this?"

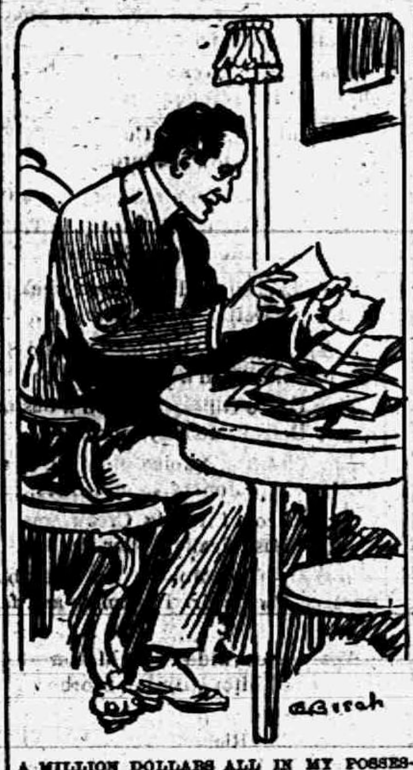
"Certainly, certainly, with pleasure," I replied as soon as I could get my wits together, but she had not waited to hear.

She had left the pink covered box in my hands and had gone, I supposed, to the buffet car.

After the train had left Broad street station and the woman had not returned I asked the porter what had become of her and was astonished when he said that she had got off at Philadelphia.

It was evident that the pink covered box had been intentionally left with me, but why, and what did it contain?

Great as my curiosity was to know the contents of the box, I would not



A MILLION DOLLARS ALL IN MY POSSESSION.

unwrap and open it in the car, and when I did open it in the privacy of my room in a New York hotel I was very glad that I had placed that restraint upon myself.

What sort of stationery do you suppose was in that pink covered box?

Ten packages of crisp, new United States $1,000 gold certificates, with a band of paper around each package as they used them in banks. Upon each band was written "One Hundred Thousand Dollars." 100 notes in each package, a grand total of $1,000,000.

My first impulse was to take the million dollars and go to Europe on the first available steamer.

Impulse, did I say? It was really a calm determination that lasted through the greater part of the night and included the selection of a steamer sailing the next day and was not abandoned until my avarice was convinced that a large reward, at least 10 per cent of the whole, perhaps double that, would be offered by the owner of the money, who would be sure to advertise for its return.

The decision that it would be better to have one-tenth of a million as a reward for honesty than the entire million as a weight upon my conscience was not easily arrived at, but, once reached, it was clung to with all my strength.

Sleep was entirely out of the question with $1,000,000 in cash in the room with me. I spent the night thinking, and such thoughts!

In the morning I tore up the box, which had really originally contained stationery, and carefully dropped the pieces into a waste pipe. The money I wrapped in my nightshirt, which I put in the hand bag.

This hand bag was near being the death of me that day.

I ate breakfast with the hand bag in my lap and one hand always touching it and attended to the business which had carried me to New York without ever once letting it loose, and I am sure I never took my eyes entirely away from it once while on the train returning to Washington.

I bought all the New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore papers, but there was no advertisement in any of them concerning the loss of a large sum of money.

Another sleepless night in the room with a million dollars followed my return to Washington. The next morning I hired a box in a safe deposit vault and got rid of the awful and wearing responsibility.

I waited a week, and still there was no advertisement of the lost fortune. My associates began to comment on my increasing restlessness and nervousness and to suggest that I would better take a rest.

I intended to take a long rest and a luxurious one as soon as the ownership of the million dollars was settled.

Perhaps the money was stolen property and the thieves were afraid to advertise its loss. I concluded to advertise for the owner myself.

After many advertisements had been written and torn up I decided on this:

> Large sum of money left on Congressional Limited between Washington and New York. Will be restored to owner upon proper identification. Address Caretaker, P. O. box 1911, Washington, D. C.

For a full week this was run in all the daily papers of Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York at an expense to me of $39.70. I took receipts from each paper and preserved them as souvenirs of my stay in millionairedom.

I had any number of answers, but none of them got within a million miles of my million.

Having sought diligently for the owner of the million dollars and spent my own good money freely in advertising, without success, was I not now the legal and legitimate owner of it?

That question had my poor brain doing a continuous twenty-four hour stunt. I answered it in the affirmative twenty times a day, but the plaguy thing wouldn't stay answered.

I began to feel quite as worn and haggard as I looked and to wonder why the possession of a million dollars, with the probability that it would all be mine growing into a certainty, did not bring me more pleasure. I asked myself whether all millionaires were as much troubled about their money as I was.

Six weeks had passed since the million dollars was placed in my possession, and I began to make plans as to what I would do with it. I no longer expected the owner to turn up.

I had not mentioned the money or the odd manner in which it had come into my possession to any one and was still undecided as to how I should account for my sudden wealth when I began to spend the money.

After mature deliberation I decided to make my appearance as a man of wealth gradually.

I would make a deposit of $10,000 in one bank.

After taking ten of the $1,000 notes from my safe deposit box it occurred to me that it would be a good idea to carry them to the United States treasury and get notes of smaller denominations for them.

On reaching the cash room of the treasury I handed the ten $1,000 notes through the wire wicket teller's window and asked that he give me fifties for them.

It did not surprise me to notice a rather astonished and startled look on the teller's face as he took the notes or that he should step to one side and examine one of them carefully through a glass.

I did not suppose that ten $1,000 notes were passed through the wicket very frequently by any one except runners for the banks; consequently it seemed the natural thing that they should be carefully examined.

His deliberation, however, in counting and recounting those fifty dollar notes was getting on my nerves, and I was about to speak impatiently to him when I felt a light touch on my shoulder and a low but distinct voice said near my ear, "I want you."

"Well, I'm here," I answered, facing the speaker impatiently. "What do you want with me?"

"I want you to go with me," he replied with a smile, without raising his voice.

"Why should I go with you?" I asked rather sharply. "I don't know you."

"No, but I think you'll go," he answered in the same exasperatingly calm tone.

"Why?" I demanded, somewhat frightened by his manner, without having any clear idea why I should be.

"Because," he said, almost in a whisper, "you are under arrest."

"What for?" I managed to ask, at the same time trying hard to think of any reason why I should be arrested.

"Trying to pass counterfeit money," he replied, turning back his coat and allowing me to see the United States secret service badge he wore.

"You are out of your head," I retorted angrily, but at the same time the awful truth flashed upon me—my million was counterfeit.

"That may be," he said as he reached for the notes, which the teller handed him, each with the word "Counterfeit" cut across its face. "You can talk about that to Chief Wilkes. Come!"

Fortunately I was well known to [illegible] Wilkes. [illegible] only accepted my story, but added to it by telling me that the woman had learned from a confederate on the train that his men were hot on her trail and, being obliged to get rid of the counterfeit money somewhere, had given it to me, thereby securing her own release when she was arrested and searched immediately after leaving the train.

The chief went with me to the safe deposit vault, got the rest of the counterfeits and destroyed them. He congratulated me on getting out of an ugly predicament so easily.

To this day I am unable to say with certainty whether relief or regret was my stronger feeling over the loss of the ownerless million dollars.

Flint Charter Amendment Fails.

FLINT, MICH. — Though the amendment to Flint's charter providing for two new wards in the north end was given a majority in Monday's election, it was determined by the common council that the proposition has been lost because it failed to secure a three-fifths majority.

An Interview with Mr. Ford

The following interview was given by Mr. Ford to one of the aggressive Ford agents, who returned to his home and gave it to his territory in the following newspaper advertisement:

THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT ADVERTISEMENT I EVER CAUSED TO BE PUBLISHED.—READ EVERY WORD—AND THEN MARVEL!

On a personal visit to Mr. Henry Ford I broached the subject of a possible August 1st rebate.

(The Ford Company announced last year—as you well remember—that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would receive back a refund of $40.00 ot $60.00.)

"Mr. Ford," I suggested, "Is there anything I can say to our people with regard to the Ford Motor Company's 300,000 car rebate plan?"

"We shall sell the 300,000" was the quiet reply—"and in 11 months, a full month ahead of August 1st."

"Then a refund is practically assured?"

"Yes—barring the totally unexpected. We are 50,000 to 75,000 cars behind orders today. Factory and branches are sending out 1800 daily."

I then said to Mr. Ford: "If I could make a definite refund statement we would increase our local sales 500 cars."

"You may say," was Mr. Ford's deliberate and significant reply to this—"You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford car between August 1st, 1914, and August 1st, 1915, barring the unforseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorized you to make this statement."

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to August 1, 1915, it actually means—Ford Touring Cars for $490—less the $50 rebate! Ford Runabouts for $440—less the $50 rebate! What is there left for me to say?

DIPLOMATS READY TO QUIT

Germany Cut Off From Netherlands—Ambassador to Rome Sends His Family Home, While Italian Envoy Is Said to Be Preparing to Leave Vienna.

ROME, ITALY — Within the last twenty-four hours there have arisen in Rome persistent reports that grave international questions confronting Italy may be solved in the near future by what at first sight seems almost incredible, the conclusion of a general peace in Europe at a not distant date. While these reports are intangible and cannot at present be ascribed to a definite source, they nevertheless are reflected in high quarters, and they are given heed by careful observers of international politics.

COPENHAGEN — Special messages from Vienna state that great excitement prevails there owing to information received from the Trentino.

It is believed that war with Italy is imminent.

The Italian embassy is said to be prepared for departure.

ROTTERDAM — Since 12 o'clock midnight Sunday all communication between the Netherlands and Germany has ceased. The frontier is completely closed, not even persons with passes from the German authorities being allowed to cross.

AMSTERDAM — Three more Dutch trawlers have been seized by German warships and taken to Hamburg, according to news received from Ymuiden.

British Trawler Sunk.

LONDON, ENG. — The British trawler Vanilla was sunk by a German submarine in the North sea, according to Captain Hill of the trawler Fermo. Captain Hill said he was within 300 yards of the Vanilla and tried to pick up the crew, but the submarine attacked him and forced flight.

The admiralty confirms the report that the trawler Vanilla was sunk with all hands by a German submarine Sunday.

Holland to Be Reimbursed.

THE HAGUE — The sinking of the Dutch steamer Katwijk by a German submarine will not lead to any break between Holland and Germany. The following announcement was issued by the Dutch government:

"The German government has stated that the imperial navy had no intention of attacking Dutch shipping. The German government has ordered an inquiry and promises full compensation if the inquiry shows that the Katwijk was sunk by a submarine."

Austrian Ambassador's Family [illegible]

LONDON — Baron Von Macchio, Austrian ambassador ... has sent his family and the archives of the embassy to Vienna from Rome, according to a dispatch from the Italian capital.

The dispatch announcing the departure of the Austrian ambassador's family from Rome states that Baron Von Macchio is remaining with only one servant and the embassy's chancellor.

JOHN BAILEY

Clerk of Franklin Township.

COMMITTED SUICIDE WEDNESDAY MORNING

Despondency Cause of Rash Deed

A gloom was cast over friends in Tecumseh Wednesday when word came that John Bailey had just died from the effect of carbolic acid taken with suicidal intent, the more so as with his wife and two children he attended the social meeting at Pythian Hall here the evening before.

He was of a quiet unassuming disposition but seemed in the best of health. Of late he had been worrying over his financial affairs, but had workmen engaged to begin building a barn this week.

Wednesday morning he went to his mother's home and talked with her awhile, then went to the barn where he took the fatal dose, going back to the house suffering intensely. Physicians were called at once but were too late to save him.

He leaves a young widow and two small children, his mother, two sisters and three brothers to mourn his untimely death. He was highly esteemed in Franklin and had held the office of township clerk for eight years.

SAM SMYTH

Sam Smyth a former resident of Tecumseh passed away in Philadelphia Thursday April 15, 1915 aged 55 years. He has lived in Philadelphia for the last 25 years but has kept in touch with his friends here during that time. His brothers John and James have died in Grand Rapids within a few years past Sam being the last of the family.

"HELP WANTED"

In life "just one stenographer after another" for big business men?

Is it true that a girl who is "poor but particular" never gets the title of private secretary?

These are two of the questions raised in Jack Lait's success, "Help Wanted," which is swooping down upon the theatregoers with tremendous interest, following the long New York engagement, and the record-breaking engagement of 39 weeks at the Cort theatre in Chicago. The powerful climaxes solve the questions in a manner that makes Jack Lait's play stand out as the most conspicuous play of the season. In short, the story is a leaf torn from a stenographer's note-book, and the many struggles, and temptations that face an office girl, are vividly developed by the author. This play comes to the Bradley Opera House, next Wednesday, April 28.

The proprietor of a big business concern has become involved in a scandal with his stenographer in the story of "Help Wanted." She sues him for $11,000 and the case "hushed up" by the payment of $5,000. The business man advertises in the "Help Wanted" colums of the newspapers, and from the applicants chooses a girl of 17 years, whose exceptional comeliness appeals to his beauty eye. He has a stepson, who falls in love with Gertie Meyers, the girl, all unknown to the fathers. Several times the father attemps to take her in his arms and she screams. The stepson hears the screams and breaks in the door. A stormy scene follows in which the stepson tells the father he loves Gertie and intends to marry her. During this scene Gertie escapes and when the stepson demands to know her address the father refuses to tell it. The stepson resigns from the firm at once, breaking the work "Son" from the sign of the door.

Gertie goes home to her mother, who sends her to search for the man who has promised to marry her. The boy finds her and takes her to his own mother. The mother at first refuses to accept the girl, but her great love for the son finally makes her receive her. The stepfather comes home and is enraged at finding Gertie in his home, but when he learns the boy to spare his mother, has told nothing, he resents, takes the boy back into the firm, gives him and Gertie his blessings and sends them to Europe on their honeymoon.

Scene in "Help Wanted" which comes to the Bradley Opera House next Wednesday, April 28.

THE LADY WAS MAIN SPOKE IN THIS TRIP

When Nephews Get Busy Aged Man's Friends Quit.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Amos J. Winslow, seventy-three years old, owner of real estate in Kalamazoo, Mich., valued at nearly $500,000, whose relatives believed he had been kidnaped from that city by persons desirous of acquiring his money, was found at the New Southern hotel. He told the police he had come to Chicago of his own volition and that he intended to join friends here to take a trip to Mexico.

Mr. Winslow recently suffered a nervous breakdown and spent several weeks in the Battle Creek (Mich.) sanitarium. Believing that his mind had become affected, Robert A. Winslow of Cedar Rapids, Mich., and Finley Winslow of Kalamazoo, his nephews, had him placed in the Michigan state hospital for the insane at Kalamazoo. He gained his release from there on a court writ a few days ago and then suddenly left Kalamazoo.

"I had intended taking a trip to California and Mexico before I went to the sanitarium," said Mr. Winslow, "but was compelled to abandon the trip. I had a letter from a friend a few days ago that the woman who intended to take the trip to Mexico with us was ill and he asked that the trip be postponed for a week. I came to Chicago to meet him. No, I will not tell the woman's name nor that of my friend."

Mr. Winslow said his nephews entertained a fear that he intended to get married, but he said he had no such intention.

"I own 100 acres of land in Kalamazoo, improved with fifty-three buildings and a factory and my relatives appear to be afraid that I will spend some of the money that I made myself."

DROWNS IN FOOT OF WATER

Youth Believed Taken Suddenly Ill With No Help at Hand.

TRUCE DECLARED IN CHICAGO LABOR WAR

End of Strike of 16,000 Is in Sight.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Carpenters and contractors agreed to a truce in Chicago's labor war. The carpenters' officers and their arbitration committee accepted mediation. The committee of the contractors which waited on the Illinois state arbitration board made some changes in the proposition contained in a letter asking both sides to agree to arbitration, and tentatively accepted the same.

They made it plain, however, that their action did not bind their organization. The best they could promise was a favorable recommendation. The contractors will consider the proposition and it is expected will decide on it at their Wednesday meeting.

President Mets of the carpenters said he was unable to order the men back to work because the strike was ordered by a referendum vote and could not be vacated except by action of the rank and file.

He declared the proposition contained in the letter submitted by the board was satisfactory to the strike leaders.

The state arbitrators have asked the contractors to give their answer by Thursday noon, April 22. They will meet here at 11 o'clock for preliminaries and expect to get the answer of the employers at that time.

This means that work on approximately $30,000,000 worth of buildings, including the new Union station, will be pushed according to the plans before the carpenters' strike. When the arbitration board convened in the City Hall Square building a spirit of conciliation was manifest on the part of contractors and strikers.

To the Council of the Village of Tecumseh:

The undersigned, the Committee on Water Works for this Village, submit to the Council the following change in the existing water rates and charges in the Village, and recommend the adoption of the same

We recommend that the present rate of Three (3) dollars for sprinkling lawns and the streets in front of thereof, on inside lots four by twelve rods or less, be raised to Four (4). dollars, and that the same be fixed at Four (4) dollars.

We recommend that the present rate of Three & 50-100 (3.50) dollars for sprinkling lawns and streets next adjacent thereto, on corner lots four by twelve rods or less, be raised to Four & 50-100 (4.50) dollars and that the same be fixed at Four & 50-100 dollars, and we recommend that the rates for sprinkling on lots of larger size than next above mentioned shall be regulated and detremined according to the proportion that the larger lot bears to said lots as [illegible] patrons shall have privileges of sprinking at any time between hours of 5 o'clock a. m. and 8 p. m.

And we recommend that said changes shall become effective on the 1st day of May 1915.

We further recommend that the present minimum meter rate or charges of Five (5) dollars per annum, be raised to Eight (8) dollars per annum, payable semi annualy on January 1st, and July 1st, of each year as before.

We further recommend that said change shall become effective on the 1st day of July 1915.

(Signed) Herbert S. Temple
Faron S. Anderson
E. E. Hendershott.

Trustee Lawrence offered the following resolution:

Resolved: That the recommendation of the Committee on Water Works, namely, that the present rate of Three (3) dollars for sprinkling lawns and the streets in front thereof, on inside lots four by twelve rods or less, be raised to Four (4) dollars and the same fixed at Four (4) dollars; and that the present rate of Three & 50-100 (3.50) dollars for sprinkling lawns and the streets next adjacent thereto, on corner lots four by twelve or less, be raised to Four & 50-100 (4.50) and the same to be fixed at Four 50-100 (4.50); and that the rates for sprinkling on lots of larger size than next above mentioned shall be regulated and determined according to the proportion that the larger lots bears to said lots mentioned, and that patrons shall have the privilege of sprinkling at any time between hours of 5 a. m. and 8 p. m.; said changes to become effective on the 1st day of May 1915; and further that the present minimum meter rate or charge of Five (5) Dollars per annum, be raised to Eight (8) dollars per annum, and the same be fixed at Eight (8) dollars per annum, payable semi-annually on January 1st and July 1st of each year, said change to become effective on the 1st day of July 1915 be approved and adopted by the Council of this Village.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

MINES SINK TWO TURK WARSHIPS

Torpedo Boats Are Blown Up at Entrance to the Bosporous.

BRITISH GAIN NEW VICTORY

Advance Three Miles in Belgium, Taking Possession of District of Greatest Tactical Value North of Ypres, Is London Announcement—French Continue Advance.

PARIS — Two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers were sunk, [illegible] says a Saloniki dispatch, while passing through a mine belt which Russian ships had succeeded in laying across the entrance to the Bosporous, while the Turkish fleet was cruising in the Black Sea.

The explosions caused by the destruction of the two Turkish boats gave warning to the remainder of the fleet, which was obliged to remain in the Black Sea because no mine sweepers were available.

LONDON, ENG. — The Morning Post, in a dispatch from the "North of France," states that in Belgium, north of Ypres, the British lines have been pushed forward three miles after fighting fully as fierce as that at Neuve Chapelle.

This is the district in which the war office briefly chronicled the taking of a hill. The Post correspondent writes: "In point of view of territory recovered, this latest success of the British army is the biggest gain that has been made since autumn, for they have advanced five kilometers and have obtained possession of a district of the greatest tactical value."

Attack Begins Sunday.

"The attack began on Sunday morning when the miners, whose admirable sapping had been a feature of the campaign sprang a series of mines of exceptional strength. Several hundred Germans were killed.

"The Village of Kemmel is famous in Flanders for its 'mountain,' a hill some 500 feet high, but the only one in the country.

"There was sharp fighting here on the 7th and 8th of this month when the Germans almost affected a surprise on our lines and after temporarily occupying some of our trenches were driven back with heavy slaughter.

An Important Step In Task.

"This most recent phase is, however, of quite another character. With the hill of Kemmel in our hands we have made an important step in the great task of swinging round the German right.

"The fighting was as fierce as at Neuve Chapelle. Our advance swept on to a point where there were no trenches and our men were exposed to a heavy fire while digging themselves in. It was a case of breaking through the German line of trenches to a point considerably behind them.

Enemy Is Remoralized.

"Our artillery, following up the work of the sappers, played havoc with the German trenches and, as at Neuve Chapelle, our infantry fell upon a foe utterly demoralized.

"The action is in progress and our advance has been unchecked. Everything points to the enemy's losses being greater even than those at Neuve Chapelle."

French Continue Advance.

PARIS — The French armies in Alsace have made further gains in their drive toward Colmar and the Rhine, according to official communique. On both banks of the Fecht river the advance is being pressed forward and possession of the summit of Burgkorpfeld has been gained. This height is southwest of Schilleckerwassen, which directly commands an important valley.

On the south bank of the Fecht progress has been made toward Motzeral, a town on the high road to Colmar. In this neighborhood a series of elevations have been captured from whence the course of the Fecht in front of Burgkorpfeld is commanded.

Baron De Reuter Is Dead.

LONDON, ENG. — Baron Herbert de Reuter, managing director of Reuter's Telegram company, was found dead at his home near Reigate, Surrey. A discharged revolver was found near his body and the authorities declare there is little doubt he committed suicide. Baron de Reuter was prostrated by the death of his wife recently.

Russ Take More Heights.

LONDON, ENG. — Russia reports the capture of two more heights in the Carpathians, thus further facilitating the invasion of Hungary. The capture of a battalion of Austrians is also reported.

Lieutenant Garros Is Captured.

BERLIN — A report given out by German headquarters relates that Lieutenant Roland G. Garros, the famous French aviator, has been made a prisoner by the Germans at Gelmunster.

JUMP FROM FLYER, MAY DIE

One Man Loses Both Legs; Second Internally Injured.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — Wilbur Evans, twenty-seven, lost both legs, and Frank Smith was probably internally injured when they attempted to jump off a fast Michigan Central passenger train here. NEGRO PROOF FALSE, ALLEGES MRS. LITTLE

"Bride Without a Race" Says She Is White.

DETROIT, MICH. — Mrs. Alma Boone Little, "the bride without a race," is back in Detroit, after an absence of two weeks, with a statement which she declares will tear to shreds affidavits tending to show she is a negro woman. Her husband, Arthur Little, a druggist, is lately returned from Xenia, O., where he obtained affidavits from school, court and church officials showing that Mrs. Little attended schools for blacks, was a member of a Negro church and always associated with members of the black race.

"The affidavits prove nothing," said Mrs. Little. "I am white—white, and my husband knows it. When I was a little girl my foster mother, Mrs. Jefferson, now of Cincinnati, but formerly Mrs. Wade of Denver and Xenia, took me to the Ohio city. My foster mother is of Negro extraction. My husband's affidavits show that I was entered at the Xenia schools as a Negro girl. This is true. My foster mother was black and at that time she had not told anybody, not even me, that I was not her real child.

"I did not know that she was my foster mother until several years later. Her children were black and I lived with them. I went to the colored schools, the colored church and always associated with blacks, just as my husband says. But what else could I do? The color line is drawn tightly in Xenia, and besides I did not know I was of white parents. I spent my childhood thinking I was black and that Mrs. Jefferson was my real mother."

Among the affidavits which Mrs. Little has obtained to aid her in her fight for divorce is one signed by Mrs. Mary O'Neal of Denver, former wife of a physician there. She recites that her husband told her in 1885 or 1886 of a white woman to whom had just been born a girl baby. She said the woman's name was Boone and that she was being attended by a black woman, Mrs. Wade (now Mrs. Jefferson). Mrs. O'Neal recites that soon after the birth of the child, Mrs. Boone died. Mr. Boone had expired some months before, and his widow had become friendly with Mrs. Wade because she formerly worked as a domestic for Mr. Boone. The Denver woman declares that Mrs. Boone, when she was about to die, intrusted her infant to the black woman, who promised to rear and educate her.

NEW RAIL RATE IS PLEASING

Citizens Say Freight Reduction Saves Adrian Fence Industry.

ADRIAN, MICH. — The Local fence manufacturers and citizens generally received word of a reduction in freight rates on wire fencing with satisfaction. The reduction came after a meeting in Chicago of the different roads connecting with the Pittsburg district.

The voluntary decision of the New York Central to follow the example of the Wabash in granting a reduction of three cents means that the wire fence industry, on which Adrian is practically built, is saved to the city.

Gives Fruit Culture Information.

EAST LANSING, MICH. — L. R. Taft of the Michigan state board of agriculture has issued a number of informative circulars on fruit culture, explaining methods of spraying trees, the treatment of diseased trees of various kinds and other vital facts to fruit growers.

JITNEY BUS MEN MAKE FIGHT

Grand Rapids Operators Will Oppose Stringent Ordinance.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — "An ordinance to eliminate, not regulate, the jitney bus traffic," is the way Mayor Ellis characterizes the new jitney bus ordinance.

It requires bus owners to pay licenses of $35 for each car, furnish bonds of $10,000 for all deaths and injuries growing out of accidents and specifies that all cars must be operated between 6 a. m. and 11 p. m.

A Great Career Ahead.

"Are you the professor?"

"Yes, sir. What can I do for you?"

"I have a daughter and I'd like to know what it will cost me to have her taught to sing. I think she will become a great operatic star if her voice is properly trained."

"Does she seem to have extraordinary gifts as a vocalist?"

"Well, no; we haven't noticed that her vocal gifts are out of the ordinary, but nobody seems to be able to manage her."—Chicago Herald.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Scion Weds Chorus Girl.

OWOSSO, MICH. — Braving parental displeasure, Charles N. Hoffman, nineteen, son of C. F. Hoffman, chairman of the Progressive state central committee, married Mary O'Donnell, a chorus girl several years his senior.

The culmination of the romance was an elopement to Lansing for a double wedding, but the other boys' father had a detective meet the interurban car. A short time afterward Hoffman took the girl to Jackson, where they were married by Justice of the Peace Claude L. Tarbox. Hoffman's parents are said to be emphatic in their disapproval.

This Job Was No Sinecure.

LANSING, MICH. — Mrs. Katherine Tice of Detroit and Shelby, clerk of the judiciary committee of the house, is in the Edward W. Sparrow hospital here, suffering from a nervous breakdown. She wandered into the hospital unable to give her name. Her condition is serious. Though somewhat better she is unable to recognize her husband, Paul Tice, legislative representative of Michigan railway trainmen.

Mrs. Tice is an expert stenographer, and much of the labor incident to the preparation of the huge judicature act has devolved upon her.

Mrs. Fay Refused Divorce.

MONROE, MICH. — Judge Edward Gilday dismissed the bill of divorce of Mrs. Zoe Fay against Dr. Orin J. Fay, a prominent Carleton physician. Mrs. Fay now resides at Wyandotte. She is thirty years younger than her husband and told the court that he attended her mother when the woman he afterward married was born.

Dickson Autoist Killed in Upset.

IRON MOUNTAIN, MICH. — Walter Vanitvelt, twenty-one years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Vanitvelt of Waucedah, was instantly killed near Loretto by the overturning of an automobile which he was driving. It is thought the accident was caused by the breaking of the steering gear.

Woman Hit by Train Gets $8,000.

BAY CITY, MICH. — Mrs. Emma Garland received a verdict of $8,000 damages in her suit for $50,000 against the Michigan Central railroad. She and others were injured when a train struck their automobile several years ago. The case will be taken to the supreme court.

Woman to Contest Calhoun Election.

MARSHALL, MICH. — Mrs. Emma S. Willetts, defeated Democratic candidate for county school commissioner, will contest the election of E. L. McPherson of Battle Creek, on the ground that he does not hold an indorsed first grade certificate as required by law.

Sister Wins Man's Freedom.

MUSKEGON, MICH. — The undying efforts of a devoted sister resulted in the parole by Governor Ferris of Earl Eadie, who was convicted of holding up and shooting at John Wellman a farmer on the North Muskegon bridge, October 5, 1910.

Will Sift Car-Jitney Crash.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — Coro-Coroner Leroy has secured a jury to investigate the death of Mrs. William M. Lowe, who was fatally injured when a Franklin street car crashed into a jitney bus at Geneva avenue and Franklin street.

Refuses to Move for Train; Dead.

IRON MOUNTAIN, MICH. — John M. Kink, an Austrian employed by the I. Stephenson Lumber company, was instantly killed by a St. Paul train near Channing. Kink, according to his partner, fell down when drunk and wouldn't get up.

RECEIVERS TAKE C. R. I. & P.

U. S. Court Acts Quickly on American Steel Foundries' Petition.

CHICAGO — Attorneys for the American Steel oundries went before Judge Carpenter in the United States court and asked that a receiver be appointed for the Chicago-Rock Island & Pacific Railway company. The latter company is the corporation operating the railroad system.

Jacob M. Dickson, former secretary of war of the United States and former solicitor general of the Illinois Central railroad, and H. U. Mudge, president of the Rock Island road, were appointed receivers for the Rock Island road by Federal Judge Carpenter. They were placed under a nominal bond of $100,000 each.

Different Forms of Exercise.

"When I was a boy," said Mr. Cumrox, "I walked eight miles to go to school."

"And yet," rejoined his son Clyde, in a tone of gentle reproof, "you blame me for going in so strong for physical culture."—Washington Star.

DR. FRANK L. KINGAN

The many friends in this vicinity experienced a severe shock when they heard that Dr. Frank L. Kingan was dead.

His death occurred Wednesday noon and was due to an internal hemorrhage, resulting from the bursting of an ulcer in his stomach.

He was visiting at the time at the home of his mother and had been out feeding the chickens. On returning to the house he was suddenly seized with violent pain accompanied with vomiting.

A physician was called but without avail his death resulting in a few hours.

Dr. Kingan was born in Tecumseh Mich., May 18, 1879. He was educated in Tecumseh schools and later went to Detroit, where he took up the study of Dentistry graduating from the Dental department of the Detroit School of Medicine in the class of '07. He took a post-graduate course at the same institution about a year ago.

He followed his profession ever since practicing at Mendon, Mich., and later at Ubly, Mich.

In 1913, he underwent an operation for appendicitis and for the removal of ulcer of the stomach from which he never fully recovered. It was the return of this trouble which caused his death.

He was a skillful and successful dentist and was possessed of a disposition that enabled him to make friends everywhere he went.

With the exception of a few weeks visit at the home of his sister in Wellville, he has spent the time since early in Jannary at the home of his mother where he was gradually improving and was preparing to resume his dental practice. He was always kind and thoughtful of others and wonderfully patient and appreciative of everything that was done for him.

He is survived by his mother and the following sisters: Mrs. James MacQueen Wellsville, O., Misses Amey and Margret at home and John Kingan of Union St.

His funeral was held from the home of the mother Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Rex pastor of the Presbyterian church. The remains were interred in the family burying ground in Brookside cemetery, the services, at the grave being conducted by the Masons, who attended in a body. Mrs. R. T. Mead and Mrs. Ella Hodges sang.

The bearers were Messrs Homer Whaley, R. A. Heesen, T. C. Harris, James Lowry, John Smith and Lester Rogers. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were: Mrs. James MacQueen Wellsville, O., Mrs. N. F. Doke of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Jere Mahoney Adrian, Mrs Anna Brocher. Clinton; Miss Mattie Kerr, Mrs. Thomas Kerr ond Thomas Kerr Jr. of Bridgewater.

Dr. Kingan was loved and respected by all who knew him and his friends were legion. His seemingly untimely death is deeply deplored by friends both far and near, the suddeness of it only seeming to emphasize the regrets which are expressed on all sides. His heart broken mother as well as his sisters and brother have the deepest sympathy of all who know them in their hour of sorrow.

Doughnuts

That will remain moist.

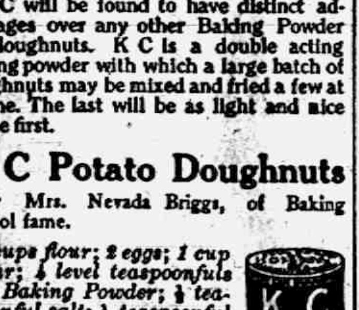
Every housewife who bakes her own bread knows that if a little potato is added to the sponge, the bread will not dry out as quickly. In this recipe potato is utilized to make doughnuts that will remain moist and fresh for several days.

K C will be found to have distinct advantages over any other Baking Powder for doughnuts. K C is a double acting baking powder with which a large batch of doughnuts may be mixed and fried a few at a time. The last will be as light and nice as the first.

K C Potato Doughnuts

By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, of Baking School fame.

3½ cups flour; 2 eggs; 1 cup sugar; 4 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ teaspoonful salt; ¼ teaspoonful mace; 1 cup cold mashed potato; ½ cup milk, or more if needed.



Sift three times, the flour, salt, spice and baking Powder. Beat eggs with rotary beater, then still using rotary beater, gradually add sugar, then work in the mashed potato with a spoon and alternately add milk and flour mixture. Make a soft dough, roll into a sheet, cut into rounds, pinch a hole in the center with the finger and fry in deep fat.

Fat for frying should not be hot enough to brown the doughnut until it has risen. When the doughnut is dropped into the fat it sinks to the bottom. As soon as it comes up it should be turned and turned a number of times while cooking. This recipe is excellent as they do not take the fat in frying and will stay moist for days.

MRS. B. F. SNYDER

It was very still at the home that early morning for Hattie had laid down to rest.

Not the rest that comes to the strong man after a day of labor, but that sweeter rest that comes when life's day is ended and the evening shadows fall on all the earth.

All that loving care could do, had been done for the dear one, but, God knew best, and called her home. The unfolding beauties of springtime the love for husband and friends were strong yet she answered the call without a murmur and at the dawn of day all that was mortal of our friend was pale and cold.

A new name was added to the long role in the book of life, and the home was desolate.

Harriet Baldwin Strong darghter of J. Stoughton Strong and Delia Baldwin Strong was born in 1849 and passed away April 18, 1915.

She was educated in our Tecumseh schools also in Monroe Seminary. In 1864 she united with the Presbyterian church where she has a faithful member.

She was united in marriage to Dr. B. F. Snyder May 15, 1885. Hers has been a quiet unassuring life, as school girl and friend always ready to do an act of kindness or speak a word of cheer.

In her married life she was loving and true, always a home body, yet she was known by many as a true friend and neighbor and will be missed by all.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who were so kind during our recent bereavement; for the beautiful floral offerings and comforting words of Rev. Hewitt.

HUDSON Six-40 for 1915

New Price $1,550 F.O.B. Detroit

THE 1915 GEM

The HUDSON Six-40 for 1915 offers 32 surprises.

Last year it seemed that no car could be better. And it seemed that quality cars could never sell lower.

But the HUDSON engineers—headed by Howard E. Coffin—have brought out 31 new features. And a trebled output—due to overwhelming demand—will reduce the price $200.

This light Six is lighter than ever.

It is handsomer—better-equipped. Just think—48 engineers for one whole year, have worked exclusively on refinements. Yet the price—which was never approached in a quality car—has been lowered by $200.

You will find in this new model the jewel car of the year—the final ideal in a Six. And you will find many attractions shown in no other car. And a price which no one considered possible until Hudson made it possible.

Sample car can be seen at the Co-Operative Co's show room. Phone 256 for demonstration.

NEW COAL PRICES

All hard coal ordered during the summer months will be sold on the following basis;

Stove and Egg sizes	per ton	$7.75
Chestnut	per ton,	$8 00

If paid for during the month of April deduct 50c
" " May " 40c
" " June " 30c
" " July " 20c
" " Aug. " 10c
" " Sep. " 00c

These prices are around $1.00 per ton less than charged by adjoining towns. The gross margin profit is the same as that of 25 years ago when all items of expenses were from 50 to 100% lower than now. We trust you will appreciate this method of selling coal which is the same basis as we have to buy it.

CLASS MEETING

Miss Nannie Kyle was hostess to her class of the Presbyterian Sunday-school Tuesday evening. The ladies were accompanied by their husbands. A very interesting program was given as follows:

Vocal solo—Lester Waring

Roll call: humorous stories, responded to by all present.

President Mrs. H. S. Bredow gave an original story.

Miss Kyle followed with a history of the class for the past thirty years.

Mrs. Allen Montgomery and Mrs. Ed Gillen gave recitations and responded to encores.

A guessing contest followed after which refreshments were served and a most delightful social hour was enjoyed.

THOSE OLD MAIDS

The Old Maids convention as presented by the ladies of the Pythian Sisters on Tuesday evening was a great success, creating much amusement to the spectators. People who have lived in Tecumseh for years were at a loss to know where these "Old Maids" had been kept as they were quite unknown to those present. Lester Coller as Prof. Pinkerton with G. W. Ziehr as Mr. Not Much, Sec., were great in the transforming business as was evidenced when these same "Old Maids" appeared in their new characters. The play was repeated Wednesday night. About $20 was realized from the entertainments.

Beers Camp No 779 Sons of Veterans held their regular meeting Thursday evening, initiating one candidate. An interesting feature of the meeting was the fact that Frederick J McMurtle, district secretary and treasurer, of Detroit, was present and occupied the commander's chair. Beers Camp is a growing one, having for its object the preservation of the spirit of patriotism as maintained by their fathers who fought in the war of '61 '65 It aims to inculcate this spirit of patriotism and love of country not only among themselves but throughout the nation, to spread and sustain the doctrine of equal rights, of universal liberty and justice to all men. Mr. McMurtle reported that the order was in a good condition throughout the country and new camps are being installed in various places.

THE LEONARD CLEANABLE
PORCELAIN LINED.
MFD. BY THE GRAND RAPIDS REFRIGERATOR CO.
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

Inside Facts About The Leonard Cleanable

IT is the inside of a refrigerator that counts. And no refrigerator is better than its lining. If it is lined with zinc or sheet iron, no matter how it is painted and enameled, it cannot possibly be sanitary.

In the Leonard Cleanable the lining is of genuine porcelain—all in one piece. No joints, no cracks, no crevices to harbor germs and give out odors. You wash it with soap and water as you clean a dish. You can tell this lining from others for it cannot be scratched or marred, even with a hat pin or knife blade.

Don't accept any other refrigerator than the genuine Leonard Cleanable. Look for the name and be sure. Let us show you this splendid refrigerator and explain its many good qualities. It is made in the largest refrigerator plant in the world and, in our opinion, the best.

Wood In Flying Machine.

Flying machines are made almost entirely of wood. The propellers of the aeroplanes are in most instances made of selected ash, which, in addition to being strong and light, will not split under vibration or shock. Built up layers of spruce with mahogany centers are also in use. Spruce is used in the construction of the frame because of its markedly straight grain and freedom from hidden defects.—Washington Star.

YOUR attention is respectfully called to an important point not generally known, that a laxative should have a tonic element to successfully meet constipation.

Mr. John B. Capers, of 610 Pecan St., Fort Worth, Texas, had a significant experience in this particular. He was afflicted with a severe case of constipation and bowel trouble. He spent a good deal of money in trying to find a remedy. To his astonishment, Peruna very quickly relieved him of his bad symptoms. This happened a number of years ago. Since then, Mr. Capers states that he has had similar attacks of trouble, the prominent symptom of which is constipation, and has always found prompt and efficient relief from Peruna. He says: "Up to the time I started using your Peruna I could drink castor oil like water. It did no good. As for salts, they were of no use. Physics of all kinds and classes were used, but we had to call on the fountain syringe for help." Peruna was able to correct this condition completely in Mr. Capers' case, and there is every reason to believe that it was the tonic qualities of Peruna, added to the laxative qualities, that procured this very desirable result.

A TECUMSEH CITIZEN COMES TO THE FRONT

Tells His Friends and Neighbors Of His Experience.

Every Tecumseh resident should read what a neighbor says. His testimony can be relied upon. Here are his own words.

W. C. Witherell, W. Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins obliging me to lie down. I was laid in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug Store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing. I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed some years ago."

Nothing so Good for a Cough or Cold

When you have a cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. There are many who consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unsurpassed. Mrs. J. Boroff, Elida, Ohio, says, "Ever since my daughter Ruth was cured of a severe cold and cough by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy two years ago, I have felt kindly disposed toward the manufacturers of that preparation. I know of nothing so quick to relieve a cough or cure a cold." For sale by all dealers. adv

Make Good Work Possible

You cannot do good work while your bowels are sluggish or your liver torpid. Wm. O. E. Bielke, Mgr. Scott Hotel, Hancock, Mich., says: "I gave Foley Cathartic Tablets a thorough trial, and find them a mild but safe cathartic." Foley Cathartic Tablets never gripe or cause nausea. They do away with that drowsy, dull, tired feeling and are wholesome, cleansing and healthful. Most satisfactory for stout persons. For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

Health Promotes Happiness

Without health, genuine joy is impossible; without good digestion and regular bowel movement you cannot have health. Why neglect keeping bowels open and risk being sick and ailing? You don't have to. Take one small Dr. King's New Life Pill at night, in the morning you will have a full, free bowel movement and feel much better. Helps your appetite and digestion. Try one to-night. adv

Placing the Howl.

A lady selecting a hat at a milliner's asked cautiously:

"Is there anything about these feathers that might bring me into trouble with the Bird Protection society?"

"Oh, no, madam!" said the milliner.

"But did they not belong to some bird?" persisted the lady.

"Well, madam," returned the milliner pleasantly, "these feathers are the feathers of a howl, and the howl, you know, madam, seein' as 'ow fond 'e is of mice, is more of a cat than a bird."—London Globe.

CAMERON M'R. WINLOW

Rear Admiral to Be Chief of U. S. Naval Operations.

DANIELS TO NAME WINSLOW

Nephew of Kearsarge Commander to Be Chief of U. S. Naval Operations.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Rear Admiral Cameron McRae Winslow, a nephew of the Winslow who commanded the famous old Kearsarge in her battle with the Alabama, will be the new chief of naval operations.

Secretary Daniels has been very anxious that this new position, which he regards as vitally important in the plans of the United States navy, should be held first by Rear Admiral Fletcher. If Admiral Fletcher had indicated a willingness for this position, it is understood that Rear Admiral Winslow would be detailed to succeed Admiral Demonstrations against the war are Atlantic fleet. Admiral Fletcher, however, is not willing to relinquish the command of the fleet at this time, and in view of his splendid service in that [illegible] insisted upon.

L. FRANK MUST PAY PENALTY

U. S. Supreme Court Rules Against Man In Habeas Corpus Hearing.

WASHINGTON — The supreme court of the United States decided against Leo M. Frank in his habeas corpus case. Justice Pitney delivered the opinion of the court. He concluded by saying: "In all the proceedings in the courts of Georgia the fullest right and opportunity to be heard according to the established modes of procedure have been accorded him. In the opinion of this court," said Justice Pitney, "he is not shown to have been deprived of any right guaranteed him by any provision of the constitution or laws of the United States; on the contrary, he has been convicted and is now held in custody under due process of law within the meaning of the constitution."

It is believed that only the state pardon officials of Georgia can now save Frank from the death penalty for his conviction of the murder of Mary Phagan, a factory girl. The supreme court's action seemingly exhausts [illegible] resort to the courts.

FARMERS GAIN $200,000,000

Europe's War Proves Ill Wind Blowing Good to Middle West.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Europe's war has enriched middle west farmers approximately $200,000,000. This money has gone chiefly to growers of grains. What speculators have made because of the war perhaps never will be known.

Fifty million dollars, it is conservatively estimated, that would not have been forthcoming via increased prices had it not been for the war, have been poured into the coffers of the packers.

Hardly Worth Mentioning.

As a New Orleans hotel keeper tells the tale a ninety-year-old negro man who was homeless, penniless, infirm and crippled crawled into a hayloft in a strange neighborhood to spend his last hours. The darky who owned the hay saw a suspicious figure slinking into his stable and came with his shot gun to make the intruder a prisoner. Cautiously entering the stable, he detected a rustling in the hay and, aiming his gun in the direction whence the sound came, yelled out:

"I got you! Doggone you, I got you!"

The expiring wanderer raised his head and as he gazed down the gun barrels replied wanly:

"An' a great git you got!"—Saturday Evening Post.

WHEN THE TIRED MOTHER GIVES OUT

What Then?—The Family Suffers, the Poor Mothers Suffer—Mrs. Becker Meets This Distressing Situation.

Collinsville, Ill.—"I suffered from a nervous break-down and terrible headaches, and was tired all over, totally worn out and too discouraged to enjoy life, but as I had four in family and sometimes eight or nine boarders, I kept on working despite my suffering.

"I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and within two weeks I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and now I am a well woman." —MRS. ANA BECKER, Collinsville, Ill.

There are hundreds of nervous, run-down, overworked women in this vicinity who are hardly able to drag around and who we are sure would be wonderfully benefited by Vinol as Mrs. Becker was.

The reason Vinol is so successful in building up health and strength in such cases is because it combines the medicinal tissue building and curative elements of cod's livers together with the blood making, strengthening properties of tonic iron. We ask every weak, nervous, run-down man or woman in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if it fails to benefit.

The Haunted House

A Story of Mexico.

By F. A. MITCHEL

"Is there a hacienda near by where I can stop for the night?" I asked a man I met on the road. I was traveling in the province of San Luis Potosi, in Mexico.

"No, senor; there is nothing within a convenient distance where one can find entertainment. There is a deserted house about two miles down the road, but I would not advise [illegible] to stop there. You had better go back to Venado."

I had come from Venado, a distance of eight miles. To go back and return to where I was would be a round trip of sixteen miles. I was well mounted, but did not care for such an additional journey in any event. I asked the man to tell me more about the deserted house.

"It was formerly the country place of a Spaniard who lived there with his wife—he a crusty old man, she a beautiful young woman. He was jealous of her, and a tragedy occurred in the house. Some say he murdered her lover, and others say he murdered both her and her lover. At any rate, he disappeared, leaving the house with all the furniture in it, and so it has remained to the present day."

"Is it locked?"

"Oh, yes; it is locked, but you will have no difficulty in getting into it."

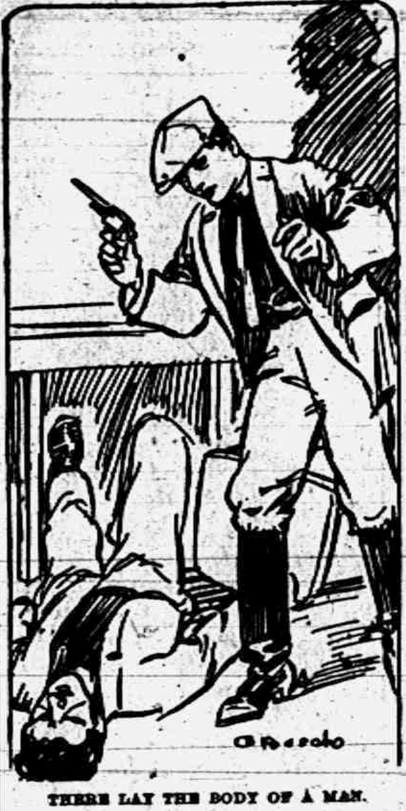
"I have provisions in my haversack. Why should I not go in there, roll myself in my blanket and sleep till early morning, then resume my journey?"

"Well, senor," replied the man, "there is nothing to prevent your doing that, but I would not do it for all the gold there is in Mexico."

"What is there to fear?"

"Men have slept there who have never been seen or heard of afterward. Men have slept there who have told fearful tales."

This was not encouraging, but I was familiar with the superstition of the lower class of Mexicans and knew that they w[illegible] frightened. I must either sleep in this deserted house or return to Venado or bivouac. The latter I did not wish to do, for a norther was blowing and a fine rain was falling. So I thanked the man for his information and rode on.



THERE LAY THE BODY OF A MAN.

I reached the house just before dark, and an attractive place it must have been in its prime.

The house had been handsomely furnished, but that must have been many years before, for, though the framework of the furniture was solid as ever, the woven fabrics were in tatters. And yet the place looked as if persons had used it since the olden time, when it was occupied regularly. There were bits of food scattered about and other evidences of the sojourn of human beings. Perhaps, I thought, these things were left by those persons of whom the man I met on the road told me. The first thing I did was to gather some wood which I found scattered about the place and, putting it in the great fireplace, soon had a cheerful blaze, which I needed not only for warmth, but to help banish the dreariness about me.

I ate my supper beside the fire. The apartment I occupied had apparently been the principal bedroom of the house in its better days, and its walls were hung with portraits. One I judged to be the likeness of the former owner, the Spaniard who had murdered his wife and her paramour. He certainly looked capable of murder. One of his eyes seemed to differ from the other; but since I had no light except what came from the hearth, I could not make out wherein this difference lay.

Having finished my supper, I went out and gathered what green stuff I could find for my horse to eat—I had watered him shortly before at a runnel beside the road—and, returning, smoked a pipe beside the fire. I had no mind to occupy the bed with its enormous rotting canopy and other fittings; so, rolling myself in my blanket, I lay down on the floor. But hard wood is not comfortable for a couch, and after fitful sleeping for a couple of hours I arose, mastered my repugnance to the moldering bedclothes and, spreading my blanket on them, tried again to sleep. But, the uncanny place getting the better of my feeling, I arose and got my 45 caliber revolver. There was nothing alive to shoot at, but somehow there was a sense of protection in the weapon.

How long I slept before waking again I don't know. I was, or thought I was, awakened by a sound. But there was a strong wind, and many parts of the house had rotted loose and rattled. The fire had gone out, but one of the heavies pieces of wood blazed and cast a lurid light about the apartment. Directly opposite was the portrait I have mentioned, and the eye which I had noticed being unlike the other seemed to me to belong to a human being and was looking straight at me.

I rubbed my own eyes to see more clearly, and when I looked again the human expression had gone out of the eye of the portrait. Thinking that I must have been mistaken, I composed myself to sleep. Naturally I thought of my money and my weapon. The former was in a belt made for the purpose of carrying funds and strapped around my waist. The revolver was in my hand on the bed.

My next awakening came from a heavy weight falling on the floor in the room above. Then came the sound of whistling wind, followed by a cry. Then all was still again. In a few minutes the stillness was broken by frightful shrieks. From the moment of the first sound I sat up, clutching my revolver. My gaze lighted on the portrait of the old Spaniard, and it had again become human.

I cannot say that I was frightened, but I will assert positively that I was mad. Yielding to an impulse which I cannot well describe, I raised my revolver and sent a bullet straight at the eye that caused the commotion within me. And so sure was my aim that an open space was left where the eye had been.

Something fell on the floor of the adjoining room. The sound seemed to come from behind where the portrait was hanging. Throwing myself from the bed, recocking my revolver with my right thumb and snatching a burning brand from the fireplace, I ran through a doorway and stood on the other side of a partition. There lay the body of a man. I had shot him in the eye and pierced his brain.

The stillness was broken by some one running in the patio, but this was all the indication I had of the presence of any one except the dead man. I stood listening for some time, then was seized with a desire to get out of the place as soon as possible. I started for the patio, dropping my torch as I went that it might not make me an illuminated target, and, reaching the door of the house, gained the outside. There I stood trying to pull myself together.

There was a streak of dawn in the east. It tended to quiet the horror there was within me. After all, what was there to flee from? I could hear no sound from within, and all except the wind was still without. I was as well armed and had the same chance as any one else. I had killed a man, and I preferred to learn if possible whether I had been justified in doing so. Summoning my resolution, I reentered the house, peering through the dim light for any one who might be there.

I regained without opposition the room in which I had slept. There were embers on the hearth, and I rekindled the fire. There I stood with my back to it, waiting for the day to break. As [illegible] I could see without artificial light I went to the room, where the body lay in the same position I had left it. It was on the floor beside a table, and the table was directly under a hole in the partition, the latter being about the height of a man. I got up on the table, put my eye to the hole and looked into the bedroom.

Now I could form a theory. There had been two or more men in the house. One of them had looked through the hole, which formed an eye of the picture, and seen me on the bed. If he wished to rob me my revolver was in his way. An attempt had been made to frighten me, but whether to get an advantage over me or to drive me out of the house I could only conjecture. I inclined to the latter opinion.

Having gone thus far in my investigations, I resolved to go further. I ransacked the house. I looked into closets, up chimneys, under furniture. The last thing I did, was to pull the clothing and mattresses off the bed on which I had slept. Out rolled a shower of gold coins.

It was now quite light, and I resolved to gather up the coins, hide them and report my experience at the next town at which I would stop.

I reported my find as I had intended to the police [illegible] them where I had hidden the gold pieces. They visited the house in question and recognized the man I had shot as a notorious bandit. They wondered when he had seen me lying on the bed that he had not shot at me through the partition, but I reminded them that this would have been difficult. Besides, it was doubtless to his interest to frighten me away.

I never heard that anything was done to prevent the premises from being used by bandits. The Mexican rural police are not very effective, and soon after my experience Governor Carranza started his rebellion against President Huerta.

Wanted Her.

"An old couple from the east," says the Detroit Free Press, "are visiting their son in this city. If the mother gets out of sight of the father he is constantly asking for her and is not content till they are together again. The other evening she went to another part of the house while he was in the parlor, and after he had asked for her a half dozen times the son said rather curtly:

"'It seems as though you couldn't be without mother for five minutes at a time.'

"'You're right,' said the old gentleman slowly. 'That's the reason I married her.'"

An Interview with Mr. Ford

The following interview was given by Mr. Ford to one of the aggressive Ford agents, who returned to his home and gave it to his territory in the following newspaper advertisement:

THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT ADVERTISEMENT I EVER CAUSED TO BE PUBLISHED.—READ EVERY WORD—AND THEN MARVEL!

On a personal visit to Mr. Henry Ford I broached the subject of a possible August 1st rebate.

(The Ford Company announced last year—as you well remember—that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would receive back a refund of $40.00 ot $60.00.)

"Mr. Ford," I suggested, "Is there anything I can say to our people with regard to the Ford Motor Company's 300,000 car rebate plan?"

"We shall sell the 300,000" was the quiet reply—"and in 11 months, a full month ahead of August 1st."

"Then a refund is practically assured?"

"Yes—barring the totally unexpected. We are 50,000 to 75,000 cars behind orders today. Factory and branches are sending out 1800 daily."

I then said to Mr. Ford: "If I could make a definite refund statement we would increase our local sales 500 cars."

"You may say," was Mr. Ford's deliberate and significant reply to this—"You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford car between August 1st, 1914, and August 1st, 1915, barring the unforseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorized you to make this statement."

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to August 1, 1915, it actually means—Ford Touring Cars for $490—less the $50 rebate! Ford Runabouts for $440—less the $50 rebate! What is there left for me to say?

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY PROCLAMATION

By The Governor

The half has not been told concerning the destruction of insects by birds. The farmer in particular is indebted to the birds. True there are birds whose reputations are not above reproach. Some of them eat a few cherries and berries. This is only a small compensation for the service they render man.

Throughout the civilized world, birds are objects of admiration. Their beautiful plumage, their sweet and cheering songs, awaken the noblest emotions. The man, woman or child who has the heart to needlessly harm a bird will do injury to the human family. Thousands of our most beautiful feathered songsters are killed annually by the domestic cat. We need fewer cats and more birds.

By training boys and girls to feed the birds in winter and house them against storms, we stimulate the nobler emotions. The killing of birds for sport brutalizes the hunter. Michigan should conserve bird life. This is distinctively human.

Many of the birds are like men dependent upon the existence trees a park without trees is a desert, unfit for birds or human beings. Farms without trees, school yards without trees, homes without here and there a tree, roadsides without trees, are desolate and unfriendly. Plant a tree.

Let me ask the boys and girls to conserve the life of our wild flowers. Pick only a few here and there.

Let the country, as well as the city, engage in systematic tree planting, in tree culture for the delight and benefit of all useful forms of life.

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate Friday, May 7th, 1915, as Arbor and Bird Day, and do request that this day be observed by all schools, public and private, and other educational institutions by the planting of trees for beautifying school grounds and parks, and by conducting suitable exercises for promoting the spirit of protection to trees and birds.

(SEAL) Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this 21th day of April in the year of our Lord 1915 and of the Commonwealth the 79th.

Governor,
Coleman C. Vaughan

FROM EGYPT

A LETTER VITALLY INTERESTING AT PRESENT

The following letter was received by Mrs. Turner of Toledo, a friend of Mrs. O. Q. Jones, it is from a mutual friend of the two ladies, and our readers will find it very interesting:

Grand Hotel, Canal de Sues,
Alexandria
Egypt,
February, 10, 1915.

Dear Mrs. Turner:—

After being cut off from all communication with our friends abroad for about three months in consequence of the interruption of the postal service, we were obliged by the authorities to leave Palestine. We came to Alexandria, the first open port, and are here amongst thousands of refugees, who have left their property and personal belongings behind, and had them confiscated by the Turco-German authorities.

We were practically prisoners of war in Jaffa from November to January. In October, things began to get bad for the subjects of the allied nations, the capitulations were no longer in force, and all foreign postoffices were closed. Then when at last Turkey decided to throw in her lot with Germany, many things were done to humiliate and annoy the foreigners. They were refused permission to leave the country, and later many contrary orders were given, some to go, some to be detained, the military commander said one thing, the civil authority another. Jaffa refused to obey orders from Jerusalem, and some instructions came direct from Constantinople, so you may imagine the confusion that reigned and the state of mind that prevailed amongst the subjects of the allied nations.

We never knew from day to day what to expect, or if the rumors of massacres or being shut up in our houses might come true. Thank God we always were enabled to realise that He could preserve us in the midst of our enemies, and He kept us quiet, although at times things were alarming and very trying indeed. Provisions and other necessaries got very dear, besides the interruption to supplies coming into the country. The shops were pillaged by the authorities to feed the soldiers, and even with this many of them were half starved.

Hotels, schools and convents were taken for barracks, tailors and shoemakers were compelled to work at their trades in some one of these large places and prepare suits and shoes for the soldiers from cloth and leather, commandeered from their owners. Our house amongst others was visited by officials of the government who searched into drawers, cupboards, trunk, safe etc., and took what they fancied. Some few things were returned later, but not nearly all. Another day all the mattresses from the hotel, which happened to be tenantles, were removed and part of the furniture from there and some new chairs from the Conference hall. Resistance was impossible, floggings were in vogue, and imprisonment for those who refused to accede to their wishes.

Trenches were dug on vacant land on both sides of our property, and we were told not to show bright lights on the side next the sea, they were afraid we might signal to war vessels in the distance. We only wished the ships would come in and put an end to the miserable state of affairs, but the commandant threatened that troops landed or bombarded, all the foreigners would be massacred. And he was a man who had no mercy.

We waited as long as it was possible we were so sorry to be obliged to leave, but things got worse and worse, and some friendly Effendis told us it was better to go for other things were in contemplation. They wanted Mr. Feingold to become an Ottoman subject and when he finally refused, he had to leave.

Many French and English have been interned at Fomascus. The chiefs of the Zionist party have been sent into the interior and great indignities shown to them by tearing up their banner etc.

And now that we are here, we do not know how long we may be compelled to remain, and it is so sad to have left our homes in Jerusalem and Jaffa and hear that one (if not both) has been broken open since we came away. It is just possible we may continue the publication of our paper here, we await an answer to our application for permission but our manuscripts are not with us for we could only bring very little away with us, so the continuation of your article, I am sorry to say, cannot appear.

Alexandria is a very large, well-kept town with electric light, trams, telephones, and good carriages for hire. The shops are fine and well supplied, many hotels and beautiful private houses and all around interesting suburbs. We have done an immense amount of walking and are looking out for some more private place to stay in than this hotel where we put up on arrival.

The war has done great injury to the trade here as everywhere. I think no place and few people in the world have [illegible] suffering from it—and how much longer will it go on? The accounts of the fighting are ghastly, it is awful to think how many men are daily cut off. The youth of all these nations is being killed. It is a fearful price to pay for the extinction of Prussian militarism.

How fully it is all described in Isaiah, God punishing the nations, the hills flowing with blood; will the people not learn and turn again to God? The world has gone on wickedly, and now people must stop and think of other things than fashion, luxury and amusement. How much of modern invention has been devoted to the engines of war that are now dealing with death and destruction, mowing the men down like grass.

It makes us long for the reign of righteousness and justice which must come. Poor Palestine, she is desolate and forsaken now, and her misery is worse than ever for those who remain there but she must be freed and arise again from the dust. I wish we were able to return to her.

With kind regards from Mr. and Mrs. Feingold and myself, Believe me, dear Mrs. Turner. Yours sincerely,

MARGARET PALMER.

JOHN ST. GEORGE

John St. George was born May 19th, 1877 in the village of Dundee, Michigan and died at his home in Ann Arbor April 3, 1915.

Most of his life has been spent in the nearby parts of the state where he was well known and had a great many friends, He was a member of the the Modern Woodmen of America for over twelve years which membership he retained at the time of his death. For some time before he died he was an ardent Christian and died with the hope of a glorious immortality.

August 3, 1905 he was married to Miss Maude Collins of Ridgeway. The widow and two small children survive him. Also four sisters Mrs. George Bell, Mrs. Jennie Ball, Mrs. Nellie Cavanaugh of Detroit and Mrs. Stephen Early of Milan and many other relatives and friends to mourn his departure.

WHY EUROPE WEEPS

We are given to understand that the need throughout Europe cannot be stated in words. Who can picture to himself a whole countryside fleeing in abject terror from their homes; fleeing to no certain refuge; flying in dismay and despair away from every familiar sight to throw themselves upon the mercy of strangers in a strange land? These things cannot be told; they cannot be visualized; that can only be believed. And who will demand that he see for himself the pallid faces of these women, or hear for himself the tired out weeping of the children before he shall feel that divine pity which alone is the hope of uncounted thousands of these poor creatures today?—The Christian Herald.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

JOHN D. JR. DENIES WALSH CHARGES

Declares Federal Boaad Chairman Don't Seek Truth.

DETAILED STATEMENT ISSUED

Young Millionaire Charges That His Accuser Withholds Facts, Distorts Statements, Garbles Correspondence, Makes False Inferences and Ignores Truth or Avoids Trying to Get It.

New York, April 26.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave out the folowing statement:

"In the newspapers of Saturday morning there appeared a statement from Mr. Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the United States commission on industrial relations, purporting to be based upon information contained in letters supplied to the commission by my associates and myself.

"In our desire to give to the public all of the facts in regard to the Colorado situation, we have waived our constitutional rights protecting private correspondence and have placed all material asked for at the disposition of the commission. Had Mr. Walsh's sole desire been to bring out the truth, he would, in cases where he found the correspondence not completely self explanatory, have asked for further information, which could readily have been secured. If Mr. Walsh had confined his public utterances to statements which were true and to inferences which the evidence justifies, there would have been no occasion for protest. Instead of doing that, he has taken the correspondence, drawn from it certain inferences, and without ascertaining whether his inferences were correct has made statements and announced conclusions which are unwarrated, and in some respects has ever falsified the record itself. It therefore becomes necessary in self-refense to publish the facts.

Denies Colorado Meddling.

Mr. Walsh aserts that the correspondence shows that I exercised a personal influence that extended even to the state house at Denver, and presumed to dictate letters that went out to the president of the United States and to the governors of the states over the signature of the governor of Colorado. This is every word of it false, and ras been so characterized by Governor Ammons in the morning papers.

Mr. Walsh also states that I had a plan of "financing the publication of the official organ of the National Chamber of Commerce." The paper referred to is "The Nation's Business" and is distributed without charge to members of the chamber of commerce of the United States. The president of the chamber of commerce discussed with me on various occasions a financial plan for enlarging this publication so as to make it a more effective medium by which the chamber could place before the business men of the country facts of interest to them, in regard to business, commerce, national legislation, industrial matters, etc.

Daily Papers Story Yarn.

Again, Mr. Walsh states:

"We get this same correspondence that Mr. Rockefeller had a plan about this time for publishing a string of daily pap[illegible]

This charge is absholutely false. I never had such a plan. Mr. Walsh's only basis for his statement is contained in correspondence between Mr. Lee and myself, referring to a letter which I had received from a man I had never heard of and which I had forwarded to Mr. Lee.

Denies Coal Raising Charge.

Mrs. Walsh says:

"This was at a time when the people of Colorado were suffering for coal and the price had been advanced until thousands of families were without fuel."

Here again Mr. Walsh's failure to make inquiry has led him into a false assumption. The fact is that when the strike was called, the price of coal was not raised by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, and most energetic and effective measures were taken by the company to insure that the supply of coal for domestic use should not be curtailed.

BEST PAYING RAILROAD.

It's a Little One, Built of Scrap Iron on Wooden Rails.

The railroad that pays the biggest dividends on the capital invested is, according to the Technical World magazine, the Grand Island railroad. It is in northern Alberta, Canada, 200 miles from any trunk line or feed.

It is only a quarter of a mile long and built of scrap iron on wooden rails. Its rolling stock consists of two battered freight cars, which are pushed along the road by the men who ship the freight, no locomotives being used.

The freight that is handled on this road consists principally of furs, which are towed up the Athabaska river on scows hauled by men, are laden on the cars, pushed down the railroad and shipped again on other scows, thereby circumventing the dangerous Grand rapids. Returning, the scows carry all sorts of freight for the Hudson Bay company's factors and are floated down the river.

The Hudson Bay company charges $2.50 a ton for all freight on this little railroad, and the shipper must handle his own goods and push the cars himself.

LAST SURVIVOR OF LINCOLN PLOT DIES

Frederick W. Seward, Who Saved His Father, Passes Away.

Montrose, N. Y., April 26. — Hon. Frederick W. Seward, twice assistant secretary of state, son of the noted civil war secretary, Wm. H. Seward, is dead at his residence at Montrose on the Hudson, N. Y. He is survived by his widow, Anna Wharton Seward, and one brother, Gen. William H. Seward of Auburn, N. Y., at whose residence services will be held prior to interment in the family lot at Fort Hill cemetery, Auburn.

Frederick W. Seward was the last survivor is is believed, of those who took part in the events of that tragic night in Washington on April 14, 1865, when President Lincoln was shot down at Ford's therater by John Wilkes Booth. He, himself, was nearly killed that same night by Lewis Powell, alias Payne, a disbanded rebel soldier of Florida and a co-conspirator of Booth, in a successful attempt to save the life of his father, William H. Seward, Lincoln's secretary of state, after Payne had invaded the Seward home, as a part of the murder plot, and tried to fight his way to the secretary's sick bed, determined to kill him. Payne tried to shoot Mr. Seward, who was then an able bodied man of thirty-one, (he was then assistant secretary of state), but the revolver failed to explode, whereupon Payne, after a vicious fight, clubbed him with the butt of the gun, fracturing his skull. Mr. Seward was unconscious for several weeks, and his life was despaired of.

THIS IS WAY THE MONEY GOES

Mrs. "Silent Smith" Weds Boy Man—Pop Goes the Weasel.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Apr. [illegible].—Mrs. Jan[illegible] Smith of London, widow of "Silent Smith," mother of the countess Briganza, wife of the pretender to the throne of Portugal, and Jean H. Saint Cyr, the New York clubman, whose wife died on January 1 at Yonkers and left him over a million dollars, were secretly married at White Sulphur. They announced their marriage as they were about to board the train for New York to a crowd of friends here. Mr. Saint Cyr refused to tell of the marriage but admitted its truth.

Mrs. Smith has been here for a month and Mr. Saint Cyr got here shortly after and except for a short illness of the bride they were constantly together. Mrs. Smith has a daughter older than the bridegroom.

MOVES TO IMPEACH REDMAN

Terre Haute Judge Object of First Step of Kind in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26.—State's Attorney General Richard M. Milburn filed in the state supreme court proceedings for the impeachment of Eli H. Redman as judge of the Vigo county circuit court. It was said to be the first case of the kind ever filed in Indiana.

Redman, with Mayor Donn M. Roberts of Terre Haute, and other city and county officials, was convicted here in the federal court in the Terre Haute election conspiracy case and sentenced to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas.

Where East Seems West.

Those who have crossed the line into the southern regions of our globe are aware that in Chile the sun seems to rise in the west and set in the east. In spite of knowing the contrary to be the fact, it is well nigh impossible to shake off the strange illusion. And this because our senses conspire to tell us the reverse. As in north temperate latitudes the sun never attains the zenith in its Phoebus driven course, we instinctively face the sunward half of the sky when we look south and below the equator, and we are abetted in our deception by the cold winds which blow, as at home, from the opposite quarter. To all our senses north is south and south north The sun, rising on our right to set upon our left, seems therefore to travel daily backward from west to east in a thoroughly upsetting way.—Pervical Lowell in Youth's Companion.

Bermuda Fish.

There are 293 species of Bermuda fish, but of course all are not edible and many are too insignificant in size to excite the angler. But there are quite enough large ones to make exciting sport for the most fastidious fisherman. For fishing in shallow water the native uses a dinghy, but when he goes to the reef he travels in a whaleboat or motorboat. In almost every Bermuda bay one finds ponds that are stocked with fishes that are being fattened for the market like Thanksgiving turkeys.—Exchange.

THINK KIMBROUGH INNOCENT

Much Money Being Contributed to Secure Negro New Trial.

Saginaw, Mich., April 26.—Considerable money is being offered to the comm[illegible] working to secure[illegible] new trial for Charles Kimbrough, the negro found guilty of slaying Rose Laundry, eight years old. The public seems to have taken a different attitude than preceding the first trial and there is great interest in the outcome of the motion for a new trial. If attorney R. J. Curry is thwarted in his efforts to secure a new trial from Judge Gage, he will immediately appeal to the state supreme court. If the trial is granted a change of venue will be asked.

John Baird, republican state central committeeman, was in the upper peninsula last week and called on Warden James Russell of the Marquette penitentiary. Mr. Russel is quoted as saying he didn't think Kimbrough was guilty.

Detroit, Mich., April 26.—Claiming that the state law fixing passenger fares on Michigan railroads at a maximum of 2 cents a mile is unconstitutional, the Ann Arbor railroad has started suit in federal court here asking a permanent injunction restraining state officials from enforcing the law.

Ann Arbor Woman Wants Decree to Benefit Child.

Ann Arbor, Michh. April 26.—Mrs. Laua Swinnerton is dying in her closing days endeavoring to obtain a divorce from her husband that her parents may have an opportunity to get possession of her 3-year-old child.

Swinnerton has not appeared to contest the suit in which cruelty and desertion are charged. He is believed to be in Ohio and the dying wife charges he is back in his alimony.

The case is in progress in circuit court and Bert Holcomb, father of Mrs. Swinnerton, expressed a desire that it be hurried to a conclusion that the grandparents could make arrangements to take possession of the child, as Holcomb said, the mother has but a short time to live.

COPPER MINES ARE BOOMING

More Men Employed Than Before the Strike of 1913.

Calumet, Mich., April 26—The Michigan copper mines have nearly all brought their crews of men, working both underground and on the surface, up to normal figures of before the strike of 1913. The monthly payroll in the district is nearly $1,000,000, which is payment for the labor of about 15,000 men, several hundred more than were employed immediately prior to the calling of the copper strike July 22, 1913. Many of the producing companies are taking on more men than they employed before the strike.

KIN SCORN SLAYER OF CHILD

Will Do Nothing for Mrs. Steele Who Killed Stepdaughter.

Muskegon, Mich., April 26.—Mrs. Martha Steele, who confessed that she killed her 11-year-old stepdaughter, Evelina, by pouring acid down her throat while she held her, and then dragged the body into an alley, was arraigned in circuit court today.

Her relatives refuse to aid her in any way.

Two Pioneers Die.

Saginaw, Mich., April 26.—Two of Saginaw's oldest pioneers, Hugh McLean, 88 years old, and Nicholas Herrig, 69 years old, died within an hour of each other. McLean succumbed to general debility and had lived in Saginaw township 70 years. Herrig died of pneumonia and had resided here 66 years. One of McLean's sisters, Mrs. Jane Harris, died April 8.

Knocks Out Rail Body Order.

Charlotte, Mich., April 26.—Holding the order of the Michigan railroad commission fixing the point where the Grand Trunk should install a switch and siding for Zipp Bros., at Bellevue, to be unreasonable, and if installed a source of great danger, Judge Smith vacated the commission's order.

Walking on Tracks; Killed.

Fenton, Mich., April 26.—Charles Stevens, a resident of this vicinity since the early sixties, was killed by a west-bound Grand Trunk special freight train. Stevens had been in Holly, a few days, and was walking home on the tracks when struck.

Newspaper Man Weds.

Saginaw, Mich., April 26.—Miss Esther Shulz, daughter of ex-Sheriff George Shulz and a prominent young woman of this city, and Guy H. Jenkins, a local newspaper man, were married here.

His Job.

"What is your occupation?" asked the judge of a witness.

"Same ole thing, jedge—prayin' for rain or shine as they're needed an' predictin' the end o' the world whenever the signs p'int thataway."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Insanity.

"How was he acquitted?"

"Insanity."

"He doesn't seem crazy."

"He isn't. It was the jury that was off."—Kansas City Times.

Breakfast Table Revelations.

To girls about to marry one would tender the advice that they study their intended victim at breakfast. If he is one feeding like forty, reject him as the direct descendant of Circe's herd of swine. If he is melancholy, beware of the abrupt curves of his temperament. If he is boisterous and facetious, remember that an empty drum gives the greatest reverberation and a chatterbox at 8 a. m. is as tiresome as chanticleer at 3 in the morning. By their breakfasts, my sisters, ye shall know them.—London Saturday Review.

BASE BALL

Tecumseh vs. Britton

A very interesting game of base ball between our home team and Britton was played at Britton Friday afternoon resulting in a score of 15 to 11 in favor of Tecumseh.

Batteries for Tecumseh were Bachman and Waring, for Britton VanCise and Dewey.

Two home runs were divided between Nobles of Tecumseh and Miller of Britton.

BASE BALL SCHEDULE

Tecumseh Base Ball Club has the following schedule of games for the coming season.

April 30,—Tecumseh at Addison
May 7,—Britton at Tecumseh
May 14,—Tecumseh at Clinton
May 21,—Addison at Tecumseh
June 4,—Tecumseh at Blissfield
June 17,—Tecumseh at Manchester

CLEAN UP DAY FOR TECUMSEH

This is the time of the year when people are turning to out door life. All ready Tecumseh people have commenced to put their yards in order and we believe that in this respect we are just a little ahead of some other places, for Tecumseh is noted for its beautiful lawns and cleanly appearance.

With the passing of the winter months we find our back yards filled with ash piles, tin cans and rubbish of all kinds.

Why not have a cleaning up day or cleaning up week and make an effort to get our property in order. Remove and burn up the rubbish, clean up and paint over property and make an effort to have all vacant property put in order

Surely it would be worth while and if everybody would do their share we would soon have a far more attractive and healthy village.

This is not a local movement but similar campaigns are being inaugrated all over the state and we dont want to see the "Biggest Little Town On Earth" behind the times so suggest that we get busy and clean up.

Britain's Greatest Precipice.

The wild fowls of St. Kilda find nesting places that enable them to bid defiance to the sportsman and to the most daring of bird catchers. There is, for example, the precipice called Conagher, the same being far and away the greatest precipice in the British isles, the deepest perpendicular precipice. It rises from the sea level to a clear height of 1,220 feet. Consider that a man might jump from the top of Conagher into the sea without getting a scratch by the way.—London Graphic.

Moon Blunders.

The moon has innocently been the cause of much blundering on the part of authors. Wilkie Collins in some mysterious fashion made it rise on one important occasion in the west. Rider Haggard in "King Solomon's Mines" contrives an eclipse of the new moon for the benefit of his readers, and Coleridge ingeniously places a star between the horns of the crescent moon as she rises in the east.

MRS. EVA DAUGHERTY

The body of Mrs. Eva Sisson Daugherty of Ypsilanti was brought here for burial today. She was the daughter of the late George W. and Frances Sisson (deceased) and will be remembered by a host of old friends who knew her in her schoolhood days.

Her sisters Mrs. Harry Stevens of Detroit and Mrs. John Marsh of Cleveland and Mrs. M. Echart of Jackson and her brother Ed Sisson of Tecumseh are left to mourn her loss.

HOLLOWAY

The friends and neighbors were pained to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. William Doty which occurred Tuesday night at 10 o'clock of heart trouble. She will be greatly missed in the church in which she was a great worker. Had she lived until the 29th of April she would have been 86 years of age. Everyone loved Grandma as she was called. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mrs. Jewett Whelan and Mrs. Addie Bunting of Tipton were dinner guests of Mrs. S. J. Wilson Friday.

Anna Drouillard was home from Adrian over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Wilson and son Glenn were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Anderson of Tecumseh.

Miss Edith Whitmarsh was called home from Adrian by the death of her grandmother Mrs. William Doty.

At the regular review of Osgood Hive L. O. T. M. M. which was held Wednesday p. m., the ladies voted to have Deputy Elliott come and work. They also changed the date for the association from the 26th of May to the 21st. Each hive in the county is requested to bring a candidate.

Mrs. C. E. Holdridge accompadied her grandmother Mrs. Harriett Wheeler to Jackson Saturday for a visit with relatives. Mrs. Holdridge returned home Sunday.

Will Nobles was called to Charlotte Monday by the death of his sister Mrs. Jennie Carmon.

Mrs. Henry McLain left Wednesday evening for a visit with relatives in New York state.

Mrs. Helen Lewis of North Kohoton, N. Y. is here to spend the summer with her sisters, Mrs. Hanna Lewis and Mrs. Settie Bowerman.

INSULT TO BRYAN IS BARRED

Mails Closed to Postal Cards Calling On Secretary to Resign

Chicago, April 26. — Postmaster Campbell received notice from the Brooklyn postoffice stating that postal cards bearing an invitation to Secretary of State William J. Bryan to resign are barred from the mails. Mr. Campbell said no such cards had been received at the Chicago postoffice.

The cards placed under the ban bear the legend, "For the sake of your country, resign." Then follows the signature of the sender. The cards were addressed to William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C. So many of these cards were dropped in the mails in Brooklyn that the authorities decided to bar them as unmailable.

Frederick Gets 10 Years.

St. Louis, Mo., April 26.—August H. Frederick, who recently resigned from the presidency of the board of aldermen, to which he was elected this spring by 22,000 plurality, pleaded guilty to forgery in the first degree. He was sentenced to ten years in the state penitentiary and entered on his term seven hours later.

Villa Executes Obregon's Brother.

New York, April 26.—Francisco S. Elias, consul for Mexico under the Carranza faction, announced that he had received a telegram from Gen. Obregon asserting that Gen. Obregon's brother, Francisco, taken prisoner by Villa and sent to Chihuahua, had been shot by Villa's order.

Mrs. Smith had been living in Brownville for some time with her son-in-law Charles Beevers.

Word comes from St. Johns of the marriage of Frank B. Bauer of Adrian, formerly of this place, to Miss Estelle M. Chapman, daughter of Geo. Chapman. The bride has for several years been a successful teacher in the schools at Jackson. The groom was formerly connected with the Britton bank. Mr. and Mrs. Bauer will travel in the east and upon returning will be at home in Adrian where Mr. Bauer is interested in banking.—Britton Messenger.

"HELP WANTED"

"Canceled"

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Marks were in Ann Arbor Monday night to see the play "Help Wanted," It was below the standard of plays presented in Tecumseh and Mr. Marks has cancelled the engagement for Wednesday night.

Mr. Marks has won the reputation of putting on only first class, clean plays and is to be commended for throwing out that which is not the best.

In the place of "Help Wanted" Mr. Mark has booked Klaw & Erlangers big film produced from the play "Seven Days." This magnificent feature is perhaps the best comedy ever filmed as "Seven Days" had the reputation of being the best comedy on the road for several seasons. The admission will be 5c to all.

Inside Facts About The Leonard Cleanable

IT is the inside of a refrigerator that counts. And no refrigerator is better than its lining. If it is lined with zinc or sheet iron, no matter how it is painted and enameled, it cannot possibly be sanitary.

In the Leonard Cleanable the lining is of genuine porcelain—all in one piece. No joints, no cracks, no crevices to harbor germs and give out odors. You wash it with soap and water as you clean a dish. You can tell this lining from others for it cannot be scratched or marred, even with a hat pin or knife blade.

Don't accept any other refrigerator than the genuine Leonard Cleanable. Look for the name and be sure. Let us show you this splendid refrigerator and explain its many good qualities. It is made in the largest refrigerator plant in the world and, in our opinion, the best.

WORK OF THE CRUISERS.

Varied Functions of the "Policemen of the Fleet."

The cruiser in time of war has to perform perhaps more varied functions than any other class of warship in the fleet.

It is her business to stop and fight when the circumstances are, from her point of view, favorable and also to possess a high speed to enable her to run away when the position is unfavorable.

The cruiser is admirably termed the policeman of the fleet, for her capacities of mobility and long passage making without replenishing her bunkers are her chief attributes.

Although the introduction of wireless telegraphy has somewhat lessened the responsibility placed upon the cruiser for scouting work, she is still regarded as the "eyes of the fleet."

For the object of scouting work there is a special type of scouting cruiser in existence.

The armored cruiser's advent has almost extended that class of ship to be considered to come within the scope of the battleship. Indeed, in some cases they are so perfectly equipped in aggressive policy as to be deemed competent enough to lie in the battle line with the "capital ships."—London Answers.

Jupiter Warmer Than the Earth.

"The gigantic mass of Jupiter has a much larger warmth than that of the earth," says a scientific writer. "It is the result of the molecular movement produced by the compression of the strata and must be greater the more powerful the masses and hence the larger the pressure of the strata is. Jupiter surpasses the earth in point of mass 307 times, and for this reason the inner temperature or individual warmth of the planet is probably high enough to evaporate the water upon the surface quickly, so that water vapor forms the principal substance of the atmosphere of Jupiter. Water vapor is an excellent reflector and readily accounts for the bright radiation of light emitted by the planet."

MEASURING THE STARS.

What Is Meant by First and Second Magnitude, and So On.

The classification of the stars into orders of magnitude, depending on their apparent brightness, was undertaken a little hastily, with the result that many stars have been found which are brighter than stars of the first magnitude. Aldebaran is a typical star of the first magnitude, but Sirius is much brighter. Consequently the system of classification has to be extended.

A star of the first magnitude is 2.5 times as bright as a star of the second magnitude; a star of the second magnitude is 2.5 times as bright as a star of the third magnitude, and so on. Stars which are 2.5 times as bright as a star of the first magnitude are called stars of 0 magnitude, while stars 2.5 times brighter still are said to be of the —1 magnitude, and so on.

Professor Ceraski has made measurements to determine the magnitude of the sun, reckoned in this way. By adopting different methods of measurements he reaches very accordant results, and it appears that our sun is a star of the —36.5 order of magnitude, which means that it sends us as much light as 880,000,000 of stars of the first magnitude.

At the distance of a little over four light years—i. e., about 20,000 times its present distance—it would be a star of the first magnitude, so that, considered as a star, it is nothing out of the ordinary.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

SAVING A CITY.

Ducazel's Method Was Unique, but It Pacified Madrid.

It was in the year 1868, after a battle in the Spanish revolution of that year, and the streets of Madrid were filled with angry crowds that were bent on destroying everything and every one. Suddenly an unknown man appeared at the city hall.

"Give me a band of musicians," he said, "and before nightfall I shall control all Madrid."

He must have been a man of rare personality to have been able to persuade the authorities in that dark hour to give him anything.

But he got the musicians and went out with them to wander through the city. While they played he sang—popular street songs or some old national air. When these bored the listeners he mounted old boxes and told funny tales and got the populace amused and laughing.

By nightfall peace reigned in the city, and the mob broke up and went home to bed. The man's name was Felipe Ducazel, and he was only twenty-two years old, when he cleverly achieved this result.

We are told a deal about heroic things in saving countries by long, terrible rides at night or by the sacrifice of oneself by dying in somebody's stead, but few of us hear of any one who saved a town by laughter.—Youth's Companion.

Children In Korea.

With their short waists and full skirts a bunch of Korean girls look like old women. Very quaint are they and very wide awake as you see them squatted on the floor at a Sunday school or church gathering. When they come in with their Bibles and hymnbooks they bow on hands and knees until their foreheads touch the floor, then adjust themselves to their inexpensive, backless floor seat, waiting in quietness and perfect patience until things start. Children are always placed at the front in these gatherings, the girls on one side of the partition which separates the sexes and the boys on the other side. They sing with a gusto and intensity that seems to lift the slanting Korean roof.—Christian Herald.

Spain's Arbitration Court.

"The most unique and interesting institution for the settlement of civil suits in Spain," writes Thomas W. Palmer, Jr., in Case and Comment, "is the arbitration court. All contentions of disputes before or after the commencement of litigation, no matter how far advanced, can be submitted to an arbitration tribunal by agreement of all the interested parties. The exceptions to this are those suits involving political and civil rights, etc., or those matters in which the state is especially concerned. The arbitrators, whose number must not exceed five, are lawyers of twenty-five or more years of age and in full enjoyment of civil rights. In some instances the arbitrators may be laymen (amigables compo nedores). Appeal is made from the arbitration direct to the territorial appeal court. This method of deciding claims has proved successful and is employed considerably."

Speculative Life Insurance.

A mania for speculative insurance on the lives of public personages prevailed in England during the eighteenth century. Warren Hastings, the pretender, the rebel lord or the unfortunate Admiral Byng answered equally the purpose of speculation, and there were also regular quotations on the lives of notorious highwaymen. Sir Robert Walpole at one period of his career, when his life was endangered by popular tumults, was insured for many thousands, and when George II. fought at Dettingen 25 per cent was paid against his return. Such speculative insurances were, however, largely checked by the gambling act of 1774, which made insurable interest a necessary condition for a valid policy.

GERMANS CLAIM NEW SUCCESSES

Kaiser's Army Captures Two Towns in Flanders.

FRENCH VICTORIOUS ON YSER

Both Paris and Berlin Assert That Big Battle in West is Going Their Way—Germans Claim 1,000 British Captured—Also Say 1,600 French Are Prisoners.

Paris, April 26.—The French war office issued a statement as follows:

"In Belgium our counter attacks continued successfully in close cooperation with our allies. The Germans who attacked us with two army corps continued to employ asphyxiating gas during the day. Some of their projectiles which did not explode were found to contain a large quantity of these gases. We have made considerable progress toward the north, on the right bank of the Yser Canal. The British troops, notwithstanding this violent attack of the Germans, of which we spoke last night, have on our right maintained all their positions. In the Argonne we took a German trench, captured two machine guns and made some prisoners. The action was a local one, although it was of the most violent character. On the heights of the Meuse at the Colonne trench the Germans made an attack with an entire division on a front of one kilometer (about two-thirds of a mile). At first they compelled our first line to give way but we regained this position by a counter attack."

Germans Take Two Towns.

Berlin, April 26.—The German army headquarters gave out the following report:

"Western theater of war—We obtained further results at Ypres. The ground captured on April 22 north of Ypres was still retained yesterday in spite of the attacks of the enemy. Further east we continued our attack and took by storm the Solaert Farm, southwest of St. Julien, as well as the villages of St. Julien and Kersselaere, and advanced victoriously toward Grafenstafel. During these engagements about 1,000 Englishmen were taken prisoners and several machine guns were captured. A British counter attack against our positions west of St. Julien was repulsed early this morning with very heavy loss to the enemy. West of Wiel attempts of the British to make an attack were quenched at the very start by the fire of our artillery. In the Argonne we repulsed an attack by two French battalions north of Four De Paris. In the Muese hills southwest of Combres, the French suffered a heavy defeat. We began an atack at this point and in the rush broke through many French lines lying one behind the other. The French attempted at night to take away from us the captured territory, but again failed with heavy losses to them. Twenty-four French officers and 1,600 men, with 17 cannon, remained in our hands after these engagements. Between the Meuse and the Moselle fighting at close quarters occurred early at certain places. On our southern front, the fighting at Ailley has not yet come to a conclusion. A French night attack in the wood of Le Pretre failed. In the Vosges a dense mist prevented all military activity yesterday.

"Eastern thearter of war.—The situation remains unchanged. Two weak attacks by the Russians west of Ciechanaw were repulsed in reply to bomb propping by Russians on the peaceful town of Denburg the railway junction at Bilaystok was again bombarded by us. Twenty bombs were dropped."

Bible Reading.

Joseph S. Auerbach, author of "The Bible and Modern Life," asserts that "a generation has grown up without the benefit of Bible reading."

"Take away the words of Bible memory and the phrases born of Bible reading and Bible inspiration from Lincoln's Gettysburg address," says Mr. Auerbach, after pointing out the value of this training—"fourscore," "brought forth," "hallow," "perish from the earth," etc.—"and much of the solemn music has died out forever from this inspiring battle hymn of consecration to the republic."

Her Chief Charm.

"I'm very much taken with the young woman you introduced me to the other night."

"She's a very attractive girl."

"It wasn't her looks I was thinking of."

"No? Her music, then?"

"No; her originality. She didn't tell me that I reminded her of some one she knows."—Detroit Free Press.

Physically and Mentally Worn Out—Tells How Nervous and Crying Spells Were Ended by Vinol.

Monmouth, Ill.—"I was weak, worn-out and nervous. I had no appetite and was getting so thin and discouraged one day I just broke down and cried when a friend came in and asked me what was the matter. I told of my condition and how nothing I took seemed to do me any good. Vinol was suggested. I got a bottle and before it was half gone I could eat and sleep well. I continued its use and now my friends say I look ten years younger, and I am well, healthy and strong. I wish I could induce every tired-out, worn-out, nervous woman to take Vinol."—Mrs. HARRIET GALE, Monmouth, Ill.

There are many over-worked, tired-out, careworn, nervous women in this vicinity who need the strengthening, tissue building, and vitalizing effects of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, and so sure are we that it will build them up and make them strong that we offer to return their money if it fails to benefit.

Vinol is a delicious preparation of the extract of cod liver oil and peptonate of iron and contains no oil.

The Man She Married

A Story Told at a Ladies' Luncheon Party.

By F. A. MITCHEL

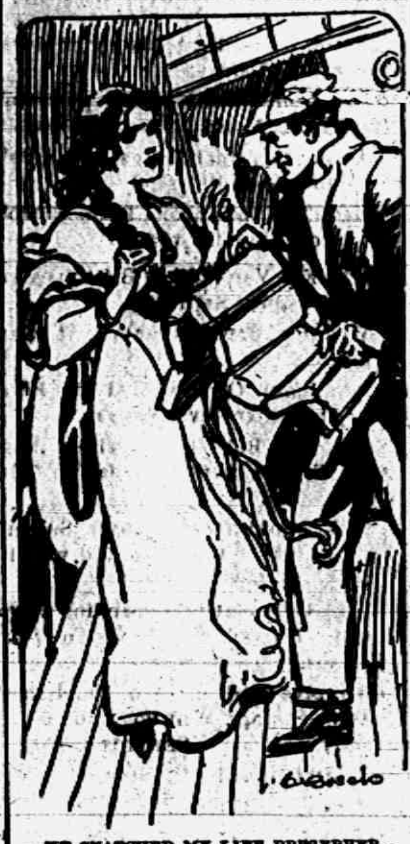
A number of married dames were at luncheon, and the hostess proposed that each give an account of how it came about that she married her husband. In order to set the ball a-rolling, she gave her own experience first. She had met the man she married at a dinner party. They were sitting side by side, and he upset a glass of red wine over a white silk dress she wore for the first time. At the moment of the accident she was recounting an incident, and simply applying her napkin to the saturated spot she went on with her recital as though nothing had happened. The man, who realized that he had ruined the dress and could not with propriety offer to replace it, was so much pleased with her consideration for his feelings that he finally asked her to marry him.

The next narration was that of a lady who met the man she married at a horse race. At the luncheon hour the hamper containing the refreshments was brought from the boot of the coach in which the party had gone to the races, and one of the gentlemen opening a bottle of champagne shut his eyes when the pop came, and the cork hit the narrator in the face. The man was so distressed at what he had done that to make up for it he married her.

"Come, Mrs. Dorrance," said the hostess after several such romances had been recounted, "give us your experience. I am quite sure the ladies will be pleased to hear it."

Mrs. Dorrance, being urged by the others, finally consented.

"I was traveling abroad," she began, "on my way from Thun to Paris. Those barbarous people over there refused to check my trunk farther than Berne. On arrival at Berne I tried to find the trunk and failed. A gentleman noticing my distress asked if he could be of service to me, and when I told him what was the matter he went with me to the other end of the station, where we found a man slowly wheeling a truck. On the truck was my trunk. The gentleman who was with me spoke French fluently. I don't know what he said, but he succeeded in getting the trunk to the train a minute before it started."



HE SNATCHED MY LIFE PRESERVER.

"I, too, met my husband while traveling abroad," said one of the ladies, sipping her wine.

"Oh, I didn't marry that gentleman," Mrs. Dorrance proceeded. "He was going east and I west. I thanked him for the service he had done me and made a rush for the train that was just starting. All the doors were locked, and I very foolishly stepped on to the footboard. In a few moments the train was going so fast that I dare not jump off, and I couldn't get into the compartment. I was clinging to a brass rod intended for persons to help them into the coach. A gentleman in the compartment reached out and tried to drag me inside through the window.

"I was more fleshy then than I am now, and the effort was a failure. I shall never forget the disappointed look on his face when he gave up trying to lift me."

"How lovely!" remarked a lady. "Was he dark or light?"

"I was too frightened to notice."

"But you did afterward."

"I never saw him again."

"Oh! Go on."

"There are several compartments in these foreign coaches. A gentleman got out through a window at the front end of the car I was on and made his way toward me. I felt a strong arm about my waist—oh, how relieved I felt!—and glancing upward looked into one of the finest, bravest faces I ever saw in a man."

"I have heard that Mr. Dorrance is very handsome," remarked one of the ladies, sotto voce, to another.

"The gentleman," continued the speaker, "held on to me, encouraging me with a deep, sonorous voice that did not indicate the slightest fear or excitement, and somehow, under his protecting care, I felt perfectly safe. We clung there together till the train had passed over about ten miles, when we reached a station. I got into the compartment to which I was clinging, and my preserver returned to his own. I did not see him again till the train reached Dijon, when he handed out a fat woman and five children, disappearing with them in the station. He was evidently married."

"How unfortunate!" exclaimed several ladies at once.

"Two romances nipped in the bud."

"I pursued my journey to Paris and thence to London, where I attempted to engage passage on the next steamer to sail for New York. Every room was taken, and I must be at home within ten days to attend the wedding of my dearest friend, for whom I was to be bridesmaid. So the day the steamer sailed I went aboard, trusting that some passenger might miss reaching the steamer on time or something like that, but when I went to the purser after we were off he told me there was not a vacant room, not even a vacant berth in the ship.

"A gentleman was standing at the purser's window waiting till I had got through with my questions and, hearing what I said and seeing my disappointment, raised his hat, not with the flourish of a parvenu, but to the manner born, and with a sympathetic expression in his glorious eyes said:

"'Will you do me the honor to accept my stateroom?'

"Of course I told him I wouldn't think of incommoding him and all that, but he insisted, and when the purser told him that one of the officers on the upper deck would, for a consideration, give up his room to him I accepted the sacrifice."

"This is going to be delightful," was whispered from one lady to another.

"I was seasick and didn't leave my room till one night—there was a dense fog—I lay listening to the whistle repeat 'toot-toot' every few moments. I heard a crash and felt the ship careen. I knew at once that there had been a collision and, springing up, put on what I could find, seized a life preserver and ran on deck. One of the first persons I met was the gentleman who had so kindly given up his room to me."

"Ah, he saved you! I have always heard you married a brave man!"

"He did no such thing. He snatched my life preserver and ran away with it."

"Oh, dear! How disappointing!"

"I made my way to one of the boats. An officer was superintending its loading, keeping the men back and putting in the women and children. The man who had taken my life preserver, crazed with fear, tried to force his way into the boat, and the officer was obliged to threaten to shoot him to keep him away.

"The boat was filled before I could get into it, and I was obliged to seek safety in another direction. There were not boats enough for half those on board, and before I could get a place in one the last had been lowered and pulled away from the ship.

"Oh, that awful night! I looked about for something to float me—for the vessel was rapidly sinking—but could get only a steamer chair. It seemed to me not that the vessel was sinking, but that the water was rising to engulf me. Slowly it came up like a hungry monster stealing upon its prey; then suddenly the bow pitched, the stern rose, and I was engulfed in the cold black ocean.

"When I came up I was still clinging to the steamer chair. But I knew [illegible] rapidly becoming benumbed with the cold. I was losing consciousness when I felt a hand seize my arm and I was dragged on to an improvised raft. Then I felt a rope being placed around my body and knew that I was being lashed to my support. But there was no one on it with me. Presently I felt a pair of lips pressed against mine. I opened my eyes and saw a man's face. He had fiery red hair. That's all I gathered of his appearance—his hair was very red. Then I felt my raft slightly lightened. I knew that a man had pulled me on to the raft, and, since it would not bear two, he had got off into the water. I lost consciousness with the knowledge that he had given his life for mine."

"Poor fellow!" remarked the hostess.

"The wireless telegraph had called for help, and I was picked up by a boat from a steamer that had come to our rescue. As I was carried on to the deck from the boat who should I see standing with his hands in his pockets looking at me but"—

"Your preserver?"

"The red headed man. He saw me and blushed. Coming to me, he said, 'I beg your pardon for what I did.'

"'What do you mean?' I asked.

"'The kiss. I didn't expect to ever see you again.'

"'I know you didn't. You expected to give your life for mine. Come here.'

"He came to me shrinkingly as a child expecting a whipping. I threw my arms about his neck and cried with my lips against his."

"Ladies," said the hostess, the speaker having finished, "we don't need to ask who is Mr. Dorrance. It's plain enough."

The story teller did not deny the fact, and the party broke up.

"That was a very affecting story of Mrs. Dorrance's," said a lady to another.

"Very. But what a pity it was that he had a red head!"

ROBERTS OUSTED AS MAYOR

Terre Haute Executive Is Impeached By City Council.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 26.—Mayor Donn M. Roberts, recently found guilty with twenty-seven other Terre Hauteans of conspiracy to corrupt the election here on Nov. 3, 1914, was impeached by the city council by a vote of 7 to 3.

Leavenworth, Kas., April 26.—"I have nothing whatever to say," Mayor Donn M. Roberts declared when informed of the action of the Terre Haute city council in impeaching him. The information was given to Roberts by prison officials, who had received it over the long distance telephone.

Jilted, He Kills Girl and Self.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 26.—Rejected by 17 year old Millie Havens after a courtship of six months, Frank Newman, 26, shot and killed the girl and then blew out his own brains. Miss Havens came here from Wabash, Ind., last September. Newman's mother lives in Chicago.

Senator Foraker's Son Dies.

New York, April 26.—Joseph Benson Foraker, 43, son of former United States Senator Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio, died at Manhattan Beach. He had been ill for six months of pernicious anaemia.

Ypres and Death.

In Holland and Flanders, according to the Manchester Guardian, Ypres is connected in the mind of the people with the idea of death. If a Dutchman or a Fleming wishes to describe a particularly lugubrious person he will say, "Hij ziet er uit als de dood van Yperen" ("He looks like the death of Ypres"). This expression has been proverbial since Ypres was ravaged by the plague in 1349: "the death of Ypres" is a vivid expression like our "black death." But it is also taken literally, for Ypres is in sober truth one of the dead cities of Flanders. It is more dead than "Bruges la morte," which owes its reputation in this respect more to George Rodenbach's novel and the reveries of other artists than to actual fact. "Ypres sleeps and Bruges slumbers," says a Dutch writer of travel pictures.

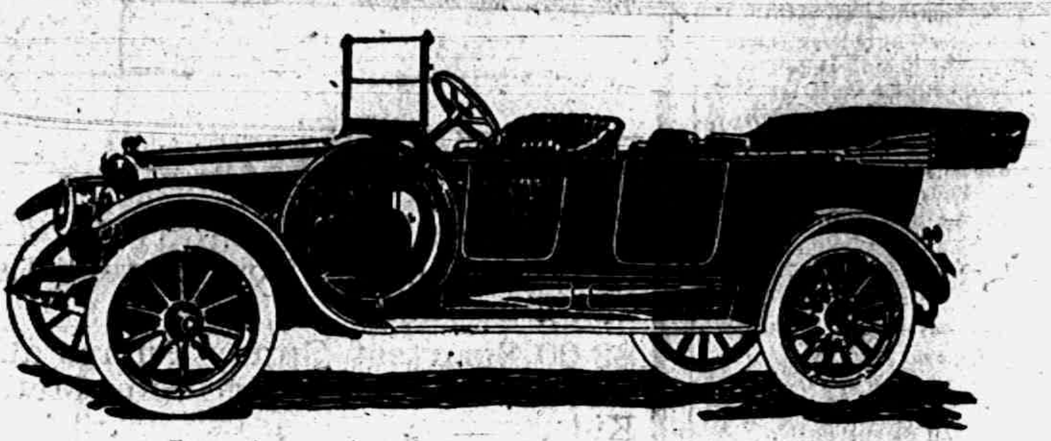
HUDSON Six-40 for 1915

New Price $1,550 F.O.B. Detroit



THE 1915 GEM

The HUDSON Six-40 for 1915 offers 32 surprises.

Last year it seemed that no car could be better. And it seemed that quality cars could never sell lower.

But the HUDSON engineers—headed by Howard E. Coffin—have brought out 31 new features. And a trebled output—due to overwhelming demand—will reduce the price $200.

This light Six is lighter than ever.

It is handsomer—better-equipped. Just think—48 engineers for one whole year, have worked exclusively on refinements. Yet the price—which was never approached in a quality car—has been lowered by $200.

You will find in this new model the ideal car of the year—the final ideal in a Six. You will find many attractions shown in no other car. And a price which no one considered possible until Hudson made it possible.

Sample car can be seen at the Co-Operative Co's show room. Phone 256 for demonstration.

SWINDLER HOT FOOTS FROM DETROIT HOTEL

Scheme to Cleanup on Stolen Money Orders Thwarted.

DETROIT — Balked in an attempt to swindle all of Detroit's leading hotels with stolen post office money orders, a man who gave the name of James C. Clark, dodged out of the Hotel Ponchartrain, eluded a traffic policeman and swarms of pursuers who followed him through the down town streets afoot and in automobiles, and escaped in the machine of Milton Freud after holding a revolver at Freud's head and compelling the latter to drive him away.

His wife, a Port Huron girl, is being held as a witness by the police at the request of Post Office Inspector E. E. Fraser. Mr. Fraser has money orders which were sent to "J. C. Clark" at the Hotels Cadillac, Charlevoix, Statler and Griswold. Each was for $100, and they are part of a batch of 139 stolen in Portland, Ore.

A fake letter, purporting to be from S. F. Crane of the Portland Investment company, 318-319 Boston building, Portland, Ore., accompanied each of the orders. Every letter said that being unable to locate Clarke, the company had sent the check to Chene, who was forwarding it to Clark's hotel. The letters all were mailed at 11:30 p. m. Saturday in Chicago.

GRAIN UNLOADING HAS BEGUN

Port Colbourne Government Elevators Store Nearly 2,000,000 Bushels.

PORT COLBOURNE, ONT. — The government elevators here commenced operations Wednesday and large quantities of grain are arriving daily from Chicago, Duluth and Fort William.

For the first three and a half days, 1,500,000 bushels have been elevated. Sunday the steamer W. Grant Morden, with a cargo of 442,000 bushels of wheat, was discharged in eleven hours, which constitutes a record for a cargo of this size.

TECUMSEH LODGE NO. 69 F. & A. M.

The Special Communication of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. & A. M. held Wednesday evening was a very fine affair. A bountiful dinner was served at 5:30 to about 100 members.

At 7:30 the lodge convened for business and work in the 3rd degree was exemplified by Tecumseh lodge, Clinton lodge was represented by several of its members.

Grand Lecturer F. O. Gilbert conducted a school of instruction. There were two Past Grand Masters present, Roscoe Swift of Adrian and J. Q. Look of Tecumseh, each giving a fine talk to the lodge. The Grand Lecturer also made some very interesting remarks aside from his lecture.

MICHIGAN ORCHARD LAWS

Nearly 35 years ago the State of Michigan passed a law requiring the owners of orchards infected with peach yellows to destroy them, and providing for the appointment of officers to enforce its provisions. Later on, as the necessity arose, the "black-knot" of the plum, "fire blight" of the pear, and "little peach," were included in the law.

In 1895 a compulsory spraying law was passed, and after the San Jose scale made its appearance in the State an orchard and nursery inspection law to prevent the introdution and spread of dangerous insects was passed in 1897.

The Legislature in 1905 passed a law which included all of the avowe Acts, and this is still in effect.

In addition to providing for the inspection of nursery stock, it makes it a misdemeanor to grow or sell nursery stock in the State without taking out a licence, for which the fee is five dollars, and a bond for $1,000, conditioned upon complying with the requirements of the law, is required.

It also requires owners of trees infected with peach yellows or little peach to destroy them, and to remove portions infected with "black-knot" and "fire bight." Trees infested with the San Jose scale, canker worm and other dangerous insects and diseases must be effectually sprayed.

The inspection and licensing of the nurseries, and the general enforsement of the nursery and orchard laws is placed in the hands of the State Inspector or Nurseries, to be appointed by the State Board of Agriculture.

The Law also requires township and village boards and city councils, where the San Jose scale or other dangerous insects or infectious tree or plant diseases are known to exist, to appoint three local inspectors. Their duty is to examine trees likely to be infested, and if dangerous insects or diseases are present, a written notice must be served upon the owner or occupant of the premises, informing him of their presence and ordering him to take proper measures (which should be specified) to control them, and allowing him a reasonable number of days in which to do it. In case the owner fails to comply with the requirements of the law, he may be prosecuted and the work may be done and the expense assessed as a special tax against the property. The penalty under the law is fine, or imprisonment, or both.

Many townships and villages where fruit culture is carried on upon a commercial scale have active and efficient local inspectors, and since it is impossible to save our fruit trees where the San Jose scale is found, much less grow first-class fruit, all persons interested in fruit culture, or in the growing of shrubbery about their homes, are urged to call the attention of the local boards to the requirement of the Law, and demand the appointment of inspectors under Act 91 Laws of 1905, when dangerous insects and diseases are known to exist.

FIND BOMB LAID TO KILL TURK WAR CHIEFS

SALONIKI — Constantinople advices tell of an eleventh-hour discovery of a riot to kill practically all of the high German and Young Turk officials and start a revolution against the war party.

A huge clockwork bomb was found concealed in the offices of the ministry of war when the search was made for explosives and spies. It was timed to explode during the meeting of the council at which they were present Enver Pasha, General von Sanders, General con der Goltz and many other officials of high rank.

The attendants blame a chimney sweeper who now is missing, but several attendants of the ministry have been arrested and are being tortured for confessions, as the officials believe that a wide-spread political plot has been organized to overthrow the Young Turk-German influence.

GREAT PROSPERITY PARADE

William Hale Thompson Is Inaugurated Mayor of Chicago.

CHICAGO, ILL. — The prosperity parade ushering in the inauguration of Mayor William Hale Thompson here was the biggest affair of the kind Chicago has ever experienced. It is estimated that 75,000 boosters in almost every conceivable form of conveyance were in the procession twenty miles long. The down town streets in that part of the city known as the loop were so crowded that traffic of all kinds was suspended. The public schools and other city institutions took part. Thompson took his chair as mayor at night.

AUTO ACCIDENT

What might have been a serious accident occurred Tuesday evening when a car load of young men who were headed for Clinton were upset. In turning aside for an oncoming auto, the car slid and one wh[illegible] off and was a total wreck. Help was called from the Big Chief Garage and the car brought in town

R. A. Fowler, one of the occupants, was quite badly hurt and is under the doctor's care. The others were more or less shaken up.

BAD ACCIDENT

Quite a serious accident occurred at Brewers Foundry Wednesday afternoon when Ed. Rogers in stepping off a car backward caught his foot in such a way as to injure it quite badly.

He was taken at once to Dr. Briegel's office where it was thought best to take him to Ann Arbor for an X-ray examination. Dr. Briegel took him over in his car. The examination showed that no bones were broken but were badly dislocated. The doctors soon had them in place and Mr. Rogers is now as comfortable as one can be under the circumstances.

BRITISH AGAIN TAKE OFFENSIVE

Gen. French Reports Gains in St. Julien Region.

FRENCH RECAPTURE HET SAS

Paris Statement Announces Steady Gains North of Ypres and on Heights of Meuse—Hartmanns-Weilerkopf Is Retaken From Germans—Ypres Is Fired by German Incendiary Bombs.

LONDON — The following report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces at the front was given out here:

"All German attacks northeast of Ypres were repulsed. In the afternoon our troops took the offensive and made progress near St. Julien and to the west of that place.

"The French co-operated on our left and farther and farther to the north they re-took Het Sas.

"In the course of Monday's fighting our artillery took full advantage of several opportunities for inflicting severe casualties on the enemy.

"On the remainder of the front there is nothing to report."

PARIS — The official statement given out by the war office reads:

"We have consolidated our positions and continue to make progress to the north of Ypres (Belgium) and also on the heights of the Meuse.

"The summit of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf, which was taken from us Monday morning, was recaptured by our troops the evening of the same day. We also took some prisoners."

Battle in Blazing Ypres.

LONDON, ENG. — "Ypres is in flames, the Germans having thrown a hail of incendiary bombs into the town." Thus telegraphs a correspondent in northern France.

"The fighting continues hotly all along this front," the correspondent adds. "The Germans show extraordinary daring in bringing heavy artillery close to their front line, the guns used being mostly 13-inch Austrian howitzers on movable carriages.

"The Germans also are using effectively armored trains carrying 4.7 guns. For the use of these armored trains the Germans have consolidated and strengthened the system of light railways, uniting a number of small towns in the neighborhood of Ypres, to which they have added strategical branch lines.

"The thirty French guns which the Germans claim to have captured north of Ypres are not in German hands, although the Frenc hwere forced to abandon them. The guns were abandoned in the marsh land with their wheels half covered with water. At present they are in 'No Man's land,' between the rival forces. The French keep up a perpetual hail of artillery fire around the guns to prevent the Germans from getting near them."

Tropical Medicines.

In the order named quinine, calomel, castor oil, tincture of iron, opium and brandy are the medicines most used in the tropics.

THE GETTYSBURG NATIONAL CEMETERY

Paper read at the Women's Rural Club Apr. 23, 1915, by Miss H[illegible] Preston, At Tipton.

"On fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn sound
The bivouac of the dead."

This is the appropriate motto found in every one of our eighty-four National cemeteries scattered from the city of Mexico to Montana and from the Atlantic to the Pacific in which lies all that is mortal of 360,000 American soldiers.

Decoration Day is impressive wherever a few old soldiers may be seen stooping over the graves of their comrades, who have been "mustered out", to place thereon their tribute of flowers but it is particularly so in our National cemeteries, where hundreds or thousands of little white marble headstones gives one an idea which columns of figures cannot do, of the terrible cost of war.

The National cemeteries are classified in accordance with their importanc, and Gettsburg is among the foremost. Very shortly after the battle of Gettysburg, Gov. Custin of Pennsylyania started a movement for the purchas of a part of the battlefield for cemetery purposes. Seventeen acres were bought and all those killed in that fiercely contested fight numbering thirty-five nundred and seventy-two, were buried, over a thousand being the unknown dead. Those who had been buried outside of this area were lifted and re-interred therein.

The cemetery was dedicated Nov. 19 1863, by Pres. Lincoln whose "Gettysburg Address" is, or ought to be, familiar to every American as a matchless lesson in patriotism and [illegible] has been said that Pres. Lincoln had been requested to say a few words by way of dedication at this time, and drawing from his pocket a crumpled piece of paper on which he had written some notes, he then gave the address which has come to be one of the masterpieces of the world's best literature.

The cemetery was afterward taken over by the government. Adjoining the cemetery is an extensive National Military park adorned with scores of costly monuments and markers erected by the various states whose soldiers fought in the battle of Gettysburg. One of the most important ones is a magnificent battle monument surmounted by a statue of Liberty and at the base of the shaft has figures of War, History, Peace, and Plenty. It occupies a charming spot which was the center of the Union line, then a rough, rocky hill. This monument was dedicated July 1, 1869, and Edward Everet delivered the oration.

We find that Gettysburg National cemetery is visited by more patriotic citizens than any of our other National cemeteries.

It does not detract from, but rather adds to the beauty and impressiveness of Memorial day ceremonies that in Gettsburg National cemetery, the graves of men who fought under a different flag as mortal enemies, are found close together. More than nine thousand soldiers of the southern Confederacy are buried in the National cemeteries along with the defenders of the starry flag—fittingly symbolizing the burial of all enmity and the final blotting out of the hatred and prejudices that engendered and accompanied the great war between the States.

So it is that the North and the South "with malice toward none and with charity toward all" may join hands across the graves of their dead, and forgive even though they may not forget.

"Under the sod and the dew,
Awaiting the Judgement day;
Under the roses, the Blue,
Under the lilies, the Grey."

ON HER DEATH BED, SHE SEEKS DIVORCE

Ann Arbor Woman Wants Decree to Benefit Child.

ANN ARBOR, MICH. — Mrs. Laua Swinnerton is dying in her closing days endeavoring to obtain a divorce from her husband that her parents may have an opportunity to get possession of her 3-year-old child.

Swinnerton has not appeared to contest the suit in which cruelty and desertion are charged. He is believed to be in Ohio and the dying wife charges he is back in his allimony.

The case is in progress in circuit court and Bert Holcomb, father of Mrs. Swinnerton, expressed a desire that it be hurried to a conclusion that the grandparents could make arrangements to take possession of the child, as Holcomb said, the mother has but a short time to live.

PREDICTS BIG WHEAT CROP

Kansas Expert Says 1915 Indications Are Nearly Up to 1914's.

TOPEKA, KAS. — Another bumper Kansas wheat crop in 1915 was predicted by J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture, in his report. The condition of the 1915 crop he estimated at 92.8 per cent on a total acreage of 8,586,300. A year ago the crop estimate was 96.5 per cent on an 8,580,000 acreage.

A wheat crop second only to the 181,000,000 bushel yield of last year is indicated, Mr. Mohler asserted. It is pointed out that, based on a 100 per cent crop of twenty bushels to the acre, Kansas, under existing conditions, should produce 159,000,000 bushels this year.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

HEALED 28 YEARS

Of all the external ills that Michigan horses can be subject to, there are few that a good liniment cannot heal. For instance, H. J. Gamlin of Orwell, Ohio, says: In the 28 years of my experience with horses, I have cured collar boils, scratches, wire cuts with a liniment which has never failed to heal any sore. This remedy is Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh." adv

THINK KIMBROUGH INNOCENT

Much Money Being Contributed to Secure Negro New Trial.

SAGINAW, MICH. — Considerable money is being offered to the [illegible] working to secure a new trial for Charles Kimbrough, the negro found guilty of slaying Rose Laundry, eight years old. The public seems to have taken a different attitude than preceding the first trial and there is great interest in the outcome of the motion for a new trial. If attorney R. J. Curry is thwarted in his efforts to secure a new trial from Judge Gage, he will immediately appeal to the state supreme court. If the trial is granted a change of venue will be asked.

John Baird, republican state central committeeman, was in the upper peninsula last week and called on Warden James Russell of the Marquette penitentiary. Mr. Russel is quoted as saying he didn't think Kimbrough was guilty.

Dumplings

For Soups, Stews and Fricasseed Chicken

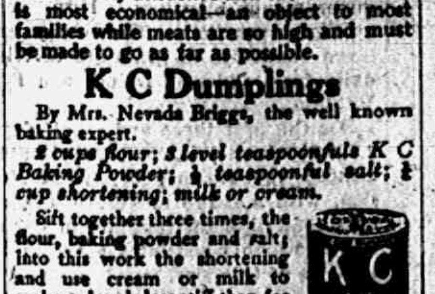
Left overs of roast lamb, veal or beef, the cheaper cuts of fresh meats, and fowls too old for roasting, make delicious and nourishing stews. K C Dumplings make them doubly attractive and the whole dish is most economical—an object to most families while meats are so high and must be made to go as far as possible.

K C Dumplings

By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the well known baking expert.

2 cups flour; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ teaspoonful salt; ½ cup shortening; milk or cream.

Sift together three times, the flour, baking powder and salt; into this work the shortening and use cream or milk to make a dough less stiff than for biscuits.



Allow the stew to boil down so that the liquid does not cover the meat or chicken. Add half a cup of cold water to stop its boiling and drop the dough in large spoonfuls on top of the meat or chicken. Cover and let boil again for 15 minutes.

Made with K C Baking Powder and steamed in this way, dumplings are as light as biscuits and are delicious with thickened gravy.

This recipe is adapted from one for Chicken Pot Pie in "The Cook's Book" by Janet McKenzie Hill, editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine. The book contains 90 excellent recipes for things that are good to eat and that help reduce the cost of living. "The Cook's Book" sent free for the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder. Send to Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

COUNTY FEDERATION OF CLUBS HELD AT CLINTON YESTERDAY

The Lenawee County Federation of Clubs was held in Clinton Thursday at the Congregational church. Twenty-five Tecumseh club women attended.

The morning session opened at 9:30 with Mrs. John Carr of Adrian, president of the Federation in the chair.

Rev. E. R. Latham gave the invocation which was followed by the Federation Hymn written by Mrs. Jane Clark of Clinton.

Mrs Mary Blanchard welcomed the guests to Clinton charmingly, Mrs. Adah Gay of Morenci responding.

A business meeting took up the balance of the morning with reports of officers, standing committees and club presidents.

A splendid dinner was served by the Congregational ladies to 150 in their dining room and the guests were given an auto ride east to the marker just placed by the historical committee of the County Federation at the point where the Old Chicago Pike enters Lenawee county. After the ride came a trip through the woolen mill which was certainly instructive and the escorts were most courteous to devote their time to a bunch of questioning women.

The first number in the afternoon session was a vocal solo by Mrs. Robt. Moore accompanied by Mrs. F. B. Wood, Mrs. Moore responded to two encores.

The nominating committee brought in their report which was President—Mrs. Ella Clark, Clinton.

Vice Pres.—Mrs. Georgia Crabbs, Morenci.
Secretary—Mrs. Merritt, Hudson.
Treasurer—Mrs. Carpenter, Blissfield.

This report was accepted and officers declared elected.

Miss Abigail Pearce, associate professor of English at the State Normal, addressed the ladies on "Civil Service Reform" showing herself thoroughly acquainted with her subject.

Next a vocal duet was given by Mrs. L. W. Kimball and Mrs. E. T. Rosacrans.

The president of the State Federation was on the program for a speech but had to disappoint the ladies as her husband is very ill.

The orchestra of the Clinton high school favored the ladies with two beautiful selections.

After more routine business the session closed to meet in Morenci next April.

The local clubs were represented as follows.

Monday Club—Mrs. F. G. Lewis vice president, Mrs. G. R. Gillespie, Mrs. C. H. Williamson.

Research Circle—Mrs. A. C. Bryan vice president, Mrs. Andrew Wilson, Mrs. Ed Smalledge.

Civic and Town Improvement Society—Mrs. Howard Bredow president

GEORGE W. SAMPLE FOR CONGRESS

George W. Sample, a prominent Ann Arbor attorney has announced himself a candidate to congress on the Republican ticket to represent the second Michigan congressional district now represented by S. W. Beakes.

For the past several years Mr. Sample has been prominent as a party worker both in his own county and state. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan Law department, class of 1901. From 1904 to 1908, he served Washtenaw Co. as one of its circuit court commissioners and in the following year was appointed Superintendent of the Census for the second Michigan district. At the present time he is serving his second term as member of the Ann Arbor board of education over which he has the honor to preside. His friends predict that he will make a fine showing for himself.

We received a letter from F. B. Gould of East Jordan this week, renewing his subscription to the Herald which he hopes to receive as long as he lives. He sends best wishes to all his old friends in and around Tecumseh, and compliments Lenawee county on being "dry".

Raynor Scudder of Macon was in town this morning for the people who just returned from Florida, B. S. Scudder and Gertrude and Mr. and Mrs. Will Morgan. They report a most delightful winter and realized the difference in the weather this morning as their heavy wraps had been sent ahead to their homes.

EASE

"State of being comfortable"
"Relaxation—Rest"
"Security—Tranquillity"
—Webster

REAL motor-ease passes the possibility of definition. To appreciate it, one must experience it.

There are various degrees of comfort, of relaxation, of security and tranquillity. To enjoy them superlatively take a ride in a Mitchell car.

The smooth running motor without vibration, the luxurious cushions and perfect springs are conducive to complete physical relaxation.

The strength of frame, power of motor and responsive control give a sense of security that the highest speed does not disturb.

A demonstration in the

Mitchell

will give you the only realization of real ease in motoring. Such a demonstration is awaiting your convenience.

COPPER MINES ARE BOOMING

More Men Employed Than Before the Strike of 1913.

CALUMET, MICH. — The Michigan copper mines have nearly all brought their crews of men, working both underground and on the surface, up to normal figures of before the strike of 1913. The monthly payroll in the district is nearly $1,000,000, which is payment for the labor of about 15,000 men, several hundred more than were employed immediately prior to the calling of the copper strike July 23, 1913. Many of the producing companies are taking on more men than they employed before the strike.

An Amiable Violinist.

Robert Browning and Joachim met one evening at a friendly gathering in London. The violinist had "obliged" without satisfying certain ladies, who entreated the poet to obtain from him another solo. Browning, feeling the delicacy of his task, discharged it diplomatically and spoke, as sometimes he wrote, so as to conceal his thoughts, while the violinist, not understanding, bowed and smiled and did not play.

As they left the house Joachim asked, "What did you mean just now?"

"Oh," said the poet, "I wanted you to give us some more music."

"Then why did you not come and say, 'Joe, old boy, give us another tune?'" returned the amiable violinist.

As Many a Tecumseh Reader Knows Too Well

When the kidneys are weak.
Nature tells you about it,
The urine is nature's index.
Infrequent or two frequent passage.
Other disorders suggest kidney ills.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys.

Tecumseh people testify to their worth.

Mrs. George Burroughs, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "My whole body ached and my strength and energy left me. Knowing several people in Tecumseh who had been helped by Doan's Kidney Pills I got a supply of this remedy at Wright & Son's Drug Store and began using them. In a few weeks I improved in every way and the pains and aches were a thing of the past. I cheerfully endorse Doan's Kidney Pills again for the benefit they brought me has been permanent."

Nothing so Good for a Cough or Cold

When you have a cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. There are many who consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unsurpassed. Mrs. J. Boroff, Elida, Ohio, says, "Ever since my daughter Ruth was cured of a severe cold and cough by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy two years ago. I have felt kindly disposed toward the manufacturers of that preparation. I know of nothing so quick to relieve a cough or cure a cold." For sale by all dealers. adv

Make Good Work Possible

You cannot do good work while your bowels are sluggish or your liver torpid. Wm. O. E. Bielke, Mgr. Scott Hotel, Hancock, Mich., says: "I gave Foley Cathartic Tablets a thorough trial, and find them a mild but safe cathartic." Foley Cathartic Tablets never gripe or cause nausea. They do away with that drowsy, dull, tired feeling and are wholesome, cleansing and healthful. Most satisfactory for stout persons. For sale by all druggists of Tecumseh. adv

Health Promotes Happiness

Without health, genuine joy is impossible; without good digestion and regular bowel movement you cannot have health. Why neglect keeping bowels open and risk being sick and ailing? You don't have to. Take one small Dr. King's New Life Pill at night, in the morning you will have a full, free bowel movement and feel much better. Helps your appetite and digestion. Try one to-night. adv

Pelican and Flamingo.

The hook of the pelican's bill is red, and undoubtedly the fable that the pelican feeds its young with blood from its own breast originated in the bird's habit of pressing the bill upon the breast in order to more easily empty the pouch, when the red tip might be mistaken for blood. Another explanation is that the pelican became confused with the flamingo, which discharges into the mouth of its young a secretion which in color resembles blood.

Mr. and Mrs. Delos Biddle, R. L. Biddle and mother Mrs. Sarah Biddle, Laverne Camburn and sister Elnora were in Ann Arbor last Sunday to attend the funeral of Clarance Biddle.

John Sherman had the misfortune to have an accident happen to his auto last Sunday while out driving. The car broke down just as they came by Ross Biddle. Fortunately no one was hurt and a seven-passenger Studebaker coming just back of them took them in and brought them home.

The Boy Scouts will meet Saturday at 10:00 a. m. if the weather is clear. A tramp will be taken across country. The boys are learning to camp out, cook their meals, and to take care of themselves generally.

A Y. M. C. A. has been organized by some of the young men aided by E. J. Arnot, the county secretary. The following officers were elected:

Pres.—Earl Lindsley
Vice Pres.,—Fred Snauble
Sec. Treas.—Alva Hunter

IN MEMORIAM

Sketch of Rachael Collins Howell In 1833 Alabama, N. Y. to James and Mahala Chambers was born their daughter Rachel, the first and only daughter of a family of ten children. When this daughter was thirteen the family moved to Macon and became active partakers in the pioneer life of Macon; the log house and the ox-team being a part of it. In contrast and to illustrate the wonderful age in which she developed the telephone, telegraph and automobile played an active and necessary part in her last illness.

At sixteen she began teaching school and thru life continued her love and interest in her pupils. In 1858 she was married to James Collins but only two and a half years of that happy union were given her, for in 1860 James Collins passed on, one son Sumner being the survivor of that union. In 1866, she was united in marriage to Edwin Howell, in 1906 he also passed on, leaving two sons and one daughter.

In 1880 during the revival services of James Higgings, she took a public stand for the cause of Jesus Christ: she also united with the M. E church and through out her life continued devoted to its interests. An ardent abolitionist an ardent temperance worker and fearless in any public moral movement. There never was any doubt as to on which side Mrs. Howell stood.

She was a devoted mother and one of the sweetest memories to her bereft children, will be her trust in a Christ who forgives all the mistakes and failures, and with whose help she has now taken up the broken threads in the light of a clearer vision

With the feeling that

"Nothing in my hands I bring,
Simply to thy Cross I cling.

On Thursday April 1st 1915 Rachel Howell "crossed the bar."

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS.

Perfection to Which the Mechanical Arm Has Been Brought.

They are making artificial limbs with such perfection today that a technical observer who is also an enthusiastic baseball "fan" declares that he would not be surprised to see in the not far distant future some wooden armed pitcher making a good record. What is known as "glass arm" would be effectively superseded by "wooden arm."

Though this is a daring leap of the imagination, which, however, need not worry the perfectly good armed pitchers of the big leagues, still some of the things that can be done with artificial arms are simply amazing. Here you see a man lighting a cigar and with a naturalness of action and pose which would deceive the casual observer.

The mechanism is controlled by certain motions of the stump of the flesh and blood arm, and no little knack is necessary to the successful working of the artificial member, and yet withal it is not very difficult to acquire.

It is said that the man who is lighting his big cigar can pick a pin from the floor without difficulty, but it is not on record that he can give the "pep" to a ball so that it will speed by the batter like a projectile from a high powered gun. As a matter of fact, he is thoroughly satisfied with the many very necessary things that can be done with the mechanical arm without venturing afar into the luxuries and excitement of outdoor sport.—Buffalo News.

THIS WOMAN WAS VERY UNHAPPY

Physically and Mentally Worn Out—Tells How Nervous and Crying Spells Were Ended by Vinol.

Monmouth, Ill.:—"I was weak, worn-out and nervous. I had no appetite and was getting so thin and discouraged, one day I just broke down and cried when a friend came in and asked me what was the matter. I told of my condition and how nothing I took seemed to do me any good. Vinol was suggested. I got a bottle and before it was half gone I could eat and sleep well. I continued its use and now my friends say I look ten years younger, and I am well, healthy and strong. I wish I could induce every tired-out, worn-out, nervous woman to take Vinol."—Mrs. HARRIET GALE, Monmouth, Ill.

There are many over-worked, tired-out careworn, nervous women in this vicinity who need the strengthening, tissue building, and vitalizing effects of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, and so sure are we that it will build them up and make them strong that we offer to return their money if it fails to benefit.

Vinol is a delicious preparation of the extract of cod liver oil and peptonate of iron and contains no oil.

DANIELS REPLIES TO NAVY CRITICS

Secretary Compares Work with That of His Predecessor.

POINTS OUT NUMEROUS GAINS

Shows That More Ships Are Building Than at Any Other Time—Munitions Increase in Greater Proportion. Facilities for Turning Out Supplies Much Enlarged.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels made public a long review of his two years' administration of the navy department, defending the navy from the charges that it is not properly prepared for war.

The secretary's statement is in the form of letter to Henry J. Garfield, president of Williams College, who wrote to Mr. Daniels that he wished to be in a position to meet statements of Representative Gardner, "alleging that the U. S. is not at present prepared for military emergencies." Secretary Daniels eagerly took this opportunity to play to the critics.

Mr. Daniels declares that the last two years have been "epoch making in the navy, distinguished by more wise and progressive naval legislation than any previous like period, thanks chiefly to a patriotic congress." Of his critics the secretary says:

"Certain persons, ignorant of their ignorance and for selfish partisan reasons, have busied themselves with misrepresenting the true condition of the navy thereby causing some good people to fear that the navy is not now as in the past the strong effective arm of the republic."

Compares Work With Predecessors.

Mr. Daniels compares what has been done in his administration with that which was done in the last two years of Mr. Meyers' term under the Taft administration he says:

"There are now in active service fully commissioned 225 vesels of all characters, which is 36 more than were fully commissioned when I began as secretary. There are also 101 vessels of various types in reserve and in ordinary and under commission, capable of rendering service in war. We have under construction and authorized 77 vessels, 9 dreadnaughts, 23 destroyers, 38 submarines and 7 aviatories as compared with 54 vessels, 5 dread naughts, 14 destroyers, 23 submarines, three gunboats and 9 auxiliaries which were under construction on March 1, 1913.

"All vessels enumerated are supplied with munitions of war. It may be said, however, that within the last two years the quantity of all has been steadily and greatly increased. For example we have increased the number of mines on hand and in process of manufacture by 244 per cent.

"By the enlargement of naval power factory we shall soon be able almost to double its former capacity and like enlargement of the torpedo works and the equipment of a plant to construct mines will still further increase, at decreased cost, the quantity of such stock, and the possession of these plants in times of emregency will enable the department to be in a state of preparedness as regards the supply of ammunition."

ROBERTS OUSTED AS MAYOR

Terre Haute Executive Is Impeached By City Council.

TERRE HAUTE, IND. — Mayor Donn M. Roberts, recently found guilty with twenty-seven other Terre Hauteans of conspiracy to corrupt the election here on Nov. 3, 1914, was impeached by the city council by a vote of 7 to 3.

LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS — "I have nothing whatever to say," Mayor Donn M. Roberts declared when informed of the action of the Terre Haute city council in impeaching him. The information was given to Roberts by prison officials, who had received it over the long distance telephone.

Elkhart, Ind., Votes Dry.

ELKHART, IND. — Elkhart voted to retain its twenty-two saloons by a majority of 120 in a total of 8,112 votes. This total was 350 more than two years ago, when the majority was 305, and 24 more than in 1911, when the majority was 468. The majority in 1909 was 806.

LONDON, ENG. — A news agency dispatch from Amsterdam brings a report that Roland G. Garros, the French aviator, who was captured by the Germans, has escaped.

Gunners' Patron Saint.

Why was St. Barbara chosen to be the patron saint of all gunners? It is one of those things which are to be known and which one ought to know, but does not. Meanwhile there is the fact that she does intercede for all gunners by land or sea.

In the old French navy the Ste. Barbe was the gun room, and the name may be found with that meaning attached to it in all dictionaries. Moreover, in France she is the saint not only of gunners, but of all fire brigades. The sapeurs pompiers hold their holiday on the day of her feast.—Westminster Gazette.

Disappointing.

The young postmistress, says Everybody's Magazine, was reading a postal card from the morning mail. Finally she turned it over to the address.

"Huh," she said in a disappointed tone, "this card is for me!"

LARGE BRITISH ARMY LANDS IN GALLIPOLI

Sea and Land Attacks on Turk Forts Resumed.

LONDON — The landing of a large force of British troops on Gallipoli peninsula, the western shore of the Dardanelles, and the resumption of the fleet's attack an the Turkish forts, as announced by the war office, indicates that the allies after a month of lethargy are about to begin the final smash to force the straits.

The landing of an army on the peninsula confirms the belief expressed by military critics that the British war office realizes that the Dardanelles cannot be forced until the peninsula of Gallipoli is wrested from the hands of the Turks.

It is understood here that the army landed is under command of General Sir Ian Hamilton, and it is believed to number between 100,000 and 200,000 men. The war office announcement is said to prove that a large part of Kitchener's new army, which was supposed to have been sent to France, has been dispatched to the Dardanelles.

Round House Collapses.

HOLLAND, MICH. — A round house at North Lansing owned by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, collapsed. Two engines and some machinery for wrecking work were buried.

Ship of Peace Released.

LONDON, ENG.—The peace party of American women, headed by Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, which has been marooned aboard the steamer Noordam at Deal since Saturday morning, is believed to be on its way to The Hague. Orders to permit the vessel to proceed to Rotterdam were given, but whether the liner lifted anchor is not known.

ORBITS OF THE PLANETS.

Why They Are Eclipses and Cannot Become Perfect Circles.

Every ellipse has two foci. Kepler's second law is, "The orbits of all of the planets are ellipses, the sun being in one common focus of them all." All of the other foci are empty space. The eccentricities of orbits of all planets vary on account of the attraction of all the other planets making variations. Some are decreasing while others are increasing, but none can ever become exact circles since there are eight mutually disturbing planets.

That of the earth's orbit is now decreasing and, according to the French astronomer Leverrier, who took time to make elaborate mathematical researches in this part of astronomy, will continue to decrease during about 24,000 years, but will not vanish, making the earth's orbit an exact circle, and then will begin to increase.

The orbit of Venus now has the least eccentricity and is therefore nearer a true circle than any other orbit, but it cannot become a circle, one reason being the disturbance caused by the huge mass of the earth. One earth revolving around one sun, both trillions of miles away from any other disturbing, could traverse a true circle.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

GERMANS HOLD TO GAINS, SAYS BERLIN

Russians Again Are Attacking East Prussian Frontier.

Berlin, May 3.—(Via London.)—The official statement issued by the army headquarters staff follows:

"In Flanders the enemy, after heavy artillery preparations again attempted to storm our new positions to the northeast of Ypres. The French attacked strongly between the canal and the road from Ypres to St. Julien. The British attacked feebly to the east of the road. The efforts of the enemy were unsuccessful, owing to our active flank and back fire from Broodeinde and Veldhoek. Two machine guns fell into our hands. In the Argonne our attacks to the north of Four de Paris progressed. In spite of a strong defense, the French lost several trenches and 156 prisoners. Between the Meuse and the Moselle the only heavy fighting was in the forest of Le Pretre, where the French attacked in great numbers. We repulsed all the attacks, some of which reached into our trenches with heavy losses for the enemy. Yesterday two more French aeroplanes were disabled. One was destroyed near Rheims by gun fire. The other belonging to an air squadron, was forced to land at a point to the northwest of Verdun.

"The Russians made an attack in the region of Kalwarya (East Prussian frontier), but were repulsed with heavy losses. Three hundred Russians were made prisoners."

CHAS. E. LITTLEFIELD DIES

Former Congressman From Maine Succumbs to Operation.

New York, May 3.—Former Congressman Charles E. Littlefield is dead at his home, 250 West 91st street. His death was due to embolism the formation of a blood clot resulting from an operation which he underwent ten days ago. He was 64 years old.

Since his resignation from congress, in 1908, Mr. Littlefield had made New York City his home and had been practicing law here. Before he quit public life to take up private practice, he was one of the leading congressmen in the country, representing the second district of Maine.

BOYS NOT YET OUT OF WOODS

U. S. Grand Jury to Probe Vote Fraud in Illinois.

Paris, Ill., May 3.—Alleged vote buying in Edgar county at the election last fall will be investigated by a federal grand jury. It was believed that the matter of probing the Edgar county election had been dropped. A deputy United States marshal served summonses on several persons to appear in East St. Louis Monday to testify.

Among those served were Charles Brown, a restaurant keeper; William Devers and George Nelson, a policeman.

Arrests Decrease.

Lansing, Mich., May 3.—Arrests made by the Lansing police from May 1, 1914, to May 1, 1915, are 40 per cent less than the number made from May 1, 1913, to May 1, 1914. The figures are arousing interest, as during the last year Lansing has been "dry," whereas for two years prior to May 1, 1914, Ingham county was "wet" territory. Chief of Police Cole says the banishment of the open saloon is responsible for the decrease.

PEACE DAY
May 18, 1915

A PROCLAMATION
By the Governor

Peace on earth, good will to men, is fundamental and imperative in every civilization that calls itself Christian. War is a confession of weakness, at best a necessary evil. It is not yet a thing of the past because brute instincts that should be regulated and directed are allowed to run riot. War is a destroyer; peace is a builder. There has never been a war in which selfishness was not the direct or indirect cause. It therefore follows that armament does not prevent war; standing armies and great navies do not prevent war. Preparation suggests war. Teach men the arts of peace, train men in the arts of peace, and war will disappear from the face of the earth. Temper, unregulated, is the vice of vices. It takes more courage to meet the requirements of peace than war. Few men are great enough to be always kind, always just always patient. Most men find it easy to be ugly, hateful and devilish.

This year of all years in the history of the world commands us to be men, to be great in the arts of peace, to know the sacredness of life. War means the destruction of fatherhood and motherhood; the destruction of home; the perpetuation of poverty; hell on earth.

We now spend $290,000,000 a year on "preparedness for war." Isn't this the time to spend one per cent. of this amount on the preparedness for peace?

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris Governor of the State of Michigan, ask that the people of Michigan set apart Tuesday, May eighteenth, as Peace Day. Let the Grand Army of the Republic, the Spanish-American War Veterans, the Woman's Relief Corps, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Sunday Schools, the Churches, the Fraternal organizations and the people generally, hold such exercises as will stir the emotions of love and good will towards all men.

[SEAL] Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this 30th day of April in the year of our Lord 1915 and of the Commonwealth the 79th.

WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS,
Governor
Coleman C. Vaughan
Secretary of State.

SUICIDES AWAY FROM HER HOME

Indianapolis Society Editor Ends Life in New York.

DID NOT WANT FAMILY NEAR

Mrs. Bessie Byfield, Whose Absence From Indiana Capital Has Been Subject of Police Inquiry, Takes Poison—She Was Sister of Indianapolis Assistant Postmaster.

New York, May 3.—Because she could not bear to kill herself at home, among those who loved her, Mrs. Bessie Byfield, of 172 North Illinois street, Indianapolis, Ind., took a train to New York, went to the Park Avenue hotel, and committed suicide there early in the morning by swallowing cyanide of potassium.

Mrs. Byfield left two letters, one addressed to her mother and the other to her sister, both in Indianapolis, in which she declared that she had determined to do away with herself, but could not bear to do it near them. She asked that her body be cremated.

She Was Newspaper Woman.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—Miss Bessie Byfield, who committed suicide in New York, disappeared from her home here last Friday. The police of this city had been searching for her since. She is a sister of Charles Byfield, assistant postmaster at Indianapolis, and was 41 years old.

Miss Byfield had been employed in the office of the National Press Association in Indianapolis. She was formerly society editor on the Indianapolis Sentinel and later worked as assistant society editor of the Indianapolis Star.

LINCOLN CHAUTAUQUA

A recent announcement from the Lincoln Chautauqua office says that Harold Morton Kramer, traveler, author and orator, noted particularly on account of his most famous book "The Chrysalis," will speak the afternoon of the fifth day. He will follow the Beverly Entertainers, a company from the Lyceum Arts Conservatory of Chicago. Mr. Kramer is still a young man but is declared by Judge Lindsey, and men of his stamp, to be one of the foremost popular and yet literary platform speakers in the country. Indeed, he is said to be in a class by himself in his ability to entertain and inspire the people.

Reno Welbourn, a spectacular scientist in a scientific demonstration, is announced for the evening. Mr. Welbourn will fill the stage with interesting apparatus and proceed to illustrate the most marvelous modern scientific phenomena, such as liquid air, wireless telegraphy, lighting a fire with a stick of ice, knocking down a block building with the shadow of his hand, etc. This is an entertainment which is more than spectacular—it is actually scientific and exceedingly instructive. No child, man or woman who is interested in the progress of this wonderful age but should hear Mr. Welbourn, according to our information.

The Beverly Entertainers are one of Elias Day's productions which is saying as much as Chicago can say for chautauqua entertainment.

WILSON'S GRANDCHILD NAMED FOR PRESIDENT

Daughter's Baby Is Christened Francis Woodrow Sayre.

Williamstown, Mass., May 3.—In the quiet of St. Johns Episcopal church President Wilson became one of the sponsors for his grandson here. Rev. J. Franklin Carter, the pastor of the church, conducted the ceremony, using the regular Episcopal service. Contrary to the expectations of outsiders the president's grandson was christened Francis Woodrow Sayre.

Only the immediate members of the family and a few close friends of the Sayre family attended the baptism, which took place at 2:30 o'clock, Mr. Willard E. Hoyt, the treasurer of Williams college, and his wife; Dr. Vanderpool Adriance, the family physician, and his wife; Dr. Garfield, president of Williams college, and Mrs. Garfield, with Mrs. Mason, President Garfield's mother-in-law; Mrs. Robert H. Sayre, the grandmother of Master Sayre, and John Nevins Sayre, who was to become one of the godfathers; Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, accompanied by Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the White House physician, were present. An automobile carried President Wilson and the Sayre family to the scene of the baptism.

Miss Agnes Winter of Philadelphia was the godmother of the Sayre baby. Miss Winter is an old friend of Mrs. Sayre.

President Wilson left behind him as a gift for Francis Woodrow Sayre a ball and bat which had been presented to him at Washington by the local baseball club of the American league.

U. S. SHIP SUNK, AMERICANS DIE

Oil Steamer Gulf Light Torpedoed by Germans.

CAPTAIN GUNTER AMONG DEAD

United States Authorities View With Grave Concern Latest "War Zone" Operations by German Submarine —Official Reports Are Awaited— Case More Serious Than Thrasher.

Washington, May 3.—Authorities here viewed with grave concern unofficial reports that the American oil ship Gulflight had been torpedoed by a German submarine off the Sicilly Islands south of England. It had been the fear of officials that the German war zone operations would result in the sinking of an American ship by a German submarine. It now appears that not only was the vessel torpedoed, but according to information received here three American lives were lost as a result. The case of Leon C. Thrasher, the American who lost his life in the torpedoing of the British ship Falaba by the Germans, was regarded as in part raising the issue most feared as a source of complications by this government. The present case apparently constitutes a much more serious offense in that it combines within itself not only an attack upon the American flag and the destruction of American property on the high seas but also involves the loss of American lives.

Officials here declined ot comment on the dispatches from London because they have not yet been confirmed by any official messages reaching the state department. It was pointed out that the matters involved are of too great consequence for official utterances based on reports which may subsequently prove to be either inaccurate or incomplete.

The vigorous note sent to Germany by the United States with reference to the proposed war zone operations affords, of course, the basis for the position the United States government may be expected to take in the matter.

Captain Gunter Among Missing.

London, May 3.—The American oil tank steamship Gulf Light, 3,202 tons, has been sunk by a torpedo off the Scilly Islands, according to a Central News report. The Gulf Light left Port Arthur, Texas, April 10, for Rouen, France.

The captain of the Gulf Light was Alfred Gunter, of Bayonne, N. J. Mrs. Gunter received a telegram from the refining company notifying her that the vessel had been struck by a torpedo and that her husband was dead. Capt. Gunter was formerly captain of the tanker Oklahoma, which buckled and broke in two in a storm —57 miles southeast of Sandy Hook on Jan. 4, 1914, with a loss of 26 lives. Capt. Gunter and seven others was saved by the Hamburg-American liner Bavaria and five other survivors were saved by the Booth liner Gregory. The Gulf Light was a new vessel, one of three sister ships built for the Gulf Refining Company by the New York Ship Building Company of Camden. She was launched last September and was valued at $150,000. Her length was 383 feet and she measured 3,202 tons net, and 5,188 tons gross. She had oil burning engines and was equipped with wireless.

The tanker arrived at Port Arthur, Texas, from Bremen on April 6, and sailed in April for Rouen with a cargo of 5,500 barrels of oil. She was last reported April 12 when 257 miles northwest of the Tortugas.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

FOUR SHIPS ARE SUNK IN BATTLE

Destroyers Send Down 2 German Torpedo Boats.

BRITISH ALSO LOSE 2 BOATS

Small Naval Engagement Takes Place in North Sea Where Submarines Have Been Lurking—Trawler First Sent to Bottom—British Warships Chase Vessels Hour.

London, May 3.—The British admiralty makes the following announcement:

"A series of small affairs took place Saturday in the neighborhood of the Galloper and North Hinder Lightships in the forenoon. The British destroyer Recruit was sunk by a submarine. Four officers and 21 men were saved by the trawler Daisy. At 3 p. m. the trawler Colombia was attacked by two German torpedo boats from the westward. They attacked without hoisting their colors. The Colombia was torpedoed and sunk, only one deckhand being saved. A division of British destroyers consisting of the Lafocey, Leonias, Lawford, Lark and others chased the Germans. An hour's running fight ensued, and both the German torpedo boats were sunk. The British suffered no casualties. Two German officers and 44 men were rescued and made prisoners."

The two light ships named are roughly on a line drawn between Harwich on the Essex coast and Ostende on the Belgian coast, the Galloper being some thirty miles off Harwich while the North Hinder light ship is about the same distance off the Belgian coast. The district in the southern part of the North sea about the light ships, particularly about the North Hinder and West Hinder light ships, has been a favorite hunting ground of the German submarines preying on British mercantile vessels.

The recruit was a small destroyer of 385 tons, built in 1896. She was 210 feet long and had a speed of 29.5 knots. Her normal complement was sixty officers and men, indicating that probably about thirty-five officers and men were lost when she went down. The four destroyers of the "L" class mentioned as having sunk the two German torpedo boats after a chase are new boats, laid down in 1913. Vessels of this class displace 965 tons and are 260 feet long. They have a speed of 29 knots and carry three 4-inch guns besides four 21-inch torpedo tubes.

German Gas Attacks Fail, Says Paris.

Paris, May 3.—The following official communique was issued at night:

"In Belgium, to the north of Ypres, the Germans attempted an attack on our right wing, which our mitrailleuses stopped at once. There is nothing new to report from the British front. At Maucourt, to the south of Chaulnes, an attack by a party of about eighty men was made on our lines. The Germans were armed with wire clippers, hand grenades, brownings and knives. Nearly all were mowed down by our infantry and some were taken prisoners. In the valley of the Aisne and in Champagne the enemy has tried in the course of the day various appliances of war, which have had no effect whatsoever. Near Tracy-le-Mont, glass tubes which on breaking spread fumes of ether were used. Between Rheims and the Argonne, our enemy resorted to bombs loaded with inflammable substances. Finally a gas producing a heavy green smoke was employed but it remained over the enemy's line and failed to reach our front. In the Bois-le-Pretre the Germans delivered a counter attack which was checked. We have maintained all our gains of yesterday. During the day we continued to bombard the southern front of the entrenched camp of Metz. The efficaciousness of our gun fire was noticeable, particularly in the case of one of the forts, as well as the barracks and the neighboring railroad line."

"MADE IN AMERICA."

It Was Our Slogan When Washington Was First Elected.

"Made in America" is not a new slogan by at least a century and a quarter. When messengers of congress were scurrying off to inform George Washington that he had been elected president of the United States and to summon forth John Adams as the first vice president "made in America" was the issue of chief importance.

There was then much more of an organized campaign than is witnessed today. In every large town there was a society to encourage homemade goods.

That was when Philadelphia began to spin its first cotton. The people felt so bitter against England that they refused to wear British fabrics. Beaus drank beer of local brew and were clad in homespuns, while the belles of town learned to run a spinning wheel.

A political candidate stood little show of election unless he appeared in American made clothes. Even Washington himself was inaugurated president clad in garments every one of which had been the product of our native land. Admiring friends of Vice President Adams could find no other gift so appropriate as rolls of homemade cloth.

It was America's first notification to Europe that in wearing apparel as well as in government it was able to walk without the aid of a foreign crutch.—Philadelphia Ledger.

He Was She.

In a college for women where the faculty consists chiefly of the gentler sex a meeting of the academic council was in progress. Here and there a lone man sat surrounded by learned ladies. An amendment had just been proposed.

"Where is the person who offers this amendment?" inquired the president. "Who is she?"

Whereupon Mr. Skeets, the popular young professor of a favorite subject, rose and replied deprecatingly, "I am she."—New York Post.

LONG WAY, LIKE TIPPERARY

But Girl From Ireland Marries Doctor From Jamaica.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 3.—An interesting international romance culminated when Miss Eleanor Taylor, of Newry, Ireland, wedded Dr. Charles E. Pengelley, of Jamaica, British West Indies.

Miss Taylor came here to study medicine at the Sanitarium and Dr. Pengelley to the same institution for treatments. The two met and the romance reached a point where Dr. Pengelley came from Jamaica for the wedding ceremony. He and his bride will sail at once for the West Indies.

GIRL ACCUSES THREE BOYS

One Alleged to Have Confessed to Waylaying and Assaulting Victim.

Jackson, Mich., May 3—Edward Conlin, Harry Doremus and Albert Mellenkolpp, each aged 18, are in jail on a charge of assault, preferred by a girl of 17. The offense alleged was committed in a park through which the girl was passing on her way home from work. At the jail she positively identified the young men as her assailants. Conlon confessed, the police said.

The girl says she was knocked down, gagged and outraged.

HE IS STILL AHEAD OF THAT WEDDING GAME

Instead of Letting Self Be Buncoed, Suitor Goes to Jail.

Traverse City, Mich., May 3.—Joe Reynolds, a sailor in the U. S. navy, of Milwaukee, has decided that advertising does not pay, especially when it relates to matrimonial affairs. He answered an ad in a paper from a local girl and the courtship went along well until he arived here and found that the prospective bride did not measure up to her description of herself.

He took to drinking to drown his disappointment, accosted women on the street and fell into the hands of the police. Now he is serving five days in jail. He also paid a fine of $13.

HE WILL REMEMBER CHANGE

Man Celebrating Last Saloon Night Is Disfigured For Life.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 3.—Still semi-conscious and his face disfigured, probably for life, Richard Carroll, is not likely to forget the last night of the "wet" regime in Battle Creek. With four friends Carroll was riding in an auto, confiscated for the occasion, when it ran into a ditch. Carroll's mouth was torn from ear to ear and he sustained internal injuries. Two of his friends, Howard Lutz and Lester McCleary, were arrested for stealing the automobile, and two others will later be apprehended.

Every former saloon in the city is now an empty storeroom, except in a few cases where the places are already being remodelled into restaurants or pool rooms.

TROUT SEASON OPENS WELL

Low Water and Cool Weather Makes Fish Eager.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 3.—The opening of the trout season was marked by exceptionally large catches in western Michigan streams. Reports from the Pere Marquette and Manistee rivers are that the streams are low and clear and the trout plentiful and eager. In the Grand Traverse region the weather is reported so cold as to bother fishermen.

Conditions on the Manistee and Pere Marquette are just the reverse of a year ago when the streams were high and muddy and fish were scarce.

Scattered.

Pat was employed on an engineering job a few miles out of the city and was carried to his work by an express train, which accommodatingly slowed up near the scene of his labors. One morning, however, the train rushed through the cut without reducing speed, and the superintendent of the job looked in vain for Pat. At last he saw a much battered Irishman limping back down the ties and called to him:

"Hello, Pat! Where did you get off?"

Pat turned stiffly and, waving his hand toward the steep embankment, sighed:

"Oh, all along here!"—Life.

Keeping Mulberry Leaves.

Mulberry leaves, the chief diet of silkworms, can be preserved for a long time in cold storage if placed in well ventilated boxes of not more than three cubic feet capacity at a temperature of between 33.8 and 36.6 degrees F. The silkworms eat them just as if they were fresh.—New York World.

Compromise.

"Dear lady, your child grows prettier every day."

"Oh, you exaggerate, sir."

"Well, then, let us say—every other day."—Man Lacht.

LITTLE MARY PICKFORD IN "THE EAGLE'S MATE"

Mr. Mark of the Bradley Opera House has booked a number of the world famous 'Paramount' pictures to be shown in his theatre commencing Thursday evening, May 6th, and each Thursday evening thereafter. The list of bookings includes the worlds highest salaried motion picture actress, Little Mary Pickford, in "The Eagle's Mate" (which will be the first one shown) and also in her greatest success "Tess of the Storm Country;" Robert Edson in "The Call of the North;" Edward Abeles in the big laughing show "Brewster's Millions;" "The Sea Wolf" and "The Valley of the Moon" both by the world famous writer, Jack London; Ethel Barrymore in "The Nightingale" and several of the worlds best and strongest plays such as "Hearts of Oak;" "Shore Acres" "Lena Rivers" etc.

You cannot find anything better in motion pictures than these bookings. They are being shown in all of the famous Kunsky houses in Detroit which include the handsome Washington, Garden and Alhambra theatres.

Mr. Mark is paying an enormous rental for these features but says they are worth every cent of their cost. To see them is to see the best in the world. The admission is within the reach of every one, 10c for adults and only 5c for children. If you want your children to see the best made send or bring them Thursday nights. Don't miss the first one of these great bookings, Little Mary Pickford, in "The Eagle's Mate" Thursday, May 6. It is considered one of Miss Pickfords best productions.

Jackson, Mich., May 3.—The number of arrests made by the local police in April was the largest for a single month in the history of the city. The total was 302.

Last of 11 Children Dies.

Belleville, Ill., May 3.—M. M. Stockey, 75 years old, a retired farmer, died at his home on Centerville road, south of Belleville, Ill., from old age. Stockey is the last of eleven children and died on his farm adjoining the property of his father, now dead, on which he was born.

Upset Solomon.

Case and Comment says that a Georgia magistrate was perplexed by the conflicting claims of two negro women for a baby, each contending that she was the mother of it. The judge remembered Solomon, and, having a court attendant procure a bowie knife, declared that he would give half to each. The women were shocked, but had no doubt of the authority and purpose of the judge to make the proposed compromise. "Don't do that, boss," they both screamed in unison. "You can keep it yourself."

SAD SUICIDE

Tecumseh Was Shocked This Morning by News of Charles Shaw's Death by Poison.

LEAVES WIFE AND FIVE CHILDREN.

The startling [illegible] Charles Shaw drayman, had ended his life by taking a dose of poison, was the first thing that was heard on the street this morning. He retired as usual last night but must have risen during the night and taken the fatal dose, as his son, Irving, found him dead upon the couch, when he got up this morning. He left a note saying he had taken poison as the easiest way out of his troubles.

A few years since his wife became insane and is confined in the asylum at Kalamazoo. He was left with a family of five children to care for, which he has done nobly. The older ones have been a great help to him the daughter keeping up the home and the older sons working in a grocery and bakery when they were out of school.

In his note which was written to his oldest son, he left instructions for the sale of his team by Ernest Dalsher. He wished the younger children to be placed in homes and for the son to draw from the bank such money as is needed. His only reason for the deed was that the load was heavier than he could bear. His mother who lives in Somerset has been notified, and is on her way here.

HOW TO DESTROY CATARRH GERMS AND END CATARRH FOREVER.

Catarrh, according to a noted authority is a germ disease and the only way to cure it so it will stay cured and never come back is to kill and drive out of your system the catarrhal germs which have found lodgement there. When the germs go the catarrh will stop.

There is nothing better for destroying catarrh germs than breathing into your nose and lungs the pleasant, soothing healing germ destroying air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) made from purest oil of Eucalyptus and combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germ destroying ingredients. Hyomei penetraies and heals the inflamed swollen membranes of your nose and throat, stops discharges, clears the passages and completely overcomes the disease by destroying its cause. For catarrh germs cannot live in your body after Hyomei reaches them. C. A. Wright & Son and many other good druggists in Tecumseh and vicinity have long sold Hyomei on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back and find this generous policy pays.

LOST WOMAN NOT DROWNED

Lafayette, Ind., Woman Found Dazed After Long Hunt.

Lafayette, Ind., May 3.—After being missed from the home of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Werkhoff, for more than thirty hours Mrs. John J. Charren was found roaming in a dazed condition at Buck Creek, twelve miles east of Lafayette. It was thought by her relatives that she had jumped into the Wabash river to end her life and the Lafayette police force and several private detectives were engaged in the search for the missing woman.

Mrs. Charren is the wife of a Monon trainman and had been taking treatment in Chicago, for a nervous disease. Thursday night, without notifying her husband, she left their rooming house in Chicago and came to the home of her mother here. She walked more than fifteen miles after disappearing from her mother's home and is now in a critical condition at a local hospital. She can not explain why she left her home.

A SMALL WORD.

It Has Only Two Letters, Yet It Is Not Easy to Define.

To define one word in the English language one modern dictionary takes eighteen columns of small type. And this solitary word upon which the dictionary bestows such a wealth of elucidation is one that hardly anybody except a dictionary maker can define at all. The ordinary educated English speaking person's knowledge of it could be expressed in about half a single line.

This fecund word is "of." If you were asked to define it—unless you are a dictionary maker or of an allied trade—probably you would have to reply: "Of? Why, of just means of." You might add defensively, "I always comprehend perfectly what it means when I see or hear it and can use it correctly in speech, so what do I want to define it for anyway?"

But if you were a child your actual mastery of "of" would stand you in no stead whatever. You would be set to digging out and memorizing the things the dictionary had to say about it, or the driest and least informing of them, as, for instance, that in some cases it is such a kind of preposition and in other cases some other kind and that prepositions have such and such properties when they don't have some other, every bit of which you would absolutely and mercifully forget at the first possible moment.—Exchange.

ALUMNI

The officers and the Advisory Board of the Tecumseh High School Alumni Association met last Friday night at the home of the President, Mrs. A. W. Mills to make arrangements for the annual Alumni meeting and banquet to be held here June 25th.

It means a lot of work to prepare for this event and we hope every one will respond to the call of the various committees appointed as willingly as they did last year, if so we can make this a big day for the town.

Whooping Cough

"About a year ago my three boys had whooping cough and I found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only one that would relieve their coughing and whooping spells. I continued this treatment and was surprised to find that it cured the disease in a very short time," writes Mrs. Archie Dalrymple, Crooksville, Ohio. For sale by all dealers. adv

Tecumseh Druggist Pleases Customers

B. J. Pulver reports customers greatly pleased with the QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. This simple remedy drains the old foul matter from the bowels so THOROUGH that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. It is so powerful that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-i-ka never gripes and the INSTANT action is surprising. B. J. Pulver, druggist.

THE STATE OF FRANKLIN.

It Had a Short Life In What Is Now Eastern Tennessee.

In 1784 North Carolina, growing impatient of the burden that her western settlements had imposed upon her treasury and irritated by the complaints of the people of those sections, passed an act conveying to the federal government all the lands that now constitute the state of Tennessee.

The people of the country that is now eastern Tennessee, feeling themselves left without a government, made haste to organize themselves into an independent commonwealth, which they called, as a tribute to the illustrious philosopher, the state of Franklin. These people applied for admission into the Union; but, the federal government being slow and unwilling to act and North Carolina having repealed the act of cession of her western province to the Union, the state of Franklin came into very troubled waters for some years.

Some efforts were made to persuade the Kentuckians to join themselves to the state of Franklin, a provision having been made for such co-operation in the constitution of the experiment, but they came to nothing. The new state gradually fell to pieces, and in 1787 its brilliant and able governor, John Sevier, was put on trial for high treason. He was released by a daring rescue and subsequently pardoned and restored in name to the leadership, which he never lost in the affections of his people. In 1787 the last legislature of the state of Franklin held its session at Greenville.—Philadelphia Press.

Napoleon's Confidence.

Just before his marriage Napoleon received the appointment of commander in chief of the army of Italy. He was then twenty-six. "You are rather young," said one of the directors, "to assume responsibility so weighty and to take command over veteran generals."

"In one year," Napoleon replied, "I shall be old or dead."

"We can place you in command of men only," said Carnot, "for the troops are in need of everything, and we can furnish you with no money to provide supplies."

"Give me only men enough," Napoleon answered, "and I ask for nothing more; I will be answerable for the result."—"Table Talk and Opinions of Napoleon Bonaparte."

A CUP OF COFFEE.

It Has No Value as Food, but It Has a Stimulating Effect.

The infusion of coffee presents practically very little material that is of direct nourishing value, says a writer in the London Tablet, but by diminishing nervous fatigue, by virtue chiefly of the caffeine present, it may increase muscular power. It is not itself a builder of tissue. The use of coffee after dinner, it is of interest to note, is justified in a large number of cases by the fact of its stimulating effect upon the vital centers, and it is said to serve to some extent as an antidote to alcohol.

It is commonly claimed to remove drowsiness. As a matter of fact, in many subjects it produces drowsiness, but this is usually followed by marked wakefulness. The practice of drinking coffee after a meal for the sake of the stimulus which is experienced has much to be said in its favor dietetically.

There is no reason for supposing that coffee possesses any value as a food. The berry contains a quite important proportion of fatty substances (12 per cent average), but these are necessarily excluded from the infusion, as, owing to their insolubility, they remain in the "grounds."

According to our analysis, the protein contents of a cup of coffee are small, approximating to 1.25 per cent of the coffee extracted. This amount can have little dietetic significance. There is also a trifling quantity of sugar present, besides traces of alcohol, which again can possess no importance from a physiological point of view.

Sick Headache

Mrs. A. L. Luckie, East Rochester N. Y., was a victim of sick headache and despondency, caused by a badly weakened and debilitated condition of her stomach, when she began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. REAL motor-ease passes the possibility of definition. To appreciate it, one must experience it.

There are various degrees of comfort, of relaxation, of security and tranquillity. To enjoy them superlatively take a ride in a Mitchell car.

The smooth running motor without vibration, the luxurious cushions and perfect springs are conducive to complete physical relaxation.

The strength of frame, power of motor and responsive control give a sense of security that the highest speed does not disturb.

OUR WILD TURKEY.

It Was the Progenitor of All Kinds of Turkey the World Over.

Among the aboriginal inhabitants of America the turkey was a favorite fowl. It had its habitat over all that section where grew its favorite food. Indian corn. When Cortes in 1519 first reached the realm of the Aztecs. Montezuma entertained him with royal splendor, and among the delicious viands set before the Spanish invaders was roasted turkey. It was found that the Aztecs had domesticated the fowl to quite an extent and that it was also plentiful in its wild state.

North of the Rio Grande the bird was equally well known, and the adventurous Coronado found it among the cliff dwelling Indians and other tribes he met on his expedition through what is now Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. The Zuni Indians seem to have known of the turkey for centuries, and some of their earliest traditions deal with this interesting bird.

The wild turkey of America is without doubt the progenitor of all kinds of turkey the world over. Ornithologists in general accept the view that all turkeys have descended from the three forms known today as the North American, the Mexican and the Honduras (Ocellata) varieties. The bird found in certain forest regions of South America known as the curassow, although sometimes called the South American turkey, in reality belongs to a different family, and scientists hold that any real turkeys found in that continent are immigrants.

In the United States six standard varieties of the domesticated turkey are recognized and grown. These are the Bronze, Narragansett, Buff, Slate, White and the Black. The differences are chiefly in size and coloring.—Exchange.

Danger to Children

Serious illnesses often result from lingering coughs and colds. The hacking and coughing and disturbed sleep rack a child's body and the poisons weaken the system, so that disease cannot be thrown off. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has eased coughs, colds and croup for three generations; safe to use and quick to act There is no better medicine for croup, coughs and colds. OUR COLONIAL SOLONS.

First Legislative Assembly Met at Jamestown, Va., In 1619.

The first representative legislative assembly ever held in America convened at Jamestown, Va., in July, 1619, a year before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth and a decade before the Massachusetts Bay colony was begun. It consisted of the governor, Sir George Yeardley, his council, two burgesses elected by each of the eleven incorporated plantations. The assembly sat in the chancel of the little church where five years before Pocahontas had been married to John Rolfe. John Twine, the clerk of the assembly, says in his official report:

"The most convenient place we coulde finde to sitt in was the quire of the church where Sir George Yeardley, the governour, being sett down in his accustomed place, those of the counsel of estate sate nexte him on both handes, excepte onely the secretary, then appointed speaker, who sate right before him, John Twine, clerke of the general assembly, being placed nexte the speaker, and Thomas Pierse, the sergeant, standing at the barre, to be ready for any service the assembly should require. But forasmuch as men's affairs doe little prosper where God's service is neglected, all the burgesses took their places in the quire till a prayer was said by Mr. Bucke, the minister, that it would please God to guide and sanctifie all our proceedings to his owne glory and the goode of this plantation."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

COAL MINERS' CLOCKS.

Telling the Time of Day by a Lamp or an Oil Flask.

Do you know that every miner when descending into the pit to work takes with him a couple of clocks? These are not ordinary timepieces, for they have neither wheels, springs, dials nor any of the usual appurtenances. The "clocks" are simply his lamp and oil flask. By noting the quantity of oil consumed—or that left—the miner can tell to within a few minutes any hour of the day or night.

When a miner's lamp goes out, as it not infrequently does, in almost any circumstances he must not relight it himself. Instead, though he may be left in pitch darkness, he must grope his way to the lamp cabin or to some other point where he can obtain the proper assistance. He does the "groping" with his hands, stooping down until he touches the tram lines along which the coal is taken, and sliding his hands along the metal until he reaches his destination or meets some one going in the same direction.

A coal hewer's earnings depend on the weight of coal he gets and also on the number of fathoms cut. A cubic yard of coal weighs about eighteen hundredweight, and the outstretched arms of an average man extend to about one fathom. By these measurements, independent of the official ones, each man can roughly calculate his earnings for any particular "shift."—London Tit-Bits.

MACHINE GUNS.

These Deadly Weapons Fire Some 700 Bullets a Minute.

The machine gun, which pours forth a direct hail of small caliber bullets, is one of the deadliest weapons of modern warfare.

From the clumsy Gatling gun has come the modern "automatic," mounted on a light tripod, and weighing less than forty pounds. All the armies use these guns, which, although they vary somewhat in type, are essentially alike in their mechanism and in their effectiveness.

In the Benet-Mercie automatic machine gun of the French army a metal feed strip, or clip, that contains thirty ordinary army rifle cartridges is inserted in a slot on the right side of the gun. As the trigger is pulled the bolt mechanism is released and, guided by the main firing spring, pushes a cartridge into the rifle chamber.

The instant the cartridge is in place the breech mechanism locks and the charge is exploded. On its way through the rifle barrel, a little of the gas from the exploded powder is diverted through a hole in the side of the barrel, and so acts on a piston as to force the bolt mechanism back and to compress the main spring.

In returning, the bolt mechanism pulls the empty shell from the chamber and throws it out below, so that it does not interfere with the new cartridge that is now forced in from above.

The mechanism is so perfect that the operation described takes place in a small fraction of a second, and the bullets issue from the mouth of this deadly weapon at the rate of seven hundred a minute.—Youth's Companion.

ACCIDENTAL DISCOVERIES.

Origin of Starch From Corn and of Silver Plating.

How to make starch from corn (maize) was discovered accidentally by Thomas Kingsford, a mechanic. One day he threw a mess of cornmeal mush into a garbage pail. His wife emptied some lye into the same pail, and in the morning when he emptied the pail he was astonished to find a small quantity of starch at the bottom.

Thomas Bolsover, a Sheffield mechanic, was mending the handle of a knife made of copper and silver. He saw these metals fuse together and the idea of silver plating was born in his mind. He laid a thin plate of silver on a heavier one of copper and heated them till the edge of the silver began to melt. He took them from the fire, let them cool slightly, then rolled and hammered them to the desired thickness. This was the origin of "Sheffield plate," all of which was made in this way until electroplating was invented.

Cornelius Dubbel left a bottle of aqua regia (a mixture of nitric and muriatic acids) on a shelf. It fell over, the acid ran down over a window and dropped into a bottle containing an extract of cochineal. This turned to a vivid scarlet. Dubbel found that the acid had dissolved some of the tin of the window casing and the combination had produced the new color. A few experiments added the most brilliant color to the list of dyes.

The accident by which Roentgen discovered the X rays is too recent to need repeating now.—New York World

Shelley Was a Queer Boy.

The poet Percy Bysshe Shelley as a small boy was an eccentric little being. He used to dress his four sisters to represent fiends, and, filling a fire stove with some inflammable fluid and setting it aflame, he would marshal the diabolical procession to the back door As a boy at Eton he would watch the livelong night for ghosts and consulted his books how to raise one. His diet in after years was meager enough to bring him weird fancies. Bread became his chief sustenance, and his pockets were well stored with it.

A circle upon the carpet, clearly defined by an ample verge of crumbs, often marked the place where he had long sat at his studies, his face nearly in contact with his book, devouring bread at intervals amid his profound abstractions. Sometimes he ate raisins with it, and his sweet tooth was immense.

THIS WOMAN WAS VERY UNHAPPY

Physically and Mentally Worn Out—Tells How Nervous and Crying Spells Were Ended by Vinol.

Monmouth, Ill.:—"I was weak, worn-out and nervous. I had no appetite and was getting so thin and discouraged, one day I just broke down and cried when a friend came in and asked me what was the matter. I told of my condition and how nothing I took seemed to do me any good Vinol was suggested. I got a bottle and before it was half gone I could eat and sleep well. I continued its use and now my friends say I look ten years younger, and I am well, healthy and strong. I wish I could induce every tired-out, worn-out, nervous woman to take Vinol."—Mrs. HARRIET GALE, Monmouth, Ill.

There are many over-worked, tired-out careworn, nervous women in this vicinity who need the strengthening, tissue building, and vitalizing effects of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, and so sure are we that it will build them up and make them strong that we offer to return their money if it fails to benefit.

Vinol is a delicious preparation of the extract of cod liver oil and peptonate of iron and contains no oil.

A Salem Witch

She Was a Bonnie Lass From Scotland.

One night a coach was driven upon a dock in the Firth of Forth in Scotland A man alighted and called upon a girl to follow him

"What are you going to do with me?" she asked.

"Come!" was his only reply.

The girl reluctantly got out of the coach The man forcibly drew her arm through his and took her on board a ship lying beside the dock. She had been taught by rough usage that it would be useless to resist, and she accompanied the man passively across the deck and down the companionway to the cabin. There he left her and, going on deck, approached the captain, who was giving orders for preparations to sail.

"Here is £20," he said, counting out the money, "for her passage. Take her to the Massachusetts colony and leave her there."

"Is she to be turned over to any one?"

"Leave her there."

With this the speaker produced a bag, opened it sufficiently to show that it was filled with gold pieces and handed it to the captain. The latter took it, thrust it in his pocket, and he who had given it left the ship and was driven away.

Early the next morning the crew cast off from the dock and sailed out into the ocean.

"Who is the wench?" was asked on the arrival of the ship at Salem.

"A Scotch lassie," replied a woman, "who was on the ship with us—she who feared not the storm when it came, but stood out on the foredeck and talked to it."

"And to whom does she belong?"

"To no one. Some one sent her away to get rid of her."

"The lassie must go back in the ship. It is not meant that one so young should be among us without a guardian," said the people.

But the lassie did not go back in the ship, because the captain would not take her. One of the women when the immigrants had been settled in their new homes gave Kitty MacAllister—such was her name—a temporary lodging until the chief citizens should decide what to do with her, for the older persons felt it necessary to get rid of her. She was an odd creature. On the voyage she had acquired the name of Stormy Petrel, so happy was she when the wind put whitecaps on the water and shrieked in the rigging. Before the voyage was ended several of the women who had grown sons whispered among themselves that she might be a witch.

KATHERINE AND COVERLEIGH COMPARED NOTES.

If this meant that she had bewitched the young men it was the truth, for they were as anxious that she should remain with them as the older ones were that she should go elsewhere. But when the young fellows began to quarrel over her it was decided that something must be done Then the mother of one of those who had been bewitched went to the magistrate and made the following affidavit:

"During the voyage to America Katherine MacAllister when a storm raged went out on to the forecastle and, hanging on to the jib halyards, told the storm to wreck the ship. As soon as the said Katherine MacAllister had spoken the words a great blast threw the vessel on her beam ends, and she was only righted by the prayers of pious persons in the cabin.

"And this deponent further states that since the landing she (the deponent) went one moonlight night to the shore and saw the said Katherine MacAllister sailing on the water in a sieve."

Upon this affidavit Katherine was arrested while chasing butterflies and lodged in jail, or, rather, since there was no jail in the settlement, she was placed in the keeping of Deacon Padelford, he being chosen for her jailer since he had no sons for her to bewitch. Then a court was convened to try her.

There were a judge, a jury, lawyers, witnesses—indeed, all the officials and others pertaining to a court just as courts are organized today. And before this court Katherine MacAllister was tried on the accusation in accordance with the specifications laid down in the affidavit mentioned and was convicted of being a witch. Before sentence was passed upon her the judge asked her if she had anything to say in her defense.

"My home, your worship, is in Bonnie Scotland, where all maids are merry and all young men are brave. My father was a laird, and my mother was the daughter of a chief. My father was killed in battle, and my mother died of a broken heart. The good God who brought such trials on them and me gave me a cheerful heart to bear it all, since I must live. After my father and mother were taken away from me my Uncle Roderick shut me up in a room in the castle and one night put me in a coach and brought me to a ship, where he left me. What he did all this unkindness for I dinna ken. But since the good God intended that I should live through all the troubles in Bonnie Scotland I dinna think he'll let you burn me for a witch."

This speech excited the sympathy of all, and had it not been that Katherine had been duly convicted the judge might have had mercy on her. But he did what he conceived to be his duty, sentencing her to be burned at the stake the next day.

Richard Coverleigh, one of the young men whom Katherine had bewitched, heard her speech and, since the Puritans were prone to consider that they were appointed to special purposes by Providence, believed in his heart that he was commissioned to save the lassie he loved in his heart. He was a younger son of a British earl and had been sent to America that he might not disgrace his family by poverty, all the estate being entailed to his older brother. But he was more fitted for deeds of knight errantry than the commonplace duties of the peaceful settlers of a new country, though he had done some service in fighting hostile Indians.

Katherine was confined in one of the two rooms of Deacon Padelford's cabin, which served for dining room and kitchen. The fireplace was one of the olden type, very broad, and the chimney very large. Behind the cabin was a grove, and one of the trees grew so near it that its branches overhung the abode. Near midnight, when Katherine was sleeping serenely, undisturbed by the terrible ordeal in store for her on the morrow, she was suddenly awakened by a hand being clapped over her mouth.

"Be still," whispered a man's voice in her ear. "I have come to save you"

She could not have cried out if she would. The hand was soon removed, and the voice continued:

"Arise and put on your clothes You will find under the chimney a rope with a loop Put the loop under your arms, and when I feel by the rope that you are on it I will pull you up into a tree that overhangs the cabin."

"Who are you?" whispered Katherine.

"Ric Coverleigh."

Katherine felt for his hand and pressed it; then he left her, climbed the rope hand over hand and waited standing on the chimney top. When Katherine had dressed, making no noise in doing so, she put the loop over her shoulders, and Coverleigh, feeling that it was caught, pulled her up to him, and, she catching to a limb of the tree above, he helped her up on it. In a few minutes both had descended the tree and stood upon the ground

Richard Coverleigh, being fond of the water, had built himself a small boat with a single sail, and any contribution be made to the wealth of the settlement was by fishing He had in this way gathered some £40, which he would doubtless have spent had there been anything to spend it for. With this money in his doublet he took Katherine to his boat and with muffled oars pulled out to where he caught a breeze; then, raising his sail, he entered upon the broad ocean.

Fortunately the weather was pleasant and the wind favorable for a sail to Boston, not far distant. Ric did not know what he would do when he reached Boston. He relied on the Lord to guide him He was about entering the harbor in the morning when a ship bound for England approached He hailed her and asked to be taken aboard, offering the captain all the money he had to carry him and his shipmate with him The offer was accepted. Ric ran alongside the ship, and the two climbed aboard. Then the boat was turned adrift, and at the hour Katherine was to have been burned at the stake she had begun her voyage homeward.

On the ocean Katherine and Coverleigh compared notes and found that their circumstances were similar. Katherine's uncle had dispossessed her of her estate, he being next of kin and consequently heir at her death He had given out that she had died, buried a coffin weighted with stones and shipped her to America. Coverleigh on his arrival in England found that his father had died in his bed and his brother had been killed while hunting. He took possession of the title and estate, married Katherine, then went to Scotland with her and dispossessed her uncle.

Various stories were told in Salem of Katherine's disappearance The one that was accepted by most citizens was that she had flown up the chimney, and a farmer's boy who was out with the dawn averred that he had seen her high up above the cabin in which she had been confined riding on a broomstick.

CULLODEN MOOR.

The Last Battle Fought on the Soil of Great Britain.

The last battle fought on the soil of Great Britain took place in the middle of the eighteenth century.

While George II. of England was engaged in the war of the Austrian succession Charles Edward, who was called the Young Pretender, a grandson of King James II. of England landed in Scotland and made two attempts to obtain the throne of his ancestors. He was victorious in the battle of Falkirk, but the Duke of Cumberland, son of George II., having been recalled from the continent to take command of the king's forces, the Pretender was entirely defeated at Culloden moor, a plain in Scotland, four miles from Inverness. This was the last battle fought on the island of Great Britain and took place April 16, 1746, and it was also the last attempt on the part of the Stuart family to recover the throne of Great Britain.

Charles Edward Stuart escaped to France after he had wandered for five months in the highlands, pursued by his enemies. He died in Rome Jan. 30, 1788 The Duke of Cumberland gave no quarter. The wounded were all slain, and the jails of England were filled with prisoners, many of whom were executed Among the latter number were Lords Balmerino, Kilmarnock and Lovat—Lovat being the last person who was beheaded in England.—Philadelphia Press.

Vicissitudes of Warsaw.

No city in Europe has known so many changes of masters as Warsaw Founded about the year 850, it was capital of the independent dukedom of Mazovia until the fifteenth century, when it was annexed by Poland. In the seventeenth century its possession was contended for by Sweden, Russia, Austria and Brandenburg, until, in 1764 Russia practically annexed it. In 1795 the city was handed over to Prussia, but Napoleon occupied it in 1806, and at the peace of Tilsit Warsaw was proclaimed an independent duchy. In 1809 the Austrians seized the city, but lost it again, and after another brief spell of independence the city passed finally to Russia in 1813.—London Chronicle.

HUDSON Six-40 for 1915

New Price $1,550 F. O. B. Detroit

THE 1915 GEM

The HUDSON Six-40 for 1915 offers 32 surprises.

Last year it seemed that no car could be better. And it seemed that quality cars could never sell lower.

But the HUDSON engineers—headed by Howard E. Coffin—have brought out 31 new features. And a trebled output—due to overwhelming demand—will reduce the price $200.

This light Six is lighter than ever.

It is handsomer—better-equipped. Just think—48 engineers for one whole year, have worked exclusively on refinements. Yet the price—which was never approached in a quality car—has been lowered by $200.

You will find in this new model the jewel car of the year—the final ideal in a Six. You will find many attractions shown in no other car. And a price which no one considered possible until Hudson made it possible.

Sample car can be seen at the Co-Operative Co's show room. Phone 256 for demonstration.

GERMANS SINK FOUR MORE NEUTRAL SHIPS

Norway Loses Three and Sweden One by Submarines.

LONDON — Words of the torpedoing of four more neutral vessels since the attack on the American steamer Gulflight and the sinking of the Swedish steamer Ellida in the North Sea was brought to London, indicating that the German submarines are striking particularly at neutral shipping. Not a single British or French vessel, with the exception of a few trawlers, has been sunk in the last day or two. The victims of the submarines reported are three Norwegian and one Swedish steamer. The Norwegian steamer Baldwin was sent to the bottom in the North sea after the crew of seventeen men took to the boats. The men were landed at Leith. The American and the Laila were the other two Norwegian vessels sunk. It is understood their crews escaped.

The Swedish steamer Elsa was destroyed by a submarine on Sunday morning 100 miles west of May Island. The crew was given five minutes to quit the vessel and arrived at Leith on the steamer Sernebo.

PEKING, CHINA—The sympathetic attitude of the foreign pres, especially the British papers, has encouraged the Chinese, until they now apparently have resolved to concede nothing further to Japan. Chinese spirit has been aroused in an unprecedented manner and the government is faced with threatened interal trouble if it makes ay additional concessions.

The Peking Gazette, the foremost Chinese paper, says: "Cowardly capitulation will give Japan the right to restore order and invade China with her conscripts when a revolution bursts over the land.

LAWSON IS FOUND GUILTY

Leader of United Mine Workers Convicted of Murder.

TRINIDAD, COLO. — John Lawson, international executive board board member of the United Mine Workers of America, was found guilty of first degree murder. Lawson was leader of the miners' strike, during which John Nimmo, a mine guard, was killed during the battle of Ludlow on Oct. 25, 1913. It was for the death of Nimmo that Lawson was convicted.

He was sentenced immediately to life imprisonment at the state penitentiary at Canon City at hard labor.

HORATIO KEYSER CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

91 Years Old May 5, 1915

Horatio Keyser celebrated his 91st birthday Wednesday, May 5, at the home of his sister Mrs. Angeline Stacy in Newburg. Mr. Keyser is hale and hearty and does not miss a day in coming down town for his mail and to have a chat with his many friends on the street. He is good company for young or old with his fund of stories of the early days of Tecumseh, having grown up with the town. May he live just so long as he can enjoy life and his friends.

SEE DELIBERATE INSULT TO U. S.

Serious Situation Arises Over Sinking of Gulflight.

GERMANY MUST SQUARE ITSELF

Farther Friendship With United States Is Up to Teutonic Government—Chicagoan Is One of Victims of Submarine Attack—It Was His First Trip.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Greater anxiety exists in Washington over reports of the torpedoing of the American tank ship Gulflight by a German submarine than has been caused by any previous event growing out of the war. Officials are seeking to maintain a noncommittal attitude pending the receipt of official dispatches establishing all the facts, but there is no concealment of the belief that if the circumstances prove to be as now understood a very serious issue will have been raised between the United States and Germany and one which may have a far reaching effect on the relations of the two nations.

Brief reports already have been received at the state department from the consulate at Plymouth, England, which make it clear that Consul Stephens has information that the Gulflight was torpedoed by a German submarine, that the captain and two of the crew lost their lives as a result and the damaged vessel has been towed to the Scilly islands by the British. These reports leave much to be desired as to circumstances which must be known positively before the full effect of the incident internationally can be foreseen. Secretary Bryan has called on the department representatives both in England and Germany to forward at once all facts obtainable in the case.

Believe U. S. Affront Deliberate.

It was strongly indicated here that officials find it difficult to view the sinking of the Gulflight by itself. Instead of being considered as an isolated case it is regarded as more the culminating incident in a series, each successively manifesting, if not a deliberate intent to affront the United States, at least an alarming disregard of American rights and the respect due the American government. The action which the administration will be obliged to take in the Gulflight case, unless subsequent developments very materially alter the present understanding of it, will at least be likely to clear the air and make it clear whether or not the German government is disposed deliberately to irritate the United States.

Further Friendship Up to Germany.

That it will be for Germany herself to decide whether the friendly relations between the two governments shall continue uninterrupted or not, was the very positive statement made here. It was pointed out that the facts in the Gulflight case, as they have been developed thus far, leave the United States no choice of action but necessitate the calling of Germany to account for the attack by her armed forces upon the American flag. If Germany chooses to be disagreeable in replying to the United States' demands for reparation it will be impossible to foretell what the effect may be on the relations between the two nations. On the other hand, if Germany should apologize for the act of her naval commander and offer money reparation the incident probably would have no serious consequences. It is admitted in official quarters that much will depend as regards the situation between the United States and Germany on public opinion in the United States. The administration will follow rather than lead public opinion in the matter and the degree of popular resentment will to a large extent decide how far the administration will go in the matter.

Chicagoan Gulflight Victim.

NEW YORK — A Chicago man—Charles C. Short of 703 West One Hundred and Third street—was one of the Americans who lost their lives when the American steamer Gulflight was torpedoed off the Scilly islands. He was wireless operator of the ship.

The others killed were Captain Gunter of Bayonne, N. J., who died of heart disease, and Eugene Chapaneta of Port Arthur, Tex.

Short was taken aboard the Gulflight at New Orleans April 7. This was his first trip on the vessel. He and Chapaneta are believed to have been the men reported to have jumped from the ship after she was torpedoed and who were lost because of the fog that prevailed.

JUST WHAT THE TOWN KNOCKER OUGHT TO DO

My friend, you are continually harping on the idea that this town isn't a fit place to live in. You are everlastingly knocking on the people, their customs and habits. You say they have never been anywhere and will never learn anything. The idea you try to throw out is that you are strickly up to date, and are entirely too wise to waste your precious time among this class of barbarians. It is all right for you to think that way but it is all wrong for you to shoot off your mouth about it. If you don't like it here, hike out to the greener pastures. The people got along all right before you came And they will manage to wiggle along after you are gone. We will take it for granted that you are world-traveled but most of us think you were never out of the country. We will also let it pass that you have been a power elsewhere, but most of us would bet that you have never held better than a forty-dollar a month job in your whole life We will get along all right, just move along if things don't satisfy you here

CURIOUS CO-ED TAKES PEEP; SPILLS SNAKES

There Is Wild Panic in Olivet Class Rooms.

OLIVET, MICH. — When Miss Ruth Spencer, of Michigan City, accidentally tipped over a box containing Dr. John A. Dexter's collection of thirty snakes in his biology laboratory at Olivet college Saturday, she started something.

Professor Dexter had been offering $1 apiece for all varieties of snakes caught in Eaton county not already in his collection. The result was that he had rattlesnakes, blue racers, watersnakes, gartersnakes and others reposing in a large box in his laboratory. The box stood on a high table.

Miss Spencer came into the class room looking for the professor, and seeing the box, became curious to know its contents. She tried standing on tip toe, lost her balance and tumbled the happy family nearly onto herself and all over the floor. With a scream she ran out of the room.

Meanwhile Professor Shedd was conducting a physics class in a room below, when suddenly a five foot blue racer dropped with a thud on his demonstration table from the ventilator. The class was automatically dismissed at once.

When Dr. Dexter arrived at his room, he recaptured most of the reptiles. But one blue racer, three gartersnakes and a small black watersnake are still at large in the science building.

SALOON MEN CHARGE HOLDUP

Warrants Issued in Grand Rapids Allege Traffic in Licenses.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — That a big political scandal that may rival the famous "water deal" of a dozen years ago, may result from the charges following the arrest of Ray Jordan, better known as "Big Steve," a man about town and political hanger-on, is predicted by persons intimate with local affairs.

A warrant was issued for "Big Steve" shortly before midnight, charging conspiracy to extort money from Burt Arnold, Charles Pardee, Bert Johnson and Charles H. Henderson, saloon keepers, in obtaining renewals of their licenses. Also named in the warrant are "Joe Doe and others." Several more arrests are expected.

EX-SENATOR KEYES IS DEAD

Prominent Mason and Republican Held Many High Offices.

OLIVET, MICH. — Karl D. Keyes, banker and former state senator, of this city, died, aged forty-eight.

Mr. Keyes was a member of the firm of George W. Keyes & Son, bankers, of Olivet, and president of Keyes, Davis Manufacturing company of Battle Creek. Mr. Keyes received his education at Olivet and Oberlin colleges. He was president of his village three terms and trustee and treasurer five terms. He was always an active Republican. He was a thirty-second degree Mason

PAROLED CONVICT RETURNED

Berrien County Pickpocket, Freed by Pardon Board, Steals Clothes.

JACKSON, MICH. — Another protege of the board of pardons, paroled from Jackson prison Jan. 13, 1915, has been returned. Ernie Higgins was sent to Jackson prison from Berrien county Dec. 10, 1913, to serve from one to five years for picking pockets.

Higgins went to Battle Creek after being paroled and stole some clothing from his boarding house.

CIGARETTE BURNS A VILLAGE

Hillman, Mich., Has $100,000 Blaze, Ascribed to "Paper Pipe."

BAY CITY, MICH. — The village of Hillman in Montmorency county was almost destroyed by fire. The blaze started in the town hall, presumably from a lighted cigarette.

Incomplete reports said the property damage would reach $100,000.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Instead of Letting Self Be Buncoed, Suitor Goes to Jail.

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH. — Joe Reynolds, a sailor in the U. S. navy of Milwaukee, has decided that advertising does not pay, especially when it relates to matrimonial affairs. He answered an ad in a paper from a local girl and the courtship went along well until he arived here and found that the prospective bride did not measure up to her description of herself.

He took to drinking to drown his disappointment, accosted women on the street and fell into the hands of the police. Now he is serving five days in jail. He also paid a fine of $13.

Man Celebrating Last Saloon Night is Disfigured For Life.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — Still semi-conscious and his face disfigured, probably for life, Richard Carroll, is not likely to forget the last night of the "wet" regime in Battle Creek. With four friends Carroll was riding in an auto, confiscated for the occasion, when it ran into a ditch. Carroll's mouth was torn from ear to ear and he sustained internal injuries. Two of his friends, Howard Lutz and Lester McCleary, were arrested for stealing the automobile, and two others will later be apprehended.

Every former saloon in the city is now an empty storeroom, except in a few cases where the places are already being remodelled into restaurants or pool rooms.

Low Water and Cool Weather Makes Fish Eager.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — The opening of the trout season was marked by exceptionally large catches in western Michigan streams. Reports from the Pere Marquette and Manistee rivers are that the streams are low and clear and the trout plentiful and eager. In the Grand Traverse region the weather is reported so cold as to bother fishermen.

Conditions on the Manistee and Pere Marquette are just the reverse of a year ago when the streams were high and muddy and fish were scarce.

LONG WAY, LIKE TIPPERARY

But Girl From Ireland Marries Doctor From Jamaica.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — A interesting international romance culminated when Miss Eleanor Taylor, of Newry, Ireland, wedded Dr. Charles E. Pengelley, of Jamaica, British West Indies.

Miss Taylor came here to study medicine at the Sanitarium and Dr Pengelley to the same institution for treatments. The two met and the romance reached a point where Dr. Pengelley came from Jamaica for the wedding ceremony. He and his bride will sail at once for the West Indies.

WIFE WINS ALIENATION SUIT

Mrs. Grace Smith Awarded $12,000 for Husband's Love.

FLINT, MICH. — Henry Smith, husband of Grace Smith, plaintiff in the $100,000 alienation suit that has been in progress for three days, was the only representative of the family in the circuit court when the jury returned a verdict of $12,000 in favor of his wife and against his mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Smith and Mrs. DeHull N. Travis.

It is understood that the case will be appealed. Mrs. Henry Smith is suing her husband for divorce.

Boy Sentenced as Robber.

GRAND HAVENS, MICH. — William F. Brownhill, 16 years old charged with highway robbery, was sentenced to Jackson to serve from five to 15 years, with a recommendation of minimum sentence. Brownhill, with Frank Dawson, are alleged to have held up and beaten John Kemp, bridge tender at Holland.

Autoists Narrowly Escape Death.

SAGINAW, MICH. — Arthur B Cornwell and Benton Hanchett narrowly escaped death early in the evening when their auto turned turtle near the Genesee avenue bridge. Directly in front of Cornwall A. B. Brow was driving. The latter turned suddenly, forcing Cornwell to turn short.

100,000 LOST BY CZAR IN GALICIA

Berlin Exulting Over Victory; Think Hungary Safe.

CLAIM SAID TO EXAGGERATED

London Correspondent Says Accounts of Local Successes Are Highly Colored to Influence Wavering Nations —Italian King Avoids Garabaldi Fete as Crisis Approaches.

The Russian Black Sea fleet has again bombarded the Bosporus forts, doing considerable damage, according to dispatches received in Petrograd. Near one of the forts two shells burst. Immediately afterward there was a tremendous explosion and flames were seen bursting over the fortifications.

BERLIN — Unofficial reports that the new German victory in western Galicia has almost equaled the successes of General Hindenberg in the Mazurian Lakes aroused wild enthusiasm here today. One report, not verified by official sources but considered trustworthy put the Russian losses in killed, wounded and prisoners at 100,000.

German military experts hailed the defeat of the Slavs as the most important success achieved in the last two months of fighting. They asserted positively that the Grand Duke Nicholas must now abandon his entire campaign to force the Carpathians and invade Hungary and fall back into northern Galicia.

The Russian left wing, now under furious attack by combined Austro-German armies, is declared to be in grave danger. By smashing hard against the Rusian right, the Austro-Germans have put a large body of the enemy in danger of being entirely cut off. It was unanimously predicted here that the new disaster to the Slavs must force their retreat in western Galicia for a distance of about thirty miles.

Says Claim is Exaggerated.

LONDON — German claims of a crushing defeat of the Russian center are exaggerated accounts of local successes in the opinion of the Daily Mail's correspondent, who says:

"Such exaggerated claims are to be expected just now in view of the necessity of influencing wavering neutrals. Nevertheless German offensive against the Russian center long has been expected. For the last month the Germans have been moving men to Cracow.

"That such a maneuver as piercing the Russian center was essayed at the same time as serious attack toward Riga and Ypre shows the reources and amazing audacity of the German staff. If the Russian front has been pierced and a serious reverse suffered, the war will be greatly prolonged, but that any German success, however great, will affect the resistance of Russia cannot be believed."

Italian Crisis Keeps King at Capital.

ROME, ITALY — Premier Salandria suddenly and unexpectedly called a meeting of the cabinet. Immediately before the cabinet convened it was announced that "owing to the international situation," the king and his ministers would not attend the Quarto celebration.

The gravest interpretation is placed upon this abandonment of the trip to Quarto, where the king had promised to be present at the unveiling of a monument to Garibaldi and where, it was expected, Premier Salandra would make an important speech. It is generally believed that negotiations with Austria are off.

This belief is reflected in the commercial and industrial life of the city, which came virtually to a standstill the moment the news became known.

Warning Is Sounded.

Before the meeting of the cabinet the newspaper Messagero announced: "During the last few hours the situation has undergone a marked change. Baron Sonnino before war is declared on Austria will make an effort to end the conflagration. He will warn Germany that Italy's intervention will also mean the intervention of Roumania and that Austria's defeat would leave Germany alone."

Messaggero at the same time announced that Premier Salamandra had reconsidered his decision to speak at Quarto, and that he probably would not speak at all, or that the tenor of his speech would be changed. This news was soon confirmed by the official announcement that none of the cabinet would attend.

Japan Decides on Ultimatum to China.

TOKYO — Minister of Justice Ozaki is quoted by the newspapers as having announced that the cabinet had decided to send an ultimatum to China urging her to reconsider the decision to make no further concessions to Japan.

Puts Lid On at Bay City.

BAY CITY, MICH. — The police committee, of which Mayor Kelton is the head, has issued orders for a rigid enforcement of the liquor law. Saloons must close at midnight, and must remain closed on Sunday.

Live Stock Burns.

HASTINGS, MICH. — Nineteen horses and seven calves and hogs were destroyed when the barn of Clark Barber burned, involving a loss of $7,500. It is believed the fire is of incendiary origin.

Bumper Fruit Crop Promised.

EATON RAPIDS, MICH. — Prospects in this section of the state were never better at this season for a bumper fruit crop. Peach and plum trees are loaded to the limit with bloom.

Missing Man's Body Found.

MANISTEE, MICH. — The body of John Block, fifty-seven, of Stronach, missing since November last was discovered floating in Manistee lake by fishermen. There was evidence of suicide.

Veterans Thinning Out.

HILLSDALE, MICH. — As there are only 13 veterans left in Wright township, the G. A. R. post at Prattville is going to organize the sons and daughters of veterans.

German Coffee Cake

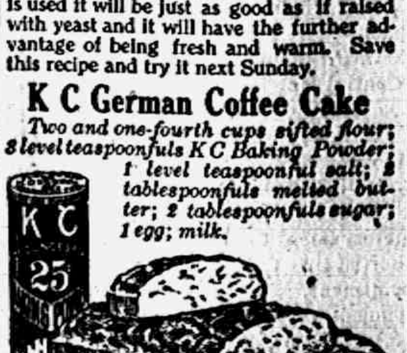
Made Without Yeast

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

There is no warm bread quite as appropriate for Sunday morning breakfast as German Coffee Cake, yet it is seldom made by housewives who do not bake their own bread. If K C double raise Baking Powder is used it will be just as good as if raised with yeast and it will have the further advantage of being fresh and warm. Save this recipe and try it next Sunday.

K C German Coffee Cake

Two and one-fourth cups sifted flour; 8 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 level teaspoonful salt; 2 tablespoonfuls melted butter; 2 tablespoonfuls sugar; 1 egg; milk.



Sift dry ingredients together, beat the egg, add milk and butter to the egg to make one and one-quarter cups; stir all together with inverted spoon to a stiff batter. Turn into biscuit pan and spread even. Brush top lightly with melted butter. Sprinkle sugar and ground cinnamon over the top. Bake in moderate oven.

Dutch Apple Cake or Prune Kuchen can be made with this same batter by covering the top with pared and sliced apples, or cooked prunes with the pits removed, skin sides down. Dredge with sugar and cinnamon the same as for Coffee Cake.

"The Cook's Book" contains 90 just such delicious recipes. You can secure a copy free by sending the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K C Baking Powder to the Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago, being sure to write your name and address plainly.

A PRETTY WEDDING

Celebrated Wednesday Evening in Franklin When

MISS LOTTIE SIMMONS AND CLIFFORD HARDY WERE MARRIED.

Wednesday evening May 5, at the home of the bride's parents, at Tipton occurred the marriage of their only daughter Lottie Luella to Clifford J. Hardy.

The bridal party was ushered in by the beautiful strains of Mendelssohns wedding march, which was also played softly, during the ceremony by Miss Edna Taylor.

Leola Hardy, Ruth Joseph, Dorothy Taylor and Lamont Simmons carried yellow and white ribbons forming an aisle. Little Pauline Taylor scattered lilies of the valley before the bridal party. The bride and groom took their places before a screen of flowers and foliage, attended by Miss Lucy Harrison and Mr. Alger Roberts. Rev. Hinsman of Laingsburg, Mich., performed the ceremony. The beautiful ring service was used.

The bride's gown was of white net over yellow crepe de chine. She carried yellow roses. Miss Harrison wore blue silk crepe and carried white roses.

After congratulations had been received from the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy repaired to the dining room, accompanied by the bridal party, where a four course supper was served. There were twelve at the bride's table, the other guests being seated at small tables.

The rooms were decorated in yellow and white and the supper was carried out in the same color scheme. White streamers, smilax, ferns and yellow flowers were used in profusion.

Six young ladies, Musa Rice, Ruth and Bernice Edwards, Ellen Mohr, Lucile Conlin and Edna Taylor waited table, being each afterwards presented with a box of candy by the bride.

About eighty guests were present. The bride received many useful and beautiful gifts. They will commence housekeeping at once on the groom's father's farm at Tipton. They have the congratulations and best wishes of a host of friends for a happy matrimonial voyage.

Miss Lucy Train returned to Detroit yesterday, having received word that her sister Mrs. Frank Calkins had passed away.

Chamberlain's Liniment

This preparation is intended especially for rheumatism, lame back, sprains and like ailments. It is a favorite with people who are well acquainted with its splendid qualities. Mrs. Charles Tanner, Wabash, Ind., says of it, "I have found Chamberlain's Liniment the best thing for lame back and sprains I have ever used. It works like a charm and relieves pain and soreness. It has been used by others of my family as well as myself for upwards of twenty years" 25 and 50 cent bottles. For sale by all dealers. adv

ROTOGRAVURE PICTURES IN THE DETROIT NEWS TRIBUNE

Most Beautiful Photographic Reproductions Yet Seen in Newspapers

Four pages of beautiful pictures printed by the lately developed rotogravure process, will appear in The Detroit Sunday News Tribune beginning next Sunday, and will be a regular feature of Michigan's metropolitan Sunday newspaper thereafter.

In announcing its new rotogravure section, The Sunday News Tribune places before its readers pictures similar to those first published in The New York Times about a year ago, which created a tremendous stir everywhere in the newspaper publishing world. The New York Times devoted its section solely to views of the world-war, and it was sold all over the United States and Canada for 10 cents a copy. The Sun-News Tribune's new rotogravure section will not entail any extra charge to the reader.

These pictures must be seen to be appreciated. And once you have seen them, The Sunday News Tribune feels confident that your praise will be just as sincere as its own. The new four-page section will be on heavy calendared paper, heavy enough for framing, and they are beautiful enough to frame.

ANCIENT ORDER OF GLEANERS

The big Gleaner Rally to be held in the Croswell Opera house, Adrian, on the evening of May 14, will be featured with specialties for the entertainment and instruction of the members of the Order.

Early plans were made for all day and night sessions, but the officers on arrangements have decided upon confining their best efforts to pulling off a big Night Rally. This decision was arrived at on account of the busy season for farmers and the inability of Grant Slocum to attend at this time, as he is booked for a state rally at South Bend, Indiana.

At the Adrian Rally the North Adrian degree team will confer the Adoption degree. The South Fairfield degree team will confer the Degree of Ruth, and the Loree degree team will confer the Dramatic Degree. The Arbors located about Adrian will bring their candidates to the Rally and form the Gleaner Defending Circle.

Miss Lucia Bellamy, the instructress of the Order, is drilling the several degree teams in the ritualistic work and giving special instructions in the floor work and fancy drills to be worked out at the rally.

Mr. Ross L. Holloway, assistant secretary of the Supreme Arbor, will be present and outline the issues of of the Gleaner Order of today. Mr. Holloway is a well known orator of the Order and brilliant in public address.

There will be special music rendered and recitals given, the programs of which will be issued in the course of a few days and circulated.

NOTICE

A change has been made in the meeting for Mothers' Day which will be held in the Methodist church with Rev. G. W. Jennings officiating instead of the Presbyterian church as announced in our last issue. Everybody is invited to attend this union meeting and all wear a white carnation or some white flower. Services begin at 7.30.

TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION

About 75 people witnessed the demonstration of Dr. Waldron's I. H. C. 8-16 H. P. tractor plow at his farm yesterday. The tractor turning two furrows is set with a stearing device which follows along in the furrow and kept the tractor running true. It will plow continuously without anyone guiding it. It plow at a depth of 9 inches, 2 inches deeper than this field has ever been plowed. The fuel is cheap kerosene oil mixed with water to the consistency of 1 to 3 and the tractor sells for $675. It moves about as fast as a horse and can be set to any depth A harrow and roller were fastened behind the machine and the combination attracted much interest for it worked up the land in fine shape.

Among those witnessing the demonstration were Mr. Evans who represents the International Harvester Co. Agt, Guy Hull of Adrian, now in charge of this territory; Agt. Ed. Smith also of Adrian; Frank Miller of Jackson and Walter Wright of Detroit.

EASE

"State of being comfortable"
"Relaxation—Rest"
"Security—Tranquillity"
—Webster

REAL motor-ease passes the possibility of definition. To appreciate it, one must experience it-

There are various degrees of comfort, of relaxation, of security and tranquillity. To enjoy them superlatively take a ride in a Mitchell car.

The smooth running motor without vibration, the luxurious cushions and perfect springs are conducive to complete physical relaxation.

The strength of frame, power of motor and responsive control give a sense of security that the highest speed does not disturb.

A demonstration in the

Mitchell

will give you the only realization of real ease in motoring. Such a demonstration is awaiting your convenience.

A Bold Defense.

"An enlisted man once put the president of a court martial in a difficult position," says a writer in an English magazine. "The court martial was trying the soldier for some fault or other. When the evidence—and it took an unusually long time—had been given, the president asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his defense.

"'Well, sir,' said the man, 'I can't see how this 'ere court can sentence me, for Major Jones 'as been reading a paper under the table the 'ole blooming time, and Captain Smith 'as been making me into a karicatoor on the blotting pad, and, as for Lieutenant Brown, 'e 'asn't 'ad his commission a year and don't count anyways!'"

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

One Of Interest To our Readers

Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long time has elapsed, one is inclined to believe it. First hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Tecumseh man is confirmed after several years.

W. W. Shurtz, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: I have taken Doans Kidney Pills at different times during the past ten years and they have always given me relief from distressing symptombs of kidney complaint. I have procured my supply of Doan's Kidney Pills from Wright & Son's Drug store and my experience has been so satisfactory that I willingly give this public accout of it. You may continue to use my name as a reference."

Infection in the Air

Medical authorities agree that colds are infectious. In some cities children with colds are barred from schools. Spring's changing weather brings many colds. The quickest and safe way to stop colds, coughs and croup is to give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Danger to Children

Serious illnesses often result from lingering coughs and colds. The hacking and coughing and disturbed sleep rack a child's body and the poisons weaken the system, so that disease cannot be thrown off. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has eased coughs, colds and croup for three generations; safe to use and quick to act. There is no better medicine for croup, coughs and colds. CHAS. E. LITTLEFIELD DIES

Former Congressman From Maine Succumbs to Operation.

NEW YORK — Former Congressman Charles E. Littlefield is dead at his home, 250 West 91st street. His death was due to embolism the formation of a blood clot resulting from an operation which he underwent ten days ago. He was 64 years old.

Since his resignation from congress, in 1908, Mr. Littlefield had made New York City his home and had been practicing law here. Before he quit public life to take up private practice, he was one of the leading congressmen in the country, representing the second district of Maine.

MOVING PICTURES IN JAPAN.

Shoes Are Doffed at the Door, and Spectators Sit on the Floor.

Many of the motion picture theaters in Japan, particularly in Tokyo, where there are over 100, are quite as elegant as some to be found in any American city. You can secure admission for as low as 5 cents up to as high as 50 cents. In the cheaper portions of most theaters the natives sit crosslegged on the floor in characteristic Japanese fashion. They remove their shoes before entering, and an attendant takes charge of these.

Both American and European pictures are shown, but the principal attraction is a long Japanese play, which is presented in a very unique fashion. In fact, it may be said that the Japanese have real talking pictures. The film is produced in the same manner as a stage play, with every portion of dialogue spoken.

When the picture is projected an actor and actress stand on each side of the screen and repeat the dialogue in full view of the spectators. The two reciters share the parts played by the different characters. As their spoken words keep strict time with the lip movements of the silent artists, the result, as may be imagined, is very effective.—Popular Electricity.

AMERICAN ACHIEVEMENTS.

Some of the Big Things to the Credit of This Great Country.

Americans founded the first government under which all men were equal before the law. Since the Declaration of Independence was published to the world the democratic idea has hourly received impulse until now its march seems irresistible.

Americans were the first to demonstrate the feasibility of relying on a citizen soldiery to defend the land and its institutions against foreign or domestic attack.

Americans were the first to abolish titular distinctions and to deprive social eminence of any support save character or the consensus of those who chose to consider themselves socially elect.

It was an American who invented the steamship.

An American invented the telegraph.

An American invented the telephone.

An American invented the electric light.

An American invented the reaper which makes it possible to feed the billion and more people on this planet.

It was an American, too, who invented the sewing machine.

Americans also were the conquerors of pain when they discovered how, by means of sulphuric ether, the tenderest human nerves could be made insensible to the surgeon's steel.

Americans opened the ports of Japan to the nations of the world, made a path into darkest Africa, and an American crowned the geographical achievements of his countrymen by discovering the north pole.—Pittsburgh Press.

LONG HAIR AND LONGEVITY.

A Theory That There May Be Some Relation Between Them.

Did it ever occur to you that there was any relation between a fine, bushy head of white hair and the long life of the owner?

I believe that I can claim without fear of successful refutation that a very large majority of men who have passed the age of eighty years have or had a goodly show of hair on the crown or top of their heads. I by no means claim that this is universal, for it is easy to recall men who lived to even greater age than eighty who were quite bald.

Without any attempt at a chronological list, I jot down a few names that come to mind as I write: John I. Blair, known at his time as New Jersey's richest man, ninety-four; Daniel Drew, New York capitalist and college founder, ninety-one; Hon. William E. Gladstone, English statesman, eighty-nine; Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, New York, founder of the New York Central railroad, eighty-three; Rev. Edward Beecher (brother of Henry Ward), ninety-two; Hon. Peter Cooper, New York philanthropist, ninety-three.

It would be easy also to name quite a number of men who possessed fine heads of hair who reached only middle age, but my purpose is not to be statistical, but rather to possibly start interest in an unusual subject and see what can be deduced therefrom.—Pittsburgh Press.

THIS WOMAN WAS VERY UNHAPPY

Physically and Mentally Worn Out—Tells How Nervous and Crying Spells Were Ended by Vinol.

Monmouth, Ill.:—"I was weak, worn-out and nervous. I had no appetite and was getting so thin and discouraged, one day I just broke down and cried when a friend came in and asked me what was the matter. I told of my condition and how nothing I took seemed to do me any good. Vinol was suggested. I got a bottle and before it was half gone I could eat and sleep well. I continued its use and now my friends say I look ten years younger, and I am well, healthy and strong. I wish I could induce every tired-out, worn-out, nervous woman to take Vinol."—Mrs. HARRIET GALE, Monmouth, Ill.

There are many over-worked, tired-out careworn, nervous women in this vicinity who need the strengthening, tissue building, and vitalizing effects of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, and so sure are we that it will build them up and make them strong that we offer to return their money if it fails to benefit.

Vinol is a delicious preparation of the extract of cod liver oil and peptonate of iron and contains no oil.

A Tragic Episode.

By BAYARD VEILLER

Copyright by Frank [illegible] Co.

Late in an afternoon of October the warden of the county jail stood smoking in the doorway of his office.

In the wide street of the little southern town quiet reigned.

Two dogs were wrangling happily over a bone. Farther along a crowd of boys were playing with a ball.

A keeper came out and stood beside the warden, who paid no attention to him. The old man coughed slightly and touched his superior on the arm.

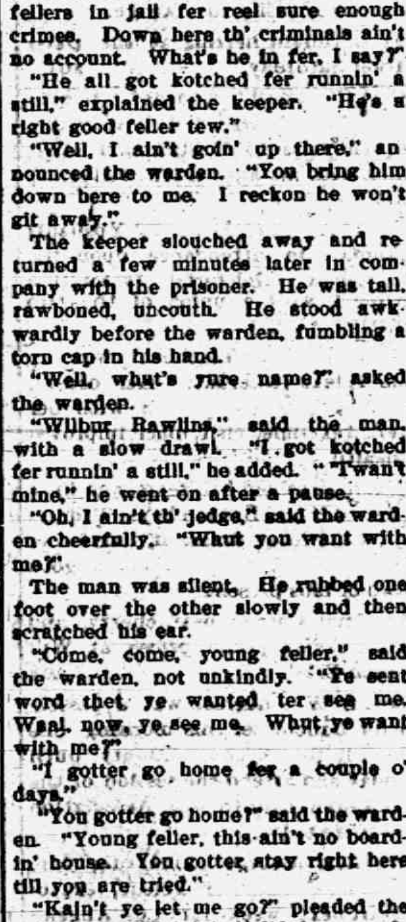
"Th' man in numbah 7 wants t' see you all."

"What's he want now?" asked the warden querulously. "He's always after sumthin'. Does he think I ain't got nuthin' ter do but run errants fer him?"

He still spoke with the accent of his New England birthplace.

"I dunno," said the old man.

"Whut's he here fer, annyhow?" went on the warden. "Lord knows, I can't keep track of all them fellers!



"I SWAR I'LL COME BACK HEAH."

You fellers down here gets arrested fer th' darnedest funny things I hev ever heerd tell on. Up north we gits fellers in jail fer reel sure enough crimes. Down here th' criminals ain't no account. What's he in fer, I say?"

"He all got kotched fer runnin' a still," explained the keeper. "He's a right good feller tew."

"Well, I ain't goin' up there," announced the warden. "You bring him down here to me. I reckon he won't git away."

The keeper slouched away and returned a few minutes later in company with the prisoner. He was tall, rawboned, uncouth. He stood awkwardly before the warden, fumbling a torn cap in his hand.

"Well, what's yure name?" asked the warden.

"Wilbur Rawlins," said the man, with a slow drawl. "I got kotched fer runnin' a still," he added. "'Twan't mine," he went on after a pause.

"Oh, I ain't th' jedge," said the warden cheerfully. "Whut you want with me?"

The man was silent. He rubbed one foot over the other slowly and then scratched his ear.

"Come, come, young feller," said the warden, not unkindly. "Ye sent word thet ye wanted ter see me. Waal, now, ye see me. Whut ye want with me?"

"I gotter go home fer a couple o' days."

"You gotter go home?" said the warden. "Young feller, this ain't no boardin' house. You gotter stay right here till you are tried."

"Kain't ye let me go?" pleaded the prisoner. "'Tain't 's if I'd done much. I ain't killed nobody. I ain't even ben in a feud. I swar I'll come back heah."

"Can't do it," said the warden. "They's no use askin' me. I tell ye I can't do it."

"I ain't got nuthin' but er mewel," urged the prisoner. "Yo're welcome ter that ef you all 'll lemme go."

The warden smiled grimly. "I couldn't let ye go ef ye offered me a thousand dollars," he said. "What'd ye wanter go fer, anyway?" he added.

"Mah little gal's all alone up on th' mountain," said the prisoner, "an' they ain't no neighbahs ter go ter her, an' they's a babby a-comin, an' I gotter be thar. Heavens, man, ye kain't let her be thar alone at a time like that: Kain't ye see I jess natchelly gotter be thar?"

"Can't be did," said the warden briefly.

"Ef you all 'll let me go I'll name th' babby aftah you all." He had the air of a man offering a bribe of stupendous value.

"Supposin' it wus a gal?" suggested the warden.

"I doan' keer. We all 'll name her aftah you all. Whut's yure name?"

"Zebulon," said the warden shortly. It was a sore point with him, this name. "But can't ye see, man, I can't let ye go? Not but I'd be proud ter hev th' baby named atter me," he went on politely. "I dunno es I ever hed a baby named atter me. But, honest, I can't let ye go."

"Jess fer one day," pleaded the prisoner.

"Not fer a minit," said the warden. "Now, look here, man, ye jest go back ter yer cell an' trust t' the Lord. Ye're wife'll be all right. It'll be kinder lonesome mebbe, but it'll be all right."

"I gotter go, an' I'm goin'," said the prisoner defiantly as he turned away.

The warden slept late the next morning. He was still sleeping when his wife came and shook him roughly by the shoulder. She was crying, and so was the child clinging to her skirts.

"Git up, Zeb," cried the woman.

"Whut's th' matter?" yawned the warden sleepily.

"Thet moonshiner's killed Tom an' broke out!" cried the woman.

The warden leaped from his bed and, clad only in his nightshirt, ran hurriedly through the house and up into the jail.

On the floor in front of cell 97 he found the keeper lying dead. The old man's face was purple, and about his throat was the imprint of fingers. The door of the cell was open.

"Merciful heavens," cried the warden, "who'd 'a' thought it? Thet feller wus jest es peaceable es a lamb."

"I foun' the front door open when I got up this mornin'," said the woman, "an' I mistrusted all wa'n't right, so I come here an' foun' thet. It was turrible. I shan't git over it ter my dyin' day, Zebulon Waters, I shan't."

The man had been the only prisoner on the tier, and he had been so docile and quiet that in his case the usual discipline had been relaxed. The door of his cell was never locked when the keeper was in the corridor.

"Thet's whut comes o' bein' kind ter them prisoners," said the warden's wife.

"Shet up, can't ye?" cried the warden. "Ain't I got trouble enough 'thout you chimin' in? Like es not I'll lose th' job for this."

"Whut're goin' ter do now?" asked the woman.

"Put on my pants," said the warden shortly.

"D'je think I thought ye wus goin' ter hunt fer thet feller in yer night shirt?" retorted his wife angrily.

"Lucinda, shet up," said the man solemnly. "Don't fergit ye're in the presence of death. Yer jest go into the house and hurry up the breakfast. I gotter git arter this man lively, and we may nab him fer he gets much of a start."

Within an hour the warden had organized a posse to hunt for the missing prisoner. Two of the men brought bloodhounds.

"I won't hev him torn up by them dogs," announced the warden—"not ef he killed th' hull town. 'Tain't Christian. I'm fer law an' order, an' we're goin' ter catch this feller right. We ain't goin' ter hev him et up by no dogs."

It was explained that neither of the dogs would be unmuzzled; that they would merely be used to trace the man.

"Ye don't need no dogs," said the warden's wife. "I talked 'ith thet feller yestedy an' I know. Ye don't need no dogs. Ef ye jest go ter whar he lives ye'll git him easy enough. That's whar he's went."

In spite of this they took the dogs. The men were on horseback, and for the first five miles they had no difficulty in following the animals. The dogs ran straight, their noses close to the ground. The trail was easy for them to follow.

Then the road became rougher and rougher as the path led up the mountain side.

Ten miles from the town the party had to abandon their horses, leaving the animals in charge of one man. After that they slowly made their way up the mountain, the dogs, still in leash, tugging frantically at their chains.

The cool, brisk air of the October woods, fragrant with pine and balsam, made no impression on these men. They were hunting a human being—a murderer. Two or three suggested that it would be a good thing to hang him as soon as he was caught.

"No, ye won't," said the warden. "Me an' th' sheriff's runnin' this hunt, an' it's goin' ter be lawful all through. I'm goin' ter take that feller back ter jail, an' he's goin' ter be tried fer murder."

The others gave a sullen assent.

Suddenly the party stopped. Half a mile above them, standing out in the clear fall air in sharp lines, stood a small log cabin.

"He all lives thar," said one of the party in a whisper.

The dogs tugged harder on their chains.

"We'd better go kinder quiet," suggested the warden. "Mebbe he's got a gun."

Slowly the men made their way toward the house. From the place there came no sound. The men came nearer and nearer. Two or three drew pistols and held them ready for instant use.

The warden, closely followed by his posse, finally stood in the doorway of the little cabin. The sunlight streaming through the open window fell on the figure of the fugitive, sitting with bowed head beside a tumbled bed on which lay the dead bodies of a mother and child. The man looked up dreamily.

"I wus sho'ly sorry ter hev ter kill Torm," he said slowly, "but I wus jess natchelly 'bleeged ter come."

Conscientious.

Dodson and his friend Jones stood conversing on the corner. Dodson looked up, clutched his companion by the arm and whispered, "Hurry, Jim!" Around the corner they went and made off up the street. Then Jones called Dodson to account. "Creditor of mine," answered Dodson. "It isn't like you to dodge creditors," said Jones. "Are you up against it?" "Well," was the reply, "I have enough in my pocket to pay him, and if he caught me I might do it. Now let's go and spend some of this money so I can give him an honest excuse if we should happen to see him again."—Argonaut.

TURKISH SOLDIERS.

They Are Always Prepared and Ever Willing to Fight.

The popular western conception of the Turkish army is something in the nature of a wild zouave, marshaled in battalions and fired with a fanatical, homicidal mania. But nowhere in Turkey will you find such a conception realized.

The great majority of Ottoman regulars are singularly plain, unpicturesque, unpretentious soldiery. On their heads they wear either gray bashlyks wound turbanwise, or plain fezzes or "kalpaks" of a yellowish brown color corresponding to their German made uniforms of rough woolen cloth. Their legs are wound in a bulky way with the same material in a Turkish conception of a puttee, and on their feet either short boots or the soft leather moccasin-like shoes of the Balkans give them a comfortable agricultural look.

Singly or in bulk, there is nothing at all smart about them, but they look exceedingly equal to the delivery of the goods. Altogether they appear as well able to fade indistinguishably into the landscape as anything human could. Many of them are Anatolians and some are ruddy faced Kurds from the Caucasus. Others come from the Taurus mountains, back of Kenia and Aleppo, swarthy Syrians and Arab types.

Any one of them will fight at the drop of a hat. He would not have to change anything. There is nothing about him to polish or to be kept clean. As he stands he sleeps and eats, drills, marches and goes into battle.—World's Work.

At Reception at Presbyterian Church Friday Evening

GOOD PROGRAM GIVEN

The Junior Class of T. H. S. entertained the Senior Class, at the Presbyterian church, May 7, at 7 o'clock.

The upper room of the church was made into a cosy living room, where the guests were received. It was decorated in ferns, purple lilacs and banners.

At eight o'clock the party was ushered into the dining room, where a bountiful supper awaited them served by Seymour Babcock, Ralph Cuthbert, Leon Waldron, Harold Lowry, Fay Van Valkenburg and Arthur Brown. The tables were enclosed in a lattice work of green and white trimmed in pink and white roses. The tables were decorated in purple and white flowers, the class colors.

The following menu was served:

Oranges

Chicken patties Creamed potatoes

Rolls

Banana salad Ice cream Cake

Cocoa

Candy Nuts

After supper a program was given.

Address of Welcome—Gordon Bachman

Response—Irene Conklin

Music—"Song of Spring", Camilla Hayden, Agnes McIntyre, Margaret Rubadou, Lillian Kennedy, Fay Van Valkenburg, Harold Lowry, Burton Garlinghouse and Lester Waring.

"The High School Journey"—Toastmaster Burton Garlinghouse

"The Four Coaches"—Winnifred Mitchell

Music—"The Dragon Fighter," Norma Moody, Agnes McIntyre.

"The Trainmen"—Camilla Hayden

Music—"Night of Joy" Ladies Quartette

"The Trys"—Charles Underwood

Music—"Bararolli," Lillian Kennedy and Camilla Hayden

"The Destination," Gertrude Peters

Music—"Good Night," Norma Moody and and Agnes McIntyre.

The guests departed at ten-thirty. Everyone seemed to have had a good time, and the Juniors feel as if they were repaid for the time and work spent on this reception.

AND THEY FELL IN THE DRINK

Three of our teachers thought to have some fun Friday night so went to the pond in the Stacy gravel pit to hunt poly-wogs. The small boys of the neighborhood have mado a raft for their own pleasure and the girls climbed onto it and started across. The arrangement hit a stone, tipped and off they went into the water. Two received some wetting and one scrambled ashore to laugh. Their desire for pol-wags received a sudden jolt and they hustled up the back streets for home and dry clothes.

CHICAGOAN DEAD IN WOODS

Dr. Steele's Body Found on Road to Fishing Stream.

Muskegon, Mich., May 10.—The body of Dr. Ira D. Steele, a Chicago dentist, was found by Mrs. Carl Moch in woods near her home, two miles east of Muskegon.

He died from valvular heart disease, physicians assert. He had been on a fishing trip. It is believed death was brought on by exhaustion from a long walk.

Holds Corrupt Practice Act Void.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 10.—The case against Sheriff Charles A. Berry of Kent county, charged with violation of the corrupt practice act in not filing a complete account of his campaign expenses, was dismissed by Judge Perkins in the superior court based upon the contention of the attorneys for the defense that the corrupt practices act is unconstitutional.

Found Guilty as Slayer.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 10.—Guilty of murder in the second degree was the verdict returned by a jury in the circuit court against Bert Martin, an Eaton county negro who shot his wife here two months ago. The jury decided that Martin did not know what he was doing when he shot the woman and therefore was not guilty of a first degree crime.

Dead a Day When Found.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 10.—Worry over the illness of her sister is believed to have caused the death of Miss Evelyn Beach, a well known Kalamazoo woman. She was found dead in her home. Doctors believe she had been dead a day. Her sister is in a hospital, seriously ill.

Don't Fear Submarines.

Saginaw, Mich., May 10.—C. W. McClure and E. C. Owen, prominent Saginaw business men, sailed on the steamship Philadelphia for England. They left here early in the week and expressed no concern over the ship's future.

DOUBLE STAMPS ALL DAY FRIDAY

ROUND ABOUT US

A part of the duties of the night watch has been to keep the grass cut on the public square. That is, during the summer. In the winter he allows the fellows who pass that way, to throw the empty bottles, tin cans, etc as far as they can out across the broad expanse of the snow covered waste. Just a few days ago a question arose as to whose duty it was to assemble those cast off elixer holders before the lawn mower is brought into recognition. We fear the president and village attorney will have to shake dice to determine whether the street commissioner or night watch does the job.—Manchester Enterprise.

A great many of the women of Britton are said to be afflicted with the disease known as housecleanitis. It seems to attack both young and old and is quite severe while it lasts. The symptoms are well known. The patient first becomes uneasy and nervous, later she attacks the furniture. This she is just as liable to pile in the front yard as any where else. Then she carries out carpets rugs and bedding and what she does to them is a plenty. While the attack lasts the family had to eat any old thing in any old place, and is really dangerous to oppose her. Sometimes she talks and sometimes she sings while the patoxysm is upon her. After the disease wears off she carries the things back in the house and the family again resume the even tenor of their way. But it's a bad thing while it lasts.—Britton Messenger

Deerfield township will in all probability vote the question of bonding to put in 12 and one-half miles of stone roads, at a special election should the township officials, practically all of whom are in favor of the proposion decide to do so. The roads will come within one mile of every man within the township and is considered one of the best planned ever offered to any township in that every taxpayer receives advantages from these roads. The largest taxpayers in the township have signed the petition —Deerfield Times Journal.

Quite frequently an editor is criticized for expressing his opinions and then he is critised for not doing so. The fact is, he is criticised either way —and both ways—and just ambles as blissfully indifferent as a duck in a summer shower.—Dundee Reporter

IN MEMORIAM

Mary Josephine Train was born in Utica, N. Y., March 17, 1849 and passed away at her home in Detroit May 6 1915.

She was united in marriage to Frank M. Calkins on Dec. 11, 1875.

From early childhood her home was in Tecumseh until after her marriage when she and her husband made Detroit their home.

Two children, a daughter and son were born to this union. Ralph passing away in his third year. Amy now Mrs. Harry T. Comins resides in Ripon, Wis.

"Joe" as she was best known among her host of friends was of a bright and cheerful nature, full of wit and repartee, until within a few weeks of her death, when disease laid its heavy hand upon her, and tired Nature could bear no more. Those who visited her during her long illness were surprised at her cheerfulness and enjoyment of the news of the day.

Among all she ranked as a woman of culture, a kind neighbor, a devoted wife and mother and a true friend and she died as she had lived honored, trusted and loved.

THE JUNIOR CHURCH

Some time in the early winter Rev. W. A. Rex organized the youngsters of the Junior department of the Presbyterian Sunday-school into a "Junior Church," meeting with them each Sunday afternoon for scripture study. He must have made it very enjoyable for the little people as they have attended regularly.

Sunday evening he gave them right of way and their service of songs, recital of Psalms and a short address by the minister fully repaid those attending. At the close he presented to ten pretty gold "reward" pins for a perfect mark in attendance and to each of the 39 taking part he gave a ticket for 5c in trade at Hay's bakery with which he assured them they need not buy bread.

Later a class of these young people will be organized for study preparatory for church membership.

FRENCH IN GAIN OF THREE MILES

Advance Over 4 1-2 Miles in Width Toward Lille.

TWO TOWNS ARE CAPTURED

Joffre's Army Threatens Suburb of City Held by Germans Since War Begun—Berlin Reports More Towns Taken in Flanders—French Get Busy.

London, May 10.—Taking advantage of the fact that the Germans are devoting all their efforts to the desperate effort to capture Ypres and drive the British back in Belgium, the French have launched a vigorous campaign for the recapture of Lille, which beautiful city, the pride of northern France, has been held by the Germans ever since their first sweep through France last August.

Collecting heavy forces in the region of Arras, the French advanced to the northeast and have progressed so far that they are threatening Loos, a suburb on the southwestern outskirts of Lille.

French Win With Bayonet.

Between Loos and Clerency the French, advancing over a front of four and one-half miles, charged with the bayonet and drove the Germans from two and in some places three lines of their trenches, which were strongly fortified.

The villages of La Targette and half of the town of Neuville St. Voast were captured, according to the French official communique, and the advance in some places was as great as three miles. More than 200 prisoners and six cannon were taken.

800 British Captured.

The British were driven from their trenches between the road from Fortuyn to Wyeltie and that from Gheluvelt to Ypres, and 800 British were taken prisoners, including sixty officers. The French communiques make no mention of the battle of Ypres, but report the capture of a German position near Lens, in northeastern France. Berlin says the villages of Frezenberg and Verlanerhoek were captured.

French attacks in the Champagne region, according to Berlin, were repulsed with the aid of hand grenades. Berlin reports no activity in the Argonne, but Paris says three German attacks in that region were beaten off.

French Advance Over Two Miles.

Paris, May 10.—The following official communique was issued by the war office:

"The Germans made an attack between Nieuport and the sea. The attack was repulsed with heavy loss to the invaders. The British troops gained ground in the region of Fromelles. We have made appreciable progress north of Arras, in the direction of Loos and south of Carency. In the latter district we carried, on a front of seven kilometers (four and one-half miles) two and in some places three lines of trenches, very heavily fortified by the enemy. We captured the village of La Targette and half the village of Neuville St. Voast. Our advance amounts at certain places to four kilometers (two and one-half miles). We made more than 2,000 prisoners and took six cannon. In Champagne we repulsed an attack near St. Thomas, on the borders of the Argonne forest. At Bagatelle we were able to estimate the importance of the enemy's losses in his attacks yesterday. The Germans utilized, without success however, asphyxiating bombs and burning liquid. On the remainder of the front, notably in Le Pretre wood and at Sillakerwasen, there have been artillery duels."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BARNES LIBEL SUIT IS IN FOURTH WEEK

Barnes Will Be on Stand Probably Thursday.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 10.—Today begins the fourth week of the trial of William Barnes' libel suit against Colonel Roosevelt. Two points of particular interest relating to the probable development of the coming week are revealed. Mr. Barnes will take the stand on Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning in his effort to convince the jury that as a political leader and business man he has been upright and straightforward, and in his determination to show that Colonel Roosevelt has been malicious and untruthful.

There seems to be an understanding on the part of the lawyers of each side that the case can be finished this week.

It seems likely that some of the evidence tentatively admitted by Justice Andrews in his desire to give the Roosevelt counsel an opportunity to submit proof in justification, will be ruled out this week, although certain other bits of evidence are likely to be retained. The printing side of the case is long and involved, with many transactions playing a part, but Justice Andrews is scrutinizing each transaction from a coldly legal point of view. Wherever a transaction goes into the evidence it must have been shown that Mr. Barnes used his control of the Republican organization to fill his pockets from fraudulent printing.

FORTY BABES ON TORPEDOED SHIP

Lusitania Carried Total of 124 Small Children.

764 NOW KNOWN SURVIVORS

Coroner's Inquest Being Held—Verdict "An Act of King's Enemies"—Case Selected That of J. King, Lockport, Ill.—Vanderbilt Aided Young Woman—Anti-German Mobs.

New York, May 10.—The Cunard line issued an official statement denying the report that the Lusitania carried guns.

"This report has been denied by the British admiralty," the statement said, "but in view of its repetition it is emphatically denied that the Lusitania was armed in any way."

Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port, also denied the report.

"This report is not correct," he said. "The Lusitania was inspected, as is customary. No guns were found, mounted or unmounted, and the vessel sailed without any armament. No merchant ship would be allowed to arm in this port and leave the harbor."

New York, May 10.—The torpedo from the German U-39 that sent the Lusitania to the bottom of the sea cost the lives of 115 American citizens. That fact was learned at the offices of the Cunard Steamship company here, where a careful compilation of the registered American citizens was made.

The total number of United States citizens on the Lusitania when she was torpedoed, was 181 divided as follows: First class, 102; second class, 67; steerage, 12. The returns of survivors show that only 64 of the citizens were rescued as follows: First class, 36; second class, 28.

These figures, of course, do not include citizens of other countries who have been living in this country and who gave their residences in various American cities when booking their passage. The total number of such persons is estimated at approximately 409, divided among the different cabins as follows: First, 161; second, 336, and third, 12.

Another striking fact obtained at the Cunard offices was the number of children, including infants, who were also aboard the Lusitania and who suffered from the German torpedo. A study of the passenger list shows the total children and infants as follows:

Total children: First cabin, 17; second cabin, 77; third cabin, 30.

Infants: First cabin, 5; second cabin, 25; third cabin, 10.

According to those figures there were 124 children in all on board, including 40 babes in arms.

Word was received of the safety of Anne Kilkenny and Margaret Tuohey, two steerage passengers from Boston; also of the safety of Erik and William Gardner, sixteen and eleven years old, who were going to England with their parents.

Survivors Are 764.

London, May 10.—Figures compiled by the Cunard office at midnight show that the total number of survivors is 764, including 462 passengers and 302 of the crew. The injured persons numbered thirty among the passengers and seventeen among the crew. The total number of bodies recovered is 144, of which eighty-seven have been identified. Among the identified bodies were those of sixty-seven passengers and twenty-two of the crew.

"Act of King's Enemies."

Queenstown, May 10.—The coroner's inquest into the sinking of the Lusitania was formally opened as a matter of form and was adjourned to May 15 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The inquest itself will be more as a matter of form in order to exculpate the officers of the ship from all charge of negligence, and will, in all likelihood, be a verdict of "an act of the king's enemies." The particular case selected upon which to base the record is that of J. King of Lockport, Ill., whose body has been identified.

Vanderbilt Aids Young Woman.

London, May 10.—In the course of an interview Thomas Slidell of New York said that Alfred G. Vanderbilt was one of the last persons he saw on the deck of the Lusitania as the ship went down. Mr. Slidell said that Mr. Vanderbilt was standing on the deck of the Lusitania a few feet away from him, that he saw Mr. Vanderbilt take off a life belt he was wearing, fasten it about a young woman and walk off in search of another.

Anti-German Riots.

Liverpool, May 10.—Anger against Germany for the torpedoing of the Lusitania burst forth in a riot here recently. Mobs formed in the streets and raided German owned shops. Several were literally pulled to pieces by the infuriated rioters, their contents being thrown over the streets.

Police strove in vain to subdue the disturbers. Twenty persons were arrested. The remainder of the crowd attempted a rescue and in the fighting which followed the police were forced to use their batons.

LUSITANIA SANK 15 MINUTES AFTER HIT

Watch of American Survivor Gives Accurate Data.

London, May 10.—George H. Kessler, American wine merchant, fixes the time of the sinking of the Lusitania at fifteen minutes. Mr. Kessler is one of thirty-nine other survivors who reached London. He said the Lusitania was struck at 2:15 as he had his watch in his hand at the time.

Mr. Kessler was asked how long it was between the striking of the torpedoes and the sinking of the ship.

"Exactly fifteen minutes, was the emphatic answer. The Lusitania was struck at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon and sank at 2:30.

"Look here," and Mr. Kessler pulled out his watch, which was one of fine gold, but is now green and tarnished by salt water. "See, it has stopped exactly at 2:30. That was when I was thrown into the water by the sinking of the ship."

Then followed a much more dramatic incident. As Mr. Kessler had talked some of the other survivors had come up and stood listening. There were a dozen of them. When Mr. Kessler brought forth his watch several others imitated him. "You're right," came the chorus. "See here—" A dozen watches were then flashed in the light, all of them tarnished and water soaked. Eleven of them showed that submersion had come within a second of 2:30 while the twelfth registered 2:33 o'clock.

ARTIST LEAVITT WEDS AGAIN

Divorced Husband of Bryan's Daughter Marries Miss Killius.

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—Announcement was made here of the marriage last Thursday in Pekin, Ill., of William Homer Leavitt, former son-in-law of William Jennings Bryan, to Miss Clara Killius of this city.

Mr. Leavitt is an artist, and while here some time ago exhibiting some paintings first met Miss Killius. While painting the picture of Mr. Bryan several years ago Mr. Leavitt met and married Miss Ruth Bryan. Later they were divorced.

RUNAWAY BOY IN HOSPITAL

Condition Serious After Four Days' Fast and Exposure.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., May 10.—Chas. Seymour, thirteen years old, son of a Petrolia, Ontario, citizen, was found unconscious from hunger and exposure in a barn in New Baltimore. The lad was brought to a hospital in this city.

He said he ran away from home and had gone four days without food. The boy declared he was on his way to visit an aunt in Detroit, when overcome. His father has been notified. The lad's condition is said to be serious.

SEARCHING FOR MAN'S MIND

He Tells of Killing Woman; Then He Is Arrested.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 10.—Asked by fellow countrymen as to the reason for his nervousness, Joe Pinter, who arrived from Brunswick, N. J., said he had slain a woman there and "couldn't get it off his mind."

His listeners tipped off the police, who arrested Pinter and started to determine whether the confession is genuine or due to a disordered mind. After being detained, Pinter refused to talk.

ONLY THOSE WITHOUT SIN TO GET DIVORCE

Evidence Must Show Both Parties Blameless, Judge Holds.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 10.—Many imperfect marriage unions will have to continue to exist in Calhoun county, at least during Circuit Judge Walter H. N[illegible] regime, [illegible] announces that hereafter he will grant no divorces unless one of the contesting parties can show himself or herself free from blame. Putting his plan into effect, Judge North refused divorces to Carrie vs. John Nalean, William vs. Lydia E. Caldwell, and Pearl vs. Willard N. Miller.

In giving his decision, Judge North said he finds some couples take less time getting mated than a man takes to buy an automobile.

GETTING AT REAL HOLDINGS

Holders of First Mortgages Take Steps in Loan Company Tangle.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 10.—A phase of the Battle Creek Building and Loan company tangle developed when Frank Stuart of Marshall, foreclosed five real estate mortgages, each made by J. B. Sperry, secretary of the loan company, involving $7,000 worth of property.

The loan company holds second mortgages on these properties and if there is any money left after they are sold and Mr. Stuart satisfied, it will go to the company's stock holders. It is believed other holders of first mortgages will follow Mr. Stuart's lead in order to reveal the status of the loan company.

Annoynmous Letter Warns of Blowing Up of German Embassy.

Washington, May 10.—Ambassador Bernstorff received an anonymous letter warning him his embassy would be blown up on Monday at 1:32 a. m.

A similar letter arrived at the Washington Times office. Both were signed "An American Citizen." The watermark was of the kind used on paper furnished to the government departments. The police and embassy officials thought the communications were the work of a crank. Ambassador Bernstorff merely said "I shall be asleep at that time." A strong police guard was placed over the embassy, however.

Vardon and Ray Abandon Voyage.

London, May 10.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the professional golfers, have cancelled their golfing tour to the United States. They had booked to sail May 15 on the Lusitania, but the loss of the vessel decided them to abandon their trip.

China Accepts Jap Demands.

London, May 10.—It is officially announced through the Japanese embassy here that China has accepted Japan's final terms as laid down in the revised series of demands.

Ominous.

Attraction.

Fruits fall to the earth because the earth attracts them. Bubbles in a cup of tea stand around the sides of the cup because the cup attracts them. The little bubbles gather about the large ones because the large bubbles attract the smaller ones. Why do the bubbles follow a teaspoon? Because the spoon attracts them. Why are the sides of a pond covered with leaves while the middle is clear? Because the shore attracts the leaves to itself.

All the Difference.

The youngster was reading a newspaper. Looking up, he said:

"Aldermen are called city fathers, aren't they, pa?"

"Yes, my son."

"Well, what's the difference between them and other fathers?"

"The difference is very similar. As a general thing the sons run in debt, and their fathers have to pay, but the city fathers contract debts and their sons have to pay. That's the difference, my son."—Stray Stories.

Trapped.

"Dick," said his wife as she poured the breakfast coffee, "did you get any mail this morning?"

"Nothing but papers."

"Did you post that letter I gave you yesterday?"

"Certainly."

"Strange you haven't received it. It was addressed to you."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Skeptical.

Minister (calling on inmate of prison)—Remember, Mr. Kenney, that stone walls do not a prison make nor iron bars a cage. Kenney—Well, they've got me hypnotized, then; that's all.—Dallas News.

Napoleon as a Reader.

Napoleon was a reader—persistent, omnivorous, indefatigable. By the campfire and in his traveling carriage, in his temporary staff office or his own bedroom his favorite volumes were ever kept within easy reach.

Wasted Generosity.

DESTINY.

It is a proverbial saying that every one makes his own destiny, and this is usually interpreted that every one by his wise or unwise conduct prepares good or evil for himself. But we may also understand it that whatever it be that he receives from the hand of Providence he may so accommodate himself to it that he will find his lot good for him.—William von Humboldt.

Chamberlain's Liniment

This preparation is intended especially for rheumatism, lame back, sprains and like ailments. It is a favorite with people who are well acquainted with its splendid qualities. Mrs. Charles Tanner, Wabash, Ind., says of it, "I have found Chamberlain's Liniment the best thing for lame back and sprains I have ever used. It works like a charm and relieves pain and soreness. It has been used by others of my family as well as myself for upwards of twenty years" 25 and 50 cent bottles. For sale by all dealers. adv

MOTHERS' DAY

The Methodist church was well filled Sunday evening for Mothers' Day services, the G. A. R. and the T. B. A. turning out in a body. Rev. G. W. Jennings gave a fine sermon on "Mothers' Day, its origin, and the debt we owe to American Motherhood." Miss Edna Taylor sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and Miss Lillian Kennedy sang, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground." The services were very interesting throughout.

HOW TO DESTROY CATARRH GERMS AND END CATARRH FOREVER.

Catarrh, according to a noted authority is a germ disease and the only way to cure it so it will stay cured and never come back is to kill and drive out of your system the catarrhal germs which have found lodgement there. When the germs go the catarrh will stop.

There is nothing better for destroying catarrh germs than breathing into your nose and lungs the pleasant, soothing healing germ destroying air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) made from purest oil of Eucalyptus and combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germ destroying ingredients. Hyomei penetrates and heals the inflamed swollen membranes of your nose and throat, stops discharges, clears the passages and completely overcomes the disease by destroying its cause. For catarrh germs cannot live in your body after Hyomei reaches them. C. A. Wright & Son and many other good druggists in Tecumseh and vicinity have long sold Hyomei on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back and find this generous policy pays.

Arrests Decrease.

YANSING, MICH. — The arrests made by the Lansing police from May 1, 1914, to May 1, 1915, are 40 per cent less than the number made from May 1, 1913, to May 1, 1914. The figures are arousing interest, as during the last year Lansing has been "dry," whereas for two years prior to May 1, 1914, Ingham county was "wet" territory. Chief of Police Cole says the banishment of the open saloon is responsible for the decrease.

Soo Ready For Lake Trade.

SAULT STE. MARIE, MICH. — Active preparations for the opening of navigation are in evidence at this port. The Canadian canal is ready for traffic. The ice fields in Lake Superior moved off about ten miles. It is still tough for a distance of two miles below the Whitefish point.

Ice in St. Louis bay, off Duluth, is honeycombed and there are wide stretches of open water. Navigation is expected to open in another week. Lake Superior ice remains firm from Duluth eastward fifteen miles or so.

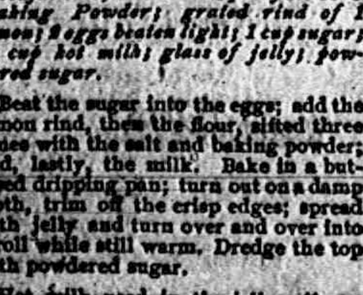
Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks. 33



K C Jelly Roll

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 1 level teaspoonful K C Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 3 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; ¼ cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Too many readers laugh when they see a mis-print in the newspaper. Do you know how many opportunities there are for printers to make mistakes, much more so than in any other business? The printer has an opportunity to make an average of thirty mistakes to each ordinary line of reading matter or better than three thousand to each column of reading matter. Setting six columns a day would make the opportunity of making better than sixteen thousand five hundred mistakes. Where is there another business in which the care has to be taken that is observed in a newspaper office? —DUNDEE REPORTER. THE GRANITE FOR THE STACY MEMORIAL APPROACH HAS ARRIVED

To be erected by the Harrison Granite Co. of N. Y.

The granite for the Stacy approach to be erected at Brookside cemetery arrived Monday morning. Mr. Frank Gardner, who will have charge of the erecting of the same, was in town Monday, making the necessary arrangements for the work.

The granite will be taken from the car and hauled to the cemetery and placed in a convenient location near the place of entrance which will be just north of the small gate. It will be set in a diagonal position facing southeast. As soon as the proper survey is made and the foundation laid, the work of erection will be begun, and it is hoped that the work will be completed by Decoration day.

This approach is built of the best quality barre granite and is 41 ft. over all. The width of the entrance is 15 ft. with a foot entrance 3 ft. wide on either side. The height of the approach will be 13 ft., 6 in., the height of the span being 10 ft., 6 in. A massive stone 20 ft. long, weighing about seven tons forms the arch and will be supported on either side by granite blocks and columns. The structure is in rock faced finish with hammered columns and facing on the underside of the stone that forms the arch.

Across the center of the arch is cut the name "Brookside". Two bronze tablets will be set on each side, one inscribed with the words, "The Gift of George and Gertrude Stacy", the other with the date of erection.

NEW FACTORY IN SIGHT FOR TECUMSEH

Quite investigation by the Tecumseh Commerce Club has been going on for several weeks relative to a new industry for Tecumseh, The Dauphn Knitting Co., of Toledo being desirous of locating a branch here. A committee of three composed of J. Q. Look, H. S. Temple and L. C. Hayden went to Toledo last Saturday to meet the company and talk over the situation.

The company propose to move their machinery here, furnish a competent Superintendent and give employment to 18 or 20 girls.

Local parties to take $3500 in stock in the new concern.

At a meeting of the Board of Commerce held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon a committee composed of J. Q. Look, H. S. Temple and F. S. Anderson were appointed to make a second visit to Toledo and investigate the proposition more thoroughly.

HOW TO MAKE A TOUGH OLD GOOSE TENDER.

An old goose bears off the palm for toughness from the rest of the feathered tribe. When in his maturity he has likewise a stronger flavor than is agreeable to a fastidious palate. Wash him out thoroughly after cleaning, adding to the second water a teaspoonful of soda. Rinse well after this, and cover with fresh cold water in which you have stirred a tablespoonful of vinegar to extract the rank taste from skin and flesh. Wipe dry inside and out and stuff with dry crumbs well seasoned. Lay in the dripping pan and dash over it from the boiling tea kettle a cupful of water. It should cicatrize the surface of the fowl. Cook in a covered roaster, basting every fifteen minutes, allowing fifteen minutes per pound. The steam from the boiling water and from the heating body will gradually make the flesh tender if the cooking be slow, long and under a close cover. When the goose is done keep hot over boiling water while you add giblets, boiled and chopped, to the gravy thicken with browned flour and boil up once. Serve in a sauce boat. Send around apple sauce with the goose.

THE WHY OF WORRY.

Those Who Live Only In the Present Have No Fear of the Future.

We worry because we are afraid of something. Worry is fear of the consequences of something that has occurred or something that may happen. A curious thing about it is that it is never associated with the immediate present. It is generally in the future, though sometimes in the past.

Animals and babies who are conscious of nothing but the present cannot worry. As all creatures, except human beings, live only for the moment, they do not worry because they have no recollection of what has happened and can form no conception of what may happen.

Human beings having the capacity to look back or forward, mentally, are susceptible to the fear that causes worry, and, as most persons live more in the past or future than in the present, this tendency affects for worry or not, according to our viewpoint of life in other respects. Worry is mental fear of an impending something.

Persons afflicted will be less worried about their condition than relatives or friends who sympathize with them. A person may worry in anticipation of a sickness or operation, but when they have the sickness or the operation is performed, the worry disappears, and, though they may fear, they cannot worry in the present.—Boston Herald.

HUMOR OF LINCOLN.

How the President Sized Up the Confederate Forces.

A visitor once asked Lincoln how many men the Confederates had in the field. The president replied very seriously:

"Twelve hundred thousand, according to the best authority."

The visitor paled as he said:

"Good heavens!"

"Yes, sir, 1,200,000. No doubt of it. You see, all of our generals when they get whipped say the enemy outnumbered them from three or five to one, and I must believe them. We have 400,000 men in the field, and three times four make twelve."

A delegation once waited upon Lincoln to ask the appointment of a certain man as commissioner to the Sandwich islands. Besides his fitness for the place, they urged his bad health. But the president in reply said, "Gentlemen, I am sorry to say that there are eight other applicants for that place, and they are all sicker than your man."

A woman came to the White House one day on an unusual errand, which Lincoln suspected was a pretext, but he took her at her word and gave her the following note to a major of the quartermaster's department: "My dear sir, the lady bearer of this says she has two sons who want to work. Set them at it if possible. Wanting to work is so rare a merit that it should be encouraged. A. Lincoln."

Bolivia's Electrical Storms.

Owing to the peculiar topographical formation of Bolivia, electric and other phenomena are of constant occurrence, the principal zone where such disturbances take place being the Alti planicie, or grand plateau. As the atmosphere is heavily charged with electricity both in summer and winter, dry or electric storms are of frequent occurrence both on the plateau and in the valleys. Before the rainy season sets in electrical accumulation becomes considerable on the plateau region, the most violent manifestations taking place toward the eastern section of the tablelands. An electrical storm in these regions is always a most imposing spectacle, as the tremendous force of the wind, almost equal to a hurricane, and the heavy electrical accumulation in the clouds produce terrible atmospheric explosions and violent detonations, while the surface of the ground sparkles and crackles.

KILLED IN BATTLE.

Methods of Different Nations For Identifying the Dead.

When a German soldier falls in battle he is identified by a little metal disk which he carries. This disk bears a number, and this number is telegraphed to Berlin. There the soldier's name is determined. This system is as effective as everything else connected with the German army.

The British use an aluminium disk that contains, besides marks of identification, the soldier's church affiliation. The Japanese system is similar, each soldier wearing three disks, one around his neck, another on his belt and the third in his boot. The Russians wear a numbered badge.

The United States army uses a cloth tab woven into the shoulder strap of the tunic. The French use identification cards stitched inside the tunic. The French once made use of metal identification badges, but these proved an irresistible attraction to the savages whom the French faced in Africa, so the cards were substituted. Austria still uses a badge of gun metal in the form of a locket with parchment leaves inside.

Turkey has no identification badges for her soldiers. Edhem Pasha once explained this omission as follows: "A dead man is of no use to the sultan. Why, therefore, trouble with him?"—Baltimore American.

HALF AWAKE.

The human individual lives usually far within his limits. He possesses powers of various sorts, which he habitually fails to use. He energizes below his maximum, and he behaves below his optimum. * * * Compared with what we ought to be, we are only half awake. Our fires are damped; our drafts are checked. We are making use of only a small part of our possible mental and physical resources.—Professor William James.

ANCIENT GREEK TRAINING.

What It Did For the Boy Physically and Intellectually.

The manner in which the Athenians brought up their children is worth remembering.

At seven years of age the Athenian lad entered the palestra, which was essentially a playground. All the first and better half of the day was spent in gymnastics, dancing, games and play. In the afternoon there were singing, some writing, some reading, all in the open air, and then came a long period of play again. Such was the schooling of the Greek lad up to the age of ten or eleven, and it did not differ essentially up to the age of sixteen, except in the severity of the exercises.

And yet the world has not ceased to marvel at the results of the Greek education. It produced the highest type of man, physically and intellectually, that the world has ever seen, which Galton says was as far in advance of the modern Englishman as the modern Englishman is in advance of the native African.

In physical beauty, courage and patriotism, in philosophy, literature, architecture and art, the Greeks have been the unsurpassed models of the ages and are still the inspiration of our schools today. But they placed the emphasis upon hygiene, exercise, games and play, which are too much neglected in these days.—Kansas City Star.

THE PLANET MERCURY.

It Is Difficult to Weigh and Its Orbit Is Very Eccentric.

Though Mercury is one of the smallest of the planets, it is perhaps the most troublesome of all to the astronomer.

It lies so close to the sun that it is seen but seldom in comparison with the other great planets. Its orbit is very eccentric, and it experiences disturbances by the attraction of other bodies in a way not yet fully understood.

A special difficulty has also been found in the attempt to place Mercury in the weighing scales. We can weigh the whole earth, we can weigh the sun, the moon and even Jupiter and other planets, but Mercury presents difficulties of a peculiar character. Le Verrier, however, succeeded in devising a method of weighing it.

He demonstrated that our earth is attracted by this planet, and he showed how the amount of attraction may be disclosed by observations of the sun. [illegible] observations he made an approximate determination of the mass of Mercury.

Le Verrier's result indicated that the weight of the planet was about the fifteenth part of the weight of the earth. In other words, if our earth was placed in a balance and fifteen globes, each equal to Mercury, were laid in the other the scales would hang evenly.—"Story of the Heavens."

WOMEN OF EUROPE.

An Italian Critic Says Those of Spain Are the Most Beautiful.

A celebrated Italian writer of Florence has been favoring the world with his opinion of some of the women of Europe. He considers only four nations, and of these he selects Spain as most worthy of the crown for feminine beauty. He says:

"The Spanish woman is bewitchingly beautiful. She has small hands and feet and large eyes like the open windows of a sunburnt marble palace, a figure full of grace and life and long dark, wavy hair. She is very religious, very ignorant, very jealous, very sensitive and very proud."

Of the British woman he says: "Her hair is like gold. She has heavenly eyes, a peachlike complexion, a delicately formed nose and good teeth. She is reserved, very active and generally a slave to etiquette."

As to the Frenchwoman he is less complimentary. It is thus that he describes her: "She is a cat and a serpent, a palm and a violet, and when she is not pretty she is charming. She is amiable, a dreadful coquette and generally false."

His summary of the Russian woman is that she is "of an oriental type which had been prematurely transported into Europe. In her are combined the extraordinary charms of a savage and the civilized woman."—Pearson's.

Trouble Saved.

"I thought you were to move to a more expensive apartment."

"The landlord saved us the trouble," replied Mrs. Flimgilt. "He raised the rent of the one we have been occupying."—Washington Star.

Sleeping on the Ground.

To sleep on the ground in the ordinary way without the aid of a clever South African trick which the English learned from the Zulus is so painful as to be almost impossible. Sleep, instead of resting, fatigues.

The Zulu trick is to dig a little hole to hold the hip bone. The soldier can then rest on back or side with equal comfort. He rises from his slumber on the hard ground as refreshed as if he had slept on a feather bed.—Chicago Herald.

TAX COLLECTOR 74 YEARS OLD

Expected to Resign on Account of Feebleness — Gained Strength and Twenty-four Pounds by Taking Vinol.

Corinth, Miss.—"I am a city tax collector and seventy-four years of age. I was in a weak, run-down condition so that I became exhausted by every little exertion. My druggist told me about Vinol, and I decided to take it. In a week I noticed considerable improvement; I continued its use, and now I have gained twenty pounds in weight, and feel much stronger. I consider Vinol a fine tonic to create strength for old people."—J. A. PRICE, Corinth, Miss.

As one grows old their organs act more slowly and less effectually than in youth, circulation is poor, the blood gets thin, the appetite poor and digestion weak. Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is the ideal strengthener and body builder for old folks because it creates a good healthy appetite, strengthens digestion, enriches the blood, improves circulation and in this natural manner builds up, strengthens and invigorates feeble, run-down, nervous and aged people, and if it does not do all we say, we will pay back your money.

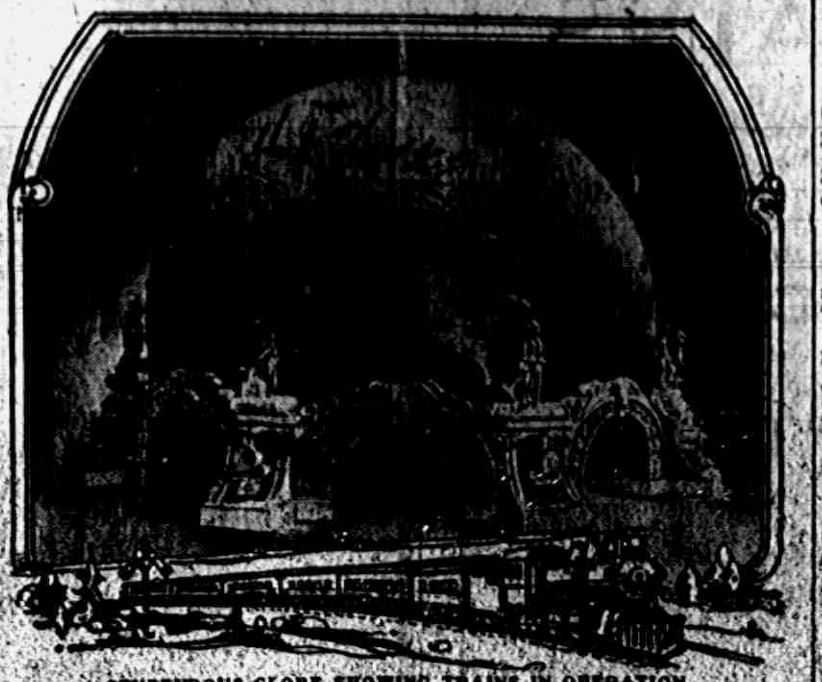
Colossal Globe Shows Whole World at the Panama-Pacific Exposition



STUPENDOUS GLOBE SHOWING TRAINS IN OPERATION.

An exhibit in the Palace of Transportation at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition that might easily take first rank if placed on the Zone, where the amusement concessions are located, is the mighty globe in the northwestern corner of the palace, commanding attention from every part of the great building. This globe, fifty-one feet in diameter, with the map of North America in relief, is the joint exhibit of four railroads—the Western Pacific, the Denver and Rio Grande, the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern.

Across the face of this huge map, from San Francisco to St. Louis, is a railroad track in miniature. Trains cross and recross, making the entire trip in three minutes, electric flashes indicating the stations on the way. From the globe to the north wall of the building extends an annex sixty-five feet in length, fifty-six in width, and from the top of this annex rises in realistic effect on canvas the famous Marshall's pass of Colorado.

At intervals around the base of the globe and annex are sculptures of a farmer, representing agriculture; a miner, representing mines; a fisherman, for sports; a brakeman, for transportation, and a blacksmith, for commerce, while the slogan of the railroads is set in relief, "Comfort, Service, Scenery." In the interior of the globe will be twenty-four models of cities and scenes along the route of the railroads. San Francisco will be seen, Denver, Salt Lake, Leadville and such noted bits of scenery as the Royal gorge.

In the dim light of the globe's interior, viewing the twelve and fifteen foot canvas portrayals of cities and scenes, stars begin to twinkle in the sky above, and the illusion of standing gazing upon nature's vast beauties is complete. The stars are secured by an ingenious electrical device.

The entire exhibit is under the supervision of F. A. Wadleigh, passenger traffic manager of the Western Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande. The design, construction and supervision are under the direction of F. B. Fulton, who also is the artist who painted the landscapes and sculptured the pilaster models.

WOMEN SOLDIERS.

They Posed as Men and Fought With the British Army.

The British army has had its women soldiers, and two of them are buried in the cemetery of Chelsea hospital. One of these dames—Hannah Snell, a truculent looking person, whose portrait is preserved in the great hall of the hospital, served in the siege of Pondicherry and was badly wounded, her sex being discovered when she was removed to the hospital. She became a pensioner and wore on occasions the three cornered hat and uniform coat of Chelsea and was at her own request buried in the graveyard of the hospital.

Christina Davis was the other female soldier buried in this cemetery. She is described as a "fat, jolly woman."

Another Englishwoman who successfully posed as a man and enlisted as a soldier was Phoebe Hessel, who was a private in the Fifth foot regiment and fought at Fontenoy in 1745, under the Duke of Cumberland, being severely wounded. Ultimately she died at Brighton in 1821 at the age of 108.

The most famous Englishwoman "soldier," however, was "Dr. James Barry," who joined the medical corps in 1813 and served at Waterloo and in the Crimea. In 1858, after many promotions, she became inspector general, and it was not until many years later that the fact that she was a woman was discovered.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ELECTRICITY AND WATER.

Little Danger In Turning a Hose on Heavily Charged Wires.

The slight danger that firemen run through the electric current passing from heavily charged wires up the stream of water they are squirting is proved by an experiment conducted by Ugo Tartaglini and reported in La Scienza per Tutti.

A trolley car wire charged with a direct current of 525 volts had one end grounded; on the other end he directed a stream from a hose with a nozzle fifteen millimeters in diameter. At 225 meters distance a voltmeter attached to the nozzle registered twenty volts. At sixty-five centimeters distance it registered seventy volts and at twenty centimeters 210 volts. The average man can stand a current of fifty volts without serious shock, so a fireman who holds his nozzle five or six feet from a live wire runs no great danger.

Mr. Tartaglini made the same experiment on two lines of alternating current, one with 2,300, the other with 4,600 volts, and the voltmeter did not register any current in the stream of water, although a slight shock was perceptible when he put his hand into it. With a chemical extinguisher he got a current of 1,550 volts at 225 millimeters from a wire with a current of 2,000 volts.

Very Clever.

They tell a story in London of a certain peer who had never before shown the slightest interest in horse racing that he surprised a young man of his acquaintance by asking him apropos of nothing which horse had won the Derby. The young man told him. "That was very clever on him," replied the peer. "Was it the first time he tried it?" The young man stared, but said "Yes." "Then I call it very clever of him," replied the noble but incomplete sportsman, "to win the Derby the first time he tried for it."

Prussic Acid In Plants.

It has been known for some time that various plants belonging to different families produce free prussic acid. In these "cyanogenetic" plants the largest amount of this acid is produced by the green leaves and the young parts, while the root gives little or none. Animals rarely touch these plants. Light and the assimilation processes depending upon light exert a favorable influence on cyanogenesis, while the absence of carbon dioxide greatly diminishes the amount produced.

Up to His Tricks.

Lord Rosslyn at a dinner in New York once said of a notorious London spendthrift:

"When he was at Oxford he wired once to his uncle, whose heir he was:

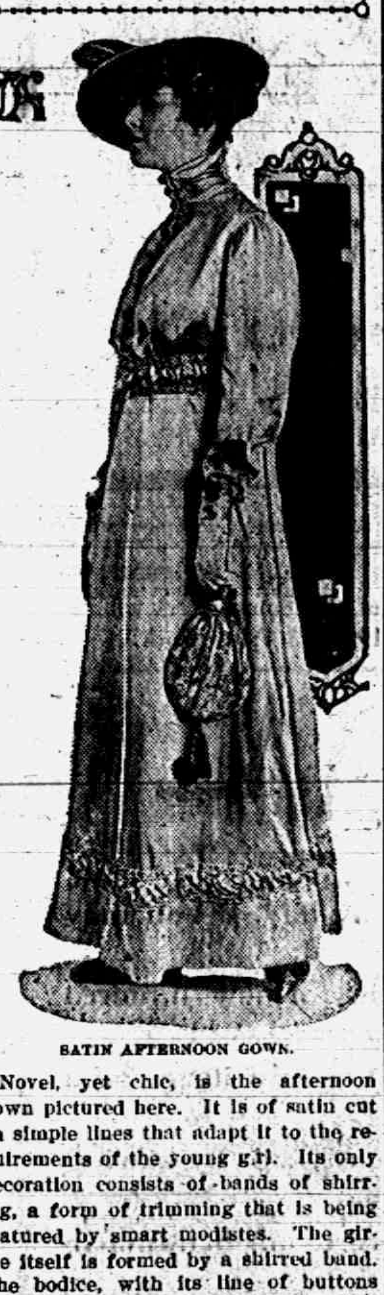
"'If you don't send me a hundred by Saturday I'll blow my brains out.'

"His uncle wired back:

"'You telegraphed me that before, and when I forwarded you my best revolver you went and pawned it.'"

SHIRRING POPULAR.

This Form of Decoration Featured on Many New Frocks.



SATIN AFTERNOON GOWN.

Novel, yet chic, is the afternoon gown pictured here. It is of satin cut on simple lines that adapt it to the requirements of the young girl. Its only decoration consists of bands of shirring, a form of trimming that is being featured by smart modistes. The girdle itself is formed by a shirred band. The bodice, with its line of buttons running from the straight high collar to the waist, has a quaint, old fashioned appearance. For the St. Valentine luncheon or card party a gown of this sort would be extremely effective.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

Simple Homemade Apparatus by Which They May Be Produced.

The ordinary person either does not understand or is afraid of electricity and could scarcely be persuaded to manufacture it himself, and yet after all a little electrical experiment at home is both amusing and instructive. All that you have to do is to take a glass, expose it to the fire so that it shall be perfectly dry and place it upside down upon the table.

Afterward take a tray, also perfectly dry, and place it upon the glass in such a way that it shall preserve its equilibrium. Finally take a sheet of paper slightly smaller than the tray, heat it and rub it rapidly with a brush, and it will become quickly electrified. Then place it upon the tray.

An electrical machine will thus have been constructed without any expense. If the finger be brought near the tray a spark will appear. This spark will be so much the brighter and the series of sparks will be so much the longer in proportion as the glass and tray are drier.

If, when the sparks are being drawn from the tray, the room in which the experiment is performed be darkened these sparks will appear extremely brilliant.—Pearson's Weekly.

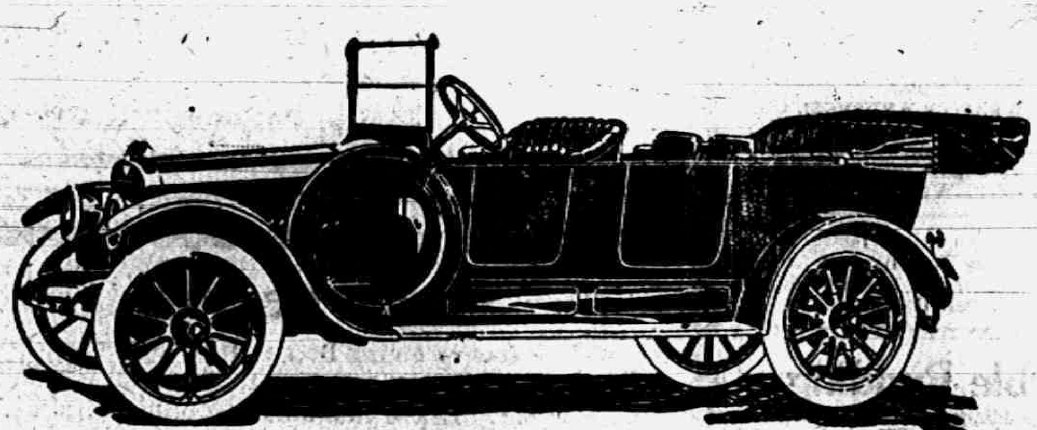
HUDSON Six-40 for 1915
New Price $1,550 F.O.B. Detroit



THE 1915 GEM

The HUDSON Six-40 for 1915 offers 32 surprises.

Last year it seemed that no car could be better. And it seemed that quality cars could never sell lower.

But the HUDSON engineers—headed by Howard E. Coffin—have brought out 31 new features. And a trebled output—due to overwhelming demand—will reduce the price $200.

This light Six is lighter than ever.

It is handsomer—better-equipped. Just think—48 engineers for one whole year, have worked exclusively on refinements. Yet the price—which was never approached in a quality car—has been lowered by $200.

You will find in this new model the jewel car of the year—the final ideal in a Six. You will find many attractions shown in no other car. And a price which no one considered possible until Hudson made it possible.

Sample car can be seen at the Co-Operative Co's show room. Phone 256 for demonstration.

ANCIENT ORDER OF GLEANERS

The Gleaner Rally in the Croswell Opera House, Adrian, Friday night, promises to be attended by a general turnout of Gleaners from this county and Monroe, Hillsdale, Washtenaw and Jackson counties.

Instead of North Adrian [illegible] senting the Introduction and Obligation together with the Adoption Degree, Cone Arbor of Monroe county will put this work on the stage. Harley Hill, Captain of the Guards, has the drill team in training and is making rapid progress in the work.

Instructress Miss Bellamy of Ionia, will give the degree and fancy drill work and will render special recitals. The young lady is an elocutionist, and has appeared before large houses in Chicago Detroit, Grand Rapids and also in Ohio and Indiana.

Fred Marvin, Supervisor and Lecturer of the Supreme Federation Department at Detroit, will be present and act as chairman of the Rally. Lucetta M. Marvin, director of the Ladies' Work of the Order, will be present and assist the ladies.

Assistant Supreme Secretary, Ross L. Holloway, will discuss "The Gleaner of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

A basket supper will be served by the ladies at the close of the meeting.

SOME OLD PAPERS

We have before us two copies of the Tecumseh Herald published in 1851, L. G. Sholes & Co. proprietors

The first page is devoted to stories and poems. On the second page of April 17, 1857 we find under the head of appointment the following.

C A. Stacy, Esq. and Chauncy Joslin Esq., of Ypsilanti have been appointed members of the Board of Education of this State.

Local matter is almost lacking but the advertising columns are full, and decidedly quaint to look over.

The Business Men's Directory is very interesting:

CHICAGOAN DEAD IN WOODS

Dr. Steele's Body Found on Road to Fishing Stream.

MUSKEGAN, MICH. — The body of Dr. Ira D. Steele, a Chicago dentist, was found by Mrs. Carl Moch in woods near her home, two miles east of Muskegon.

He died from valvular heart disease, physicians assert. He had been on a fishing trip. It is believed death was brought on by exhaustion from a long walk.

WIVES ARE KILLED IN POLAND

Charlotte Men Start Across Sea to Find Children.

CHARLOTTE, MICH. — Stanley Knoliski and John Steopa, Poles, working in the Michigan Central section gangs, have received word that their native town was recently destroyed by shells and their wives killed. One left four small children, the other a small son.

The men expected soon to bring their families here. They have drawn their funds from a local bank and started for their native land.

COUNTY'S FIRST GRAND JURY

It Will Probe Affairs of Wind Storm Insurance Company.

HASTINGS, MICH. — For the very first time in its history Barry county will have a grand jury. The jury was called on application of Attorney William W. Potter of Hastings, who seeks light on the affairs of the Michigan Mutual Tornado, Cyclone and Windstorm Insurance company.

Officials are accused of giving free policies to get themselves re-elected.

Ballad Writer is in Jail.

CHARLOTTE, MICH. — Edward W. Ball, in jail awaiting sentence on a charge of burglarizing the Roehm & Moyer store Sunday evening, having confessed, claims authorship of the well known song, "Love Me and the World is Mine."

Ball is an old-time minstrel man.

WIT & WISDOM CLUB

Hold Closing Banquet Tuesday Evening at Presbyterian Church

VERY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The Annual banquet of the Wit Wit and Wisdom club was held in the parlors of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion.

The table was in U shape the guests being seated on the outside, with the speakers at the closed end. Festoons of violets caught up with apple blossoms decorated the inside of the table with great bow's of violets upon it.

A four course dinner was served by the Misses Marian and Marjorie Rosecrans, Ethel Parker, Lilis Howard and Harold Lowry and Arthur Brown; Mrs. Mattis caterer.

After a short business meeting Dr. North introduced the Toastmaster Rev. G. W. Jennings who in a very happy manner introduced the members on the program.

Mrs. F. S. Turner was first with a piano solo and was followed by Mrs. F. D. Rector who gave an original poem "To Our Members." Supt. Reed gave a very interesting talk on "Weeds" both literal and human, with their uses and abuses. Elmer Slayton of Adrian sang a fine solo, with Mrs. Slayton as accompanist.

Dr. Brown's subject was "Wit" which he illustrated with a number of witty stories and sayings. He was followed by the Rev. W. A. Rex who spoke on "Wisdom."

Mrs. R. S. Moore sang a very sweet song of "Spring Flowers", which she illustrated with a boquet of the flowers mentioned in her song. Mrs. Ella Hodges accompanied her on the piano.

Dr. W. B. Hartzog then gave a talk on "Our Club" which closed the program.

The musical numbers were heartily encored and the responses were fine. About forty members of the club were present.

President North in closing, turned over the reins of his office to Mrs. F. Rosacrans the new president, who responed in a very pleasing manner.

Hudson Pythian Sisters Will Attend District Convention at Tecumseh.

Hudson, Mich., May 12.—A district convention of Pythian Sisters will be held in Tecumseh June 1. Mrs. William Keister will go as delegate from the Hudson lodge. This convention will mark the tenth anniversary of Mrs. Scattergood's office as district deputy. Mrs. Charles C. Whitney, grand guard, and Mrs. Henry C. Hall, past grand counsellor, and a number of other Hudson Pythian Sisters are planning to attend. Adrian Temple will do the work.

MIND OF PREACHER'S SON DIMMED BY BLOW

Young Man Lies In Hospital 10 Days Unidentified.

LAPORTE, IND. — George M. Rowe, who was found unconscious beside the New York Central tracks near New Buffalo, Mich., ten days ago, and who lingered for several days between life and death in a hospital at Michigan City, is the son of the Rev. J. A. Rowe of Whitmore Lake, Mich., it is learned.

Young Rowe is a telegraph operator and until recently was a resident of Whitmore Lake. Rowe, whose mind was a blank for days, said that he left home with $25 in his pocket. He remembers receiving a blow on the head. No money was found on him when he was picked up, and the authorities believe he was robbed and thrown from the train.

Rowe is still unable, by reason of his impaired memory, to tell where he was going, or where he boarded the train. Physicians fear his memory is permanently impaired.

ANN ARBOR, MICH. — George Rowe was a telegraph operator at Detroit and Toledo, but had been out of work for some time. He is thirty-three years old and has a wife living in Detroit.

Rowe's parents will go to Laporte to bring him home if he is unable to make the trip alone.

GETTING AT REAL HOLDINGS

Holders of First Mortgages Take Steps In Loan Company Tangle.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — A phase of the Battle Creek Building and Loan company tangle developed when Frank Stuart of Marshall, foreclosed five real estate mortgages, each made by J. B. Sperry, secretary of the loan company, involving $7,000 worth of property.

The loan company holds second mortgages on these properties and if there is any money left after they are sold and Mr. Stuart satisfied, it will go to the company's stock holders. It is believed other holders of first mortgages will follow Mr. Stuart's lead in order to reveal the status of the loan company.

PREACHES HIS LAST SERMON

Rev. Devona Ends Services at St. Paul's Church, at St. Clair.

PORT HURON, MICH. — Rev. F. S. Devona Sunday held services in St. Paul's church, at St. Clair, for the last time, it is believed, as the attorneys for the Episcopal diocese have requested Judge Law to grant them an order turning over the church property to them.

Rev. Devona and his congregation have made all arrangements to vacate. A meeting of the congregation was held Monday evening to take steps for the erection of a new church building. It is also stated that future meetings of the congregation will be held in the city hall.

SLUMBER PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Service was a lively one Saturday night and Sunday when the Misses Florence Aten, Lydia Babcock, Mary Avery, Bonnie Brown, Mabel Ager and Mesdames Dale Hodges and Duaine Service met for a slumber party honoring Miss Harriet Teachout of Toledo. Baby Helen Hodges was also of the party.

A midnight lunch was one of the events of the night and they do say, that at no hour of the night was there a cessation of lively chatter and laughter.

A first class breakfast at 9 o'clock was event No. 2 of importance, this being enjoyed by the whole company. At 3 o'clock came dinner and as each one had a finger in the pie it goes without saying that this was a howling success. As the shadows of evening fell upon the earth, the company departed and silence fell upon the home.

W. C. T. U.

At the annual meeting of the second district W. C. T. U., May 8 at Waldron, comprising Hillsdale, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw counties, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. Ada Mumford Adrian.

Vice president at large—Mrs. Eva Wilbur, Waldron.

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. Emma Cheney, Jasper.

Recording secretary—Mrs. Mattie French, Hillsdale.

Treasurer—Mrs. H. J. Williams, Adrian.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NEWS

Chicago, Ill.—Prof. Cox, of the weather bureau, reports that April, 1915 broke all records for heat and drought. Only a little over an inch of rain fell and a temperature of 88 degrees was reached.

San Francisco, Cal.—A stick of dynamite was found under an exhibit of gold valued at $20,000 at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. A hole in the floor and a fuse showed how the robbers intended to work.

Wilmington, N. C.—The first shipment of potash from Germany since the Great War broke out, has arrived at this port from Rotterdam.

Brownsville, Tex.—A regiment of U. S. Troops stationed along the border of Mexico, has headed a party that is to search for a hidden gold treasure on the old Navajo reservation.

Springfield, Ill.—After six dry and wet bills had been defeated in the legislature, each side conceded it to be a draw and quit. All other similar measures, including the house county option bill, have been stricken from the calendar.

Washington, D. C.—The latest report of the bureau of census shows that the fight against tuberculosis is winning. There has been a steady decrease in the number of deaths each year for the past ten years, reaching 25 per cent less in 1914 than in 1905.

SEARCHING FOR MAN'S MIND

He Tells of Killing Woman; Then He Is Arrested.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — Asked by fellow countrymen as to the reason for his nervousness, Joe Pinter, who arrived from Brunswick, N. J., said he had slain a woman there and "couldn't get it off his mind."

His listeners tipped off the police, who arrested Pinter and started to determine whether the confession is genuine or due to a disordered mind. After being detained, Pinter refused to talk.

AUTO TURNS OVER; ONE DEAD

Eaton Rapids Young Man Has Several Ribs Fractured.

EATON RAPIDS, MICH. — Carl Baumer of this city has several fractured ribs and serious bruises, sustained when his automobile turned turtle down an embankment near Lensing. Frank L. Sexton of Lansing, who was with him, was killed.

Young Baumer, who has been working in Lansing for several months, is the son of Charles Baumer of Eaton Rapids.

Lightning Damages Homes.

KALAMAZOO, MICH. — Like an explosion of a shell was the crash of a ball of lightning in the heart of a residence section of Galesburg during an electric storm. So terrific was the shock that windows 300 feet away were broken. A house belonging to Lamphier Becker was badly damaged and set on fire.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

There Is No Question but that indigestion and the distressed feeling which always goes with it can be promptly relieved by taking a Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal. 25c a box. B. J. Pulver.

TRIP TO HUDSON

At the Commerce Club banquet held in April, Hon. Edward Frensdorf of Hudson invited Tecumseh to send a delegation to Hudson to inspect their new High School building and be his guests while in Hudson. A committee consisting of Chas. H. Williamson, F. G. Hessen and L. C. Hayden have been appointed to secure automobiles to make the trip and free transportation will be provided for all who wish to go. THURSDAY May 20 is the date selected by the committee and 9 o'clock a. m. is the hour set for starting. Those intending to go please notify the committee or either bank not later than Wednesday May 19.

A Safe Way to Stop Indigestion

The greatest folly of today is committed by people with weak dyspeptic stomachs who take artificial digesters to cure indigestion.

Your stomach must itself be strong enough to expand and contract with a sort of churning movement so as to mix its digestive juices with your food. If your stomach isn't strong enough to do this you will keep right on having indigestion and every artificial digester you use will make your stomach weaker.

There is one stomach remedy that every dyspeptic can depend on and that is the famous old MI-O-NA Stomach Tablets. Most stomach remedies let the stomach rest and digest the food themselves. Mi-o-na succeeds by strengthening and stimulating the stomach and making it do its own digesting. It stops stomach pains, gas, bloating, burning, belching, etc., in ten minutes and does still better by making the flabby, inflamed and inactive stomach walls grow strong and elastic and able to do their own churning. Mi-o-na Tablets never lose their effect and unlike mere artificial digesters need not be used forever. A few weeks use is generally sufficient to put any stomach in fine shape and C. A. Wright & Son and many other leading druggists hereabouts sell it with that understanding, agreeing to refund money to anyone who does not get complete relief.

DON'T VISIT THE CALIFORNIA EXPOSITIONS Without a supply of Allen's Foot-Ease. It gives instant relief to tired, aching feet and prevents swollen, hot feet. One lady writes: "I enjoyed every minute of my stay at the Expositions, thanks to Allen's Foot-Ease in my shoes. Sold Everywhere, 25c. Don't accept any substitute.

Holds Corrupt Practice Act Void.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — The case against Sheriff Charles A. Berry of Kent county, charged with violation of the corrupt practice act in not filing a complete account of his campaign expenses, was dismissed by Judge Perkins in the superior court based upon the contention of the attorneys for the defense that the corrupt practices act is unconstitutional.

THE JITNEY BUS.

The New Factor in Cheap and Rapid Transit.

Six months ago the term jitney was unknown in the east. Derived as it is supposed to be from a combination of the words jot and tittle, with the "ney" suffix as a dimunitive, the word has long been in use on the Pacific coast. Now, however, it will appear that jitney is quite a common word, and with such busses operating in Philadelphia and other cities it may be said that this peculiar type of conveyance has come to stay. Briefly, the jitney bus is an automobile charging 5 cents per passenger, jitney being the slang for a nickel.

With the cost of automobiles constantly going down, there is no reason why there should not be a five cent fare for reasonable distances. During the past few weeks the jitney bus has appeared in cities all over the west. It is supposed to have originated in Houston, Tex. During one past month 800 of them have appeared on the streets of San Francisco. Other figures as given in the news columns of the paper are 100 cars in Kansas City, Fort Worth 141 and Seattle 300. Associations to operate jitney busses are forming in Milwaukee, Denver, Ogden, Omaha, Vancouver, Portland, Oakland, Des Moines, St. Louis, Joplin and Baltimore. Feb. 1 ten routes were established in Omaha. Kansas City has twenty-seven. At the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco 2,000 jitneys are expected to operate along the road to the exposition.

Street car men are alive to the situation, and measures are being taken to meet the new competition. The strap hangers of America are in glee over the new situation, which will give them the choice of auto buses or street cars. The present indication points to adoption of the auto bus lines in nearly every large city of the United States where the operating taxes permit.

While motor buses for carrying passengers have been established in European cities for many years, London depending largely upon them, the use of autos at the nickel fare usually charged by street car lines had never been generally tried out.

In Washington several 5 cent buses are in operation, but they had never been considered a success or a serious competitor with the street cars. It was in Phoenix, Ariz., that the present sweep had its origin. During a strike there in 1913 the 5 cent buses were put to work, and so successful were they that the other western cities adopted the idea, private capital coming forward when it was found that the small buses could be made to pay a profit.—Town Development Magazine.

EGGS UNLAID GIVE CHICKS.

Success Attends Odd Experiment of Pittsburgh Chemist.

Mylo Culler, a druggist at Pittsburgh, has in his window three young chickens hatched from eggs that were never laid.

Culler killed three laying hens and took from each an egg on which the shell had not been formed. He covered them with plaster and placed them in an incubator.

In due time the chicks made their debut. They were doing nicely at the last reports.

Marble Pudding

Steamed puddings will not be heavy if made with K C Baking Powder and cooked slowly to give the pudding time to rise before the dough is cooked through. Have a low blaze under the water for at least the first fifteen minutes.

K C Marble Pudding

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

2 cups sifted pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ teaspoonful cinnamon; ½ teaspoonful salt; yolks of 2 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup sugar; ½ tablespoonfuls melted butter; ½ cup cold water; whites of 2 eggs, beaten dry; 1½ ounces melted chocolate.

Sift together, three times, the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. To the yolks add the sugar, butter and water, and stir into the dry ingredients. Add the whites of the eggs. Divide the mixture into two parts and add the chocolate to one part. Dispose the two parts in a buttered mold to give a marbled appearance. Steam forty-five minutes.

Vanilla Sauce

Boil 2 cups of sugar and a cup of water six minutes; add 2 tablespoonfuls of butter and a teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

PRETTY MAY WEDDING

MISS PEARL M. BEEBE AND MR. FAUNT V. LENARDSON MARRIED SATURDAY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Beebe, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday evening, May 8, when their youngest daughter, Pearl, was united in marriage to Faunt V. Lenardson, of Britton.

At the appointed time about 75 guests gathered in the Beebe home, which was transformed by the aid of lattice work and boughs of apple blossoms.

Promptly at six o'clock, Miss Alice Bradley of Tecumseh at the piano accompanied Miss Lida Richardson of Northville, as she sang, "I Love You Truly." At its conclusion Miss Bradley passed skillfully into the wedding march. Mr. Lenardson and Mr. Moss, of Lansing, as best man, immediately took their places before a bower of apple blossoms. The bride accompanied by her bridesmaid, Miss Bess Allen, of Jackson joined them, and together they stepped before the officiating clergyman, Rev. A. J. Blair, of Belding, using the ring service.

The bride was gowned in white satin and lace, trimmed with pearl ornaments, made entrain and wore a veil. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Allen was gowned in pink silk crepe de chene and white lace and carried pink roses.

After the ceremony congratulations were offered and then the guests were served with a four-course supper by the Misses Geraldine Derby, Musa Rice, Ellen Mohr, Mildred Stocking, Lucile Conlin, Ivaline Lamkin, Bernice and Ruth Edwards. Mrs. Mattis of Tecumseh catered. At the close of the supper Miss Richardson sang. Before leaving on her wedding trip she presented presented each one of the girls with two dainty gold pins as souvenirs of the occasion.

The young couple received many beautiful and valuable presents, including cut glass, silver and $285 in checks and gold.

Mrs. Lenardson is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and also graduated at Ypsilanti in music and drawing. She has taugth in South Haven and Jackson, but the past year has remained at home. Mr. Lenardson also graduated from Tecumseh, later attending the M. A. C., where he distinguished himself in athletics, becoming the star foot ball player of the team. He later attended Wyoming, where his skill on the gridiron again brought him into prominence. The past year he has been interested in business with his father in Britton where the young people will make their home.

The young couple experienced some difficulty in getting away from their friends, who were so loath to part with them, but finally managed to drive to Adrian, where they took the train for Toledo. The next day they were sure no one in the hotel mistrusted they were "just married", but to their surprise when they went into the dining room to dinner the orchestra struck up "Here Comes the Bride."

FISH BANQUET

The Masonic Baseball Association will serve a fish banquet in the Masonic dining rooms Thursday evening, May 20th.

ENVY.

Envy is about the most silly and useless of all the vices. The envious person is the most miserable of all human beings. He nourishes vipers which sting and devour him, is the enemy of all and inflicts mortal wounds on charity, outrages nature, which produces only that which is good, and grace, which cannot act in concert or ally itself with any evil.

ONLY THOSE WITHOUT SIN TO GET DIVORCE

Evidence Must Show Both Parties Blameless, Judge Holds.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. — Many imperfect marriage unions will have to continue to exist in Calhoun county, at least during Circuit Judge Walter H. North's regime, for he announces that hereafter he will grant no divorces unless one of the contesting parties can show himself or herself free from blame. Putting his plan into effect, Judge North refused divorces to Carrie vs. John Nalean, William vs. Lydia E. Caldwell, and Pearl vs. Willard N. Miller.

In giving his decision, Judge North said he finds some couples take less time getting mated than a man takes to buy an automobile.

GERMANY WOULD DICKER WITH U. S.

Proposal to Call Off Submarine Raids Conditionally.

BRITAIN MUST QUIT BLOCKADE

Position of U. S. and Germany Wide Apart on Rights of Neutrals—American Government Insists Crews and Passengers Are Entitled to Warning Before Torpedoing.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Germany would like to dicker with the United States regarding her submarine attacks on American life and property. The basis of the bargain which Germany would like to make is this:

That Germany will abandon her submarine operations involving losses to neutrals if Great Britain will permit foodstuffs to enter Germany.

Germany holds:

All that has been done has been after repeated warning. What were Americans doing on the Lusitania after the warnings issued in notes to the American government and published in the American press? Responsibility rests with the English government, not with the German government, for the loss of life. The Lusitania's passengers preferred to trust in the protection of England rather than in the warnings of Germany; they did not get any protection from England.

The Lusitania was carrying contraband of war. (The statement that she was armed is not put forward for Germany since Collector Malone's official denial of the German charge.) She was practically under the orders of the British government. She was carrying military persons. Therefore the United States should not have permitted her to carry passengers out of American ports in view of the warnings given.

Warning had been given of what might happen and, as the British government has ordered its merchant vessels to attack German submarines no further warning could be given. She was torpedoed and sunk just as other British vessels will be torpedoed and sunk to the limit of the ability of the German naval forces. The loss of life is regretted but the blame is not to be placed upon Germany, and it does not alter the German point of view.

Fighting for Freedom of Sea.

Germany is fighting for the freedom of the seas. Great Britain exercises a tyranny over the seas. Neutrals should realize this and act accordingly. If Great Britain would observe the law the seas would be free and there would be no occasion for reprisals.

The underlying issue as presented to the United States in its role of a neutral and quite apart from the charges Germany and England make against each other is:

U. S. Widely Differs.

Shall the United States, as a leading and neutral power, permit the Germans to upset a centuries-old principle of warfare?

Should the German rule be permitted to prevail, all nations will have to rush into the building of submarines and the carrying of contraband on the seas will be so difficult that every nation will have to provide within its own borders sufficient supplies of war material to carry it through a prolonged struggle.

The German argument that the real freedom of the seas is to be obtained for neutrals by compelling Great Britain to permit importations of food into Germany is not accepted as justifying the attacks which have been actually delivered by Germany against the American flag, American life and American property.

TAX COLLECTOR 74 YEARS OLD

Expected to Resign on Account of Feebleness — Gained Strength and Twenty-four Pounds by Taking Vinol.

Corinth, Miss.: — "I am a city tax collector and seventy-four years of age. I was in a weak, run-down condition so that I became exhausted by every little exertion. My druggist told me about Vinol, and I decided to take it. In a week I noticed considerable improvement; I continued its use and now I have gained twenty pounds in weight, and feel much stronger. I consider Vinol a fine tonic to create strength for old people."—J. A. PRICE, Corinth, Miss.

As one grows old their organs act more slowly and less effectually than in youth, circulation is poor, the blood gets thin, the appetite poor and digestion weak. Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is the ideal strengthener and body builder for old folks because it creates a good healthy appetite, strengthens digestion, enriches the blood, improves circulation and in this natural manner builds up, strengthens and invigorates feeble, run-down, nervous and aged people, and if it does not do all we say, we will pay back your money.

C. A. Wright & Son, druggists,

LUSITANIA TORPEDOED; 1,149 LOST

Great Liner Is Sunk By Submarine.

1,916 WERE ON BOARD

More Than 100 Americans Die; Ship Given No Warning.

SINKS 8 MILES OFF IRISH COAST

Only 767 Persons Rescued From Gigantic Liner—Vanderbilt, Frohman, Klein, Hubbard, Forman Go Down With Ship—Four Torpedoes Fired by German Subsea Craft and Two Find Their Mark.

QUEENSTOWN, IRELAND — Germany's submarine warfare cost 1,149 lives when the giant Lusitania was torpedoed and sunk a scant eight miles off the Irish coast. Of these, probably more than 100 were citizens of the United States. In that number are now included the names of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, multi-millionaire; Elbert Hubbard, author and lecturer; Charles Klein, noted playwright; Justus M. Forman, playwright and author, and others well known in England and the United States. No trace can be found of them, and their friends, who have been searching the villages of the south Irish coast, reluctantly expressed the belief that they must have perished.

The body of Charles Frohman, New York theatrical manager, was brought to Queenstown.

There were 1,916 persons aboard the ship when the submaine smashed two torpedoes into the starboard side, literally tearing two great sections of the hull in pieces. Most estimates place the total number of survivors at 767.

Few in First Cabin Escape.

There were 290 first cabin passengers, of whom 106 were Americans. Only seventy-nine of these have been reported alive. There were 599 in the second cabin, of whom sixty-five were Americans, and the survivors' list so far reaches only 700. There were 361 persons in the third class, of whom seventeen were Americans, and there were 667 in the crew.

The death list will be added to because some of the survivors in the hospitals are not expected to survive the shock of their experiences.

The heavy loss of life among the first cabin passengers is believed to have been due to the calmness and self-possession they displayed in face of danger. Most of them were at luncheon when the steamer received her death blow and declined to join the rush for the boats and life belts. They believed the Cunarder would remain afloat until assistance could arrive.

A considerable proportion of those at Queenstown are members of the crew, including Captain Turner, with the first and second officers. All the other officers are believed to have perished.

Women Saved First.

There is no evidence, however, that the time-honored rule of the sea, "women and children first," was violated. At least one of the survivors, a Toronto newspaper man, gives evidence that there was no panic among the crew and that the sailors acted promptly in getting the passengers into the ship's boats.

Apparently every precaution had been taken against a surprise attack by a submarine. Lookouts were on the alert constantly as the giant steamship speeded toward the Irish coast. Difficulty was experienced in launching the boats because of the heavy list of the Lusitania almost immediately after she was torpedoed. Several of the frail craft evidently capsized as they were launched, or soon afterward.

Life Belts Save Many.

Many of the passengers owed their rescue to life belts, which kept them afloat until they were picked up by boats. Among this number was Lady Mackworth, daughter of David A. Thomas, the Welsh "coal king," and Julian de Ayala, Cuban consul general at Liverpool.

Investigation has failed to reveal that the steamer was given warning of the proposed attack by the submarine, which appears to have been lurking off the Irish coast bent upon destroying the largest and fastest ship engaged in transatlantic traffic.

Lookouts Sight Periscope.

The lookouts sighted the periscope of a submersible a thousand yards away and the next instant they saw the trail left by a torpedo as it flashed on its course. Then came a terrific crash as the missile pierced the liner's side, followed almost immediately by another which littered the decks with wreckage. The course of the liner was at once turned toward shore. Four torpedoes apparently were fired ta the Lusitania, but only two of them found their mark.

The first torpedo struck absolutely without warning in the stokehold. Splinters of steel flew high in the air and the great boat shook from stem to stern. Almost immediately afterward another explosion followed. The second torpedo completed the tragedy. Fumes from the explosive permeated every section of the smashed steamer. Many of the passengers fell to the deck unconscious. Others staggered to the boats and were helped on board.

Many Boats Made Useless.

The steamer was listing to starboard and many of her boats were useless. The loss of life caused by the torpedoes themselves and the explosions they caused must have been terribly heavy. The tragic freight of bodies taken to Queenstown bears evidence of the havoc wrought. Many of those taken ashore were seriously injured and more than a score died after they were removed to Cork and Queenstown hospitals. A long line of stretcher-bearers marched from the piers as tugs and trawlers arrived. The people of the Irish city opened their homes to those who had been saved and everything possible is being done for their comfort.

Probably no event of the war has caused such intense excitement in London as the sinking of the Lusitania. Enormous crowds surrounded the officers of the Cunard Line all night, scanning anxiously the bulletins received from Queenstown. The company annouced that an accurate list of survivors would be compiled as speedily as possible, but that the immediate needs of those saved were being given first attention.

W. T. TURNER

Captain of Lusitania Which Was Torpedoed by Germans.

GERMANY SHIFTS BLAME TO BRITISH

BERLIN, GERMANY — The following dispatch has been sent by the German foreign office to the German embassy at Washington:

"Please communicate the following to the State Department: The German government desires to express its deepest sympathy at the loss of lives on board the Lusitania. The responsibility rests, however, with the British government, which through its plan of starving the civilian population of Germany has forced Germany to resort to retaliatory measures.

"In spite of the German offer to stop the submarine war in case the starvation plan was given up, British merchant vessels are being generally armed with guns and have repeatedly tried to ram submarines, so that a previous search was impossible.

"They cannot, therefore, be treated as ordinary merchant vessels. A recent declaration made to the British parliament by the parliamentary secretary in answer to a question by Lord Charles Beresford said that at the present practically all British merchant vessels were armed and provided with hand grenades.

"Besides it has been openly admitted by the English press that the Lusitania in previous voyages repeatedly carried large quantities of war material. On the present voyage the Lusitania carried 5,400 case of ammunition, while the rest of the cargo also consisted chiefly of contraband.

"If England, after repeated official and unofficial warnings, considered herself able to declare that that boat ran no risk and thus light-heartedly assumed responsibility for the human life on board a steamer which, owing to its armament and cargo was liable to destruction, the German government in spite of its heartfield sympathy for the loss of American lives, cannot but regret that Americans felt more inclined to trust to English promises rather than to pay attention ot the warnings from the German side.

PAIGE

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are proud to announce that we have closed with the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, of Detroit, the selling rights of the Paige for Tecumseh and surrounding territory.

We are firmly convinced that the Paige car offers more values for the money than any other car in the market.

We believe in the Paige car, in the men responsible for its success and in the factory service and co-operation given each and every Paige owner.

We will have a Paige Six to show you in a few days and will greatly appreciate a visit from prospective buyers and Paige owners.

It will be our aim and ambition to give to Paige owners the attention and courtesies we believe will be in accordance with the wishes and policies of the men responsible for the affairs and success of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company.

We invite you to come in and inspect the new Paige.

U. S. FIRMS ARE UNRELIABLE

France Finds 1 Out of 25 Deliver Up to Sample.

Paris, May 17.—An unfortunate situation has arisen with regard to granting contracts to American manufacturers owing to the failure of even the big houses to deliver goods upon sample. Several important American contracts have been cancelled. Two important cases in point were the delivery of a monthly consignment of 50,000 pieces of boots below sample—the soldiers tore the boots into strips—and of 200,000 pairs of socks delivered and found to be of 30 per cent of wool and 70 per cent cotton the contract called for 70 per cent wool and 30 per cent cotton.

Of the twenty-five of the largest American houses with which the French government is doing business only one has a record of never falling below sample. The worst deliveries are those of boots, socks and underwear. The deliveries of cloth are much better.

Ligonier Factory Destroyed.

Ligonier, Ind., May 17.—Fire destroyed the plant of the Banta & Bender Refrigerator company here, causing a loss estimated at $40,000, partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

VETERAN BUYS AUTO AND HOME FIRES HIM

Board Believes Him Able to Take Care of Himself.

Grand Rapids, Mich, May 17.—Sergeant Charles A. Brink, for many years an inmate of the Michigan Soldiers' home, was discharged by the board of managers because he had purchased an automobile. Brink had been very frugal and had saved his money, expecting to have some enjoyment during his declining years. The board states it acted strictly within the state law.

Brink was a member of the Seventh Michigan infantry and enlisted from Jackson county at the outbreak of the civil war. He came to the home in 1906. The board of managers held that a man able to buy an automobile was able to take care of himself.

CAR MEN THREATEN STRIKE

Trouble Impends Over Opening of New Interurban Line.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 17.—That the opening of the new Grand Rapids-Battle Creek interurban railroad, is likely to be the signal for a strike of Michigan United Traction company motormen and conductors (in and between Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson and Lansing) was admitted here when William Houghtaling, president, and John Clark were sent to Jackson as representatives of the street car men's union to confer with Superintendent J. F. Collins. The M. U. T. men are union and they allege that the Michigan railroad is to employ non-unionists.

To reach Battle Creek the new road must temporarily use the old road's line from Augusta Jct. to Battle Creek. This will send non-union men over a union line, which the unionists say they will not stand for. Neither company has made a statement regarding its intentions as yet, except to announce that the new road will open.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY ENDS WOE

Politician at Green Bay, Wis., Kills Wife and Himself.

Green Bay, Wis., May 17.—Frank Deviley, prominent politician, former sheriff and candidate for aldermanic honors at the spring election, shot and instantly killed his wife and then killed himself on the street here.

The act is believed to have been caused by family troubles and a pending divorce suit. Five children survive.

Italy Buying, Not Selling Supplies.

Paris, May 17.—Italy has stopped selling, exporting and delivering on contracts already signed for export, and is now buying heavily in coal, crude oil, gasoline, cereals and flour.

NOTICE CHANGE

The committee having in charge the junket to Hudson to inspect the High School building have changed the date to Wednesday May 19 to meet the convenience of the host Mr. Edward Frensdorf.

Messrs Williamson, Hayden, and Heesen, are busy in securing autos for transportation of all who may wish to go. These will be in waiting for the start at 9 o'clock in the forenoon. It is hoped there will be a good number in the party.

Hudson is a town about the size of Tecumseh and the inspection of their school building will give our people some idea of the needs of Tecumseh along that line.

Those wishing to go with the crowd leave word with either bank, as early as possible.

HOW TO DESTROY CATARRH GERMS AND END CATARRH FOREVER

Catarrh, according to a noted authority, is a germ disease and the only way to cure it so it will stay cured and never come back is to kill and drive out of your system the catarrhal germs which have found lodgement there. When the germs go the catarrh will stop.

There is nothing better for destroying catarrh germs than breathing into your nose and lungs the pleasant, soothing, healing, germ destroying air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) made from purest oil of Eucalyptus and conbined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germ destroying ingredients. Hyomei penetrates and heals the inflamed swollen membranes of your nose and throat, stops discharges, clears the passages and completely overcomes the disease by destroying its cause. For catarrh germs cannot live in your body after Hyomei reaches them. C. A. Wright & Son and many other good druggist in Tecumseh and vicinity have long sold Hyomei on a positive guaran- of successful results or money back and find this generous policy pays. adv

DR. DERNBURG SEEKS OVERSEA PROTECTION

United States Would Like to Know His Status.

Washington, May 17.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, the unofficial mouthpiece of the German government in this country, desires to return to Europe armed with a British safe conduct for his voyage. It is very much of an open question whether he will get it or not.

At the doctor's request Ambassador Von Bernstorff took up the matter with the state department informally last week. He indicated that Dr. Dernburg would like to have the United States government use its good offices to secure for him a safe conduct for the sea voyage, from the British embassy. The supposition seems to have been that the state department would be willing enough to do anything in its power to speed the German unofficial spokesman on his way.

The state department, however, has not shown any alacrity to take steps to secure for Dernburg a safe conduct. It is stated that the department certainly will not make the request until it has learned what attitude the British government will take toward such a request.

LEFT SAFE BEHIND, ANYHOW

Strongbox Rolled Into Alley! Yeggs Get Haul of $700.

Monticello, Ind., May 17.—Burglars rolled a safe from the postoffice at Wolcott, ten miles west of this city, and in the alley blew open the door with notroglycerine. The thieves obtained about $700 in stamps and money.

The robbery was not discovered until the next morning.

W. C. T. U.

The Tecumseh, W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Law Hardy on Friday afternoon, the president, Mrs. G. R. Newsome in the chair. There was a very good attendance, and Mrs. Bowen the Secretary notified the meeting that there were thirty-three members.

The program consisted of a number clippings on the temperance movement brought by the members, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Waring, which showed the large amount of space newspapers, and magazines are now devoting to this cause,

The meeting adjourned to meet on Friday, June 11th, at 2:30 standard.

FIRE!

The home of Ernest Lamkin about 3 1-2 miles northeast of town, was discovered to be on fire, just as the family were at the supper table. Quick phoning brought the neighbors to their assistance and nearly all of the contents of the house were saved but the house was burned to the ground. It is thought that the fire was caused by the wads from a gun which one of the boys was using to shoot black birds.

ATTENTION LENAWEE

Prizes of $10. and of $5. respectively will be given to the Lenawee county farmers who show the best and second best bushels of yellow dent corn grown in 1915 at the Michigan state fair this year.

The People's State bank, the First and Detroit National and the Union Trust Company, all of Detroit, have appropriated $300. in cash prizes for the best bushels of corn raised in each of twenty counties in Michigan.

The offer was made known by George E. Lawson and W. T. Bradford of the committee of agricultural development of the State Bankers' association.

Michigan has ranked for several years as one of the best corn states in the union and the purpose of this appropriation is to cause a greater interest among Michigan farmers in this crop.

The other nineteen counties which are eligible in this competition are: Wayne, McComb, Oakland, St. Clair, Sanilac, Huron, Tuscola, Genesee, Livingston, Washtenaw, Monroe, Hillsdale, Jackson, Ingham, Shiawassee, Saginaw, Gratiot, Clinton, Eaton.

HE KNEW HOW

There was an old geezer and he had a lot of sense;
He started up a business on a dollar-eighty-cents—
The dollar for stock and the eighty for an ad
Brought him three lovely dollars in a day, by dad!
Well, he bought more goods and a little more space
And he played that system with a smile on his face
The customers flocked to his two by-four
And soon he had to hustle for a regular store.
Up on the square, where the people pass,
He gobbled up a corner that was all plate glass.
He fixed up the windows with the best that he had
And he told 'em all about it in a half-page ad
He soon had 'em coming and he never, never quit
And he wouldn't cut down on his ads one jit.
Well, he's kept things humping in the town ever since
And everybody calls him the Merchant Prince
Some say it's luck, but that's all bunk—
Why, he was doing business when the times were punk.
People have to purchase and the geezer was wise—
For he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise.

GERMANS IN U.S. DON'T WANT WAR

Seek to Guide Berlin to Peaceable Settlement.

URGE VIEWS ON FATHERLAND

It Is Said Influence of German-Americans Is Being Exerted to Secure Some Form of Acceptance to Wilson's Note—See Nothing Hostile in It.

Washington, May 17.—If the views held by influential Germans in this country are accepted in Berlin, it is certain that the German government's reply to President Wilson's note about the German submarine operations will be conciliatory and persuasive in tone and will contain several suggestions calculated, from the German point of view, to avert all danger of a break between the imperial government and the United States.

The views held in Berlin regarding the United States position on the submarine operations are not definitely known here, but certainly the most interesting phase of the situation as it exists in Washington is the heroic effort being made in German quarters here to bring about an entirely amicable adjustment.

Germans Not Offended.

Germans here refuse to see in the president's note any castigation of the German government at which they should take offense and are devoting themselves entirely to formulating such arguments as can be brought to bear in support of the German opinions in a way most likely to appeal to reason and fairness in the American public mind. That is, they are refusing to indulge themselves in the temptation to get angry about the matter and instead are endeavoring to present ways in which it can be smoothed over.

These activities are regarded here as evidence that Germans in this country at least recognize the serious possibilities of the situation and are not willing that the two governments should break with each other if there is any way to prevent it. Evidences of this attitude are found in the self imposed official silence of the German ambassador; the decision of Dr. Dernburg to eliminate himself from the situation, and most important, the private spreading of the German view in such quarters as are regarded as likely to afford the easiest channel of communication to the American public.

It is reported that the German embassy has gone to the length of advising the Germans in this country to be moderate in its views. The German ambassador denies that any such instructions have been issued by the German embassy, nevertheless there is reason to expect the German embassy will soon find its reflection in the German newspapers.

Want Lusitania Matter, Arbitrated.

From the discussions that have been going forward here it appears the main idea of the Germans in this country is that the Berlin government should take care of the Lusitania matter by arbitration and then dispose of the general question of German submarine operations by requiring the United States to renew its efforts to get Great Britain to abandon its "starvation" policy in return for an abandonment of the German submarine program.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE MEMORIAL APPROACH NOW BEING ERECTED AT BROOKSIDE.

FARMER KILLED IN RUNAWAY

Victim Is Picked up by Roadside With Broken Neck.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 17.—H. C. Logan, sixty-three years old, a prominent farmer, was instantly killed when thrown from his wagon. His team ran away. No one saw the accident, but an auto driver coming towards Kalamazoo saw a runaway team, and after driving for a short distance, came across the body of Logan in the road. Believing he might be alive, he brought Logan to Borgess' hospital, where doctors stated the man had a broken neck.

What caused the runaway is unknown.

HINDSIGHT SEES BIG CHANCE

Man Missed Opportunity to Get Land Now Valuable.

Hillsdale, Mich., May 17.—David Cowan of Reading was in the city the other day on business and was reminded that he was here for the first time seventy years ago.

At that time he and his father drove in from Cambria, where they had settled, with an ox team. It was in August, but they had no wagon, hence drove the oxen to a sledge. A man who had taken up land where the Central school building now stands offered to trade them forty acres for the oxen and sledge.

All around us dealers were selling hundreds of cars ranging in price from $1000 to $1500.

We knew that the Chalmers people were making a car in this class. We knew it would be good when we got it.

But to our impatient inquiries we got one answer, "We haven't tested it hard enough yet."

Now it is here.

The Chalmers people say it has simply been abused over in the Alleghany Mountains for 18 months and stood the racket.

Hence they know what they are offering.

It is the lowest price ($1400) at which a Chalmers car has ever been sold.

Yet it has all the Chalmers quality, and owing to new plans of construction, a distinctly different appearance from any other motor car.

It gets away quicker than any car we've ever seen except a racer. It rides like a Pullman.

It is a "thoroughbred."

We feel that it paid to wait for it.

Come in and see if you don't think so too.

"WAS THE SINKING OF THE LUSITANIA JUSTIFIABLE"

Extracts from Rev. G. W. Jenning's Sermon of Sunday Evening

There were no vacant seats in the Methodist church Sunday evening when Rev. G. W. Jennings spoke on "Was the Sinking of the Lusitania Justifiable?" We print in part from the address:

The argument was that the taking of the life of 1,134 was inhuman, cruel, barbarous, unworthy of any nation or people. It was not justifiable because it was a violation of time honored treaties that guarantee to neutrals and non-combatants life and safety.

President Wilson was right and the American people stand back of him when he said, "If notice had been given in the papers and the authorities notified, that would not justify the loss of human life." He then quoted extensively from prominent men and gave their views.

First was from Rev. Dr. Jewett, pastor of the largest and most influential Presbyterian church in America, who said "The sinking of the Lusitania was foul murder and a sin against God, a crime against the human race." You believe him, so do I.

President Dickey, of the largest religious college in the state, says "It was an insult to humanity. The most diabolical and cruel acts ever perpetrated in the name of War."

Hon T J O'Brien, former ambassador to Japan, says "No justification has been made and none is possible to be made to the satisfaction of the world outside of Germany and German sympathizers."

The Rev. Thomas E. Sherman, only son of Gen. Wm. T. Sherman, was the most pronounced in his views saying, "The destruction of human life by the sinking of an unarmed, defenseless ship was the most dastardly crime in history done in the name of War. It surpasses the barbarian when the world was young in civilization. It was the expression of German barbarism coming to the surface above German culture."

Ex-President Roosevelt says "It was piracy on a vaster scale of murder than any old time pirate ever practiced. It was the same method of warfare that invaded Belgium, a neutral country, and waged warfare on innocent men, women and children." Theodore Roosevelt did not advocate war, but said immediate steps MUST BE TAKEN in the interest of humanity and to preserve our self-respect as a nation.

The Amsterdam Telegraf in its editorial says, "It was a premeditated crime—that was fiendish."

This crime against God and man is the expression of the military spirit that dominated Alexander in his dream of world wide empire, also Napoleon, Charles V and Frederick II. I am not here to tell you how to think but I am here to tell you to think for yourselves, think as free, intelligent men and women—then decide.

For myself, I share the views of the men whose opinions I have given and put myself on record against the hellish inhumanity as justified by Count VonBernstorff, Dr. Bernard Dernberg and some others.

Sick Headache

Mrs. A. L. Luckie, East Rochester N. Y., was a victim of sick headache and despondency, caused by a badly weakened and debilitated condition of her stomach, when she began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. She says, "I found them pleasant to take, also mild and effective. In a few weeks' time I was restored to my former good health." For sale by all dealers. adv

CORNCOBS IN WAR FIELDS.

$500,000 Worth of "Missouri Meerschaums" From 26,291,684 Spikes.

Six corncob pipe factories in Missouri last year converted 26,291,684 large size corn cobs, formerly considered worthless, into a product which sold approximately for $500,000.

Shipments of corncob pipes to all European countries give basis for the belief that "Missouri meerschaums" are being smoked in the trenches of France, Germany, Austria, Russia, Servia and Turkey to the tunes of "Tipperary," "Marseillaise" and "Die Wacht am Rhein" by thousands of soldiers.

Fire 305 Tons of Copper a Day.

Some of the mathematical experts figure that at the rate of 26,000,000 shots every twenty-four hours the Germans waste 305 tons of copper a day. It is doubtful if 5 per cent of the cartridges are recovered for remelting, because so many fall in mud and water.
